IMPOSING PROCESSION FOR KING EDWARD

Great Naval and Military Pageant in London on October 25th

Using Boers for Selfish Purposes—Rome Papers Look Into the Methods of Emperor William

Special to The Times.

London, Oct. 6—The Times publishes a statement that King Edward has signified his pleasure that the procession on the occasion of his State visit to the City of London on October 25 be as imposing as possible. It is intended to mark the visit by a great naval and military pageant. It is expected that a part of the crew of the warship Terrible will take part in the procession.

EMPEROR WILLIAM AND THE BOERS.

Special to The Times.

London, Oct. 6—The Seccolo, says a Rome correspondent, warns the Boer generals that they cannot consider themselves as flatter by Emperor William's tactics. It declares that the Emperor "has always cynically used the Boers for his own polititical ends." In 1896, the Seccolo observes, the Kaiser sent his famous telegram after the Jameson raid. He was anxious then to propitiate the South African Republic in the interests of German finance, and he also had an eye to German colonial expansion. During the recent war, foreseeing the result, he was anxious to neutralise German anglophobia, so he went to London and affected an attachment to the British nation. Now, in order to propitiate the German pro-Boers, he smiles on the generals, after refusing to receive Mr. Kruger, The Seccolo says it is a pity that such men as the Boer generals should be victims of this "imperial tightrope dancing."

PRINCE BISMARCK'S ATTITUDE.

Special to The Times.

London, Oct. 6.—Baroness Helene Von Trube Von Der ta en, says a Berlain correspondent, is about to publish a sketch of the life of her father, the late Count Alexander Keyserling, based upon his letters and diaries. Count Keyserling enjoyed the late Prince Bismcrak's friendship from the time they studied together at the university. Referring to Bismarck's psychological attitude, Count Keyserling says: "His religiousness seems to me to have experienced a natural ebb and flow. As a student he was skeptical in the extreme. He then pursued the love of woman without great scruples, and must have had the gravest and most painful experiences before his marriage. Love made him a believer. He required a religious background in order to manage his stormy feelings aright."

A MUNICIPAL COAL AND WOOD YARD

Suggested By Ald. McGregor--Ratepayers to Vote on a By-law Re a New Industry for Peterborough

THE NEW INDUSTRY.

Prior to our City Father's meeting in Council last night, they met Mr. Skelton in Committee of the Whole to consider the proposed establishment in Peterborough of the shovel factory previously alluded to in these columns. The management of this new industry are asking as an inducement to locate here, a free site of from one and a half to two acres, exemption of taxes for ten years, electric power at $18 per horse power, and $4,000, with which to erect a main building. In return the company bind themselves to employ 25 men for the first year, and in 1904, 50 hands. They will also erect other buildings than the main one specified, and pay back the $4,000 in six years, the town holding a lien on the property till same is repaid. As to the question of securing for the company power at $18 per horse power, Mr. Meldrum said the Otonabee Power Company could supply 250 horse power at that rate, providing the Council remitted them the poll tax. The whole scheme was considered favorable by the Council, who authorized the Manufacturers committe to prepare a by-law for submittal to the ratepayers.

A communication from Mr. Bone, of the National Construction Company, in reference to the Radial Railway for Peterborough, was considered unfavorable.

COAL AND WOOD.

While in regular session, Ald. McGregor moved, that owing to the exhorbitant prices charged for coal and wood, this Council make application at the next session of the Legislature for power to establish in town a Municipal Coal and Wood Yard.

In discussing the matter the question arose as to the practibility of the scheme, which was on motion of Ald. McGregor, seconded by Ald. Roger, referred to a Committee of the Whole Council.

IN REGULAR SESSION.

The Town Council met in regular session last night, when there were present Mayor T. H. G. Denne, presiding, and Aldermen Shortly, Roger, H. Rush, McGregor, Turner, Morrison, Batten, Corkery and Best.

The reading of the minutes were dispensed with.

Great Migration in Russia in Search of Work

Special to The Times.

Saint Petersburg, Oct. 6.—The annual migration of Russian Polish laborers to Prussia is well known. Attention is directed by the St. Petersburg Vedomosti to a similar movement on a grander scale within the borders of European Russia.

It is calculated that 2,157,000 peasants insufficiently provided with arable land, leave their homes in the central and northern provinces every year to seek work in the south. Most of them start with only about $1 in their pockets--borrowed from a usurer generally —and it is the exception when they know where work is to be found; owing to the great variation in the yield many arrive in famine stricken districts.

The writer proposes the organization of an information bureau to communicate to the migrators the government crop reports. The peasants still form largely a separate world, and few know that such things as crop reports exist.

The prospectus says the tickets will be $25, and the distance covered will be 25 miles under water, and 1 1-2 miles on the surface. In order to demonstrate the safety of the boat each passenger will be presented with a free life insurance policy for $2,500.

A CLEVELAND WEDDING

Miss I. L. Bogan, of the City, and Mr. J. E. Spellman, of Town, are Married

In Immaculate Conception church, Cleveland, on Tuesday, September 30th, a very pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. Father Mosley, when Miss Ida Loretta Bogan, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bogan, of Sixth avenue, was united in marriage to Mr. James E. Spellman, of Peterborough, Canada.

The bride was charmingly gowned in an attractive travelling suit of castor shade, trimmed with pearl and white silk with which a rich black velvet hat trimmings of white lace was worn.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, an elaborate wedding breakfast was partaken of by the guests, who numbered about forty, at the residence of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Spellman left in the evening for Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Ottawa and Montreal, and will in the near future return to Peterborough, where they will take up residence. Their many friends here wish them much happiness.

Found in Tree Trunk

Susquehanna, Pa., Oct. 6—While Farmer Ridgeway and his hired man at Lawsville were sawing up a large log for firewood the teeth of the saw encountered a hard substance. They cut the log apart and disclosed the bones of a large animal, which, when fully exposed to view, proved to be those of a large bear.

It is supposed that many years ago, the bear climbed into the hollow of the tree in search of honey, and being unable to extricate himself he perished there. There was a large quantity of new honey in the hollow of the tree.

The Colony Increasing

Last year over $25,000 worth of property in Cobourg was purchased by people from the United States who spent the summer—indeed most of the year—in this pretty town on Lake Ontario. Every year the United States colony in Cobourg grows larger, every year more money is spent there by summer visitors. It is a striking example of what tremendous value the summer visitor business is to a Canadian town. The man who began the movement a generation ago is dead and buried these many years but the good work goes on. Peterborough should come in for some of this summer trade expansion.

Paine's Celery Compound

Permanently Cures The Most Desperate Cases of Neuralgia

At This Season the Marvellous Medicine is Saving and Making Happy Thousands of Pain-Wracked Mortals

It is no difficult undertaking to convince men and women who are open to conviction that many forms of disease are due to some weakness or trouble with particular nerves or whole sets of nerves.

Neuralgia is, in the autumn season, one of the commonest of nerve diseases. It often touches every part of the body, but is usually located in the face, affecting the facial nerves and the teeth. Very often the disease attacks the nerves of the head, and fatal results follow when the brain is touched.

To those who suffer agonies at varying periods, and who have not yet found a cure, we urge with all honesty the use of nature's medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. It has rescued thousands from awful sufferings, grave dangers, and fatal results. Mr. L. A. Belyea, Hampstead, N.B., tells how he was cured by Paine's Celery Compound.

"I was taken with a severe attack of neuralgia in the head and shoulders. It became deep seated, and I gave up the idea of ever being cured. I was induced to try a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and before I had used the half of it I began to feel better. I have taken three bottles of this glorious medicine, and today I can say it is the first time in eleven years that I have felt none of those piercing pains to which I had once been a victim."

STATE OWNERSHIP OF THE COAL MINES

The Democrats Across the Line Have Made This an Issue

New York, Oct. 6.—Government ownership of the coal mines is now one of the most important questions before the people of the United States, and there is undubitably a strong sentiment in its favor, owing to the exactions of the coal barons, and the long-continued strike of the miners. In pronouncing for the confiscation of coal mines the recent Democratic State Convention at Saratoga has made a big bid for popular support. It is said that ex-Senator Hill was the author of this plank and the Republicans generally regard it as most radical and revolutionary in its tendencies. A correspondent at the convention city says that Lewis Nixon, one of the prominent Democratic leaders, flatly expressed his dissent from the policy of condemning the coal mines and putting them under the management of the Federal Government. Business men like J. Edward Simmons, refuse to commend this part of the Democratic platform. Some of them declared that in radicalism it went much further than the money doctrines of W. J. Bryan.

CALL IT IMPERIALISM.

The Tribune says:

'What does this Government condemnation of the coalfields mean? The invasion of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania by the United States and the assumption of the private business of citizens of that State, not by their State Government, but the national Government. Such an usurpation was never seriously proposed, except by Socialists. Its inevitable result is a consolidated Empire. Government control of public utilities commonly means municipal, or at least State, control.

'The Democratic convention at Saratoga stands for the wiping out of city and State, and for the concentration in Washington of power over production, consumption, labor and prices. At present the United States can acquire no foot of ground within the confines of a State without consent of the State authorities. As ninety per cent. of the anthracite coal fields are in Pennsylvania, the New York Democratic platform's policy could not be carried out without the consent of Pennsylvania Nobody for an instant supposes that this would be given. Is Mr. Hill's declaration merely a piece of buncombe to catch ignorant voters, who may be maddened by want of coal and ready for something revolutionary, or does he seriously mean to commit the Democracy of the Empire State to this nationalizing programme? If the latter, he must undertake the long labor of amending the Federal constitution or be prepared for the shorter course of overriding State rights by the force of the passions he is striving to set loose.

It is a wild and dangerous policy which Hill proposes, but if coal bins remain empty till November it may have serious consequences.

BUSINESS VIEW OF IT.

'Do the contending interests in the coal dispute believe that men will see their families suffer from cold and hunger this winter while they await the breaking of a deadlock between Mr. Baer and Mr. Mitchell? They certainly will not. At the outset, some men sided with the operators, and some sided with the miners. Today that issue has ceased to be important, as far as the public is concerned. The public no longer cares primarly whether the companies win or the men win, but declares in tones which both interests would do well to heed that when a controversy has reached the point of direct serious injury to the community it should be adjusted in the interest of the community, lest a worse thing befall.

'Mr. Baer says the strike will be settled by the miners returning to work. That was a very proper statement last June. Such a statement now is equivalent to saying: 'We propose to win our fight no matter if the public has coal or not.' The anthracite companies cannot afford to take this position, neither can it be maintained by Mr. Mitchell. Shall manufactories stop and men be thrown out of work by thousands; shall women and children starve and freeze that the miner's union may obtain recognition.?

"No. The case is not now operators against miners, but operators and miners against the public. If this fact is not realized, and a settlement reached, not in the form of victory of one over the other, but as deferring by both to the public demand for an adjustment which shall permit safety and comfort, both will find that the long-suffering public will turn against them, blindly at first, but with a determined purpose to prevent the policy of such conditions hereafter.

Mr. Baer and Mr. Mitchell may unite in saying, 'What are you going to do about it?' The wisest are not prepared to answer this question immediately, but an answer will be found, if required. The slave owners of the South asked that question and it was answered after a time. William M. Tweed asked it, in the height of his power, and it was answered.

"The laws of this country have been framed to give a large degree of corporate and individual liberty. The people have no wish to greatly restrict liberty, but if there are to be great combinations of capital on one side, and great combinations of labor on the other side, and they choose to stand at a deadlock while the community suffers for the necessities of life, it will presently be demonstrated effectively that when the people are once roused they still rule in the United States."

SOME TERRIBLE THREATS.

Some terrible threats are being made against the coal operators and the presidents of the coal railroads. Hanging is said to be too good for them. In fact, in the event of an outbreak, and no one doubts that such will occur if coal is not soon forthcoming, the lives of the coal men would be in great danger. To make the situation worse, it is now generally recognized that the coal roads cannot get an adequate supply of the black diamonds to market for the next four or five months, and that nothing like reasonable prices can be expected. It is said that $15 or $20 per ton will be the ruling price over the winter. The outlook is thus appalling.

The bride was charmingly gowned in an attractive travelling suit of castor shade, trimmed with pearl and white silk with which a rich black velvet hat trimmings of white lace was worn.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, an elaborate wedding breakfast was partaken of by the guests, who numbered about forty, at the residence of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Spellman left in the evening for Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Ottawa and Montreal, and will in the near future return to Peterborough, where they will take up residence. Their many friends here wish them much happiness.

Found in Tree Trunk

Susquehanna, Pa., Oct. 6—While Farmer Ridgeway and his hired men at Lawsville were sawing up a large log for firewood the teeth of the saw encountered a hard substance. They cut the log apart and disclosed the bones of a large animal, which, when fully exposed to view, proved to be those of a large bear.

It is supposed that many years ago, the bear climbed into the hollow of the tree in search of honey, and being unable to extricate himself he perished there. There was a large quantity of new honey in the hollow of the tree.

The Colony Increasing

Last year over $20,000 worth of property in Cobourg was purchased by people from the United States who spent the summer—indeed most of the year—in this pretty town on Lake Ontario. Every year the United States colony in Cobourg grows larger, every year more money is spent there by summer visitors. It is a striking example of what tremendous value the summer visitor business is to a Canadian town. The man who began the movement a generation ago is dead and buried these many years but the good work goes on. Peterborough should come in for some of this summer trade expansion.

Paine's Celery Compound

At This Season the Marvellous Medicine is Saving and Making Happy Thousands of Pain-Wracked Mortals

It is no difficult undertaking to convince men and women who are open to conviction that many forms of disease are due to some weakness or trouble with particular nerves or whole sets of nerves.

Neuralgia is, in the autumn season, one of the commonest of nerve diseases. It often touches every part of the body, but is usually located in the face, affecting the facial nerves and the teeth. Very often the disease attacks the nerves of the head, and fatal results follow when the brain is touched.

To those who suffer agonies at varying periods, and who have not yet found a cure, we urge with all honesty the use of nature's medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. It has rescued thousands from awful sufferings, grave dangers, and fatal results. Mr. L. A. Belyea, Hampstead, N.B., tells how he was cured by Paine's Celery Compound.

"I was taken with a severe attack of neuralgia in the head and shoulders. It became deep seated, and I gave up the idea of ever being cured. I was induced to try a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and before I had used the half of it I began to feel better. I have taken three bottles of this glorious medicine, and today I can say it is the first time in eleven years that I have felt none of those piercing pains to which I had once been a victim."

STATE OWNERSHIP OF THE COAL MINES

The Democrats Across the Line Have Made This an Issue

New York, Oct. 6.—Government ownership of the coal mines is now one of the most important questions before the people of the United States, and there is indubitably a strong sentiment in its favor, owing to the exactions of the coal barons, and the long-continued strike of the miners. In pronouncing for the confiscation of coal mines the recent Democratic State Convention at Saratoga has made a big bid for popular support. It is said that ex-Senator Hill was the author of this plank and the Republicans generally regard it as most radical and revolutionary in its tendencies. A correspondent at the convention city says that Lewis Nixon, one of the prominent Democratic leaders, flatly expressed his dissent from the policy of condemning the coal mines and putting them under the management of the Federal Government. Business men like J. Edward Simmons, refuse to commend this part of the Democratic platform. Some of them declared that in radicalism it went much further than the money doctrines of W. J. Bryan.

CALL IT IMPERIALISM.

The Tribune says:

'What does this Government condemnation of the coalfields mean? The invasion of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania by the United States and the assumption of the private business of citizens of that State, not by their State Government, but the national Government. Such an usurpation was never seriously proposed, except by Socialists its inevitable result is a consolidated Empire. Government control of public utilities commonly means municipal, or at least State, control.

'The Democratic convention at Saratoga stands for the wiping out of city and State, and for the concentration in Washington of power over production, consumption, labor and prices. At present the United States can acquire no foot of ground within the confines of a State without consent of the State authorities. As ninety per cent. of the anthracite coal fields are in Pennsylvania, the New York Democratic platform's policy could not be carried out without the consent of Pennsylvania. Nobody for an instant supposes that this would be given. Is Mr. Hill's declaration merely a piece of buncombe to catch ignorant voters, who may be maddened by want of coal and ready for something revolutionary, or does he seriously mean to commit the Democracy of the Empire State to this nationalizing programme? If the latter, he must undertake the long labor of amending the Federal constitution or be prepared for the shorter course of overriding State rights by the force of the passions he is striving to set loose.

It is a wild and dangerous policy which Hill proposes, but if coal bins remain empty till November it may have serious consequences.

BUSINESS VIEW OF IT.

'Do the contending interests in the coal dispute believe that men will see their families suffer from cold and hunger this winter while they await the breaking of a deadlock between Mr. Baer and Mr. Mitchell? They certainly will not. At the outset, some men sided with the operators, and some sided with the miners. Today that issue has ceased to be important, as far as the public is concerned. The public no longer cares primarily whether the companies win or the men win, but declares in tones which both interests would do well to heed that when a controversy has reached the point of direct serious injury to the community it should be adjusted in the interest of the community, lest a worse thing befall.

'Mr. Baer says the strike will be settled by the miners returning to work. That was a very proper statement last June. Such a statement now is equivalent to saying: 'We propose to win our fight no matter if the public has coal or not.' The anthracite companies cannot afford to take this position, neither can it be maintained by Mr. Mitchell. Shall manufactories stop and men be thrown out of work by thousands; shall women and children starve and freeze that the miner's union may obtain recognition?

"No. The case is not now operators against miners, but operators and miners against the public. If this fact is not realized, and a settlement reached, not in the form of victory of one over the other, but as deferring by both to the public demand for an adjustment which shall permit safety and comfort, both will find that the long-suffering public will turn against them, blindly at first, but with a determined purpose to prevent the policy of such conditions hereafter.

Mr. Baer and Mr. Mitchell may unite in saying, 'What are you going to do about it?' The wisest are not prepared to answer this question immediately, but an answer will be found, if required. The slave owners of the South asked that question and it was answered after a time. William M. Tweed asked it, in the height of his power, and it was answered.

"The laws of this country have been framed to give a large degree of corporate and individual liberty. The people have no wish to greatly restrict liberty, but if there are to be great combinations of capital on one side, and great combinations of labor on the other side, and they choose to stand at a deadlock while the community suffers for the necessities of life, it will presently be demonstrated effectively that when the people are once roused they still rule in the United States."

SOME TERRIBLE THREATS.

Some terrible threats are being made against the coal operators and the presidents of the coal railroads. Hanging is said to be too good for them. In fact, in the event of an outbreak, and no one doubts that such will occur if coal is not soon forthcoming, the lives of the coal men would be in great danger. To make the situation worse, it is now generally recognized that the coal roads cannot get an adequate supply of the black diamonds to market for the next four or five months, and that nothing like reasonable prices can be expected. It is said that $15 or $20 per ton will be the ruling price for the winter. The outlook is thus appalling.

CANADIAN PACIFIC ENTERPRISE

The announcement that the Canadian Pacific Railway will engage directly in the Atlantic freight business, is another proof of the activity and energy with which that great Canadian enterprise is conducted. At the annual meeting the board obtained power to make arrangements for the charter and control of vessels whenever they may be required for the protection of the company's freight interests on the Atlantic Ocean. This is independent of the company's offer to establish a weekly fast Atlantic service between Canada and Britain for a yearly subsidy of [illegible]. It will certainly be to the advantage of the company to be able to quote through rates on freight and give through bills of lading without being under the necessity of bargaining for space in the vessels of other companies. The vessels to be operated in connection with the railway system will not receive any subsidy, and consequently will be free to run between such ports as may suit the company's business.

This move is in accordance with the transportation development of the Dominion, and will put the Canadian railway in a better position to compete with the American systems and to give Canadian exporters the best possible rates to transatlantic ports. There is no more distinctively Canadian enterprise than this transcontinental railway system and its success is intimately bound up in the prosperity and development of the Dominion. Every successful extension of its business into new fields is a source of pardonable pride to Canadians, and the proposed steamship service in connection with the railway business will no doubt prove as successful on the Atlantic as the lines already established have proved on the Pacific. The new departure will be made without any bonus or subsidy which is the best possible evidence that the business of the company, and the expansion of the Dominion have made a profitable opening for it.

THE FUEL SITUATION

The Ottawa Citizen, in discussing the fuel situation in that city says: "We would have preferred to see Nova Scotia coal ordered for several reasons, one being that from the report of Mayor Cook to the public meeting an order could be placed for November delivery at $3 per ton of 2,240 pounds on Thursday, whereas it is not unlikely that in view of the failure of the conference yesterday, soft coal prices will probably soar today. It is stated that if the Welsh coal is obtained it will cost about $8 a ton, whereas the Nova Scotia coal would not cost the citizens much over $6 even if the government did not reduce the Intercolonial freight rate, which Hon. Mr. Scott says it is likely to do. From all accounts there is not that much difference in the fuel value between the Welsh semi-anthracite and the Nova Scotia soft coal. Another reason is that this emergency should be utilized to develop our own Canadian resources and make us as independent as possible of the United States coal combine and its agents in the future. If it can be demonstrated that Canadian soft coal can be got in here at a considerably lower price, a trial of it by the Ontario householder may determine him in preferring the use of it at the lower price to American anthracite. Soft coal is burned in the lower provinces and in the cities and towns of the Northwest beyond Winnipeg and there does not seem to be any good reason why there should not be a good market for Nova Scotia coal in Ontario, especially in places like Ottawa, where it can be brought in by water. The only reason against it in the past has been that there was no organized trade to obtain it at the lowest price in bulk. We have been in the hands of the American anthracite combine and the people have supinely submitted to it chiefly because there was no organized effort to shake off the grip. The present dislocation of the sources of supply seem to have been a fortuitous opportunity to demonstrate that Canada has a supply within her own borders which, if not as good as anthracite, is very much cheaper and better value for the money. For people who can afford the combine prices for American anthracite under normal conditions that fuel may be regarded as a luxury, but if access could be secured to our own coal supply it is likely that the mass of the people would prefer the slight inconvenience in using it to paying the prices demanded every winter by the anthracite combine.

Of course the opening up of a Canadian source of supply would not be popular with the representatives of the American anthracite combine who have so long controlled the market, but it would be decidedly popular with the people and it is their interests that are paramount, and anyone who is responsible for sidetracking those interests at this juncture will shoulder a heavy responsibility.

It this connection it is opportune to call attention to the action emanating yesterday from the city hall which closed up Mr. J. R. Booth's wood yard where wood fuel was being retailed to the citizens at very low prices. While the action was doubtless legally justifiable the occasion seized to put the belated pressure on was decidedly inopportune and calculated to excite comment as to the extent and strength of influences operating at the city hall at this particular crisis.

THE MOONSTONE SPHINX

By Mrs C N Williamson

for the moment before had come a burst of applause from the audience, and his rehearsals had not afforded him any such experiences as that.

Jeffrey went to him and occupied the interval he had extended for Mrs. Purdy in talking to the groom and soothing the horse with a lump of sugar borrowed from one of the stage hands. But he did not forget when the promised three minutes were up, and, with a glance at his watch, he was off again to Miss Gray's door.

He knocked, and on this occasion, somewhat to his surprise, the door yielded under the pressure of his knuckles. Not only had it been unlocked at last, but slightly opened as well. Taking advantage of this, he impatiently thrust in his head.

There stood Mrs. Purdy, leisurely hanging up the pieces of the actress's last-worn costume which she had taken from the fainting girl, and, in her hurry, strewn over the floor. Her present movements suggested calmness of mind and plenty of time for all that need be done.

With one eager sweep of his eyes, Jeffrey took in the whole room. He had laid Winifred on the sofa, when putting her in the dresser's charge, but she was not there now. The place offered little or no chance of concealment; yet he could see the girl nowhere.

His face fell into utter blankness, then darkened into fury.

"What's this mean?" he ejaculated. "Where's Miss Gray?"

The old woman turned and gave back his look coolly, her eyebrows rounded in surprise.

"Don't get in a wax, sir," she responded. "The poor young lady came to herself just as we were finishing. had a drop out of that very brandy bottle as ever was" (indicating with a motion of her head a black bottle standing among scattered "make-up" on the dressing-table) "and felt quite well and sensible. Says she: 'I can go out by myself. Just you pick up my bits of things,' and out she goes. I wonder you didn't meet her, sir."

"Good gracious!" was Jeffrey's only answer.

He darted away, almost pushing down the big screen which had been put in front of Selim, that the process of strapping Mazeppa on the horse's back need not be stared at by every passing stage-hand.

It was possible that Winifred might have gone straight to this corner, which had always been put to the same use during her rehearsals with Selim, though, if so, it was strange indeed that he (Jeffrey) had missed seeing her.

But there stood the groom and the horse, in the semi-dusk; and there was no one besides.

"Cutting it rather fine, ain't she, sir?" asked Selim's attendant, who knew all the cues by this time as well as did the actors.

"Cutting it fine, I should think so!" groaned the stage-manager. What a fool he had been to go out of sight of Winifred Gray's door for an instant! How idiotic to have trusted to the common sense of a drunken old woman. (This aspersion was a grave injustice to the respectable Mrs. Purdy; but it was a necessity to revile someone, and she answered as well as another for a scapegoat.)

Jeffrey tore back to the dressing-room, for there was time even yet, if that fiend of a girl could be found and dragged to her duty.

"For Heaven's sake, which way did she go?" he adjured the dresser, who was still calmly putting the room to rights; brushing, shaking, folding, hanging.

"I don't know," retorted the old woman. "I'd done all you told me to. When she went out by this door, sir, she was off my hands."

With an oath Jeffrey flung away. He had no time to bandy words with this stupid old creature. The girl might still be somewhere about the stage.

Half mad with impatience, he hurried this way and that. Every nook, every corner was searched; not an empty dressing-room was forgotten. But Winifred was not to be found, and the moments were flying. Already it was close upon the cue for Mazeppa's sensational entrance. Wantage, who had been in the box with Macaire, was behind the scenes again now, in a passion of rage, blaming the stage-manager, swearing at everyone.

When there could be no longer waiting, Jeffrey desperately played the card which, all this time, he had been keeping up his sleeve.

From the moment, weeks ago, that he had been warned not to mention to Miss Gray the kind of attire she would be required to wear in her "great" scene, he had feared a hitch at the last moment. Of course it was vital to the success of the play that she herself should come strapped upon the horse; but from the stage-manager's point of view, at least, anything was better than that a scene should be left out, or the curtain rung down in the midst of an act on flat failure.

That this might not happen, if the worst came to the worst, Jeffrey had secretly prepared an understudy, of whose readiness he had not chosen to speak even to Wantage, lest it should seem a confession of weakness—a fear that his authority as stage-manager might not be enough to dominate a rebellious actress.

If Winifred herself had known the truth, of course it would have been fatal; she would have said: "Let the understudy do it." But, as a matter of fact, one of the ladies in the ballet to whom he had taken rather a fancy, and whose figure somewhat resembled Winifred Gray's, was at this moment dressed for the scene in fleshings from neck to foot, and with a wig like Mazeppa's. She was called, flung upon the horse, strapped on, and just in time not to be late for the cue, Selim galloped upon the stage with his living burden.

Lionel Macaire sat in his box, half hidden by the curtains, yet leaning eagerly forward. He, too, knew the cue for the great entrance, and—ignorant of the latest developments since Wantage had left him—his eyes had not for some moments strayed from the stage.

He heard the galloping hoofs in the wings; then the noble black horse with a pearly-pink slim body thrown across his back, sprang into sight.

Macaire's lips were apart. He uttered a faint, hissing breath, which gave a vent to strong emotion long pent up.

"They've made her do it!" he said between his teeth.

Then he looked closer, bending out of the box, deaf to the murmurs that went round the audience below. In

COAL $5.00 A TON

WITH THE WONDERFUL

STAR HEATER

The only heater that is guaranteed to give satisfaction with soft as well as hard coal. As a fuel economizer it is unequalled, producing heat on about one-third the coal used in any other heater in existence.

The Star has a tube behind for the escape of the gas. As anyone who uses soft coal knows, the gas accumulates under the fresh coal, and if there is no escape there will be explosions and puffs of smoke. In the Star this disappears in the gas escape. The Star has a sliding damper and ornamental door of mica.

After being filled, the Star will heat for 48 hours without attention. It will hold fire and give out heat longer than any other stove.

The Star is 25 per cent more economical than any other stove.

MORE THAN 5,000 ARE IN USE IN THE LOWER PROVINCES.

DIRECTIONS

When filling the stove always shut the draught door at the bottom.

Keep the small opening in the back pipe closed except when cleaning.

Clean the back pipe every two weeks.

COAL CONSUMERS, ATTENTION!

"We are using one No. 3 Star stove in our large rooms, where formerly we had four large wood heaters, and get more heat now than before. The wood stoves cost us $4.50 every week for fuel, and the Star stove which we are now using costs us only $1.50, making a saving of $3.00 per week in the price of fuel—which would soon pay for the stove. We can recommend this stove to any person wanting a first-class heater. We would not use any other stove that is made.

ST. PETER'S T.A.S.
M. J. Serro, Chairman Trustees.

We certify that we have in use one No. 3 Star stove in our large pool and billiard room, the size of which is 45x32 ft., with 15 ft. ceiling. We have perfect heat, and the most coal we have used on the coldest day yet has been three scuttles in 24 hours. We are so well pleased with the stove that we would not use any other,

ROCAMORA & CALLAHAN.

I have been using a No. 3 Star stove in the sitting room at the City Hotel for some time past, and it has proved so satisfactory that I have ordered two more to replace two stoves in the upstairs. The Star gives more heat than the other stoves with half the amount of coal.

MARTIN CONNORS.

We have in use in our composing room a No. 3 Star coal stove, and wish to state that it is giving eminent satisfaction. The entire absence of gas by the escape provided, the increase of heat and the saving in coal are special features of the Star, and it requires a minimum of attention.

ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18-inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realize the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purposes of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

We furnish the rich property—you furnish the mill. In a few months it will be in operation—almost before you expect it—and we divide the immense returns.

The Coal Situation.

New York, Oct. 6.—The approach of the winter months calls attention to the present coal situation and the present coal strike. Common sense dictates that the trouble is bound to be adjusted. Whenever an aggravated situation exists due to differences between employer and employee and it reaches the stage which causes the public to be an unusual sufferer the public will see to it that it is adjusted, its representatives are bound to give the matter attention, or hear something drop when election day comes around. With winter coming on and hard coal practically unobtainable even at $30 per ton, something must and will be done; this is a certainty. If the Federal Government cannot bring about a settlement public opinion will necessitate that the Government protect those who will work against the assaults of those who will not. It is consequently logical to look for a termination of the struggle in the struggle in the mining region, and and that very soon. If the various busy bodies had not from time to time given the strikers encouragement by their endeavors to interfere the strike would have already fallen of its own weight. However, the matter is about to terminate, and when it does, the industrial activity at the mines with its consequent results to the anthracite miners will start, and there will be an advance in this class of stocks this winter of some considerable magnitude, and it will be a sustained one, therefore it will appear to be unusually traditionous just at present to buy some of the hard stocks right now. To buy them before the trouble terminates will be to secure them cheaper, and possibly after the episode is settled there is no doubt as to this being a fact. We urge you to buy a little of the Reading issues, Erie issues, O. W. etc.

Another blue Monday—this day recently seems to be the bad one of the week. St Paul after an initial advance of a point closely followed by Reading afterward, weakened under a bearish drive of considerable magnitude which was brought against the entire market. St. Paul fell 2 1-2 points while sugar was specially active declining from 124 to 120. Short selling was briskly carried on and considerable stock was also dislodged; a rally set in after one o'clock which carried St. Paul back to its opening price, while the entire market improved. After delivery hour the bear forces again attacked the market with renewed vigor, carrying prices in several instances lower than before. The short interest has increased and upon any further decline the market should be bought in order to catch the inevitable rally which must be near. Money closed at 3 per cent.; sales 800,200.

RESULTS:

Some years ago the public was offered the following stocks at nominal figures. Each one to day is in demand at a fancy price and paying a large income:

$500 invested in Gold Coin in 1897 is now worth	$11,000.00.	$500 invested in Home Mining in '99 now worth	$12,300.00
$500 invested in Lillie in 1895 is now worth.....	9,000.00	$500 invested in Vindicator in 1897 is now worth	3,100.00
$500 invested in Portland in 1896 is now worth..	8,030.00	$500 invested in Isabella in 1898 is now worth..	2,100.00
$500 invested in Elkton in 1896 is now worth....	3,420.00	$500 invested in Gold King in 1897 is now worth	5,000.00

There are thousands of instances in Colorado where investments in bona fide properties have returned many hundredfold for every dollar invested and have made men and women independent for the balance of their lives. More fortunes are created in gold mining than in any of the other industries, and it is the only product the demand for which fails not and market quotations control not.

A small investment in this company, which is safe and sure of quick returns, may bring an enormous return at any moment. It has the possibilities of rivalling the great mines of the past.

ED. McCARTHY & COMPANY, Bankers, Responsibility, $100,000.
GALVESTON, TEXAS, September 16, 1902

This bank will receive subscriptions for the stock of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company and hold the funds in trust, subject to terms of guarantee, which are as follows:

"Subscriptions to the stock of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company sent to or deposited with Ed. McCarthy & Co., Galveston, are to be held in trust for subscribers until the Company cuts an ore shoot of smelting grade (2 oz. to 6 oz., or $40.00 to $120.00 per ton) and makes shipments. Upon the Company furnishing a certificate executed by competent parties that a tunnel has cut an ore shoot and shipments made of smelting ore, the bank will transfer all funds to the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company, and certificates of stock will be issued to subscribers upon presentation of receipt issued by this bank. Should the Company fail to accomplish this within three months' time all funds so held in trust will be returned to subscribers upon presentation of receipt issued by this bank."

The Board of Directors of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company are well known to us to be reliable and responsible, and we can recommend the Company as worthy of confidence.

(Signed) ED. McCARTHY & CO'Y

THIS IS A GOING, NOT A WAITING, ENTERPRISE

The property of this Company, consisting of over 100 acres, with one mile of a true fissure vein, is located in Gunnison County, Colo., in what is known as the Gunnison Gold Belt, which is in the great Gold Belt of Colorado, the "Mother" lode, or dike, which has produced 55 per cent. more gold than the total output of the Cripple Creek district.

The best machinery money can buy has been installed and paid for and with it development is being pushed night and day.

Smelting ore has been shipped from shallow workings to the Bueno Vista Smelter—value $40 to $120 per ton. The cost of mining, freight and smelters' charges amounts to $12 per ton. So, with oceans of this ore, this mine has the possibilities of rivalling the great mines of the past.

The capital stock of the Company is $100,000—par value of shares $1.00—full paid and non-assessable. A portion of the treasury stock is now offered at

25 Cents Per Share---Par Value $1.00
FULL PAID AND NON-ASSESSABLE

The proceeds are to be placed in a trust fund, so, when guarantee is complied with and shipments of ore begins, fund will be on hand for the immediate erection of mills and boarding houses, buying horses and wagons for hauling ore to the railroad, and make this not a small mine, but a great one. Order at once, as the right is reserved to advance this stock without notice and to return any subscriptions.

INVESTIGATE AT OUR EXPENSE

Any person or association of persons in any town or community desiring to buy as much or more than $600 worth of Pitkin Gold Belt mining and reduction Company's stock may deposit such money in their local bank, to be held by such bank pending a trip by one of their number to visit Pitkin, Colo., to personally inspect the gold belt and investigate the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company and its property, and upon this Company being notified by such bank of such deposit, will forward to the person selected free transportation to Pitkin, Colo., and return. If, upon thorough investigation, the representations made by us are found to be true, such investment is to be made; otherwise, all money is to be returned by such bank to the parties depositing same.

Whole Family Dead

Brockville Times: Many Brockville friends will remember the death in Peterborough last May of William Vout, a commercial traveller, whose home was near Algonquin. After his demise Mrs. Vout came to Brockville to reside with her sister, Miss Annie Donough, and her half sister, Miss Maggie Heenan, made her home on Ormond street. Mrs. Vout was again bereaved soon afterwards by the death of her only child. She became ill and gradually pined away, death finally ending her sufferings. The sad event took place Saturday night in the Grace hospital where she had been a patient for three weeks. Thus in less that six months the whole family is wiped out. Mrs. Vout was a beautiful young woman of only 24 years with all those beautiful traits of character which endeared her to all. Her maiden name was Miss Mary Donough. She was born in Ireland, but spent the greater part of her life at Cobourg.

BORNE TO THE GRAVE

Many relatives and friends gathered at the residence of the late Thomas George Choate yesterday morning at ten o'clock to pay their last tribute of respect to one they had known so well and esteemed so highly. The service at the house was conducted by Rev. Dr. Dewart, assisted by Rev. J. P. Wilson. The Rev. Dr. Dewart delivered an eloquent and impressive address, referring to the fact that he had known the deceased as a boy, and had been present at his death, which was a most happy one. He was full of faith, and his rewards was certain.

The bearers were: Messrs. A. H. Kidd, James Stevenson, A. R. Dixon, H. Rush, H. T. Strickland and John Wasson, Warsaw.

A FIGHT FOR LIFE

A Huge Bear Upsets Canoe with Some Children

A very exciting incident occurred at Stony Lake on Wednesday last, which nearly cost a five year old child of Mr. Robert Hull, who lives in Dummer, his life. It appears that Mr. Hull's five boys went out, armed with shot guns, with fine shot only, in quest of partridges. They took two canoes, and paddled across the lake, when nearing the Burleigh shore, they spied a huge bear in the water, close to shore. Paddling close, one of the boys fired hitting bruin on the head and putting out one of its eyes. The animal then became furious, and charge after charge was emptied into the vicious brute. In the excitement one of the canoes was upset, and the bear, who was then close by, made a dash and caught the youngest of the party, Fred, a child hardly five years old (who happened to have been seated in the bow of the overturned canoe) in a deathly embrace.

Fortunately the party were in shallow water, and the older brothers rushed to the rescue, leaping into the water, and closed in on bruin. The guns, which were only charged with bird shot, were discarded, and the boys used their jack knives, plunging the blades time and again into the struggling monster. The combined attack caused the bear to loose his hold on the child, who was by this time nearly unconscious, and scamper off into the brush.

The boys were too badly used up to follow, but they are certain that the animal would not survive his terrible injuries.

Bulky Packages of Cereal Breakfast Foods Are Not Guarantees of Economy or Quality

One Package of

Malt Breakfast Food

Makes a Meal For Twenty-five People

While the manufacturers of Malt Breakfast Food do not claim to give the public the most bulky package of food, they make the positive statement that one package of their celebrated food will make twice as many meals for the money as any other food on the market.

In addition to this economical feature, Malt Breakfast Food is vastly more nourishing for young and old. Tens of thousands of users consider it the most delicious and appetizing of all breakfast grain foods. Physicians and food experts say it is a true health-giver. Grocers in Canada find Malt Breakfast Food the fastest seller. If you have not yet given it a trial, ask your Grocer for it.

MARK ST. EPWORTH LEAGUE

An attentive audience gathered in the cosy school-room of Mark street church last evening to hear Rev. Joseph Kilgour give one of the most instructive and pleasing of his series of lectures.

The subject of the evening's discourse was "Metlah Catlah," or "The Wonderful Miracle of Missions under William Duncan." Mr. Kilgour was in one of his happiest veins and held his audience well as he carried his hearers in imagination to the far-off mission island of Metlah-Catlah, where William Duncan, a simple layman, has been laboring since 1857 among over 1000 Indians.

An interesting portrayal of the magnitude of the undertaking, the different methods of instruction and finally the dawn of intellect upon their darkened minds was briefly given, and at last the formation of the new Metlah Catlah which was so bravely carried through, by the heroic and undaunted perseverance of that noble missionary who stood firm to his convictions and God was with him. He is not only a moralist, but one who leads them to the truth as it is in Jesus.

"Speed, speed thy work cast sloth away.
It is not thus that souls are won."

The Rev. C. L. Thompson occupied the chair and added a few interesting remarks from his personal experience in British Columbia, which brought this pleasant hour to a close.

FOOD FOR SLEEP

A Sure Way to Com'ort

The right kind of food will restore any weak stomach. It is better off without drugs and a little judgment in selecting light weight and easily digested food does the trick.

A man in Grand Rapids, Mich., upon recovering from a severe attack of nervous prostration, says:—

"The principal trouble was an intensely irritated condition of the stomach, so severe that diluted milk would cause a sensation as if molten lead had been swallowed. At length, I began to study my own case, and abolished drugs and commenced experimenting with my diet.

Grape-Nuts was brought to my notice, and I found it very palatable, and as a regular morning dish, it met all the requirements, and sustained me till midday. After using Grape-Nuts a week, physical discomfort grew less, my strength began to return and I gained steadily in weight.

Along with all these improvements came good, peaceful sleep, which had been so flighty a visitor, and with it came returning hope and ambition, and now, with perfect health, it gives me pleasure to give Grape-Nuts the credit it deserves." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The Town Council in Regular Session

Gentlemen,—Under the bylaw I am now compelled to pay a license fee for the Bradburn Opera House, and this I submit entitles me to police protection when entertainments are being held. Will you please give the necessary instructions for the attendance of one or more policemen when I notify the Chief that same are required.—This request was granted.

From W. J. Donovan, R. Clinkscale, B. Gibson, Jas. Judd, H. T. Biggs, and Bert Thompson, as follows: Gentlemen,—We, late members of the 3rd C.M.R., of 1866 either from your body or the having been informed that several members of this corps have received a grant County, and that also members of the 2nd C.M.R. had also received a similar grant, beg leave to state that we have not been favored with a like sum, and wish to know why we were omitted.—Referred to the Finance committee with power to act if they consider the claimants to be townsmen.

From J. E. A. Fitzgerald, once more drawing Council's attention to the very unsafe condition of the bridge at Brock and Aylmer streets, as on the morning of Sept. 19th he had a valuable horse break through the planking while walking across it. If the animal is permanently injured he will hold the Town responsible.—Board of Works.

From F. Bartlett, applying for position as Inspector of sewerage work —Received.

From Richard Shearer, asking that a sidewalk be constructed in front of his new terrace at the corner of Sherbrooke and Reid streets.—Board of Works with power to act.

From S. R. Armstrong, Sec.-treas. Water Commissioners asking Council to authorize an additional expenditure of $2,500 as more applications for extensions of water mains have been received than were anticipated.—Received.

T. H. G Denne, Esq:

Dear Sir,—Replying to your communication of the 2nd, re George street crossing, I have enquired of our agent, but he advises me that he has no knowledge of an accident at George street about three weeks ago. With reference to the damage to Mr. Comstock's wagon, enquiry shows that not only was the crossing electric bell ringing, giving warning of the approach of the engine, but one of the trainmen was at the crossing and tried to stop Mr. Comstock, who with his horse and wagon had been standing on the south side of the crossing, and with a full knowledge of the position of the engine, tried to pass in advance of it. This case cannot be cited as a sufficient reason for placing gates at the crossing mentioned. I have thought somewhat of establishing a pumping statoin at that point, and of having men operate same seated at the crossing, or sufficiently near it, to also handle gates should the same at any future time really be found necessary.—Received.

From Hon. J. Israel Tarte, saying that he is very much afraid he and his colleagues will have to wait till the next session of Parliament before anything in the matter of dredging Otonabee river. "You may rely on my most active support."—Received.

From C. Wilhelmy, agent of the "Star" Heater, asking for permission to place one of his stoves in the market hall building as a means of advertising the same.—Chairman of Market Committee.

He said: "Doc, I've got a bad toothache and want the tooth pulled without being hurt. Can't you croquet it so it won't hurt me?" The doctor laughed and said: "I don't know that I can croquet it for you, but I'll ping-pong it."

—Cobourg Post: On Saturday last an architect from Toronto was in town and made measurements to prepare plans for the proposed enlargement of Cedarmere during the coming fall and winter. Should the addition proposed be erected, Cedarmere will be one of the largest and best equipped summer resorts in Ontario. We hope Mr. Crowther will have no difficulty in carrying the proposed improvements to a successful end. Mrs. Tringham will be in charge of the house next season.

—Lindsay Post: Ven. Archdeacon Casey, of St. Mary's, takes a deep interest in temperance work, and the labors of the late Mgr. Laurent in that behalf will be continued by the Archdeacon with all due zeal. He has announced that in the near future he will organize a Total Abstinence Society in the congregation. A Nightmare

Gives point to the fact that excessive or irregular eating disturbs the digestion. Nightmare or night hag has it's day time correspondence in the undue fullness after eating, with the belchings and sour or bitter rising so often experienced after too hasty or too hearty eating.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. When these diseases are cured, the whole body shares in the increased strength derived from food properly digested and perfectly assimilated.

"Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy have been of great benefit to me," writes (Prof.) Pleasant A. Oliver, of Viola, Fulton Co., Ark. "Before I used the above mentioned remedies my sleep was not sound; digestion bad; a continued feeling of misery. I now feel like a new man. Any one in need of medical treatment for nasal catarrh could do no better than to take treatment of Dr. R. V. Pierce. I know his medicines are all right in this class of diseases."

Sometimes a dealer tempted by the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines will offer the customer a substitute as being "just as good" as the "Discovery." It is better for him because it pays better, but it is not as good for you, if you want the medicine that has cured others, and which you believe will cure you.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

BOERS NOW IN MONTREAL FINE RACE SPECIMENS

They will Study Canadian Agricultural Conditions with a View of Enlightening Their Fellow Countrymen

Special to The Times.

Montreal, Aug. 7.—Among the hurrying crowd which came from the Elder, Lempster steamship Lake Champlain were three good-looking, well-dressed men, accompanied by three ladies and an officer in khaki. The three first were the Boer delegates who come for the purpose of studying farming in the interest of Britain's late antagonists in South Africa, while the officer was Capt. H. J. Kilpatrick, of the South African Constabulary.

The three Boers have all borne arms against Britain, two until the battle of Paardeberg deprived them of their liberty, while the third fought through from start to finish. The Boer delegates are Mr. W. L. Jooste, Mr. F. Lane and Mr M. Rood. Mr. Jooste is an exceedingly fine looking man, tall—a little over six feet, perhaps—he is of middle age and has a well trimmed Van Dyke beard, which is sprinkled with gray.

Mr. Lane, who is, by the way, an Irishman by birth, having gone out to South Africa from the North of Ireland some thirty years ago, is in the neighborhood of fifty years of age. In appearance he is much like the general average of American and Canadian plainsman. He is broad shouldered and keen eyed. The third member of the party, Mr. Rood, is the youngest man of the three.

ACCOMPANIED BY THEIR WIVES.

Mr. Jooste and Mr. Lane are both accompanied by their wives, as is also Capt. Kilpatrick, whose khaki uniform had upon the left breast a long row of little ribbons indicating much campaigning and many fights.

Contrary to the general impression, the visitors have not come to Canada with the idea of considering the land for immigration purposes, but to study methods, so that they may return to South Africa and tell their people about it.

Almost the first question Mr. Jooste asked upon stepping ashore was whether it was not too late in the season to see farming to the best advantage, and when told that it was, he expressed deep regret that they had not reached here sooner.

'You have a fine city here and it looks very large from the river," said the late Commandant with a well defined Dutch accent.

The devastation which has been wrought in South Africa in the three years and eight months which the war lasted was clearly impressed upon the entire party. Mr. Lane and Capt. Kilpatrick were both agreed that it would be the work of many years to bring the country back to its normal position.

THE NEEDS OF SOUTH AFRICA.

Captain Kilpatrick, in speaking of South Africa said: "Food products, live stock and manufactured goods of every description are needed in South Africa at once, and there was an immense market there for any enterprising merchant who can land these necessities at a reasonable figure. South Africa has plenty of money to pay for what is needed. There are any amount of horses but cattle are scarce. At present a good milch cow is worth from £40 to £70 at Pretoria. Hardy animals are in demand and there is a big market for that class. Another big field presents itself for anyone who will go into the nursery business. The land has been stripped bare and trees are wanted. Anything that will grown anywhere will thrive in South Africa. The land is the most fertile on earth and will nourish fruit trees in a remarkable manner."

WERE AT ST. HELENA.

Both Mr. Jooste and Mr. Lane were after the battle of Paardeberg taken to St. Helena, where they were prisoners of war until the general surrender. They remarked that the treatment accorded them was all that could be expected. War is war and they had nothing to complain of.

At Quebec the party was met by Mr. George O'Halloran, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who proceeded with them to Montreal. M. W. W. Moore, of the same department will accompany the party across the continent and back again. The experimental farms under the control of the Government will be visited and note taken of their desirable features. A series of photographs will also be collected and these will be made into lantern slides in order to illustrate the lectures which will be made on their return to South Africa.

CONCENTRATION CAMPS A MISTAKE, SAY BOERS

Delegate Rood Claims They Aroused the Bitterest Feelings Against the English

Montreal, Oct. 6—An interesting statement on the late war was obtained from Mr. Rood, one of the Boer delegates, by Dr. Phillimore. The Doctor, who is a native of Cookshire, and a graduate of McGill, asked the Boer delegate for a written statement as to his war experiences. The result was the following:

'I am a Transvaal Boer. I took part in the late war between the English and ourselves. We fought from the 11th Oct., 1899, until the 31st May, 1902, when peace was signed at Pretoria, in my father's drawing-room. I really do not think the English could have beaten us if we were a disciplined army. The greatest mistake made by the English was to take away our women and children, and put them into those concentration camps. This created the bitterest ill-feeling. It would have been much better for us if we had made peace after Pretoria was taken by the British; our country would have not been ruined then as it is now. Practically there is not one house standing (farm house), in the whole of the Transvaal and Orange River Colony." Mr. Rood stated that the number of Boers fighting, was about 60,000. He was wounded in the shoulder and arm, when storming a fort, and narrowly escaped capture.

FRENCH COAL MINERS' STRIKE

61,000 Men Demand an Eight Hour Day and Other Reforms

Paris, Oct 8.—The strike of the French coal miners is spreading. Crowds of strikers stand around the mouths of the different pits and try to induce the men who are willing to work not to descend. A number of pickets tried to prevent miners at Lens from going to work, but gendarmes interfered and the miners proceeded to their labor. It is reported that a secret meeting of the federated miners it was unanimously agreed that the order for a general strike be directed especially against the mine owners.

Prime Minister Combes has informed the Miners' National Committee that the Government will do its utmost to pass legislation providing for a working day of eight hours and for idemnity and pensions for persons meeting with accidents due to their employment. M. Combes refuses to deal with the question of a minimum wage, saying that such a matter can only be settled by free contract between the employers and the employed.

It is considered that the strike is bound to fail as the men lack funds. The miners not belonging to the federation have issued a manifesto refusing to be instruments of revolutionary politicians. There are about twelve thousand men on strike. Troops have been sent to some of the affected districts.

CASTRO'S ARMY SURROUNDED

Beaten in an Attempt to Reach Venezuelan Capital?

Paris, Oct. 8—A despatch to the Matin from Port of Spain, Trinidad, says that a battle was fought on Oct. 1 between Venezuelan Government forces and the Revolutionists the result of which is unknown. The rebels surrounded the Government forces.

It is thought that President Castro with his army attempted to enter Caracas, but was unable to do so. The rebels were numerically stronger than the Government force and intercepted the latter's communications.

There is intense excitement at Caracas. The impression is that the war is nearing its end and that President Castro has been definitely beaten.

The despatch adds that news has been received from Carupano to the effect that the French Consular agent at that place and the manager of the French Cable Company who were arrested by order of Gen. Velluntini, have been released. The French population are very indignant at the arbitrary acts of Gen. Velluntini, who is the son of a Frenchman and who was destined by President Castro to represent Venezuela in France. Energetic action on the part of the French Government is expected.

Horrible Holocust In Chandos Township

Three Little Children Burned to Death on Saturday Evening

The Times is in receipt of the particulars of a horrible accident which occurred on Saturday evening in the Township of Chandos, a few miles from Apsley, by which three little children belonging to Mr. Joseph Parks, were burned to death. They were from five to nine years old.

It appears that Mr. Parks and two of the elder children were at a revival meeting about a mile from their home, and Mrs. Parks was called away to attend a neighbor woman who was ill. The three children were in bed and no thought of danger from fire was entertained by any one. A man and his son on their way to the meeting later in the evening saw the fire and gave the alarm, but too late to save even the little ones.

It is needless to say that Mr. Parks and family have the sincere sympathy of the entire neighborhood, and the people are showing it in a more tangiable form than words.

The family are not only bereaved of their little ones, but have lost everything they possess. Under these circumstances, so awful and so sad, the Times appeals to those who are charitably inclined to contribute something to help to alleviate the distress of the stricken family. Contributions may be sent direct to Warden Eastland, or Mr. Wm. Galton, Apsley, or sent to this Office to be forwarded. All such will be acknowledged in these columns.

ROOSEVELT ASKS MINERS TO RETURN TO WORK, 10,000 TROOPS OUT

Promises That He will Appoint a Commission to Investigate Their Grievances

Will Urge Congress to Pass Legislation to Remedy Those Grievances

Washington, Oct. 7.—President Roosevelt has requested Mr. Mitchell, president of the Mine Workers' Union, to use his influence to induce the men to go to work with the promise of the appointment of a commission to investigate their grievances, and a further promise that the President will urge upon Congress legislation in accordance with a recommendation of that commission.

No reply has yet been received from Mr. Mitchell. The President sent Carroll D. Wright, Commissioner of Labor, to Philadelphia to meet Mr. Mitchell, and Mr. Wright has reported that after the proposition of the President had been submitted Mr. Mitchell said that he wanted to take it under consideration. It is expected that the miners will take up the suggestion of the President and decide upon it after it has been presented to them by Mr. Mitchell. Commissioner of Immigration Sargeant returned from Philadelphia today, but had no information to communicate, as he did not see Mr. Mitchell in that city.

MITCHELL AT BUFFALO.

Buffalo, N.Y., Oct. 7.—President Mitchell, accompanied by the three district presidents, Duffy, Fahey, and Nicholls, arrived at the Iroquois Hotel at 9.40. Mr. Mitchell declined to discuss the action of Governor Stone in calling out the entire national Guard of Pennsylvania. Mr. Mitchell was called to the long distance telephone, and conversed with some one in Harrisburg, but declined to say with whom.

At 9.45 Mitchell and the three district presidents met the committee appointed by the National Manufacturers' Association regarding a plan whereby the manufacturers might secure a supply of anthracite coal, and thus keep their plants in operation during a continuance of the strike.

At 12.45 p.m. the coal conference was adjourned until 2 p.m. Mr. Parry stated that a general discussion of the situation had taken place, but that nothing tangible had been agreed upon. "Everything is progressing favorably," said Mr. Parry, "and we have hopes that some definite action will be taken at the afternoon meeting."

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 7.—The National Guard of Pennsylvania was ordered out on duty in the strike region last night by Governor Stone. The division numbers about 10,000 of all ranks. The decision was arrived at at a council held at the Legislative Mansion House, at which, in addition to Governor Stone and his executive officers, Major-General Miller, Brigadier-General Schall; Col. Hulings, 16th Regiment; Adjutant-General Stewart, and Assistant Adjutant-General Elliott were present. The entire force of the State Arsenal is now shipping camp equipage to supply the troops.

BOER LEADER IN UNITED STATES

Reitz, the Transvaal Ex-Secretary of State Wants Trouble

New York., Oct. 8—Francis John Reitz, former Secretary of State of the Transvaal, and now leader of the unreconciled Boers, arrived with his wife yesterday on the Staatendam from Holland. He was met by his son Joubert, who has been living in this city since his release from a British prison, and thirty Irish-Americans, representatives of various societies.

Mr. Reitz has come here to make America his home if he can find a way. He intends to try lecturing for a while, partly as a means of support, but chiefly, he said, to vindicate his people before the American public and to arraign the British government for its course in the late war.

Mr. Reitz said he had no grudge against the Englishman as an individual, and he did not intend in his lectures to take up specific instances of outrage during the war, but to show up the falseness and culpability of Joseph Chamberlain and what had been done in South Africa by the authority of the British government.

There are four counts in his indictment of Great Britain which he means to present to Americans: First, the inhuman treatment of the Boer women and children; second, the burning of almost every farmhouse in the country fought over, without compensation to the owners as the terms of The Hague Treaty demand; third, the arming of savage Kaffirs, who were permitted to kill Boer wounded and prisoners and to mutilate the dead; and fourth, violation of the treaty of peace of May 31.

Mr. Reitz said he was in favor of all Boers remaining in their own land. "Some Boers, like myself, will not, and some cannot; but I think that is what all should do," he said.

Why It's Called the "Wondrous West."

Canadian hard wheat is of the best quality produced in the world, and three-fourths of the hard wheat area lies north of parallel 49.

Twenty-seven thousand Americans who expressed their intention of becoming settlers, crossed the border into Western Canada during the first eight months of the present year. Immigration officials say the number entering Canada as bona fide settlers this year will be between 35,000 and

The number of immigrants officially recorded as entering Western Canada during the first eight months of 1902 was 52,000. An official estimate of the total number who will come in during the year is 65,000.

Shrewd Americans have been the largest investors in land in Western Canada. One company alone purchased a million and a half acres, which is now being rapidly settled by experienced farmers.

It requires an army of over 30,000 harvesters from Eastern Canada to help gather in the crops of the Canadian West every year. Forty thousand men will not be able to cope with the western harvests in a few years.

A conservative estimate of the income of the farmers of Western Canada this year places it at $250,000,000. About 65,000,000 bushels of wheat will be threshed, and 60,000,000 will be exported.

THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR OF ONTARIO

Sir Oliver Can Have Another Term if He Wants It

TERM EXPIRES IN NOVEMBER

(From our own Correspondent.)

Toronto, Ont., Oct., 6—If Sir Oliver Mowat is not Lieutenant Governor of Ontario after November, when his term expires, it will be because he is not 'anxious for an extended term. Toward the close of the last session of the Dominion Parliament it began to be hinted that the Honorable R. W. Scott, the secretary of state, would come to Government House as Sir Oliver's successor. During the summer the prospective appointment of the Honorable Mr. Scott has been more and more talked of, and this week, La Patrie, the organ of the minister of public works, as good as announced that Mr. Scott would get the post. Friendly journals have been fierce in the championship of Sir Oliver Mowat, and in support of his claims to a second term as Lieutenant Governor. Sir Oliver's term expires in November, and it has been argued that after his long service in the cause of Liberalism in Ontario, and the help which he gave at Ottawa in the early days of the Laurier administration helping Sir Wilfrid's cabinet to gain credit by means of the old familiar sign of Mowat, he is entitled to more consideration at the hands of those in authority at Ottawa than a single term as Lieutenant Governor of Ontario. To deprive him of the honors of his present positionn would, it has been urged, be a base betrayal of a faithful friend, a heartless sacrifice to the business of patronage, and a smirch of ingratitude on the premier's escutcheon.

The idea that Sir Oliver may not be particularly anxious on the subject has not apparently been taken into considerations by his champions. They have accepted the opposite view as a matter of course, and have exerted themselves accordingly.

Those most familiaer with the Lieutenant Governor's mind on the matter, affirm that at present he has no inclinations as to an extended term. Should he, however, make up his mind that he would like to stay, it may confidently be stated, in spite of the talk of Ottawa and the statement of La Patrie, that no effort will be made to force him out. Consequently, the fulfillment of Mr. Scott's alleged hopes depends entirely on Sir Oliver Mowat. The position is simply this: Sir Oliver Mowat has not made up his mind that he wants a second term, but if he does want it he can have it.

The Honorable Richard W. Scott, secretary of state and registrar general of Canada, is five years younger than Sir Oliver Mowat. The latter was born in 1820 and the former in 1825. Sir Oliver, with his 82 years, is very feeble, and his last appearance to open the local legislature was a visible effort. The last session of the House was not opened by the Lieutenant Governor at all, but by the Honorable John D. Armour, chief justice of Ontario. Mr. Scott's claims to the post, like Sir Oliver's, are based on long service to Liberalism, but, while the Mowats are Toronto people, Mr. Scott is really an Ottawa man. He has been Mayor of Ottawa, and sat for the capital in Parliament in 1857 and in the first Ontario Legislature in 1867. He stayed in Toronto till 1873, being speaker of the Assembly in 1871, and afterwards commissioner of crown lands in the Blake cabinet and the succeeding ministry of the same Sir Oliver Mowat for whose shoes as governor he is reported to be now standing. Mr. Scott went back to Ottawa in 1873, on the formation of the Mackenzie administration, and became secretary of state. Next year he went to the senate, and was government leader there till 1878, when the government was defeated. He afterwards led the opposition conjointly with the Honorable Mr. Pelletier, and in 1896, when the Liberals went into power he got back his old post as secretary of state, the position he is now holding. If Sir Oliver retires next month it will mean the close of a public career unique in British Parliamentary history. He was prime minister of Ontario for a quarter of a century, the longest tenure of office of anyone similarly placed in a British governing institution.

SEVEN EMPTY COFFINS TELL THE STORY

MANY CASES TAMPERED WITH

Ghouls Despoil Cemeteries Far and Wide—Ten 'Stiffs Found in a Cellar

Indianapolis, Oct. 7. — Sensational developments came to light today in the investigation of the wholesale graveyard robberies that have occurred in this vicinity during the last few months when detectives unearthed ten bodies in the cellar of the medical college of Indiana. A gang of ten negroes were arrested several days ago charged with the ghoulish work, and their leader, Rufus Cantrell, since his arrest, has confessed to many of the robberies and informed the authorities that other gangs have been operating in cemeteries in this and adjoining counties, and that many of the robberies accredited to his following really have been committed by others.

Seven Empty Caskets.

People who recently have buried relatives in various cemeteries, are greatly excited and since the developments of the last few days, many graves have been re-opened to see if the caskets have been tampered with. Investigation in seven of these cases have revealed empty caskets. Every medical college in this city has been thoroughly searched for the stolen bodies, but to no avail. Six bodies were ffound in a pickling vat at the Medical College of Indiana. The officials of this institution proving they had been lawfully obtained and asserting that there were no other bodies about the buildings. Detectives went to the college today with a search warrant for the body of Wallace Johnston, which had been stolen from the grave in the Ebenezer cemetery, northeast of the city. The college authorities were reluctant to allow this. The detectives found several others in the cellar. The college authorities are very indignant at the latest phase of the situation.

"A SERIOUS PROBLEM"

The Doukhobors are proving to be not only a difficult problem for the Government to solve, but also a bad advertisement fro Canada. The St. Paul Globe, commenting on their latest mania, says that the sympathy which has been shown them is proved to have been utterly misplaced, and it says also that the future course of the Dominion Government is a matter of world-wide interest and importance. The Globe's article concludes as follows:

"They (the Doukhobors) no longer present themselves to general attention as persons who have a conscientious objection to the shedding of human blood, or as being opposed on conscientious grounds to making war on their fellows, but they appear to have evolved into half-crazed fanatics.

"A letter from one of the members of the sect recently generally published in the daily press, reveals them as not only unwilling to engage in the shedding of human blood, but as showing like unwillingness to shed the blood of animals; to cut animal flesh, or even to utilize beasts of burden for working in the fields. The advancement of this latter theory of conduct has placed these people outside the pale of sane society. Having followed the expression of their convictions in this last mentioned respect up, by sending their cattle adrift, the problem of what to do with the Doukhobors now becomes a serious one for the Canadian government.

"It will not now be possible of course for the Canadian Government to deport these people. Civilized men and women had rejoiced that there were in this world others who were willing to stand unflinchingly on what Count Tolstoi had declared to be the only rational and logical position for those who desire the uplifting of the race, in dealing with the requirement of enforced military service— of absolutely refusing to do violence toward their fellow creature. Few really civilized men and women who were apprised of the attitude of the Doukhobors in this regard but entertained more or less sympathy with them. Now, however, the sympathy is shown to have been utterly misplaced and the objects of it no more entitled to consideration than any other body of men and women who show themselves to be victims of religious mania.

"Whether the Canadian authorities will allow these people the free exercise of their peculiar beliefs, or, refusing to do so, what disposition will be made of them, is a subject which may before long assume world-wide interest and importance."

KEYLESS CLOCKS ARE GOING TO ENGLAND

A Great Compliment Shown a Great American Industry by a Great Englishman

The wonderful success of the Keyless Clock, which today is the highest exponent in the art of clock building is astonishing the inventing world.

One of the many good reasons for this is the fact that even England is awaking to the fact that there are some great things in America worthy to be taken to England, and that great American money-makers can be great money-makers in England as well, pre-eminently in this line is the Keyless Clock—a great clock which winds itself — the great clock which is acknowledged the acme of perfection and simplicity.

Recently, Mr. George Douglas, a very prominent man in the world of finance, a director in the Heather Bank, of Dingley, Yorkshire, England, purchased, to take home with him, two Keyless Clocks. To prevent any accident this gentleman ordered that the same be not sent by express, as is the custom, but he would take them with him, among his personal effects; and thus the clocks were sent to his stateroom on board the steamer Celtic, on which ship he sailed on October 2.

Mr. Douglas was enthusiastic in his praise of the clock, he never expected to see anything like it, and he was kind enough to tell the General Manager of the U.S. Electric Clock Co. that "of all the good things he was taking with him to England from this great country, nothing equalled in value or importance these two clocks," one of which he will likely have in his bank and the other in his home.

Mr. Douglas inspected the entire plant of the Keyless Clock Company. The method of operating and conducting a great American Clock factory was explained to him. He was deeply interested in everything and took many notes and requested that the set of photographs which the company are contemplating of their new works should be sent to him when finished, so when he shows his friends in England the clock he can explain where and how it is made.

But that is not all. Not only are private Englishmen enthusiastic over the clock and its future, but great English merchants are casting longing eyes toward the Keyless Clock and are using every possible means to secure the general representation of the United States Electric Clock Company and the great Keyless Clock.

The company have received a number of applications and direct offers and enquiries, and prominent among these is one from Messrs. Clement Clark & Co., 24 Robertson street, Glasgow, Scotland. This is one of the very prominent houses of the United Kingdom. They have a thousand agencies and branches throughout England, Scotland and Ireland. They made the United States Clock Company a direct offer for the exclusive agency, and offered to put the services of their entire organization at the command of the Keyless Clock.

It is hardly possible to estimate what this would mean and conservative figures might place the sales of this one concern at not less than 2,000 to 3,000 clocks, to commence with, per month, or almost 30,000 clocks for the first year.

Unfortunately the present capacity of the Keyless Clock factories is only 50,000 clocks. The company is unable to fill the demand for the American market, and although they are increasing their capacity from day to day they cannot keep up with their orders.

It may, therefore, be necessary, before long, to start a separate factory in England to supply the increasing demand, in which case Manager Delafield of the United States Electric Clock Company says, that he would send American machinery and expert American machinists to the other side, as he would not endanger the success of a possible European factory by adopting the impracticable methods of European workmanship.

The Keyless Clock Company is now in active negotiation with Clement, Clark & Co., and Mr. Clement has expressed his willingness to take passage for the United States on the very first ship, as soon as the Keyless Clock Company see their way clear to supply him with only a minimum quantity, or to make a direct offer to them.

When we talk of the Keyless Clock we can say that "Truth is mighty." There is absolutely nothing about this entire proposition which flavors of the speculative. It is a truthful proposition from beginning to end.

The company has been unusually successful because they have a good thing, and it is managed by good men. The stock of the company is prized as much as the clock is, and investors are eager to subscribe for the securities of this company, which are being sold rapidly.

We are glad to give this enterprise our hearty support, and we hope any possible connection they may make in England will be as successful as it is in America.—"Banking World Oct. 1st."

THE MOONSTONE SPHINX

By Mrs C N Williamson

the rage of disappointment at realizing his mistake, he could have shouted oaths aloud. But he had succeeded in doing many things in his eventful life by sheer self-control, and he had seldom lost it unless he had chosen deliberately to let himself go. He did not lose it, or let himself go now.

So quickly did the scene pass by that few in the audience were certain that the figure on the horse was a mere understudy for Mazeppa. Some said it was Miss Gray herself; others vowed that it was another girl in her place.

From the stage-manager's standpoint the act was saved, whatever might have to happen later; but to Lionel Macaire the substitution of an understudy for the girl whom he had meant to shame and humiliate was only an aggravation. He cared nothing whether the play went on or was stopped in the midst on the first night. It was only Winifred he had thought of from the first.

No answer had come to the note he had sent behind the scenes, and in this case he knew well enough that silence did not mean consent. If Winifred had intended to fling herself upon his mercy she would have replied with a written line or verbal message. And no word having been deigned he had believed Wantage's assurance that the girl would go through the scene on the horse, even if she had to be forced to it.

The instant he saw that the slight, apparently nude figure bound to Selim's back was not Winifred Gray's, he rose from his seat without showing signs of haste and left the box.

Behind it was a door which led through a short passage to the stage, and the first person he met there was Jeffrey.

"Why did not Miss Gray play that scene?" Macaire questioned, sternly. Grotesquely ugly at all times, he was appallingly hideous when in a passion, and, though his voice was merely cold, Jeffrey saw by the purple face and the jelly-like quivering of the marred features that the millionaire's wrath was held in check by an effort.

"Miss Gray can't be found; she's disappeared," the stage-manager stammered, his castles in the air rocking on their foundation, built above this rich man's money and favor.

Then Lionel Macaire muttered an oath between his teeth. "What do you mean?" he said. "Wantage came out and told me that the girl had fainted, but was being dressed for the scene, and would be put through it somehow, without fail. He had your word for it —as stage-manager. What do you mean, then, by saying she has disappeared?"

Jeffrey did not dare to lose his temper, though he had a hot one, quickly fired. "It is a most mysterious affair," he answered. "I don't know what to think of it. But certainly I am not to blame. And, if Miss Gray isn't found, her understudy can get through somehow, though it will be a great misfortune—on the first night of all nights. The only thing will be to go out before the curtain and make a careful announcement, working up some sensation that will fetch the newspapers and rouse the public's curiosity. It may even create a certain boom."

"Boom be hanged!" ejaculated Macaire. "The girl's played you false, then? But what a fool you were to let it happen! Do you remember it is my money you've been letting her make ducks and drakes of?"

"She's certain to be found," faltered Jeffrey, drooping under the millionaire's anger. "She can't possibly have left the theater. If you'll come with me, Mr. Macaire, to her dressing-room door, where Mr. Wantage is catechising the woman who had charge of her after she fainted, you'll understand that it must be so."

"Very well," said the other, and together they walked across the stage, behind the setting which was going up for the next act.

CHAPTER XVI.

Escaped.

Mr. Wantage, afraid to go out and face his patron after what had happened, was standing in the open doorway of Winifred Gray's dressing-room, talking excitedly to Mrs. Purdy. At sight of Macaire advancing upon him he flushed darkly, then grew pale.

"This is a mystery, Mr. Macaire!" he exclaimed, with a shaking voice. "Miss Gray has disappeared. A most obstinate girl. I knew that she objected to go through the scene in the only suitable way, and Jeffrey knew it. But we ——"

"Be kind enough to state exactly what occurred after Miss Gray fainted," Macaire broke in, addressing the woman, without a glance at Wantage. "She was then brought into this room, was she not, and placed in your charge?"

"Yes, sir, she was, sir," returned the dresser, staring at the hideous face of the man with undisguised astonishment, even repulsion. She did not know that, though so villainously ugly to look upon, he was worth many times his weight in solid gold. Macaire was not so uncommon a name that she should associate him with millionaire Lionel of that ilk, even if she heard him addressed by Wantage or Jeffrey, and it did not occur to her that he was to be fawned upon. "Ugly beast! I wonder what the dickens he means by poking his nose into it?" she was probably asking herself. "Who's he, anyhow?" And, aloud, she enquired: "Are you Miss Gray's father or—or anything, sir?"

"I am—a friend of her family. And I am, unfortunately, financially interested in this company," the great man condescended to explain. "It is not pleasant hearing that the star has run away on the first night."

"She can't have run far," cut in Jeffrey. "This woman here will tell you that."

Lionel Macaire looked at Mrs. Purdy, and she accepted the look as her cue to speak. "I managed to get the young lady into the things she was to ride the horse in, sir, when she was fainting. And a rare job it was, too."

"What happened then?" questioned Macaire.

"Why, this gentleman, the stage-manager, sir, he kept comin' to the door and worritin' me, till I thought I should have gone off my head. But, finally, I did have the young lady ready, and at the last moment, as I was tellin' him, she popped open those great eyes of hers. She'd been wild about the fleshin's before, sir, sayin' nothin' on earth would induce 'er to put 'em on. But she seemed wonderful calmed down like, after her faintin'

ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18 inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realize the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purposes of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

We furnish the rich property—you furnish the mill. In a few months it will be in operation—almost before you expect it—and we divide the immense returns.

STOCK MARKETS

A Market Offering Frequent Profit Opportunities

New York, Oct. 7.—This is an unusually safe market to be interested in. Markets are usually good to trade in when many brokers are desirous of avoiding purchasing orders for their own benefit. They are oftimes dangerous when every broker in the land solicits a buying order because money is easy and it is profitable for him to carry stocks at a six per cent. margin; the present market will not for the time being be a run-away one. Neither will it break seriously. It will have quick fluctuations, alternately strong, then weak. One day it will look as if prices are going skyward, then sell; the next day it will appear as if the bottom will fall out of the market; then make your purchases. In this manner you will make frequent turns and profitable ones. This is always the course of the market after a shake up, and has been the way the present market has been working for the past two weeks. It will more than likely act in this manner for from two to three weeks more. In working your account in this manner lean to the bull side in preference to the bear side. The heavily loaded condition of the cliques make their interests absolutely upon the bull side of the account. Some morning when things look propitious they will become extremely active in advancing prices, and there will be no warning bells ringing before such operations are commenced. That time will be the breaking up of a market condition such as we expect for the short period of time just ahead of us. You don't want to get caught. Again, the short interest is growing and bearish sentiment increasing among the amateur traders. Once they all get in that frame of mind something will be done to take them into camp. When it occurs you don't want to be with them. Every railway in the land is reporting magnificent progress and a splendid outlook for the future. These conditions are bound to rule prices in the end, so act accordingly. Bear in mind at all times that the present range of prices is brought about solely by the money situation; when that clears up values will be made upon the other conditions having a bearing upon them, and all these conditions favor the bull side. It is dangerous to sell short a gold dollar for ninety cents, even if your neighbor is compelled to do so.

Summary.—Stocks purchased around yesterday's low prices paid about as outlined. Our persistent advice to realize your profits off the rallies, not waiting for too large ones was good. This morning's opening prices afforded the opportunity. After the first hour prices crumbled again. St. Paul, after an initial advance of 2 points over night, fell from 1-2 to 3 points. On each pronounced weakness we continue to suggest purchases, selling out on rallies, if they advance beyond your closing out price make a modest short commitment protected by a judicious stop order. As a trading market we seldom have a better one. Stocks generally must be reaching pretty close to bottom prices. Our advices of the past 10 days in these letters, if followed, would have yielded splendid profits, despite the declines. Money closed 4 per cent; sales [illegible].

BUY DEC. CORN NOW

Some time ago when the market was weak and July corn was selling at from 61 to 62 cents, we predicted that it would soon sell above 75 cents. We advised our clients to buy. JULY CORN SOLD FOR 90 CENTS, PROVING OUR PREDICTION CORRECT ALTHOUGH MADE IN THE FACE OF A WEAK MARKET. Those who followed our instructions realized enormous profits.

The conditions at present, the tone of the market, everything favors the buyer of December corn. BEFORE DECEMBER 30th IT WILL SELL FOR 70c., and again our advice is to buy. A small investment may make you independent. If you want the best price and the largest profit, BUY NOW. Our predictions on July corn were correct. Our advice on September corn was just as good. Send at once for our Booklet (mailed free) telling why corn will advance and how to trade with small capital. We have the highest references.

SWORN STATEMENT

On June 15th, 1901, a client of the firm deposited with me at my suggestion, one hundred dollars to be invested in Corn for September delivery. I purchased for his account 5,000 bushels at 43 1/2 cents per bushel, with a margin of 2 cents. I sold his holdings at 47c., giving a profit of $275 00; I purchased again at 47 1/2 cents per bushel, 10,000 bushels on a 2c. margin; resold at 50c; I continued to buy and sell on this account, watching the market closely, until the middle of August, when my client instructed me to close the account and submit the amount to his credit; this I did, his account showed a balance due him of $5 850.00, as his investment of $100.00 for two months.

Under oath as to its truthfulness, I make the following statement. March 25th, 1902, I deposited $25 to be invested in Corn, leaving the handling of my investment to the judgment of the Commission Company. On April 12th I was advised that my account was worth $50.00; on the same day I was advised that they had bought for me 2,500 bushels of Corn for July delivery at 61 3/8 cents; on April 16th, they sold and bought for my account, increasing my earnings to $131.75; again they bought for me, selling on April 23rd; my account now showing a net profit of $303.10 in 28 days, on an investment of $25.00   R ROY BRYAN, Deer, Mo.

Dear Sir,—Any time you want any recommendations from me as to what I think of your plan of campaign in the corn market, you can have it, for I have not, in many years I have been trading in future corn, met with such success as you have achieved for me in the handling of my account. As you know, I am such a busy man that I cannot give any personal attention to these matters, and while I know that you had made some of my friends enormous profits in the July corn deal that you handled with such remarkable success, as everybody knows, I really made my little investment of $25 with you more for a flyer for cigar money than anything else, and when I think that in addition to the cheque for $137 50 sent me on August 23rd as result of first investment, cheque for $40.75 which you handed me on August 29th as result of second investment, and look at the market to day, and see nearly $200 profit in the third investment, I am simply pleased beyond measure.

I also want to thank you for the purchase that you made for my two friends yesterday who, at my suggestion, left it entirely to your hands, as I see they have a nice profit in their trades to-day.

If you think well of it, take on some December corn for me, as I notice you are now advising to buy December corn. Very respectfully yours,

Dear Sir:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 10th inst., enclosing therewith your check No. 457 on the Third National Bank for $218.40.

This certainly shows most gratifying results of the small investment of $25, which I placed in your hands to handle, as your best judgment would dictate, on August 13th, less than a month ago, and assure you that I appreciate same highly.

As you know, I was first attracted to your company from the fact that I had come in contact with a number of friends whose investments handled by you had proven highly satisfactory and profitable. It will afford me great pleasure to recommend your Company, and also their plan of trading, to my friends, at all times, for certainly where such results as above can be obtained from such a small investment, the inducement offered speculators and investors is far out of the ordinary. Again thanking you,

I remain, very truly yours,   W. W. Wood, Trav. Pass. Agent.

H. C. Dennis, President.

Gentlemen:—Yours of the 4th inst., at hand and noted; you cannot understand by this letter my appreciation of your services. If I had ten thousand dollars to invest I would put it in your hands for investment, as I firmly believe that you will make it win if any Commission Company can; you can invest my deposit according to your judgment, adhering to a former letter I wrote you regarding profits. Hoping you are successful in the next investment, and awaiting your commands, I am,

Very respectfully,   J. J. Underwood.

Wanted to be Sent Back

A boy who had served a term in the Reformatory, and who formerly belonged to Marchmont Home, requested to be sent back for two years. The lad gave as a reason that he was afraid he would drift back into crime if not kept under restraint. County Constable Cochrane says he never heard of a similar request being made. People, as a rule, prefer freedom.

Heartily Endorsed

The other day a minister of the Gospel, whose early education in business matters has been sadly neglected, called at The Times Bookstore, and made some purchases of books for the Sabbath school of his church, which is situated in the country not far from Peterborough. He tendered in payment a check made by the treasurer of the Sunday school, and drawn payable to the Minister's order. This he gave to the cashier, and handing it in, was told to indorse it. He hesitated a moment and then taking up the precious document wrote on the back, "I heartily indorse this check," and signed his name. Of course this went, and he got his change and departed.

Exchequer Court

A sitting of the Exchequer Court of Canada will be held at the Court House, Peterborough, on Monday, 13th inst., before the Hon. Mr. Justice Burbidge, for the trial of the action of His Majesty the King against John Hull, of Lakefield, arising out of Mr. Hull's refusal to accept the sum of $6,500 offered to him by the Government as compensation for damage to his mill property by reason of the construction of the Trent Valley Canal through his property. Mr. Hull claims that he has suffered damage to the extent of over $16,000. Mr. Stratton & Hall are acting as solicitors for the Department of Railways and Canals, and Mr. Dumble, K.C., is solicitor for Mr. John Hull.

Dignity and Advertising

What is dignity? Some people call it conservatism; some people call it "dry rot;" some people call it personality, and the only people that ever worry about it are the fellows who have to carry a load of it around with them. We never heard of a man yet who said he would not trade with a firm because it was not dignified, but we have heard lots of people say they liked to trade with a firm because it got up and hustled. When your dignity comes to hurt you, when it commences to hold you back, when it commences to lose you business, when you commence to turn down orders or refuse to take advantage of up-to-date methods 'because they are not dignified' it is time for you and dignity to separate, or to get a new kind of dignity. Dignity is a relative term, and most of the people who talk about it cannot define it, but rest assured of one thing, when your dignity sacrifices force, cut out the dignity. It may be 'undignified' to advertise in public papers, but it is "business."

A SERIOUS OFFENSE

Man Named James Fallon Charged with Criminal Assault

County Constable Cochrane arrested a man named James Fallon, who is charged with criminally assaulting a child 12 years old, and attempting the assault of another and younger child. Fallon is a married man, and is understood to deny the charge.

The matter will come before County Police Magistrate Edmison to-day.

They were After Him

The following was sent to the Times for publication yesterday: Just as a commercial traveller was writing his name on the register of a local hotel, the other day, a bed bug appeared and meandered slowly over the pages. The man of grips paused in open wonder, and in a voice shaking with emotion said: "Well, by the eternal gods of war, I have been bled by Lindsay fleas, bitten by Toronto spiders, driven almost to insanity by Bobcaygeon centipedes, crawled over by Belleville razzlejacks, and interviewed by Cobourg graybacks, but this is the first place I was ever at where bed bugs looked over the register to find out the number of my room."

PRACTICAL CHARITY

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—I see by the Ottawa papers that Mr. J. R. Booth, the leading lumberman of that city, has not only refused to sell his millwood to speculators but has decided to turn in a large amount of tamarac that he has for his mills, to the people of the city at cost price.

In Peterborough we have the Dickson Company and Mr. Alex Macdonald, who are engaged in the lumbering business, and who have large quantities of wood I would suggest that the Mayor and Council wait on them and endeavor to secure the wood at a reasonable price, and try and secure a promise that it won't be sold to speculators. I am sure both companies have the interests of the people at heart and would not only be willing but anxious to do everything possible to relieve the suffering which is sure to come if this strike continues.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I am &c.,

A Pretty Cathedral Wedding

Yesterday morning, St. Peter's cathedral was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Miss Aggie Kelly and Mr. William Pope were married.

The bride was most beautifully and becomingly attired in a travelling suit of olive green trimmed with applique, and picture hat to match and entered the church on the arm of her cousin, Mr. Ed. Crew, of Campbellford, to the strains of Wagner's wedding march, rendered by Miss K. Hurley. Miss Annie Kelly, in a most becoming blue costume, performed the duties of bridesmaid, while Mr. J. Donoghue acted in a similar capacity for the groom. The happy young couple were the recipients of numerous costly and handsome presents, which testify to the high esteem in which both are held by their many friends in town. A beautiful Persian lamb coat trimmed with sable was presented by the groom to the bride, and to the bridesmaid a lovely ring set with pearls and turquoises.

After the ceremony a sumptuous breakfast was served at the home of the bride, at the conclusion of which Mr. and Mrs. Pope took the 11.05 train for Port Hope and thence to Rochester.

WANDERERS

We go about from one place to another, in search of something we desire, without success, and finally find it right at home awaiting us. A mining engineer out in Mansfield, Mo., tells of his experience with coffee.

He says. "Up to the year 1898 I had always been accustomed to drinking coffee with my breakfast each morning. In the summer of that year I developed a severe case of nervous prostration and I took several courses of treatment for it in Toronto, Buffalo, and New York City without obtaining any permanent relief. One of the most trying manifestations of the malady was a condition of nervous excitement in which I found myself every day during the forenoon. It never occurred to me to attribute this to coffee until I read an advertisement of yours last Fall describing a case similar to my own which had received benefit from the use of Postum Cereal Food Coffee. I at once changed my breakfast beverage from Java and Mocha to Postum and the effect was nothing short of marvelous. After using it less than a week I was free from morning attacks and in six months all my nervous symptoms had disappeared.

I have demonstrated the fact that by following your directions in making Postum Food Coffee any one can obtain as rich a cup of coffee from Postum, as from any of the imported brands, and may rest assured that they will escape the injurious effects of coffee and experience much benefit from the use of Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

This is the Advice of the Rialto Grain and Securities Company

We print elsewhere the advertisement of the Rialto Grain and Securities Company, of St. Louis Mo., which speaks for itself. The Company are large operators, and have made many thousands of dollars for their patrons. Canadian investors would do well to place their orders at once, as there is likely to be a sharp advance before Dec. 1st. A comparatively small investment now might mean a fortune in a few weeks hence.

The Rialto Company is an incorporated institution, and is thoroughly reliable.

INJURED IN INITIATION

A Fraternal Order Being Sued For Damages

There are many in this city who believe that some of the fraternal societies overdo the thing in the initiation line. It is hardly likely that it has gone so far here, however, as in Rock Falls, Ill., where W. A. Simbaugh has brought suit against the Fraternal Tribune a beneficiary organization, alleging that he was injured for life while being initiated. He claims that the goat was connected with electricity, and that his body came in contact with the live wire. The case is attracting much attention, and is being watched by supreme officers of other orders.

THE SHOVEL FACTORY

The Times Makes a Few Corrections in Yesterday's Report

The Times made one or two mistakes in our issue of yesterday, regarding the proposition of the Shovel Company. The following is the Company's proposal:

1st—A free site of 1 1-2 to 3 acres of land with railway siding.

2nd—A fixed assessment for ten years.

3rd—To supply building for main shop, cost not exceeding 16,000.

4th—To assure Company the securing of electric power for the operation of their works at $16 per horse power.

The Company for the above concessions agree to:

2nd—The Company to employ 25 men the first year and to have 50 men on their pay roll in the year 1904.

3rd—The Company will give the town a lien on said buildings and land as security for the carrying out of this agreement; said lien to be paid off as follows:

4th—For each and every year the company carry on business in fulfillment of this contract a deduction shall be made by the town of $1,000 per year until the liability expires, when the town shall transfer the land and buildings free of all cost to the Company. The company, however, to have the right to erect such other buildings as the demands of the business may from time to time require.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Florence Chamberlain, Toronto, seeking an appointment on the kindergarten staff.—Received.

From Mary M. Dense, St. Catharines, on behalf of the U. E. L. Association, asking the Board to permit the school children to subscribe toward a monument in memory of Laura Secord, who by her heroic action during the second invasion of the Niagara Peninsula by the Americans, assisted in a measure in keeping the British flag floating over our fair Dominion. Laura Secord, at great personal risk, warned Lieut. Jas. Fitzgibbon of a pending surprise attack by the Americans. Had Fitzgibbon not been thus warned, his small British force would in all probability have been totally annihilated. This matter was referred to the Supervision committee.

How to Use Soft Coal

Mr. S. T. Church writes:—For the past two weeks I have been using soft coal in a furnace according to the directions given below, and with capital success, No gas, no smoke, no dust. Place the required amount of coal in furnace. Open draught until the fuel has reached a full blaze, then cover over with a light layer of wet ashes (soft or hard coal). Judgement should be used as to the thickness of covering. Temper draught the same as in the use of anthracite. Fire may be retained for a period of twenty-four hours, and even longer by an increase in the thickness of the covering and proper adjustment of the draught. Leave draught in top door constantly open.

A Nightmare

Gives point to the fact that excessive or irregular eating disturbs the digestion. Nightmare or night hag has it's day time correspondence in the undue fullness after eating, with the belchings and sour or bitter rising so often experienced after too hasty or too hearty eating.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. When these diseases are cured, the whole body shares in the increased strength derived from food properly digested and perfectly assimilated.

"Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy have been of great benefit to me," writes (Prof.) Pleasant A. Oliver, of Viola, Fulton Co., Ark. "Before I used the above mentioned remedies my sleep was not sound; digestion bad; a continued feeling of misery. I now feel like a new man. Any one in need of medical treatment for nasal catarrh could do no better than to take treatment of Dr. R. V. Pierce. I know his medicines are all right in this class of diseases."

Sometimes a dealer tempted by the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines will offer the customer a substitute as being "just as good" as the "Discovery." It is better for him because it pays better, but it is not as good for you, if you want the medicine that has cured others, and which you believe will cure you.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

WILL TRY TO CONTROL THE MEDITERRANEAN

France Building Immense Fortifications in the Vicinity of Tunis

The Struggle for the Control of the Mediterranean Believed to be Not Far off

Special to The Times.

London, Oct. 8—The recent sensational speeches of M. Camille Pelletan, French Minister of Marine have called attention to the remarkable work accomplished by France in establishing a fortress and naval base at Bizerta, Tunis, in the last few years.

Twenty years ago the existing harbor accommodated vessels of only the smallest size and gave them no protection against storms. The French have cut a canal through the sand between the sea and the lake of Bizerta and thereby supplied a new harbor.

The canal is wide enough and deep enough to accommodate the largest warships. The lake is nearly forty miles in circumference, and on it all the navies of the world could float in safety.

At the southern end of the lake a new city has been built since 1898. It has already 5,000 inhabitants and contains a naval yard capable of repairing battleships of the largest size.

A number of forts and fortifications have been built about Bizerta and its defences are being still improved. It is proposed to make it as nearly impregnable as possible.

Even in its present state it is thought that Bizerta would be a factor of the highest importance in the struggle for control of the western end of the Mediterranean.

SEA SPEED IS COSTLY

New Cunarders May Cost Over Four Million Apiece

London, Oct. 8.—Designs for the two new Cunarders which will be built on the Clyde have not been completed, but the tentative plans and designs have been inspected by the Admiralty officials and directors of the company.

The tonnage, length and engine power depend upon the speed which will be attempted, and until this is determined neither of these designs can be prepared nor tenders offered. The gain in speed since 1840 has been about two and one-half knots each decade, but every additional knot represents an enormous increase in the cost of construction and the consumption of coal.

Engineers estimate that the new steamers, if designed for a speed of twenty-four knots, will need to be 750 feet long and will cost about $4,375,000 each.

The fast German liners now afloat have averaged about $2,500,000 but the Kaiser Wilhelm, now under construction, will be still faster and will cost considerably more than $3,500,000.

If the designers are required to produce twenty-five knot ships they will be forced to increase the length of vessels and run up the cost above $4,500,000

NOT IMPRESSED WITH BOERS

Is Major Hamilton, of Woodstock, Just Back From Africa

Major James Hamilton, of Woodstock, who held the rank of quarter master with the 4th Canadian contingent passed through Peterborough yesterday, from South Africa.

"How did I like it?" said he to a Times man. "oh, I enjoyed it all immensely and wouldn't mind going back provided I had a good position out there, but after living in Canada, I don't think I'd want to go to South Africa to spend the rest of my days. There's no place on earth like Canada."

"Is the country being settled up again?" was asked.

"Oh, yes, the Boers are being sent back to their farms as fast as possible. They get passes from the government over the railways and ride back to their farms in railway carriages, and get so much money to start afresh with. The British soldiers are transported in trucks. But that is nothing when you consider the number of soldiers there are still in the country. It is a vast country, as big as Canada you know, and whereas there are so many soldiers you don't really see them. I was in a camp where there were 20,000 of them, but it didn't appear to me to be any more than 5,000 I was at another camp where we had 2,000 Canadians alone.

The Major visited all the notable battle fields in Natal. Everywhere are indications of the terrible struggles which were witnessed at these points between the British and the Boers.

"How were you impressed with the Boer as you found him?" queried the reporter.

"Well, he's exactly as he is described and pictured," replied the major. "rough, uncouth and dirty, and I don't think their women are much better."

"Then, the soldiers who staid behind and settled in the country, will hardly take Boer girls for wives?"

"I hardly think so," was the reply. "A great many British soldiers stayed behind are going into farming. We left about 200 Canadians behind, who are taking up land. The farms there are not like the ones here. There 5,000 acres is an ordinary sized farm. They don't till the land much. All they use it for is for grazing purposes.

"Then, you don't think the Transvaal is as good as Canada?"

"No, no," said the returned soldier, "as I said before there's no country which can equal Canada."

Major Hamilton spent four weeks in London, Eng., where he says he was treated royally, and saw everything there was to be seen. He was taken about by officers he had met in South Africa.

NEW AMERICAN INDUSTRIES

Mr. Culverwell Talks to the Toronto News About Peterborough

The Toronto News says:—Mr. J Alex Culverwell, of Peterborough, who is largely interested in water powers in the Peterborough and Campbellford district while in Toronto yesterday, said to the News:—"I am busily engaged at present negotiating with several large American manufacturers who are preparing to establish branches in Canada, that I may secure their location in Peterboro. We already have benefitted immensely in Peterboro by the emigration of branch American factories and hope to induce more to come to Canada. I am informed by American manufacturers I have met that they generally are making preparations to the end of either building Canadian branch works, or else losing their Canadian trade altogether, feeling that in course of time a higher tariff will eventually shut them out."

"I think that the farmer does not look far enough ahead when he argues for a lower tariff. I believe myself that the true solution of the tariff question is to enforce such a high tariff that the American manufacturer will of necessity have to make his goods here and of course by Canadian labor. Then we shall not have hurt competition, but rather have created a better competition, and then the farmer will even buy his manufactured goods in a cheaper market than now, and also by the building up of our country have a large market for his farm products. Then, too, our Canadian manufacturers will be satisfied with a fair competition by Canadian made goods, even though with American capital. He certainly has a right to kick at this country being at present made practically a slaughter market by American manufacturers.

FOUR MURDERS IN THE YUKON

Peter Fournier Makes a Confession Implicating One Labelle

THREE SHOT AT ONE TIME

The Fourth was Shot Through the Head—All Were for the Purpose of Robbery

Special to The Times.

Dawson City, Y.T. September 29.—A full confession, complete in every detail has been made by Peter Fournier of the murders with which he is charged besides the killing of Constantin, Beaudoin and Bouthillette, on an island below Stewart, he has confessed killing another French Canadian of the name of Gilbert Dufor, or something quite similar, about thirty or forty miles above Circle Bay.

Yesterday afternoon at the police barracks in a private room were gathered Captain Routledge, Capt. Wroughton Sergeant Smith, Detective Welsh, Alexander I. MacFarlane, Fournier's counsel, and H. G. Blankman, police court stenographer, who took down the confession. These are substantially the words of Fournier:

"In June La Belle came to me and said:

"'Here Pete, there's no gambling on now and things are quiet. We'd better go up the river and see what we can do there."

"I agreed to that and we left on a steamer. We got to White Horse and La Belle secured a place to stop, and we remained there four or five days. While there La Belle said to me:

"'Pete there is nothing going on here. We'd better do business by going down the river with people we may get hold of."'

I understood what he meant by this. La Belle purchased a boat for $32.50 and a rifle for $8. I had a revolver and belt full of cartridges.

"We used to go to meet the trains and one day three men got off, and La Belle engaged two of them in conversation. The other one was attending to some other business at one side. La Belle told them we had a boat and suggested to go to Dawson with us. They paid us $5 each for the trip and each furnished his own grub, and we started down together. Nothing of consequence happened on the trip until we got to an island ten or fifteen miles below Stewart.

SCENE OF THE MURDER.

"About 10 o'clock at night we landed and made camp at the island. That night before going to bed La Belle said to me:

"We'll fix this thing in the morning,' and I agreed to it.

"The cook (Constantin) got up first in the morning and as he did so La Belle awoke. The cook went down to the river and as La Belle got up to follow him he threw a stick at me and woke me up. He took his rifle and followed the cook. Presently we heard a shot. Then La Belle came back and said:

"I shot at a rabbit, but missed it."

SHOOTING OF THREE MEN.

"Then the little fellow (Beaudoin) got up and went around the other side.

"The cook was shot from behind and fell on his face at the water's edge. We searched him and got two $100 bills, a $5 bill and a gold watch. We then threw his body in the river. Beaudoin fell face upwards. We searched him and got $25 Fastening the ropes on him we threw him in the river. We found $75 and a silver watch on Bouthillette and dragged him to the water and threw him in.

"We burned the tent and the clothing. We burned some of our own stuff which had blood on it. We burned a grip sack. We threw their trunk in the river."

Fournier then went on to tell that they came to Dawson that day. A few days after they went to Eagle, where they met a man named Gilbert Dufor, and La Belle prevailed upon him to go with them to Circle City. Forty miles above this place La Belle, according to Fournier, put a bullet through Dufor's head and then rifled his pockets, throwing the body into the water. When they got back to Dawson La Belle disappeared.

SALT TO RESTORE LIFE

Indiana Doctor Asserts Some Corpses Can be Re-Animated

Special to The Times.

Alexandria, Ind., Oct. 8.—Dr. C. W Littlefield asserts that he can restore the dead to life. He says that he has restored one boy who was undoubtedly dead, and that he has restored animals numberless times after rigor mortis had set in.

He declares that life is not necessarily dependent upon organic function. Where death has been due to causes which have not impaired tissue formation or torn down the structure of the vital organs life may be recalled.

"Volatile magnetism," says the physician, "is the power that can reanimate the dead body. In his experiment Dr. Littlefield uses a powder of which the basis is common salt.

HIGGINS SENTENCED

The Youth Who Killed Doherty Will Pay the Death Penalty on December 18th—Counsel's Latest Move

Special to The Times.

St. John, N.B. Oct. 8.—Before Judge Landry, in the Circuit Court, this morning, Lawyer Daniel Mullin, K.C., for Frank Higgins, the 16 year old murderer of William Doherty, argued four hours for a reservation of the famous case, and gave reasons why sentence should not be passed. A large crowd was in the Court room when the doors opened and quite a number of women were present. Hon. H. A. McKeown was absent but Attorney-General Pugsley, took his place. Mrs. Higgins, the prisoner's mother, and Mrs. Doherty, the murdered lads parents were present. Mr. Mullin said his first point was in reference to the selection of a jury from a second draft of citizens, the original panel being exhausted. He said this was a matter beyond the power of provincial authorities, and one for the Dominion authorities only. Then as a second point, a reverse case juryman, Pooley, was not challenged, and was sworn in regularly. Mr. Mullin's third objection was to part of His Honour's charge to the jury, which he claims was prejudicing. Fourthly, he objected to certain rebuttal evidence aiming as admissable.

A GRAVE SITUATION IN THE BALKAN STATES

Russia is Suspected of Intrigue by all of the Western Powers

London Oct. 8.—The situation in the Balkans and the near East generally continues to give uneasiness to political circles in Europe. The rising in Macedonia has undoubtedly attained grave proportions and it is believed that the facts are being largely suppressed.

Russia, as usual in all Turkish-Balkan complications, is the chief object of suspicion of Western Europe, and a great variety of guesses respecting her designs are current. Special agents of the principal Powers have been sent to the disturbed region. The celebration of the anniversary of Shipka Pass, which was an imposing affair, did not develop any features tending to disclose the designs of the plotters.

NOW CAN POWDER MILK

A Novel Invention of a Gothenburg Physician

Berlin, Oct. 8—The Journal of the Society of Arts gives considerable space to a description of an apparatus invented by a Gothenburg physician, whereby milk can be reduced to a powder like flour without detriment to its nutritive qualities. The powder is said to be readily mixable in water, when it can be used the same as milk in its natural state. The principal advantage claimed is concentration and preservation without deterioration.

THE PACIFIC CABLE

Canadian End of Line is Now Buoyed Only a Mile From Shore—Colonia Has Made a Record

Special to The Times.

Victoria, B.C., October 8.—The cable steamer Colonia, which sailed from Bamfield Creek, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, and terminus of the Pacific Cable, at 2.30 p.m., on September 18, arrived at Fanning Island yesterday at 11 o'clock and buoyed the end, one mile off shore. The total distance covered proved to be 3,455 miles, about 36 miles less than estimated. The Anglia will lay the remaining mile with the heavy shore end on arrival and complete the last section from Fanning Island to Suva It is understood the Colonia has established a record in cable laying, having made an average of 8 miles an hour and completed the entire journey in 17 days and 21 1-2 hours, several days less than expected. The news was received last evening from Messrs. Lucas and Peake to whom congratulatory messages were forwarded in turn by the C.P.R. officials the Mayor of Victoria, members of the Provincial Government and other prominent people. The Colonia will now proceed to lay the Manila-Hawaiian cable, for which she has contracted. It is understood that as soon as the work is completed a test of the east and west routes will be made, the same messages being sent both ways simultaneously to London.

ITEMS OF NEWS BY CABLE AND LETTER

Special to The Times.

St. Thomas, Oct. 7.—The preliminary trial of William Charles King on the charge of deliberately shooting James William Freeman on September 9th, in his father's drive-house in Aldborough, began to-day at Rodney before Police Magistrate Glenn, of St. Thomas. Crown Attorney D. J. Donahue prosecuted, and W. J. McLaws was counsel for the defence. Provincial Detective John W. Murray was present and was one of the witnesses. Altogether thirteen witnesses were examined.

The evidence was substantially the same as that adduced at the inquest. All the principal witnesses corroborated their previous testimony as to King's confession of having committed the crime.

The only sensational development of the day was the testimony of John Wilson, farmer, called for the first time. According to his story, on the day of the murder witness suspected King of having committed the deed, and asked him why he did it. King knowing the witness was not on friendly terms with Mr. Freeman foster father of the murdered boy, confessed the crime, and said he would not have shot Willie Freeman if he had known the gun was loaded, and added that it was the old man (meaning Mr. Freeman) whom he had intended to shoot. Witness was positive on this point. He gave as his reason for not speaking of it before that he was afraid King would shoot him also while he was at large.

This witness was secured by an accidental occurrence. He was relating the above story to a Mr. Loveday on the streets of Rodney while the trial was in progress, and Dr. Dorland, the coroner, happened to overhear the remarks. Wilson was at once subpoenaed and brought into court, where he repeated the story under oath.

Owing to the absence of Dr. Duncombe and Dr. Lawrence, of St. Thomas, two of the post-mortem physicians, the trial was adjourned at 6 o'clock, p.m. in the court house at St. Thom- 7 p.m. in the court house at St. Thomas. The prisoner appeared sullen and ill at ease. During her testimony Mrs. Freeman broke down and wept bitterly.

"The five Boer Generals who discussed the terms of peace with Lord Kitchener and Lord Milner, refused to agree to the treaty unless they had some assurance of the safety of the Cape rebels," said Mr. Reitz. "They received a document, as part of the peace terms, which promised that the Cape rebels would suffer no penalty but the loss of their rights to vote, and in addition to this, Lord Kitchener and Lord Milner promised that at the coronation of King Edward they would do their utmost to obtain a general amnesty.

"Not only has Chamberlain repudiated the promise of General Kitchener, as the Blue Book of Sept. 3 shows, but they are arresting the Cape rebels now on trumped-up charges of horse stealing and are punishing them without regard for the fact that the offences were committed in time of war and on the field of battle."

The brutalizing influence on the public of lynching and burning negroes in the Southern states is discernible in the increasing interest taken in the dreadful spectacles and the deliberation of the preparations made to afford the public an opportunity to view them. In the case of a negro who was burned the other day in a Mississippi town, the mob held him from Saturday till Monday in order that an opportunity might be afforded to run excursions by train from the surrounding towns and the hour of the burning was advertised as if it were an attractive performance. When the fire was lighted by relatives of the negro's victim and the poor wretch began to scream the crowd cheered. Thousands viewed the sight with approval and savage satisfaction.

Montreal, Oct. 8.—Mr. Louis Becke, the celebrated author of stories of the Southern Seas, and the friend and companion of the late Robert Louis Stevenson, is in Montreal on his way back to Ireland from a two months' visit to Jamaica. He said; "I discussed the annexation question with several leading business men of Jamaica, and found that there was no sentiment in favor of the annexation of the island to the United States, except among a few shopkeepers who do not belong to any nationality in particular. There was a meeting called a few evenings ago to discuss the question and less than a dozen turned up to take part. The business men readily agree that it would be to their advantage commercially to join the United States, but the sentiment of the people is British. The British people on the island would never consent to annexation. And even if they did, the negro population would fight rather than become part of the United States. The Jamaican negro is a very different man from the negro of the South. I have always found the Jamaican negro a civil, amenable fellow, but he objects to being hustled, and will get his back up very quickly if anybody tries it. He considers himself the equal of the white man, and would bitterly object to the discrimination which exists against the blacks in the Southern States." Mr. Becke believes that if it were geographically possible, annexation to Canada would be the best thing for Jamaica. At the present time the people have much to complain of in their treatment by the Colonial Office. They are racked with taxes and have many over-paid and useless officers foisted on them. For instance, the Governor has $35,000 a year, and is not there six months in the year. The natives will stand it all, however, rather than submit to the white man's dictation, as their brethren do in the Southern States."

As an example of the cruelties of the blacks on the subject, Mr. Becke tells how they crowd the tramway with their market baskets, and if a white woman tries to get them out of the way, the colored women protest vigorously, and assert that they are just as good as the whites, anyhow.

London, Oct. 8.—A clergyman of the name of Brown, challenged the Rev. J. H. Smyth Pigott, who says he is the Messiah to a public debate.

Douglas Hamilton, Piggot's secretary replied that if outsiders wished to reach the Messiah they must do so in an attitude of supplication. Anything addressed to Mr. Piggot would be disregarded. He had ceased to exist. A request addressed to the Messiah would be attended to.

Mr. Hamilton added that he was not the secretary of Pigot, but was as John the beloved disciple, to Jesus Christ.

Wedding at St. Johns

On Tuesday evening a quiet and pretty wedding was solemnized in St. John's church by Rev. J. C. Davidson. The contracting parties were Miss Clara L. Clark, daughter of Mr. Neal A. Clark, town, and Rev. Frank Walker, until recently assistant rector of St. Ann's church, Toronto.

The bride wore a simple travelling costume and was attended by Miss Lena Bouchier, of town, whilst the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Harry Walker.

At the conclusion of the ceremony wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's father, No. 567 Water street.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker left on the 6 a.m. C.P.R. train for their future home in Deloraine, Man., where Mr. Walker has been appointed Rector of that parish. Their many friends in town wish them continued happiness and prosperity.

MINERS UNANIMOUS AGAINST SURRENDER

The Replies to Roosevelt's Offer Promise a Protracted Struggle

Awaiting the Actions of the Local Unions, Mitchell will not Answer Roosevelt Until He Hears from Them

Wilkesbarre, Oct. 8.—The following official statement was issued from headquarters this afternoon:—

"At 12.30 noon fifty telegrams had been received from as many mass meetings in various sections of the anthracite coal regions, conveying the information that by unanimous vote of the men on strike, all of whom attended such meetings, it was resolved that the presence of the entire United States army in the anthracite coal regions would not induce the men to return to work until the demands of the Shamokin Convention had been conceded, the strike declared off by a delegate convention of mine workers, or by the district and national officers."

Similar telegrams are constantly being received, and it is expected that every mining town will be heard from by 6 o'clock to-night.

"Thus far the returns emphasize and substantiate the declarations of the officials of the Miners' Union to-day at Washington, that the strikers are not deterred from going to work through fear of bodily harm.

"At 7 o'clock to-night all telegrams will be submitted to the representatives of the press for their examination.

(Signed) "JOHN MITCHELL."

President's Appeal to Mr. John Mitchell

On Monday, October, 6th, Hon. Carroll D. Wright, Commissioner of Labor, went to Philadelphia, and gave to Mr. John Mitchell the following from the President:—"'If Mr. Mitchell will secure the immediate return to work of the miners in the anthracite regions the President will at once appoint a commission to investigate thoroughly into all the matters at issue between the operators and miners, and will do all within his power to obtain a settlement of these questions in accordance with the report of the commission." Mr Mitchell has taken this matter under consideration, but the President has not yet been advised of any decision.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 8.—National President Mitchell of the Miners' Union and the three anthracite district presidents returned to this city from Buffalo to-day. Mr. Mitchell had nothing to say regarding yesterday's trip and also declined to discuss President Roosevelt's proposition for ending the strike. He will not even indicate when he will answer the President, but it is not probable that he will do so until after he has received the reports of all the local unions, which will meet to-day in accordance with his instructions and take action upon the question of whether their members desire to remain on strike.

Several of the locals met yesterday and last night. All of them voted to stay out and it is predicted that when the complete returns are in it will be found that the vote to continue the strike will be nearly unanimous.

Under instructions from Mr. Mitchell the result of the meetings which are called for 2 o'clock this afternoon must be telegraphed to headquarters immediately after the adjournment of the gatherings.

When Mr. Mitchell was asked to-day if he thought any men would return to work after the entire National Guards of the State had been placed on duty in the coal belt, he said:

"The best answer to that question will be the action of the local unions to-day."

Washington, Oct. 8.—The following statement was made public at the White House yesterday afternoon:—

"On Monday, October 6, Hon. Carroll D. Wright, Commissioner of Labor, went to Philadelphia and gave to Mr. John Mitchell the following from the President:

"'If Mr. Mitchell will secure the immediate return to work of the miners in the anthracite regions, the President will at once appoint a commission to investigate thoroughly into all the matters at issue between the operators and the miners, and will do all within his power to obtain a settlement of these questions in accordance with the report of the commission.'

"Mr. Mitchell has taken this matter under consideration, but the President has not yet been advised of any decision."

Wilkesbarre, Oct. 8.—The mail matter received at strike headquarters is increasing as the thermometer goes down. Probably the largest mail since the strike began was received to-day. Scores of letters are from eccentric persons, giving advice as to what to do. Many more are received from persons who want the strike ended so that they can get coal. One postal card reached headquarters from Canada. On it was written: "Please take the advice in third chapter, 14th verse St. Luke's Gospel, and let us have some coal."

The verse referred to is: "And the soldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, 'And what shall we do?' And he said unto them, Do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely; and be content with your wages."

Tamaqua, Pa., Oct. 8.—The Second Regiment State National Guard arrived here this morning from Philadelphia and encamped. The Sixth Regiment from Chester and vicinity will arrive this afternoon. No threats are made against the Guardsmen, and little trouble is anticipated. In general the feeling is one of apathy. Business is at a standstill and while a majority of the citizens would like to see the miners win, they want the struggle ended.

Reports from this region indicate that the operators made a slight gain in their working force to-day. The two trolley cars which convey the men to the different collieries were well filled, while many walked to work. Despite this, there was no demonstration of any kind. The few strikers who had congregated on the streets of Lansford and Summit Hill watched the men with indifference.

It is claimed that more coal was dumped from the No. 4 mine of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company yesterday than at any time since the strike began. A train of coal was shipped from the Potts colliery, near Ashland, during the night. The train contained about 400 tons, and represents two days' work. This is the largest shipment from this colliery for a similar period of time since the beginning of the strike. The operators of Greenwood colliery claim to have a large number of certificated miners at work but they will not say whether they have started to cut coal.

London, Oct. 8.—British sympathy for the American coal strikers was evidenced Monday when the Miners' Federation of Great Britain voted $5,000 for their relief. Resolutions were passed urging the [illegible] and district associations to send further financial assistance.

THE COAL STRIKE

The wage-earners and the consumers have been placed at the mercy of the coal-owners. The question is "Who committed this crime?" The answer is—the electors themselves.

It reminds one of the attempt of the proverbial child to dry the ocean, by dipping it out with a tea-cup. When will the people who are bled from one year's end to the other ever learn that their own interests are, or ought to be, dearer to them than the revenues of capitalists and politicians.

The Scripture hath it that it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle &c. A revised version would add, 'that it is easier for an honest man to get into Heaven than into parliament." Pessimists says that the people like being robbed. It looks like it.

CANADA'S GREAT NEED

One or two Canadian newspapers are never satisfied unless they are doing some injury to their country or some of its leading men. This applies particularly to the Canadian Pacific Railway, which has recently fallen under the displeasure of the Toronto Telegram. That paper says:

President Shaughnessy talks as if the company had no obligation to Canadian ports beyond those which may be purchased by a government subsidy. If the C. P. R. establishes an Atlantic steamship line, independent of the government it is suggested that the company will then be under no restraint in the matter of terminals and ports of call.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's declaration to the shareholders is either a threat designed to secure the fast Atlantic contract or it is a repudiation of claims which Canada might reasonably assert. No railway corporation in existence has fed as gluttonously at a government treasury as the Canadian Pacific Railway. For many government favors it has appealed on patriotic grounds. The value of the C. P. R.'s patriotism is shown in President Shaughnessy's hint that the company knows no obligations to Canada save those which are stated in parchment for value received.

The greatest need of the country at the present time is a fast line of Atlantic steamers. The Canadian Pacific Company ignores the subsidy, and, as a contemporary puts it has the advantage of giving business men the opportunity of fixing the port, uninfluenced and untrammeled by the political pull of Montreal, Quebec, or any other place. It is impossible to say where the government would be compelled to make the port, as it would be harassed by this political influence and that; but the Canadian Pacific people may be depended upon to fix the port where it will be the best for the business of the country.

And being business men and not caterers to this or that class of voters, the Canadian Pacific people may be depended upon to build vessels of the proper class to command the trade they are intended for.

We think that when the C. P. R. company sets about creating a line of steamers, with its own money, it should be entitled to make all minor arrangements to suit itself, even of it did not—in this case it does—relieve the government of a job it is very likely to make a mess of.

PRACTICAL CHARITY

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—I see by the Ottawa papers that Mr. J. R. Booth, the leading lumberman of that city, has not only refused to sell his millwood to speculators but has decided to turn in a large amount of tamarac that he has for his mills, to the people of the city at cost price.

In Peterborough we have the Dickson Company and Mr. Alex Macdonald, who are engaged in the lumbering business, and who have large quantities of wood I would suggest that the Mayor and Council wait on them and endeavor to secure the wood at a reasonable price, and try and secure a promise that it won't be sold to speculators. I am sure both companies have the interests of the people at heart and would not only be willing but anxious to do everything possible to relieve the suffering which is sure to come if this strike continues.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I am &c.,

ALPINE'S SUCCESS ASSURED

Stockholders are Jubilant—Machinery Installed Will Hasten Development Work and Place Mine Rapidly on a Dividend Paying Basis—Price of Stock to Be Advanced

Recent developments in the Consolidated Alpine, an Evansville, Indiana, mining enterprise, and the success that has attended its operation, has attracted the attention of the mining and financial world to the Evansville men at its head. Some idea of what has been accomplished by these enterprising citizens of the Hoosier city can be gained when we stop to remember that in February 1902, when they took hold of the Alpine property, all was a barren waste. Fire had destroyed the ancient shaft house, and the antiquated machinery had by a natural process of decay almost ceased to be of use to anybody. The shaft had filled with water, the timbers rotted away, and as a consequence tons of rock had caved into its levels.

Two daring men with more nerve than capital had undertaken to unwater it and clear up the debris that had accumulated after years of idleness. They succeeded in so far as to show the wonderful possibilities of the property, and to be able to demonstrate that with sufficient capital it could be made one of the remarkable producers of the district. The vein which ran clear through the claims was a monster in size, and was mineralized clear across its entire width, and on the hanging wall of the vein there was a streak of very valuable smelting ore that would assay very high. There was gold and silver, but rock was around it, and it would take money to get it out; but once sufficiently opened to get the production started it would carry itself on and pay large profits besides.

With these facts in mind, prominent Evansville men took hold of the property and by their own personal following and push, have carried the mine to that point when it is considered one of the finest propositions in the famous Lamartine district. The Idaho Springs Siftings in speaking of the mine has this to say editorially:

ALPINE GETTING IN RICH ORE.

In the Scene of Substantial Activity As a Prosperous Proposition.

The character of work accomplished thus far on the properties of the Alpine Consolidated indicates the solid substantial nature of the company and is the best evidence of its intention to apply capital. When a proposition takes on these features the outside world need not hesitate to invest. The dangerous investments are those that employ the cash in paying salaries and put little into the work of development. Where the people who own the property, as the Alpine people do, are willing to invest their own capital in the proposition it inspires others with confidence to place an investment.

Secretary Gilbert, of the company, has been out from Evansville, Ind., for the past week and has invested conditions thoroughly. He is greatly pleased with the prospects before the proposition and especially pleased with the wonderful showing being made in the ore bodies.

The erection of an ore house has just been completed and in connection with this substantial improvement an addition has been built to the shaft house. The capacity of the boilers has been doubled and everything to make it modern in every sense and at the same time economical is being followed. The addition of air compressors and drills will be the next move in the direction of progress and then the Alpine will have one of the finest plants in the district. Work in the lower levels is progressing in good shape and the formations indicate exceptional ore bodies for which the Lamartine section is famous.

Since this has appeared in Siftings the air compressor has been bought and is now installed. It is a 40 h. p. double steam actuated Norwalk pattern, of the very latest design. In addition to this two water Leyner rock drills and an additional 50 h. p. boiler have been purchased, involving an expenditure of considerable money.

With this added equipment the plant is as fine as any in the Rocky mountains, and the development work can be rapidly pushed. Instead of driving 25 or 40 feet per month as has been done by hand, they will be able to break in the neighborhood of 150 feet of ground in the same space of time. As a consequence the ore will be opened up and blocked out for removal in a very rapid and systematic manner.

When the Indiana men first took hold of the Alpine, the installation of this machinery was seriously considered, but it was thought best to "creep before you walk," and to drive away by hand until enough of the underground territory had been uncovered to prove the absolute existence of the ore bodies. This has been done, and as a consequence, the management has installed an additional boiler, air compressor and water Leyner drills.

Last June the price of Alpine stock was advanced to 25c. a share, and the company stopped selling stock. Another advance in price is contemplated and the advance is strictly upon the merits of the property alone. The increased development, additional machinery, and fine showing underground, has caused the company to decide to advance the price of stock in the very near future. In the meantime only enough stock will be sold at 25c. to replace the money spent for the new machinery.

The fortunate ones who buy stock now before the next advance, will realize from 40 to 50 per cent. profit upon the increased value of the stock. A few years back stock in the famous Lamartine mine, which adjoins the Alpine, could have been bought for a song, today this stock is not on the market and cannot be bought for love nor money.

The Lamartine at the same depth as the Alpine, did not have as good a showing. Today it has over $12,000,000 worth of ore blocked out and in sight, and could keep up a production of one million dollars a year for twelve years and not open up a foot of new territory. A syndicate of English capitalists recently offered $30,000,000 for the property and were refused, yet ten years ago Lamartine stock could have been bought for what Alpine is selling today.

The close proximity of the two mines, just three-fourths of a mile apart, enables many of the miners to go back and forth between the Lamartine and its younger sister, the Alpine; as a consequence, many of the men working in the Alpine have worked in the Lamartine. The foreman of the night shift in the Alpine was for years a miner in the Lamartine. He says the Alpine is as great a mine as the Lamartaine, and to back up his assertion, is buying Alpine stock and has his wages tied up for over four months in buying the same. In fact almost every man working in the hole bought stock, even the Chinese cook at the boarding house, has acted upon the judgment of these practical miners, and is buying stock.

With these facts in mind the company feels justified in advancing the price of stock in the very near future.

—One hundred and thirty-three children arrived at the Barnardo Home here yesterday from England. The party sailed from Liverpool by the Dominion Line Steamship Colonian and had a good voyage. Landing at Portland they were conveyed west by special G.T.R. train, and while the girls of the party were left at the Home here, the boys were taken on to Toronto. They are all bright, intelligent looking children, and their ages range from six to fourteen years.

BUY DEC. CORN NOW

Some time ago when the market was weak and July corn was selling at from 61 to 62 cents, we predicted that it would soon sell above 75 cents. We advised our clients to buy. JULY CORN SOLD FOR 90 CENTS, PROVING OUR PREDICTION CORRECT ALTHOUGH MADE IN THE FACE OF A WEAK MARKET. Those who followed our instructions realized enormous profits.

The conditions at present, the tone of the market, everything favors the buyer of December corn. BEFORE DECEMBER 30th IT WILL SELL FOR 70c., and again our advice is to buy. A small investment may make you independent. If you want the best price and the largest profit, BUY NOW. Our predictions on July corn were correct. Our advice on September corn was just as good. Send at once for our Booklet (mailed free) telling why corn will advance and how to trade with small capital. We have the highest references.

SWORN STATEMENT

On June 15th, 1901, a client of the firm deposited with me at my suggestion, one hundred dollars to be invested in Corn for September delivery. I purchased for his account 5,000 bushels at 43 1/2 cents per bushel, with a margin of 2 cents. I sold his holdings at 47c., giving a profit of $275 00; I purchased again at 47 1/2 cents per bushel, 10,000 bushels on a 2c. margin; resold at 50c; I continued to buy and sell on this account, watching the market closely, until the middle of August, when my client instructed me to close the account and submit the amount to his credit; this I did, his account showed a balance due him of $5 850.00, as his investment of $100.00 for two months

Under oath as to its truthfulness, I make the following statement. March 25th, 1902, I deposited $25 to be invested in Corn, leaving the handling of my investment to the judgment of the Commission Company. On April 12th I was advised that my account was worth $50.00; on the same day I was advised that they had bought for me 2,500 bushels of Corn for July delivery at 61 3/8 cents; on April 16th, they sold and bought for my account, increasing my earnings to $131.75; again they bought for me, selling on April 23rd; my account now showing a net profit of $303.10 in 28 days, on an investment of $25.00 R ROY BRYAN, Deer, Mo.

Dear Sir,—Any time you want any recommendations from me as to what I think of your plan of campaign in the corn market, you can have it, for I have not, in many years I have been trading in future corn, met with such success as you have achieved for me in the handling of my account. As you know, I am such a busy man that I cannot give any personal attention to these matters, and while I know that you had made some of my friends enormous profits in the July corn deal that you handled with such remarkable success, as everybody knows, I really made my little investment of $25 with you more for a flyer for cigar money than anything else, and when I think that in addition to the cheque for $137 50 sent me on August 23rd as result of first investment, cheque for $40 75 which you handed me on August 29th as result of second investment, and look at the market to-day, and see nearly $200 profit in the third investment, I am simply pleased beyond measure.

I also want to thank you for the purchase that you made for my two friends yesterday who, at my suggestion, left it entirely to your hands, as I see they have a nice profit in their trades to-day.

If you think well of it, take on some December corn for me, as I notice you are now advising to buy December corn. Very respectfully yours,

Major Hugh C. Dennis, St. Louis; Mo.

Dear Sir:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 10th inst., enclosing therewith your check No. 457 on the Third National Bank for $218.40.

This certainly shows most gratifying results of the small investment of $25, which I placed in your hands to handle, as your best judgment would dictate, on August 13th, less than a month ago, and assure you that I appreciate same highly.

As you know, I was first attracted to your company from the fact that I had come in contact with a number of friends whose investments handled by you had proven highly satisfactory and profitable. It will afford me great pleasure to recommend your Company, and also their plan of trading, to my friends, at all times, for certainly where such results as above can be obtained from such a small investment, the inducement offered speculators and investors is far out of the ordinary. Again thanking you,

I remain, very truly yours, W. W. Wood, Trav. Pass. Agent.

Gentlemen:—Yours of the 4th inst., at hand and noted; you cannot understand by this letter my appreciation of your services. If I had ten thousand dollars to invest I would put it in your hands for investment, as I firmly believe that you will make it win if any Commission Company can; you can invest my deposit according to your judgment, adhering to a former letter I wrote you regarding profits. Hoping you are successful in the next investment, and awaiting your commands, I am,

Very respectfully, J. J. Underwood.

These claims the Company OWNS free of any incumbrance or indebtedness. It is proposed by the Company to begin the erection of plant and equipment of mine as soon as possible. In the meantime a certain amount of development work will be done on the property.

STOCK MARKETS

Some Remarks About Col. F. & I.

New York, Oct. 8—Straws show how the wind blows. A market such as we are now passing through oftimes exposes the inside operations of a clique in some particular share in such manner as would indicate what is ahead of a stock issue, and when it does is it not a good idea to take advantage of the suggestion. It is plainly evident the past few days that some one is busily "engaged in securing a large line of Col. F. & I.; they are taking advantage of the depressed market to pick up a large quantity of the shares." We will endeavor to make this plain to you. In the first place, before the recent set back in values, C. F. I. fell to below 71 when most of the list, with the possible exception of St. Paul and Pressed Steel, were materially higher than they are at present. Yet within the past ten days C. F. I. barely touched 78 with depressed markets most of the time, and within that period actually sold above 86. In the market of the past 10 days C. F. I. if it had been given its natural market course, should have actually sold well below 70. No stock is more scrutinized in times of close money by money lenders than C. F. I. It has been a period of close money; no stock is more of a fright to the public when in their possession with unpleasant markets raging than C. F. I. We have just gone through a period of unpleasant markets, yet this stock is acting as it does. Who is buying it? Some one is doing so, and liberally, too.

From present market indications outlined briefly above we will hazard the opinion that this stock will again shortly sell above 100, and advise its purchase. We however advise buying only with liberal margins behind the purchase. If you can buy such a stock within five or six points of the bottom price recorded, then shortly afterwards succeed in selling it at from 15 to 20 points above your purchase price, you have made a judicious and profitable stock deal. It looks as if such an opportunity were presenting itself. The reasons for the present action of the insiders are at present cloaked in mystery, yet their market action clearly presages that something beneficial is on foot. Logical and studious examination of the market movement of a stock oftimes shows what the speculator should do in its shares, though it does not at the time reveal the reasons.

Summary—Practically seven days' decline in the share market, with many stocks down from 10 to 20 points through the list, should greatly benefit the financial situation. Syndicate payments or preparation therefore undoubtedly aided in creating the money stringency; settlement of these matters will soon be made, and $5,000,000 in gold from Europe and Australia will be at the market's disposal in a day or two. The market should soon commence to reflect these facts by improvement. The market opened at an advance, and though erratic kept well above the above figures, some stocks, notably Union Pacific, selling above yesterday's best prices. The buying of the last few days far exceeded in quality the calibre and quality of the selling. We would not be surprised to see the bear forces shortly treated to a disastrous route. They are getting considerable company. Money closed at 7 per cent; sales 610,400.

RESULTS:

Some years ago the public was offered the following stocks at nominal figures. Each one to day is in demand at a fancy price and paying a large income:

$500 invested in Gold Coin in 1897 is now worth	$11,000.00.	$500 invested in Home Mining in '99 now worth	$12,300.00
$500 invested in Lillie in 1895 is now worth.....	9,000 00	$500 invested in Vindicator in 1897 is now worth	3,100.00
$500 invested in Portland in 1896 is now worth..	8 030.00	$500 invested in Isabella in 1898 is now worth..	2,100.00
$500 invested in Elkton in 1896 is now worth....	3 420.00	$500 invested in Gold King in 1897 is now worth	5,000.00

There are thousands of instances in Colorado where investments in bona fide properties have returned many hundred-fold for every dollar invested and have made men and women independent for the balance of their lives. More fortunes are created in gold mining than in any of the other industries, and it is the only product the demand for which fails not and market quotations control not.

A small investment in this company, which is safe and sure of quick returns, may bring an enormous return at any moment. It has the possibilities of rivalling the great mines of the past

ED. McCARTHY & COMPANY, Bankers, Responsibility, $100,000
GALVESTON, TEXAS, September 18, 1902

This bank will receive subscriptions for the stock of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company and hold the funds in trust, subject to terms of guarantee, which are as follows:

"Subscriptions to the stock of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company sent to or deposited with Ed. McCarthy & Co., Galveston, are to be held in trust for subscribers until the Company cuts an ore shoot of smelting grade (2 oz. to 6 oz., or $40.00 to $120.00 per ton) and makes shipments. Upon the Company furnishing a certificate executed by competent parties that a tunnel has cut an ore shoot and shipments made of smelting ore, the bank will transfer all funds to the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company, and certificates of stock will be issued to subscribers upon presentation of receipt issued by this bank. Should the Company fail to accomplish this within three months' time all funds so held in trust will be returned to subscribers upon presentation of receipt issued by this bank."

The Board of Directors of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company are well known to us to be reliable and responsible, and we can recommend the Company as worthy of confidence.

Signed) ED. McCARTHY & CO'Y

THIS IS A GOING, NOT A WAITING, ENTERPRISE

The property of this Company, consisting of over 100 acres, with one mile of a true fissure vein, is located in Gunnison County, Colo., in what is known as the Gunnison Gold Belt, which is in the great Gold Belt of Colorado, the "Mother" lode, or dike, which has produced 55 per cent. more gold than the total output of the Cripple Creek district.

The best machinery money can buy has been installed and paid for and with it development is being pushed night and day.

Smelting ore has been shipped from shallow workings to the Bueno Vista Smelter—value $40 to $120 per ton. The cost of mining, freight and smelters' charges amounts to $12 per ton. So, with oceans of this ore, this mine has the possibilities of rivalling the great mines of the past.

The capital stock of the Company is $100,000—par value of shares $1.00—full paid and non-assessable. A portion of the treasury stock is now offered at

25 Cents Per Share---Par Value $1.00

FULL PAID AND NON-ASSESSABLE

The proceeds are to be placed in a trust fund, so, when guarantee is complied with and shipments of ore begins, fund will be on hand for the immediate erection of mills and boarding houses, buying horses and wagons for hauling ore to the railroad, and make this not a small mine, but a great one. Order at once, as the right is reserved to advance this stock without notice and to return any subscriptions.

INVESTIGATE AT OUR EXPENSE

Any person or association of persons in any town or community desiring to buy as much or more than $600 worth of Pitkin Gold Belt mining and reduction Company's stock may deposit such money in their local bank, to be held by such bank pending a trip by one of their number to visit Pitkin, Colo., to personally inspect the gold belt and investigate the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company and its property, and upon this Company being notified by such bank of such deposit, will forward to the person selected free transportation to Pitkin, Colo., and return. If, upon thorough investigation, the representations made by us are found to be true, such investment is to be made; otherwise, all money is to be returned by such bank to the parties depositing same.

Harnessing No. 5 Dam

The Lakefield Cement Company has a large force of men at work at No. 5 dam, where a substantial power plant will be installed. The full power of the dam will be brought under control and used, at the Lakefield works, the capacity of which is being doubled.

Shantymen Scarce

"It will take several hundred additional men to meet the demand for the shanties," said a lumberman's agent to The Times yesterday. During the past three months over 1,000 men have been hired in Peterborough and shipped to the various lumber camps in this district, and north shore. It is expected that returning harvesters from the northwest will relieve the stringency somewhat. Wages now run from $26 to $30 per month.

About Big Fish

Tuesday's Toronto Star gave a further description of the small mouthed bass caught in Rice Lake in August by Mr. Arthur S. Laing, of Galt, son of Mr. Robert Laing, of town. The fish weighed 5 pounds, 12 ounces. This was not as large a fish as was caught later by a guest of the Rice Lake House, a tracing of which was shown in The Times' window. The later was also of the small mouth variety, and weighed six pounds, two ounces and measured 24 inches in length.

WILL GO TO LAKEFIELD

Mr. "Rolly" Johnston Has Bought Out Madill Bros' Store

The many friends of Mr. Roland Johnston, so long and favorably known in connection with Messrs. Richard Hall & Sons' dry goods establishment here, will regret to learn that he is about to remove from Peterborough. Mr. Johnston has purchased the old established business of Madill Bros., Lakefield, and will take possession on November 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will be greatly missed in social circles, where they were exceedingly popular. They will carry with them to their new home nothing but the hearty good wishes of their many friends in Peterborough.

A Fine Performance

Guy Brothers Minstrels proved last night, in the Opera House, that they are still great favorites in Peterborough, and the large audience present gave them what they deserved, a hearty reception. The performance was the best the boys have given for some time. The singing was excellent and the orchestra grand. The opening act was a pretty picture entitled "The Huntsmen's Rest," the best minstrel opening seen here for years. The second part was composed of several excellent specialties, among the best being the "Panama Trio," impersonations by Victor Lewis, illustrated by Schaffer and Guy, and dissolving pictures, which pleased immensely. The musical act by the old favorite comedians, George Guy and Albert Guy, was the hit of the evening. The show closed with the moving pictures, and every one went home saying "the Guy Brothers are all right."

Corry & Laverdure Have Finished Their Work at Lift Lock

Yesterday saw the last "spike" in the work in connection with Corry & Laverdure's contract at the lift lock, driven. The occasion was marked by the presence of both contractors, and the decoration of the stupendous pile of concrete with flags. Photographs were taken by Mr. R. M. The Dominion Bridge Company, of Montreal, are now in possession of the lock, and expect to complete their contract by spring.

SYNDICATE AFTER HOTELS

English Gentleman Representing British Hotel Syndicate Here

Mr. Lee La Grobe Bateman, of London, Eng., was in Peterborough for a few hours on his way to Toronto and other western cities. Mr. Bateman states that he is in Ontario representing English capitalists, whose object is to own hotels in most of the prominent cities of the country. He claims to have options on hotels in Hamilton, Berlin, Kingston, Chatham, Windsor, Brantford and Woodstock. Mr. Bateman was here last spring and about the same time the report was printed in the newspapers that an English syndicate had practically purchased hotels in several of the cities named. Since then nothing has until now been publicly heard of the matter.

WEDDING BELLS

Miss Lottie Victoria Kindred and Mr. A. F. Saunders of Toronto are Wedded

Another of those happy events so frequently recorded in our columns took place last evening, at 60 Hunter street, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Kindred, when their fifth daughter, Miss Lottie Victoria, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. A. F. Saunders, Toronto.

The bride, who was most becomingly attired in cream brocaded silk pardegon, trimmed with applique, chiffon and cream silk and wore the customary veil, was given away by her father, and entered the drawing room to the strains of the wedding march effectively rendered by her cousin, Miss Lizzie Kindred.

Miss Jennie Kindred, sister of the bride, gracefully robed in a dainty costume of pale blue cashmere with trimmings of white applique and chiffon, performed the duties of bridesmaid, while Mr. Herb. Sanders, of Toronto, ably supported the groom.

The solemn and impressive marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. C. L. Thompson, pastor of Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham, in the presence of over one hundred guests. After the congratulations of their many friends the bridal party proceeded to the dining room where a most elaborate wedding breakfast was served, the tables being most artistically decorated with ferns and flowers.

The esteem in which the bride is held by her many friends in town is shown by the number of valuable and useful presents she was the recipient of. It is seldom a bride is so generously remembered and it is a source of much regret to lose one who was so kindly helpful in every branch of church work. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome pearl crescent and to the bridesmaid a gold stick pin, set with pearls. Mr. and Mrs. Saunders left on the midnight train for their home in Toronto, followed by the good wishes of all.

—Mr. Robt. Shaw, of Harvey, a member of the County Council, was in town yesterday, and dropped in to The Times where he handed over $5 for the Parks' family fund.

TRUE FOOD

Always Cures Dyspepsia

Wrong food brings penalties.

A lady in Lone Tree, Okla., found this out. After suffering for years with dyspepsia, she says:—

"Many times I could not eat anything sometimes I drank a little hot milk, at other times the lightest food distressed me so that death would have been gladly welcomed as a relief. I was weak and listless and unable to work for want of strength.

Two years ago a dear friend earnestly recommended me to try Grape-Nuts as she had found it a most valuable food. I commenced to use it immediately, and the benefit I received in an incredibly short time was almost marvelous.

Words cannot express the joy and thankfulness I felt when I found I was relieved of that dreadful distress from indigestion that I had been experiencing after each meal.

After continued use, health and strength returned. I began to enjoy life and go among my friends again so much improved that remarks were made about my good health. I sleep well now, sit all day with perfect ease and comfort and sew and work as I like. I wish I could induce every sufferer from dyspepsia to use Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

A ROUSING SEND-OFF

Mr. Frank Packenham is Honored on the Eve of His Departure

Mr. Frank Packenham was entertained to a farewell supper on Tuesday evening at Mr. Harry Long's handsome new palm parlours, by the the representatives of the various departments of the Canadian General Electric Company. As our readers already know, Mr. Packenham has been transferred to the Montreal office of the Company, and will assume his new duties next week.

For the past seven years he has been on the office staff of the Canadian General Electric Company, and judging from the enthusiastic send off he was given on Tuesday night, he must have been a popular and much respected associate amongst the employees of the works.

The beautiful parlours was handsomely decorated, and the tables neatly arranged. A piano was stationed in the wing, at which Mr. (W. H. Fall ably presided.

Mr. R. E. Layfield, the popular accountant of the works, occupied the chair, while amongst those present were Messrs. F. Skitch, C. Wilhelmy, B. Watts, W. Lloyd, J. Wilson, C. McFarlane, W. Byers, F. Millard, W. Belcher, O. B. Robertson, G. McCrae, W. S. Robinson, A. Methral, E. E. Lord, C. Huffman, W. H. Smith, F. A. Shannon, J. B. Cunnanon, A. W. Paterson, T. Drew, E. Desautel, T. W. Wilson, A. F. Bookout, R. E. Harding, R. H. Shepherd, W. A. Brundrett, F. Post, H. Burnham, J. Hyde, R. S. Seanns, R. —. Carson, A. Goodwin, W. Hodgson, W. O'Neil, M. Breckenridge, G. Tovey, jr., R. O'Connor, R. Cottrell and W. Grady.

After the usual patriotic toasts had been honored, the Chairman, in a felicitous and happy speech, proposed "Our Guests," which was honored with enthusiasm.

Mr Packenham replied in words suitable for the occasion, and amid much applause

Other speeches and toasts followed, in which the sterling qualities of the guest of the evening were frequently referred to, after which the the affair terminated with "God Save the King."

The Times joins most heartily Mr. Packenham's many friends in wishing him a prosperous future.

THE RIFLE MATCHES

The Shooting at the Rifle Ranges on Tuesday

The annual shoot of the Peterborough members of the Dominion Rifle Association took place on Tuesday at the Curtis Ranges. A large number turned out and the competition at all stages was keen, although owing to the absence of the tyros the matches arranged for this class were not shot off. W. H. Moore succeeded in winning the "Cox," "Stratton" and "Extra Series" matches. In the "Cox" and Extra Series" matches Mr. Moore succeeded in putting on 16 "bulls" and one "inner" out of 17 shots. A number of the younger shots showed up well, Jos. Gibson winning the Banker's Cup, and coming second in the "Cox" and "Stratton" matches, while R. P. Watt and C. E. Whiten placed very creditable scores. The younger shots deserve particular credit for the showing they made against such old and seasoned marksmen. The officers of the day were:

Clerk—Jas. Stewart.

Scorers—E. Hartley, C. Seymour, H. Clegg and A. Kingscote.

The scores and prizes in the different matches were as follows:

TIRED OUT.

There's many a farmer's wife sits on the porch in the growing shadows of a summer evening, knowing to the full what it is to feel tired out; as if there was not another ounce of effort left in her. But she knows how sound her slumber will be and how refreshed the morning will find her. That's the tiredness of a healthy woman. But it's another thing for the sick woman to feel tired out. Rest only seems to increase her suffering. Just as in profound silence a discord jars the ear more forcibly, so now that she has stopped moving about, this tired woman feels more acutely the aching back and throbbing nerves.

Sick women, hundreds of thousands of them, have been made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"Words cannot tell what I suffered for thirteen years with uterine trouble and dragging-down pains through my hips and back," writes Mrs. John Dickson, of Grenfell, Assiniboia Dist., N. W. Ter. "I can't describe the misery it was to be on my feet long at a time. I could not eat nor sleep. Often I wished to die. Then I saw Dr. Pierce's medicines advertised and thought I would try them. Had not taken one bottle till I was feeling well. After I had taken five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I was like a new woman. Could eat and sleep and do all my own work."

The Medical Adviser, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the volume bound in cloth. Address Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.

HEINTZMAN & C PIANO

When a piano is extolled by such artists as Friedheim, Plancon, Albani, Plunket Greene, Burmeister, Edward Lloyd, Lieut. Dan Godfrey, there surely can be no question as to its merits. When they go farther, as in this case, and agree that for power, brilliancy of tone and touch, an artistic construction, the Heintzman & Co. Pianos are unexcelled, it places this instrument in an enviable position in the music world. Plunket Greene says in regard to this instrument:

"I have sung to your piano on my two Canadian tours, and at the close of my second season in Canada I feel I would be lacking in courtesy, did I not congratulate you on the high character of the instrument which you produce. My Recital programmes involve a wide selection of songs of most varied characteristics, and require, of necessity, a piano capable in the highest degree of the most delicate inflections and of widest range, alternating from fine pianissimo effects to the most powerful manifestations of dramatic force. To these demands I found your instrument most responsive. I can assure you that it was to me, as an Englishman, the greatest pleasure to find so splendid a piano assisting in the musical prestige of Her Majesty's foremost colony."

Used exclusively by the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York—now Prince and Princess of Wales—on their Canadian tour in Royal train

DESCRBES THE SCENE AT MT. ST. PIERRE

Visitor, who was on First Boat to Reach Martinique Eruption Tells of Escape

ALL HIS CLOTHING WAS BURNED

An Accident Saved Him From an Awful Death—The Horror of the Scene

At the Montreal House yesterday was staying a visitor who was at Martinique during the terrible scenes of last May. He gave The Times a description of the awful scenes he witnessed.

"I was to have been a passenger by the Quebec Steamship Company's boat Roriama,' said Mr. Paker. All my clothing and belongings were on board, but fortunately, or unfortunately as I thought at the time, I missed the boat. As you know that boat was burned up, and I lost my outfit.

"I took the next boat, which was the first one to reach St. Pierre after the eruption."

"Could you describe the scene?"

"That would be impossible. When we came near the harbor every house ashore appeared to have been utterly destroyed and apparently buried under the ashes and burning lava. An officer was sent ashore and he penetrated but a short distance into the city. He found only a few walls standing, and the streets literally paved with corpses. The sea for miles around was covered with the wreckage of the vessels sunk off St. Pierre at the time of the disaster, and ashore only a few trees, all bent seaward by the force of the volcanic shower, were left standing."

"Did you personally visit the scene?"

"Yes, but the heat from the smoking lava-covered ruins was suffocating and the stench from the corpse-strewn streets was such that I could not remain long. On all sides we found portions of corpses, which were gathered up by the soldiers and gendarmes and burned on one of the public squares. Not a drop of water was procurable ashore. The darkness caused by the clouds of volcanic dust shrouded the town and continuous subterranean rumblings added to the horror of the scene.'

"The fort and central quarters of the town were razed to the ground and were replaced by beds of hot cinders. The iron grillework gate of the government offices was alone standing. There was no trace of the streets, and huge heaps of smoking ashes were to be seen on all sides. At the landing place some burned and ruined walls indicated the spot where the custom house formerly stood, and a few traces of the larger shops could be seen.

"In that neighborhood hundreds of corpses were found lying in all kinds of attitudes. Curiously enough, the features of the dead were generally calm and reposeful, although in some cases terrible fright and agony were depicted. Grim piles of bodies were stacked everywhere, showing that death had stricken the crowds while they were vainly seeking escape from the fiery deluge. On one spot we saw a group of nine children, locked in each other's arms.

"The sights on every side were so horrible that we were all glad to get away from the place."

REITZ IN NEW YORK

Says He is Not a British Subject and Never Will

And Predicts That South Africa Will Yet Be Free—[illegible]

New York, October 10.—Mr Reitz former Secretary of the Transvaal, was formally welcomed to the city last night by the Committee of [illegible], composed of delegates from the United Irish American Societies of New York. Mr. Reitz was enthusiastically greeted by the delegates who presented him with an address of welcome. Reitz in response said: "I am particularly proud that my name has been associated with the war You cannot know the pride I feel in being able, in my old age, to stand up for the principles of justice, truth and liberty and to have my name coupled with the names of Botha and DeWet. And here I would explain a matter which has come to your ears. I refer to the charge that I signed papers of surrender and then broke my word. It is not so. When those papers were signed I told Kitchener I was signing them only in my representative capacity and not personally.

"I am not a British subject, I never was one and never will be one. I have come here to lay before the American public the cause of my country, to show them the injustice this so-called war, which was really murder. I would like to say, however, that even though the British have defeated us, they have also done something else. They have made all Africa come closer, they have increased the national feeling by their actions, and the day is not far off when Cape Colony and all Africa will rise up and throw off the power of Great Britain.

Commandant Schiamen spoke briefly. The meeting then went into executive session to discuss ways and means to aid the Boers.

The Critical Time of Life

Is between the years of fifty-seven and sixty-two. Nature's power slows down, vitality becomes less, and the progress of decay sets in. A means of extending old age and renewing decreased vigor, is to take Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone keeps up the appetite, and in the formation of red, vitalizing blood, imparts clearness to the tiring brain, force, energy and spirits, just when they are needed most. To take Ferrozone regularly means adding from ten to twenty years to life. Large boxes 50c. or 6 boxes for $2.50, at Druggists.

AN IMMENSE FIELD FOR SCIENTIFIC SEARCH

MARS MUCH AHEAD OF EARTH

Says the Learned Professor—Conditions of the Two Planets Compared

Chicago, Ill., October 10.—In his recent expressions as to the habitability of the planet Mars, Professor Hough, of Northwestern University has the weight of authority with him, though many astronomers will question seriously his bold declaration that the planet is actually inhabited with sentient beings of a high type. The whole tendency of recent investigation has been to strengthen the view that Mars, both in its atmosphere and its chemical character, is fitted to support animal life.

The point of interest in Professor Hough's announcement is the declaration that as the law of evolution has resulted in the development of a sentient race on earth, that law, operating in the case of the Martians, must have produced there a race now greatly superior to the people of earth in intellectual development. Mars, Venus, and Mercury, he reasons, are old planets, and presumably habitable. Mars, being very much older than the earth and having solidified and cooled long before the earth was fit for animal habitation, the process of evolution there presumably began much earlier. Judging from the published excerpts from Professor Hough's report, he is ready to believe that the Martians have advanced to a stage of cultivation and intelligence which is hardly conceivable to the minds of earth races.

It is noteworthy that, in spite of constant rejections of the alleged proofs of inhabitation, as in the case of the famous lines marking the surface of Mars, men of science appear to incline more and more to the view that it is essentially improbable that the earth is the only planet supporting sentient life. What manner of animal the Mars man—if he is man—may be will continue, apparently, to afford an endless subject of curious speculation. The conditions there, it is known, differ oddly in some respects from those of earth. During his night of twelve hours for instance, the Martian sees his little moons, Phobos and Deimos, between ten and fifteen miles in diameter, in all their phases from new moon to full. Owing to the smallness of the planet, gravitation has only a fraction of the force which it has on the earth, so that a human being on Mars could leap long distances provided the air were not too thin for him to breathe. As yet it is not believed that any method of communication with any beings dwelling on Mars will ever be found, but speculation as to the possibility of such creatures and as to their form, size, habits, and possible intelligence must continue to be one of the absorbing puzzles of science.

THE KNAPP ROLLER BOAT

Has now been Perfected and will go into Trade

Special to The Times.

Mr. George Goodwin, formerly a resident of Peterborough, who supplied funds for the Knapp roller steamer, says that the boat will revolutionize the steamer trade.

The boat is now almost ready to go to work. The advantage claimed for this latest development of steel steamship construction is that the vessels, which is simply a metal tube closed and sharpened at both ends, is that the weight of a vessel capable of carrying a given cargo will be only one-third of of what it would if built on the present box style of boat. A Knapp steamer made to fit the St. Lawrence canals, and drawing fourteen feet of water, would, Mr. Knapp claims, carry 96,000 bushels of wheat; could be constructed for $165000., and would weigh 500 tons. Vessels made to fit the canal of the older box like pattern would cost $175,-000, would carry 65,000 bushels on 14 feet draught and weigh 1,500 tons. The difference in the capacity of the two types of vessels being accounted for by the difference in weight.

The Knapp boat arrived at Lachine Sunday from Prescott, making a very successful trip. The trip to Montreal was made without incident. There was a large party of shareholders and others interested in the new type of craft on board and the greatest satisfaction was expressed at the way the boat behaved. She answered to the helm perfectly under all conditions and her steadiness was the subject of general comment.

An Attractive Resort

Kingston Whig:—John Brennan, of Leahy's grocery store, and Earl Hogan, of Dr. Daly's dental parlors, returned on Saturday from Rice Lake, north of Port Hope, where they spent the past ten days hunting and fishing. They had an enjoyable outing and succeeded in bagging considerable game and in landing some fine fish. They brought home a number of fine maskinonge, weighing from seven to fifteen pounds. The fish were of a splendid quality as a member of the Whig staff can testify. Rice Lake has now become an attractive summer resort and hundreds of cottages dot its pretty shores. The fishing is of the best, and large catches are made every day. Hunting in the adjacent woods is also good, ducks and partridges being quite plentiful. The young men had an enjoyable outing. Their many friends are glad to welcome them back.

Valuable Advice to Mothers

If your child comes in from play coughing or showing evidences of an approaching attack of Grippe, Sore Throat, or sickness of any kind, first thing get out your bottle of Nerviline. Rub the chest and neck with Nerviline, and give internal doses of ten drops of Nerviline in sweetened water every two hours. This will prevent any serious trouble. No liniment or pain reliever equals Polson's Nerviline which is a necessity in every household. Large bottles cost only 25c.

HON. MR. FISHER ON FAST LINE

Montreal, Oct. 9—"Personally, as far as the fast line is concerned, I would like to see a line of ships built to steam 18 or 20 knots, carrying 10,-000 or 12,000 tons of freight and accommodating about 200 passengers with comfort."

Such was the opinion expressed by Hon Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, who was in town last evening.

"That type of boat is both profitable and comfortable. I would rather travel across the Atlantic in a steady, commodious boat than in the speedy ones. The record breakers make good time, but there is more ease and comfort in crossing on the cargo boat."

"I think these boats could touch at some coast port, for the convenience of passengers, who were travelling in haste after which the journey could be continued to an inland port.

"It is easy enough to get a fast line, but it costs a lot of money, and I don't see why we should be held by the nose for such a service.

"At present there is an inclination on the part of some Canadians to plunge into any expense, and this must not be allowed to go too far."

"But no doubt Sir Wilfrid Laurier will have some interesting news for us on his return, and I am inclined to think that something definite will be known before long."

"Would you say anything on the coal situation?"

"Really, I think that the situation has been greatly exaggerated and that there is quite a supply of anthracite fuel in in Canada at the present time. It seems to me that the dealers have been trying to take advantage of prevailing conditions. It is quite likely that the Cabinet will take up the matter at its next meeting."

LYNCHED THE TEACHER

Horrible Act of a Schoolmaster Who Became Insane

Special to The Times.

London, Oct. 10.—A special despatch from Vienna announces that a fearful tragedy was enacted at Droyssig, Bohemia on Monday. A village school master, forty years of age, while talking to his class suddenly became insane. He rushed to his desk, drew a revolver from it and ran amuck, shooting right and left among the terrified children. Three scholars were killed and three were dangerously wounded. On hearing the shots and screams, the villagers quickly arrived at the school, and infuriated at the sight which met them, lynched the school master.

DENY THE REPORT

Dominion Coal Company says it has not put up prices

Special to The Times.

Montreal, Oct. 9—The selling agents of the Dominion Coal company in this city deny the report that they raised the price of soft coal. The company is now working to fill contracts made months ago at $2.75 a ton delivered on the wharf in Montreal. A number of the contracts made earlier in the year have been enlarged in view of the coal famine, but at no increase in the price. The fact that soft coal is selling at $8 to $9 a ton here is said to be due to the inability to get much of the article owing to the fact that most of the coal shipped here from Sydney is not intended for domestic use but for manufacturing purposes.

FRENCH TREATY WITH SIAM

Cambodian Frontier Fixed—France Has Veto on Railway and Canal Concessions

Special to The Times.

Paris, Oct. 9—It is officially stated that M. Delcasse, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, has signed a convention with the Siamese Minister to France in reference to the frontier between Siam and Cambodia. This convention leaves to France the ancient Cambodian Province of Meloupre, as well as Laos, in the Province of Bassac. The King engages that troops shall occupy the right bank of the Mekong River, which is to remain Siamese. The troops will be solely Siamese and will be commanded by Siamese officers. NO SURPLUS IN CANADA

Dominion Coal Company Manager Denies That Maine Is to Be Supplied

Special to The Times.

Montreal, Que., Oct. 9—General Manager Shields of the Dominion Coal Company, when seen to-day regarding the despatch from Washington to the effect that the Mayor of Portland, Me., had received special facilities for the handling of 100,000 tons of Cape Breton coal, said he knew nothing of the subject. What was meant by special facilities he did not know, unless it was the quick entry and clearance of the vessels.

He says Portland has already had 25,-000 tons, but can have no more for the present.

The Canadian market must be supplied first. The Dominion company has an estimated output of about 3,000,000 tons annually. Of this the Canadian consumers take about two-thirds. At present there is no surplus on hand, but by January there will be, and then they will sell to any one who may require supplies. He does not believe that there will be any shortage in the bituminous coal supply.

THE MINERS REFUSED TO RESUME WORK

Mitchell's Answer to Roosevelt's Request That Miners Go Back to Prevent Suffering

Says Blame Upon the Operators Because They Refuse to Arbitrate—Meets Politicians in New York

Special to The Times.

London, Oct. 9.—John W. Gates, who sailed for America yesterday on the Oceanic, is confident that the coal strike is near its end. "Long before the Oceanic reaches New York," said Mr. Gates, "the coal strike will be settled. It has reached its culmination. President Roosevelt has sent word to Mr. Mitchell, leader of strikers, that the only way the affair can be adjusted with credit to himself, is for Mr. Mitchell to send the men back to work at once on Mr. Roosevelt's pledge that he would use every effort to induce operators to agree to arbitrate. To railroad presidents told me that they would never agree to such a course, but I think pressure will be brought to bear upon them"

"I think the market is growing firmer now," said Mr. Gates, in answer to a question. "I am confident it will be quite strong before many days."

"Do you think Mr. Morgan is having much to do with the settlement of the strike?" he was asked.

"Most certainly, replied Mr. Gates. "I tell you this affair has grieved Mr. Morgan. He really cares nothing for money except the power it brings. When he forms a syndicate he gives 90 per cent. of it to his friends. He is one of the most kind-hearted of men. I think his efforts will have much to do with the settlement of the difficulty."

Special to The Times.

Washington, Oct. 9.—President Mitchell of the Coal Miners' Union has refused to comply with the appeal of President Roosevelt to call the strike off. His letter to the President, which was made public at the White House to-day, says that the responsibility for the continuatoin of the strike should be placed upon those who have refused arbitration. The text of President Mitchell's letter to President Roosevelt is as follows:—

"Dear Sir,—Hon. Carroll D. Wright, has, no doubt, reported to you the delivery of your message to me last Monday, and my statement to him that I should take your suggestion under advisement, although I did not look upon it with favor.

"Since that time I have consulted with our district presidents, who concur fully with my views.

"We desire to assure you again that we feel keenly the responsibility of our position, and the gravity of the situation, and would give us great pleasure to take any action which would bring the coal strike to an end in a manner that would safeguard the interest of our constituents.

"In proposing that there be an immediate resumption of coal mining upon the conditions we suggested in the conference at the White House, we believe that we had gone more than half way and had met your wishes.

"It is unnecessary in this letter to refer to the malicious assault made upon us in the response of the coal operators. We feel confident that you must have been impressed with the fairness of our proposition and the insincerity of those who maligned us.

'Having in mind our experience with the coal operators in the past, we have no reason to feel any degree of confidence in their willingness to do us justice in the future, and inasmuch as they refused to accept the decision of a tribunal selected by you, and inasmuch as there is no law through which you could enforce the findings of the commission you suggest, we respectfully decline to advise our people to return to work simply upon the hope that the coal operators might be induced or forced to comply with the recommendation of your commission.

"As stated above, we believe that we went more than half way in our proposal at Washington, and we do not feel that we should be asked to make further sacrifice.

"We appreciate your solicitude for the people of our country, who are now and will be subjected to great suffering and inconvenience by a prolongation of the coal strike, and we feel that the onus of this terrible state of affairs should be placed upon the side which has refused to refer to fair and impartial investigation

I am, respectfully,

"(Signed) JOHN MITCHELL, President U. M. W. of A."

Rumor That Strike is Over

New York, Oct. 9. — Persistent stories are afloat that the strike is near a settlement, and the stocks of the coal companies are very strong in Wall street. The belief exists that the presence of the troops in the strike region will not have the effect of increasing the production to any marked extent, owing to the firm attitude of the miners, and that the operators will have to settle. It is said that political pressure of the strongest kind has been brought to bear on the operators, and several rumors of dissensions among the magnates of the combine are in circulation. Incidentally considerable significance is attached to a report that a large New York order for British coal has been cancelled.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 9.—Every local union of the miners' organization has unanimously resolved to stay out on strike, and the strike settlement accordingly seems as far off as ever. The proposition of the President of the United States had necessarily to be replied to in the negative, and the unions declared that though all the troops in the United States be sent to the spot they would not resume work. There has been no increase in the production of coal in this valley and has not increased since the arrival of the troops.

MITCHELL CLOSELY WATCHED.

New York, Oct. 9.—President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, who arrived in the city last night, accompanied by District Presidents T. D. Nicholls, Thomas Duffy and John Fahy, refused to answer any questions this morning that would throw any light on his plans or contemplated

"There is nothing I can say as to my purposes here," he said.

He was asked in particular as to what took place or was the outcome of the midnight conference he held last night with Senators Quay and Penrose, and a man said to be L. N. Hammering, an independent coal operator from Wilkesbarre, Pa. The three district presidents were also there. Some reports say that Senator Platt and Chairman Dunn of the New York Republican State committee, were likewise present.

Asked if he contemplated a trip to Washington, Mr Mitchell replied;

"I don't know yet."

ACTION AGAINST SOLDIERS

Schenectady, N.Y., Oct. 9.—The Schenectady Trades Assembly, in addition to ordering the expulsion from their respective local unions of the members who are serving in the National Guard, and who are now on strike duty in the Hudson Valley Railway region, last evening, passed a resolution calling upon the Government immediately to assume control of the anthracite coal mines, and demanding that all candidates for office be measured in the scale of their belief in this measure. There are 12,000 voters represented in the Trades Assembly.

Philadelphia, Oct. 9.—The manufacturers' Association committee which came here to meet the operators did not have an audience with them. The committee issued a vague statement telling why they had come to Philadelphia, and stated that they would meet again on October 14th.

PIPES OF PEACE END GREAT TOBACCO WAR

Allied Trusts Determined to Capture Tobacco Trade of World--Coal from England

London, Oct. 9.—A correspondent in Vienna says that after many years of experience in a position where he has had exceptional opportunities for observation, he is forced to conclude that pan-Germanism constitutes a far greater peril for non-German and non-Slav states that does pan-Slavism. The propagandas of the latter are confined to European countries, where the population, or a portion of the population, belongs to the Slav race. Pan-Germanism, on the other hand, reaches to the remotest corners of the earth wherever two or three Germans are gathered, while in Europe it is a permanent aggressive, absorbing factor. It has already compelled states outside of the German Empire, a portion of whose population is of German nationality or of Teutonic extraction, to keep vigilantly on the defensive. Neither Great Britain nor the United States and still less Austro-Hungary, Holland, Belgium or Switzerland can afford to disregard rising tide of pan-Germanism.

PARTY AT TANDERAGEE CASTLE.

London, Oct. 9.—The Duchess of Manchester, who recently gave birth to a son, is making marvelous progress toward recovery. Already arrangements are well forward for a big party at Tanderagee Castle, the Manchesters' seat, to take place shortly. Among those invited to meet the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, in whose honor the party will be given, are the Duke and Duchess of Abercorn and Lord Ormonde. This will be the first party of an importance which the Duchess has given since her marriage. It is expected to be a very brilliant function indeed.

PERIL OF PAN-GERMANISM.

Special to The Times.

London, Oct. 9.—Pipes of peace were smoked last evening to celebrate the conclusion of the great tobacco war, a dinner was given by Mr. James B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco Company, to the directors of the new British American Tobacco Company, in the Carlton Hotel. Both conversation and speeches were fraternal in tone, and evinced the determination of the allied trusts to capture the tobacco trade of the world.

BRITISH COAL FOR THE STATES.

Special to The Times.

London, Oct. 9.—Fourteen additional steamers have been chartered to send coal for the United States so far this week, and other inquiries are in the market. The total tonnage chartered since the movement began on September 20 represents a carrying capacity of 250,000 tons. This is in addition to the coal that is to be taken on the regular line steamers of the Morgan steamship combination. The carrying capacity of the Morgan steamers, however, is apt to be overestimated, since they have adopted the practice of coaling on this side for the round trip on account of the scarcity of coal on the other side.

ONTARIO'S WATER POWER

The best substitute for coal in Ontario would be electricity generated by water power. There is only one reason why electric energy is not generally used for heating and cooking and that reason is that inventive genius has not yet evolved an electric heater which can be used at a cost so low as to make it a formidable rival of the coal furnace and self feeder. But electric heating is by no means uncommon. The Carmelite monastery at Niagara Falls is heated throughout by electricity, and all the cooking for the institution is also done in electric ranges. The problem of cheap electrical heating will yet be solved. When that time comes, Ontario, with its widely-diffused water powers will be able to get along without coal. The pressing necessity for such an invention, and the great rewards in store for the successful inventor, should bring the solution of the problem before long.

CHILD SAVING WORK

A noteworthy feature of the recent conference of Charities and Correction at Hamilton, was the prominence given to child-saving work. Nearly all the speakers agreed that if boys and girls in neglected homes were properly looked after the great stream of pauperism and criminality would be stopped at its source. The Children's Aid Society came in for special commendation and it was urged that greater activity should be displayed in the different towns throughout the province. Here and there boys and girls are being brought or dragged up without moral instruction and as they grow older they inevitably take to stealing and begging for a living. Ample law has been provided for their protection but the motive power is often lacking and this can only come from philanthropic persons who are interested in children and desire to see them get a fair chance in life.

ELECTRIC HEATING

Electrical experts in New York estimate that a house may be heated by electricity from a central station, and that in such heating it would take about a ton of coal to develop a thermal energy equal to that derived from the direct combustion of from 1,200 to 1,500 pounds of the same fuel in a domestic furnace, and that if the entire plant were in the building itself, about half this waste would be avoided. The general idea is that the percentage of waste in electric heating would be much greater in the one case cited above it would be only about 25 or 30 per cent., and in the other 12 to 15 per cent. Electric heating, if feasible, has much to commend it in the way of cleanliness. By arranging the electric supply so that the current should be shut off at any time and thus stop the expense, much could be saved at seasons of the year when a fire is really needed only a few hours in the morning and at night, because a furnace, when once lighted, must be kept constantly going in order to be available when needed. If the estimate of the New York experts is correct we may expect to see electricity come largely into use for heating both homes and public buildings—especially in localities where it is possible to a get a supply of water-power generated electricity.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The court of appeal at Toronto will dismiss five petitions against Conservatives and five against Liberals, so the score remains the same to date.

President Roosevelt may lose that leg yet, if he isn't careful. The excitement of the coal strike conference reacted unfavorably upon his physical condition, and alarmed his physicians somewhat, although they hasten to assure the public that the set-back is nothing serious, but the doctors are evidently having a hard time with a patient so impatient of restraint and of such an active temperament. If "Teddy" can't keep quiet let him keep as quiet as he can. Uncle Sam can ill afford to have a sick president on his hands at this time.

The visible supply of grain in the United States and Canada on Sept. 27, included 24,242,000 bushels of wheat, 3,045,000 bushels of corn., 7,-[illegible],000 bushels of oats, 900,000 bushels of rye and 1,718,000 bushels of barley. INJURED IN INITIATION

A Fraternal Order Being Sued For Damages

There are many in this city who believe that some of the fraternal societies overdo the thing in the initiation line. It is hardly likely that it has gone so far here, however, as in Rock Falls, Ill., where W. A. Simbaugh has brought suit against the Fraternal Tribune a beneficiary organization, alleging that he was injured for life while being initiated. He claims that the goat was connected with electricity, and that his body came in contact with the live wire. The case is attracting much attention, and is being watched by supreme officers of other orders.

HIGGINS SENTENCED

The Youth Who Killed Doherty Will Pay the Death Penalty on December 19th—Counsel's Latest Move

St. John, N.B. Oct. 9.—Before Judge Landry, in the Circuit Court, this morning, Lawyer Daniel Mullin, K. C., for Frank Higgins, the 15 year old murderer of William Doherty, argued four hours for a reservation of the famous case, and gave reasons why sentence should not be passed. A large crowd was in the Court room when the doors opened and quite a number of women were present. Hon. H. A. McKeown was absent but Attorney-General Pugsley, took hisplace. Mrs. Higgins, the prisoner's mother, and Mrs. Doherty, the murdered lads parents were present. Mr. Mullin said his first point was in in reference to the selection of a jury from a second draft of citizens, the original panel being exhausted. He said this was a matter beyond the power of provincial authorities, and one for the Dominion authorities only. Then as a second point, a reverse case juryman, Pooley, was not challenged, and was sworn in regularly. Mr. Mullin's third objection was to part of His Honour's charge to the jury, which he claims was prejudicing. Fourthly, he objected to certain rebutal evidence gaining as admissable.

Judge Landry sentenced Higgins to be hanged December 19.

spell, and, says she—let me see, what was it she says first?—oh! 'If you've got a drop of spirit handy I think I could go on all right and do the scene.' Those were her very words."

"And then?"

"Well, and then, sir, I gave her the spirit. There's the very bottle on the 'make-up' table. 'Twas my own; I'd brought it on purpose, thinkin' it might be needed—which it was. When my daughter faints away, sir, which she does sometimes, without no warnin' at all——"

"Never mind about your daughter at present," interrupted Macaire, his curious, pale eyes fixed keenly on the woman's commonplace little face. "You gave Miss Gray the spirit, and——"

"And up she jumped, most as soon as 'twas down. 'I believe I've been silly,' she says to me. 'I don't like this, but I've got to do it.' You see, I'd been tellin' her how she'd be sued for breach of contract, and if she'd no money, she'd be put in prison, maybe——"

"When did you tell her that?" quickly broke in the millionaire.

The old woman looked somewhat nonplussed for an instant, but then appeared suddenly to recollect. "Oh, it must have been before she went off in the faint. You see, I was helpin' her early in the evenin'. And then, anyhow, the young lady seemed all right and as sensible as could be. I was goin' out of the room with her, but she wouldn't have it. She was quite strong enough to go alone, she says, and I'd better stop where I was and pick up the nice new costume which I'd pitched on the floor piece by piece as I dragged it off of her. So thinkin' no harm, and havin' had no instructions what to do after I'd got the lady ready, I let her go. I thinks no more about it till a minute or two later along comes Mr. Jeffrey again, askin' 'Where's Miss Gray?'"

"You haven't told me yet why you are all so sure she's in the theater," said Macaire.

Mrs. Purdy pointed to the walls of the dressing-room. "There hangs her clothes, sir," she announced. "There was some talk of takin' 'em away, when she was so obstinate, but that was before she fainted. There they hangs. And as these are modern times, and Miss Gray ain't the Lady Godiva the poetry's about, it stands to reason she can't have got far."

"I've sent for the door-keeper, who swears that he hasn't left his post tonight, and that Miss Gray didn't go by," added Jeffrey. "Yet the theater's been searched from below the stage up to the flies. The girl's nowhere. She's vanished into air."

Winifred Gray had disappeared as mysteriously as the bride in the ballad of "The Mistletoe Bough." No trace of her could be found at the theater or elsewhere, either on the night when mystery had swallowed her up or during the days to come.

Macaire had neither expected nor greatly desired the play produced with his money to be a success; but, strangely enough, the very event which caused his keen discomfiture created an artificial vogue for the revival of "Mazeppa."

The scenery was magnificent if the company (save for the vanished star) was poor. Most of the best people had been engaged when Mr. Wantage had first begun his quest for actors, and he had been given to understand that if Miss Gray were secured the rest of the cast mattered little to the backer; therefore he had been easily suited for most of the parts. But scenery alone and the disproportionately large amount of pictorial advertising which had been done could not have saved "Mazeppa" from failure. The length of its continuance on the boards would have depended upon the sum of money Mr. Macaire was willing to throw away. But the sudden disappearance of the star gave a fillip which perhaps nothing else could have given.

A story had been circulated that the well-known millionaire had been induced to "back" the production because of his infatuation for the Miss Gray who had lately been discharged from the Duke of Clarence's Theater for extraordinary and mysterious reasons. People, even in London, talked a good deal about it, and harsh things were said of Winifred, who was represented as a bold young woman trading upon her charms to handle Lionel Macaire's money, and her "brazen front of impudence" was proved without shadow of doubt by the startling posters she had allowed to be exhibited, representing herself as Mazeppa bound to the horse. She would certainly not have undertaken to play the part and dress it as it had once been dressed by the actress who had made the play famous, it was argued, had she really been the simple, modest girl she had hypocritically tried to appear during her brief months of popularity at the Duke of Clarence's.

Then, on the top of this gossip which associated her name with that of a man notoriously connected with other scandals, more or less of the same sort (though he was not too notorious to be a target for match-making mothers), came the actress's disappearance.

Among all the things which had been said about her, no one had dreamt of starting the theory that she had been deceived as to the part of Mazeppa and its requirements. She was an actress, and actresses went through life with their eyes open. And the old story of the thwarted elopement which had, in some inexplicable way, cost the girl her position in Mr. Anderson's company, was revived. It had been freely said before that the man in the case had been Lionel Macaire himself, and, though he posed as a bachelor, there had been many rumors that he had a wife from whom he was separated. But now it was thought that the scandal had been connected with a married man well known in London society, and that the plan which had failed before had been successfully brought off in Brighton. Miss Gray was supposed to have thrown up her engagement and left her manager in the lurch, to run away with a man, differently identified by almost every person who helped to keep the tale in circulation. All agreed in one particular alone. The man had a lovely wife, who was heartbroken at her husband's treachery, and by and by, a divorce case would come on which would make a tremendous sensation in the "highest circles."

Brighton people flocked to the new Thespian Theater, where Miss Gray's understudy, a pretty girl with a good figure and no absurd scruples of squeamishness, made the most of her "great chance." Others even ran down from town to the seaside, ostensibly because "Brighton was so jolly in No-

August 29th we issued a special letter showing the present and prospective value of these properties. Every day since we have urged their purchase. Notwithstanding the many flurries and drastic movements in the markets, these stocks have steadily advanced, while others declined, Pressed Steel showing a $12 a share advance. Our up-to-date daily letters are on record as advising in advance the culmination of the recent bull market. This saved our customers thousands of dollars. Don't you need this advice?

BUY DEC. CORN NOW

Some time ago when the market was weak and July corn was selling at from 61 to 62 cents, we predicted that it would soon sell above 75 cents. We advised our clients to buy.. JULY CORN SOLD FOR 90 CENTS, PROVING OUR PREDICTION CORRECT ALTHOUGH MADE IN THE FACE OF A WEAK MARKET. Those who followed our instructions realized enormous profits.

The conditions at present, the tone of the market, everything favors the buyer of December corn. BEFORE DECEMBER 30th IT WILL SELL FOR 70c., and again our advice is to buy. A small investment may make you independent. If you want the best price and the largest profit, BUY NOW. Our predictions on July corn were correct. Our advice on September corn was just as good. Send at once for our Booklet (mailed free) telling why corn will advance and how to trade with small capital. We have the highest references.

SWORN STATEMENT

On June 15th, 1901, a client of the firm deposited with me at my suggestion, one hundred dollars to be invested in Corn for September delivery. I purchased for his account 5,000 bushels at 43 1/2 cents per bushel, with a margin of 2 cents. I sold his holdings at 47c., giving a profit of $275 00; I purchased again at 47 1/2 cents per bushel, 10,000 bushels on a 2c. margin; resold at 50c; I continued to buy and sell on this account, watching the market closely, until the middle of August, when my client instructed me to close the account and submit the amount to his credit; this I did, his account showed a balance due him of $5,850.00, as his investment of $100.00 for two months.

STATE OF MISSOURI, }
City of St. Louis } ss.

Under oath as to its truthfulness, I make the following statement. March 25th, 1902, I deposited $25 to be invested in Corn, leaving the handling of my investment to the judgment of the Commission Company. On April 12th I was advised that my account was worth $50.00; on the same day I was advised that they had bought for me 2,500 bushels of Corn for July delivery at 61 3/8 cents; on April 16th, they sold and bought for my account, increasing my earnings to $131.75; again they bought for me, selling on April 23rd; my account now showing a net profit of $303.10 in 28 days, on an investment of $25.00 R ROY BRYAN, Deer, Mo.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 25th day of April, A.D. 1902.

H. G. Dennis, President, St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Sir,—Any time you want any recommendations from me as to what I think of your plan of campaign in the corn market, you can have it, for I have not, in many years I have been trading in future corn, met with such success as you have achieved for me in the handling of my account. As you know, I am such a busy man that I cannot give any personal attention to these matters, and while I know that you had made some of my friends enormous profits in the July corn deal that you handled with such remarkable success, as everybody knows, I really made my little investment of $25 with you more for a flyer for cigar money than anything else, and when I think that in addition to the cheque for $137 50 sent me on August 23rd as result of first investment, cheque for $40 75 which you handed me on August 29th as result of second investment, and look at the market to-day, and see nearly $300 profit in the third investment, I am simply pleased beyond measure.

I also want to thank you for the purchase that you made for my two friends yesterday who, at my suggestion, left it entirely to your hands, as I see they have a nice profit in their trades to-day.

If you think well of it, take on some December corn for me, as I notice you are now advising to buy December corn. Very respectfully yours,

Gentlemen,—Hope that you will pardon us for not complimenting you in a reasonable time for the handsome profits you made for us in so short a time. Major Hugh C. Dennis, St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Sir:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 10th inst., enclosing therewith your check No. 457 on the Third National Bank for $218.40.

This certainly shows most gratifying results of the small investment of $25, which I placed in your hands to handle, as your best judgment would dictate, on August 11th, less than a month ago, and assure you that I appreciate same highly.

As you know, I was first attracted to your company from the fact that I had come in contact with a number of friends whose investments handled by you had proven highly satisfactory and profitable. It will afford me great pleasure to recommend your Company, and also their plan of trading, to my friends, at all times, for certainly where such results as above can be obtained from such a small investment, the inducement offered speculators and investors is far out of the ordinary. Again thanking you,

I remain, very truly yours, W. W. Wood, Trav. Pass. Agent.

Gentlemen:—Yours of the 4th inst., at hand and noted; you cannot understand by this letter my appreciation of your services. If I had ten thousand dollars to invest I would put it in your hands for investment, as I firmly believe that you will make it win if any Commission Company can; you can invest my deposit according to your judgment, adhering to a former letter I wrote you regarding profits. Hoping you are successful in the next investment, and awaiting your commands, I am,

Very respectfully, J. J. Underwood.

United States Steel Co

New York, Oct. 9—It is predicted that the United States Steel Co., will get control of Col. F. & I., which will make them dominant from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and the best equipped to reach out and retain the trade of the world of any going concern. The company earns over twice the amount it expends in dividends, and its earnings are constantly increasing. It is one of the few of the world's industrials that from the start of the raw material which it is able to provide for itself, to the finished article, it provides everything and every part for itself; consequently it is absolutely independent of any other concern or combine. It even transports its own raw material from the mines to its furnace with its own fleet. The shipping combine now forming will be its most powerful and potent ally to purchase the stock outright; around 40 it pays the buyer ten per cent. upon the investment; to purchase it on twenty per cent. margin it pays upon the money invested fourteen per cent. If bought on 10 per cent. margin it yields the buyer twenty-two per cent. It is in our opinion as certain to pay its present dividends as is the Government to pay its interest, and it is more than likely that dividends on the common will be increased. It has sold as high as 55 and is worth much more today than it was then. By purchasing now you secure a stock that returns you all the time a good profit as well as paying its own board, as well as securing a stock at 40, which in comparatively few weeks should be able to sell above 50.

New York, Oct. 9—Summary—U. S. Steel earnings for the past three months $36,746,643, for nine months $101,142,155, for the past six months at the rate of $140,000,000 per annum, though President Schwab's estimate for the year was but $140,000,000. All this, despite inactivity for some time of the American Tin Company, whose workmen failed to accept such scale of wages as would permit acceptance of a contract from Standard Oil Company. The company's report shows it to have a surplus from undivided profits aggregating nearly $60,000,000. These figures need no comment. Today's market looked better for a more decided upward movement than it has done for some time past. Advances are better sustained, and dullness now accompanies set backs. It looks for the first time since the decline like a discontinuance of the 24 hour markets in each direction, which we have recently steadily advised as probable. We now advise holding some of your purchases, selling out only on strong spots, taking the chance of recovering later. Money closed at 15 per cent; sales 700,700

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

THE CONTRACT COMPLETED

Yesterday saw the last "spike" in the work in connection with Corry & Laverdure's contract at the lift lock, driven. The occasion was marked by the presence of both contractors, and the decoration of the stupendous pile of concrete with flags. Photographs were taken by Mr. R. M. Roy, from different points, with the contractors and foremen in the foreground.

The Dominion Bridge Company, of Montreal, are now in possession of the lock, and expect to complete their contract by spring.

ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18-inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realise the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purposes of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

We furnish the rich property—you furnish the mill. In a few months it will be in operation—almost before you expect it—and we divide the immense returns.

Yesterday Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons shipped a large hospital tent to the Cleveland, Ohio, health authorities, for use in a small-pox outbreak there. It is a double tent, built in the same style as numerous other tents which this firm have been supplying to the province for some years. It is 15x30 feet outside, and 14x20 inside. It speaks well for the firm to be called upon for this order from the United States, in spite of the keen competition there. Quite a number went down to see the tent yesterday, and were shown through the firm's splendid new factory

They Father Consumption

Bad coughs, colds and catarrh are responsible for more consumption than is traceable to even heredity. Catarrhozone cures more quickly than ordinary remedies because it is the only antiseptic yet discovered that is volatile enough to reach the root of the trouble in remote parts of the lungs and bronchial tubes, and impregnate every particle of the air breathed with its healing, germ-killing vapor. Colds can't last ten minutes or coughs more than thirty minutes when Catarrhozone is inhaled. It clears nose, throat and air passages at once, stops dropping, headache, and eradicates catarrh from any part of the system. Two months' treatment, $1. trial size, 25c. Druggists or N. C. The presents to the bride were many, and were expensive and beautiful, testifying to the high regard in which she is held by her many friends. The bride was supported by Miss Doratha Harris, Bobcaygeon, while Mr. Robert Fair acted as groomsman. The Times extends its hearty congratulations.

The New Comet

Perine's comet has proved a big disappointment. According to reports in English papers the comet was to be quite large and brilliant. Observations in the Toronto Observatory and by the naked eye in Peterborough, however, make it look as if the comet is not so plain now as it was some days ago, and is now as near as it will ever be to the earth's surface. Being a new comet it is purely speculative as to its size, but indications now point to a gradual fading away. It is possible that it may be more brilliant in about a month after it has passed the sun. At present it is difficult to observe with the naked eye. The comet was visible last night for a time. It looked like a very bright star, but might easily have been taken for one. There was no tail visible. In a little while the clouds obscured the comet altogether.

It is feared that he met with an accident while at work, although this is only surmised. Notice of the funeral will appear tomorrow.

How One Housewife Makes Fuel

The following was received by The Times: She took four common bricks and placed them in a pail. Over the bricks she poured a gallon of kerosene oil and let them stand until the bricks had absorbed all of the oil and let them stand, until the bricks had absorbed all of the oil they would take up. Then she took out two of the bricks and placed them in the kitchen range and set fire to them. They burned fully two hours, and the fire that they made was one by which it was possible to do any kind of cooking, or other work requiring considerable heat. The lady says in this way it will be possible in her home to get along with the cooking, washing and ironing without resort to gas. There was no unpleasant odor or any trouble whatever, for the oil just blazed away like a stove full of good wood.

—Hallowe'en falls on Friday this year.

—To get along well: Begin at the top and dig down.

The saddest words of tongue or pen, "The price of coal has riz again!"

—Messrs. Gibson and Henry have begun their contract on the sewer from Charlotte street to Weller street.

—On Wednesday night a fine large dog belonging to Mrs. Innes, 466 George street, was given a dose of strychnine, and would probably have died had it not been for services rendered by Dr. Poole, Water street.

—Mr Allan McCarthy, the well-known house mover, is busily engaged in removing the frame house from the lot on which the new skating rink is to be built, to a vacant lot near St. Andrew's church.

—We don't know what to wish for; we are in a fuel quandry. We want the mild weather to hang on as long as possible and we want the snow as quickly as we can get to it, so that farmers can bring wood to town. There's no pleasing us.

—Joseph Smith, a young man employed by Bradley, Garretson & Company, of Brantford, had his hand so badly burned by a switch in the works of the Canadian General Electric Company yesterday morning that he is compelled to a period of enforced idleness, and will very much need the means which his inability to work will deprive him of.

—A few of Mr. Frank Packenham's personal friends entertained him to an oyster supper on Wednesday night, in Mr. Harry Long's handsome palm parlours. It was a quiet affair, and was attended by the following gentlemen: Messrs. Will Higgins, R. M. Glover, Dr. Tate, Jack Gemmell, Jack Comstock, Manson Comstock, W. C. Ackerman, H. Waram, and R. Matchett. Short speeches were made by the boys, who expressed the hope that Mr. Packenham would meet with success in his new position in Montreal.

A NEW TEXT

Southern Preacher Gives Food For Thought

Coffee works in many different and unsuspected ways. Mr. E. L. Weston, pastor of Baptist church of Sardis, Miss., writes:—

"I loved coffee from my infancy, and never knew of it hurting me until I was 35 years old. I suffered with headaches if forced to do without it, and sometimes used it three times a day, but headache had been one of the ills of our family, and therefore I thought it was an inherited evil for which coffee was a special remedy, but about nine years ago, I began to suffer from sleeplessness, which continued until it seemed as if my nerves would wreck for want of sleep, and yet I could not sleep.

A friend suggested that I quit coffee except for breakfast, which I did, and so found that I could sleep alittle better, but my headaches continued, and my nervous system would sometimes seem as if the very fibres of my flesh were moving within me. It went on until three years ago I began to suffer at night with an itching sensation on my limbs below my knees and on my arms below the elbows, and sometimes all over my body, but there was no eruption on the skin; the flesh was smooth and white. I consulted several good physicians, but with no avail.

I had no idea that the coffee I drank in the morning caused it, but finally decided to stop coffee for awhile and try Postum Food Coffee. Wife made it according to directions, so that I liked it equally as well as coffee. I had no idea that it would relieve the awful itching deep down in the flesh, but thought I would use it to see if there was any virtue in it. I had only used it a few days, when I discovered that the itching was not so severe. When I had used it ten days my wife said, 'What is the matter with you? You do not seem to be troubled with that itching sensation.' I told her that I did not know what was the cause, but I knew that I was not troubled with the itching any more and was thankful for it.

I then went over to preach in another town, and while there drank some strong coffee, and the itching returned. When I came back home I commenced using Postum again, and the itching ceased. Then I decided that coffee in some way produced the itching. I drink Postum three times a day, and rest as well as I ever rested and never have headaches any more. I believe that hundreds of preachers who suffer from indigestion, nervousness and worry, would find rest and health if they would quit coffee and use Postum."

DEATH OF MRS. ROSE

One of Peterborough's Oldest Citizens Passed Away Yesterday

In the death of Mrs. Alexander Rose, which occurred yesterday morning shortly after midnight, Peterborough loses one of its oldest and most esteemed citizens. The deceased had been in poor health for some months, suffering from an affection of the heart. Of a robust constitution, she would not, during the early stages of her illness, undergo medical treatment, and it was only when, a few months ago, she became critically ill, that she would consent to call in a physician. She so far recovered as to be able to move about, and on Wednesday evening, was feeling rather better than usual. Shortly after midnight her daughter, who occupied the same room with her, noticed that she was breathing heavily, and at once summoned the family. She passed away soon after, peacefully and sweetly.

The deceased was born near Belfast, Ireland, 82 years ago, and came to this country with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Dickson, when she was but nine years of age. The family, consisting of parents and nine children, settled at Graystock, Otonabee.

Married in 1844 to the late Alex. Rose, who predeceased her about 28 years, the family resided for many years in Keene, her husband being manager for Mr. Thomas Short, an extensive lumberman and grain merchant, and member of the old Canadian Parliament for the Newcastle District. The family afterwards resided in Dummer, Verulam, Smith, and finally in Peterborough. In religion the deceased was a life-long and consistent member of the Methodist church, and was known far and near for benevolence, charity and unbounded hospitality. No one was ever turned away from her door hungry, and many of her acts of charity were never known or talked about. Six children mourn her loss. They are Messrs. Alexander, Jas. and Stuart, Misses Isabella and Mary Rose and Mrs. John Gillespie, all of Peterborough.

The interment will take place this afternoon at one o'clock, to the Lakefield cemetery, and will be private.

DOES NOT HANKER FOR ERIN

King Edward Will Stay Away and Avoid Embarrassment

London, October 10.—It is not likely that King Edward will visit Ireland. William O'Brien, M.P., urges the people not to cheer him if he should. O'Brien says:

"If there be one grain of truth in the gossip about the King's conversion to home rule it is quite certain that that conversion was affected, not by professions of loyalty, but by the scenes of open disaffection, illustrated by black flags and police charges which accompanied his steps from the Mallow railway station day by day until he quitted the country on a former occasion."

O'Brien thinks the Irish should imitate the Boers in their treatment of England and more would be thought of them.

ENTITLED TO GRATUITY

Good News for Men Who Served in South Africa

A militia order issued at Ottawa states that non-commissioned officers and men of the 2nd 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 6th Canadian Mounted Rifles and of the 10th Field Hospital, lately returned from South Africa are requested if they have not already done so, to forward immediately to the station paymaster colonial branch, Halifax, N.S., their certificates of discharge. These certificates should be accompanied by a statement giving particulars of any previous service in South Africa. The rank held, and the name of the former regiments. The address of the owner of the certificate should also be clearly stated. Men who have not yet received certificates of discharge should apply at once to the officer who commanded the regiment to which they belonged. The Imperial authorities at Halifax cannot forward gratuities to men who do not comply with the above request.

Each man of the 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 6th C.M.R. is entitled to a gratuity of £5 Men of the 2nd C.M.R. and 10th Field Hospital are entitled to a war gratuity according to rank, in addition.

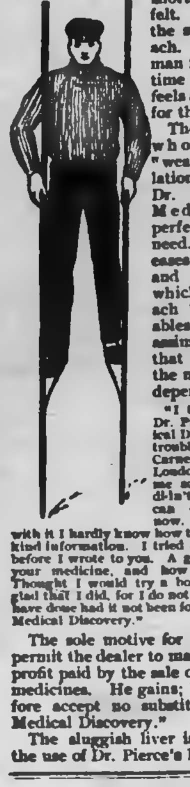
MOUNT PLEASANT.

Mrs M. McLean, of Toronto, formerly of this place, is visiting relatives here.

The new blacksmith, Mr. W. Greig, is receiving his fall stock of hardware suitable for his business here during the winter season.

Our cheese factory will close in about a month from this, and will then begin to manufacture butter.

Farmers are receiving very high prices for cheese, cattle, butter, eggs, and pork. Providence is favoring us in Ontario, with good crops and no signs of famine in our land. Should not this call for our thanks to the Giver of all our needs?



Stomachs on Stilts.

The man who puts on stilts does not increase his actual stature by the breadth of a hair. He feels taller while he's on the stilts, and when he's off them he feels shorter than he ever felt. Stimulants are the stilts of the stomach. They make a man feel better for the time being, but he feels a great deal worse for them afterward.

The need of the man whose stomach is "weak" is not stimulation but strength. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery perfectly answers that need. It cures the diseases of the digestive and nutritive system which make the stomach "weak." It enables the digestion and assimilation of food, so that the body receives the nutrition on which depends its strength.

"I took two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for stomach trouble," writes Clarence Carnes, Esq., Taylorstown, Loudoun Co., Va. "It did me so much good that I didn't take any more. I can eat most anything now. I am so well pleased with it I hardly know how to thank you for your kind information. I tried a whole lot of things before I wrote to you. A gentleman told me of your medicine, and how it cured his wife. Thought I would try a bottle of it. Am now glad that I did, for I do not know what I should have done had it not been for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; You lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

The sluggish liver is made active by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

"A WEALTH OF SOUND"

IS CONTAINED IN THE

HEINTZMAN & CO. PIANO

When a piano is extolled by such artists as Friedheim, Plancon, Albani, Plunket Greene, Burmeister, Edward Lloyd, Lieut. Dan Godfrey, there surely can be no question as to its merits. When they go farther, as in this case, and agree that for power, brilliancy of tone and touch, an artistic construction, the Heintzman & Co. Pianos are unexcelled, it places this instrument in an enviable position in the music world. Plunket Greene says in regard to this instrument:

"I have sung to your piano on my two Canadian tours, and at the close of my second season in Canada I feel I would be lacking in courtesy, did I not congratulate you on the high character of the instrument which you produce. My Recital programmes involve a wide selection of songs of most varied characteristics, and require, of necessity, a piano capable in the highest degree of the most delicate inflections and of widest range, alternating from fine pianissimo effects to the most powerful manifestations of dramatic force. To these demands I found your instrument most responsive. I can assure you that it was to me, as an Englishman, the greatest pleasure to find so splendid a piano assisting in the musical prestige of Her Majesty's foremost colony."

COAL $5.00 A TON

WITH THE WONDERFUL

STAR HEATER

The only heater that is guaranteed to give satisfaction with soft as well as hard coal. As a fuel economizer it is unequalled, producing heat on about one-third the coal used in any other heater in existence.

The Star has a tube behind for the escape of the gas. As anyone who uses soft coal knows, the gas accumulates under the fresh coal, and if there is no escape there will be explosions and puffs of smoke. In the Star this disappears in the gas escape. The Star has a sliding damper and ornamental door of mica.

After being filled, the Star will heat for 48 hours without attention. It will hold fire and give out heat longer than any other stove.

The Star is 25 per cent more economical than any other stove.

MORE THAN 5,000 ARE IN USE IN THE LOWER PROVINCES.

DIRECTIONS

When filling the stove always shut the draught door at the bottom.

Keep the small opening in the back pipe closed except when cleaning.

Clean the back pipe every two weeks.

COAL CONSUMERS, ATTENTION!

We are using one No. 3 Star stove in our large rooms, where formerly we had four large wood heaters, and get more heat now than before. The wood stoves cost us $4.50 every week for fuel, and the Star stove which we are now using costs us only $1.50, making a saving of $3.00 per week in the price of fuel—which would soon pay for the stove. We can recommend this stove to any person wanting a first-class heater. We would not use any other stove that is made.

ST. PETER'S T.A.S.
M. J. Serro, Chairman Trustees.

We certify that we have in use one No. 3 Star stove in our large pool and billiard room, the size of which is 46x33 ft., with 15 ft. ceiling. We have perfect heat, and the most coal we have used on the coldest day yet has been three scuttles in 24 hours. We are so well pleased with the stove that we would not use any other.

ROCAMORA & CALLAHAN.

I have been using a No. 3 Star stove in the sitting room at the City Hotel for some time past, and it has proved so satisfactory that I have ordered two more to replace two stoves in the upstairs. The Star gives more heat than the other stoves with half the amount of coal.

MARTIN CONNORS.

We have in use in our composing room a No. 3 Star coal stove, and wish to state that it is giving eminent satisfaction. The entire absence of gas by the escape provided, the increase of heat and the saving in coal are special features of the Star, and it requires a minimum of attention.

ARE FRANCE AND SPAIN DRAWING TOGETHER

Will Have a Powerful Navy by 1908—Money Secured From France To Build Battleships

London, Oct. 11—According to despatches from Madrid the Spanish Government is resolved to undertake the construction of so large a number of battle ships and armored cruisers as to give the country by 1908 a more powerful fleet than she has possessed at any time since Trafalgar.

Two questions at once suggest themselves. Whence can the money required for so costly a project be secured, and for what purpose is a large fleet needed, now that Spain has lost her colonies? An answer to both questions would be at once forthcoming if a close political alliance between Spain and France existed. There is no doubt that such an alliance would be of signal advantage to both countries, and there have been of late some indications that it may be brought about.

It is well known that a large proportion of the Spanish public debt is owed in France, and that it was mainly owing to this circumstance that most of the Paris newspapers made no attempt to disguise their sympathy with Spain during her recent war with the United States That the sympathy has not been chilled was demonstrated the other day at Toulouse, on the occasion of the visit of the husband of the Princess of Asturias, the heiress to the Spanish monarchy, who was warmly welcomed by Gen. Andre, the French Minister of War, "in the name of the Government of the Republic" and reminded of the "comradeship of French and Spanish soldiers." The comradeship referred to was memorably displayed during the continuance of the Burbon Family Compact which played so great a part in the eighteenth century and by virtue of which the soldiers and seamen of France and Spain were arrayed against the forces of other continental Powers and of Great Britain.

The community of interests by which the two countries are or might be united is as obvious now as it was then. To France a coalition with Spain would be beneficial from both negative and positive points of view. In the first place, she would be relieved from the danger that Spain, in the event of a European war might co-operate with the Triple Alliance, a danger that always existed so long as the ruler of Spain was an Austrian Archduchess. In the second place if she could employ Spanish soldiers for the purpose of defending her southeastern frontier against an Italian invasion France could marshal the whole of her own army against Germany a large part of whose military force would be required to cope with Russia on the Vistula. That is to say, if Spain were to join the Franco-Russian League the value of Italy, considered as a factor in the Triple Alliance, would be minimized.

Nor is this by any means the only advantage which France might derive form the close political understanding with Spain which existed in a part of the eighteenth century. A formidable war fleet might be created by Spain if a loan applicable to that purpose were floated on the Paris Stock Exchange and if arrangements were made for the construction of Spanish battleships and armored cruisers in French shipyards. It will be remembered that Nelson had a higher opinion of Spanish sailors than French, and there is no doubt that the cooperation of a score of warships under Spanish colors would materially strengthen the French naval force in the Mediterranean to say nothing of the importance of having such naval bases as Minorca and Carthagena added to Toulon and Bizerta. Thus far we have mentioned only the gain that might accrue to France from an alliance with Spain in time of war. No less indisputable is the profit that might be secured in peace times by the application of French capital, engineering, metallurgy, and viticultural science to Spain's immense undeveloped resources. It is no exaggeration to say that from an industrial point of view, the exploitation of the Iberian peninsula might prove more lucrative to France than all her colonies.

What Spain might gain through an alliance with France is unmistakable She would at once recover a sense of international dignity and importance to which she has been long a stranger. She would be definitely relieved from the spectre of Carlism, with which she has been haunted for upward of fifty years She would witness a remarkable expansion of her public revenue responsive to the application of capital and trained intelligence to her agricultural and mineral capabilities. In her own educational, fiscal and administrative systems she could not but feel the stimulus of French enlightment and French example. Above all, through her friendly compact with France, her most dangerous rival, she would be reasonably assured of securing a large fraction of Morocco and thus satisfying a traditional and fervent aspiration of her people.

The chief obstacle to a Franco-Spanish coalition is the unfriendly attitude recently assumed by the French Government toward certain religious orders which are powerful in Spain. Whether this obstacle can be surmounted is a question which M Delcasse the French Minister for Foreign Affairs, and M. Jules Cambon, the new French Ambassador at Madrid, will be called upon to answer.

Coal Strike May Result In Big Benefit to Canada

It will Cause Canadians to Rely Upon and Appreciate Deposits of Fuel in the Dominion

Montreal, Oct. 10.—It is very gratifying to hear one so competent to speak in every way in regard to the fuel famine as Mr. George R. Prowse, express the opinion that it is a blessing in disguise, and will have the effect of inducing Canadians to appreciate the resources of their own country, and to utilize the excellent coal scattered all over the Dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

"I have just returned," said he today, "from a trip over the Canadian Pacific for the special purpose of reporting on the ranges, stoves, etc., of the company and found that Winnipeg west to the Pacific in all the hotels and depots, soft coal was being used with success in stoves built for hard coal. The chefs of cuisines and the Chinese told me that they found no trouble with it so long as a good draught was kept above and below the fire, and so long as the fire was fed at frequent intervals and a small quantity at a time. Both the soft coal of the Galt Coal Company, at Lethbridge, and other collieries, was giving great satisfaction, and when properly screened and fired gave perfect satisfaction in anthracite selffeeding stoves. The same thing is being done in the Maritime Provinces with Nova Scotia coal. I have myself for some time past been doing the same thing, and Mr. George F. Hartt, although he has some hard coal left over from last year.

"In my opinion, however, the fuel of the future will be gas—carbonic oxide gas—which may be made for 20 to 30 cents a thousand feet. While stove dealers report the demand for oil burners as being abnormal, the companies say the increase in their sales is scarcely perceptible.

"Of course," as Mr. George J. Kiplin, the general manager of the Imperial Oil Company says, "this is the time of the year when our output is the largest. The consumption in the Province of Quebec is about 5,000,000 gallons. The principal supplies for the year are distributed during October and November, and we cannot tell probably for a month yet whether the supplies we have sent out have been consumed more rapidly than in former years. Our tank delivery wagons, which supply 4,000 gallons a day in Montreal, do not as yet report any great increase."

Mr. G. G. Tessier, of the Haymarket scales, says he went down to the Gas Works with his own team yesterday, and was refused coke. He had first of all taking the trouble of asking at the Ottawa street office if there was any use of his going down and was informed that he would be supplied if he had his own team. At the Gas Works he was curtly told there was none for him and he could not get any satisfaction, while dealers were cutting it off by the ton. The president of the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Co., being informed of the complaint today, said:

"We are making about [illegible] tons a day Of this [illegible] tons are contracted for and we have [illegible] tons left for sale. We are distributing this amount daily to the best of our ability are are keeping our output for Montreal, while we could dispose of it elsewhere at double the price. People must be patient."

The anthracite coal received by canal during the season of 1902 up to the 7th inst is 17,915 tons, and of soft coal, [illegible] tons. There are at present on the Atlantic three vessels with 15,000 tons of Welsh and Scotch coal, with 35,000 tons yet to arrive.

SPECULATOR SUICIDES

Shorn of His Money, Edward Cleveland Kills Himself

Bullet Through His Brain—A Victim of the Recent Slump in Stocks

Toronto, Oct. 9—Edward H. Cleveland, who was employed as a ledger-keeper by John Kay Son & Co., committed suicide in the New Carlton Hotel by shooting himself through the right temple with a revolver. He was known to have been a heavy loser through the recent slump in stocks, and that is given as the man's reason for taking his life.

A peculiar circumstance was that during the forenoon, after leaving the store, where he showed up at the usual hour in the morning, he went to a store on Yonge street, purchased a suit of clothes, then went out and bought a new hat, with which he returned, saying he would call later for the suit and hat.

He seems to have then proceeded to the office of a broker, and there learned that the stocks he held had taken a further drop, completely ruining him.

A little after noon he was seen going into the New Carlton Hotel proceeding to the private parlor, where about 12.30 he was found by a hotel attendant dead in an armchair, with a revolver beside him. The attendant had heard the shot while in the rear end of the bar. Besides the revolver, which was a new Ivor. & Johnston, 32 calibre, of the latest type, and apparently used for the first time, there was found upon him a box of cartridges, only one of which had been taken out; two bottles of laudanum, a lock of hair tied in paper, $6 in bills, a watch and several small articles.

Cleveland was a widower, about 45 years of age, and boarded at No. 122 Shuter street. A married daughter lives in the city.

WEDDING BELLS

The following report, of the marriage of Mr. Thomas McMullen, of Peterborough, and Miss Eliza Switzer, of Cameron, is taken from the Lindsay Post:

A very pretty church wedding took place in the Methodist church, Cameron, on Wednesday, Oct. 1st, the contracting parties being Miss Eliza Switzer, of Cameron, and Mr. Thomas McMullen, Peterborough. Their popularity was evidenced by the presence of a church full of admiring friends awaiting to witness the interesting ceremony.

The bride, who wore white organdie trimmed with muslin de soie and lace, and carried a bouquet of roses and nasturtiums, entered the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. G. H. Switzer. She was attended by Miss Melissa Switzer, sister of the bride, and Miss Minnie McMullen, sister of the groom, wearing white organdie and white organdie over blue respectively, and also carrying beautiful bouquets. Messrs. R. McMullen and W. H. Day, cousins of the groom and bride respectively, supported the groom.

After Rev. Mr. Terrill had performed the ceremony the party returned to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noris Switzer, where the customary congratulations were extended, and the guests, numbering some forty couples, partook of the most inviting wedding supper. Early in the evening Mr. and Mrs. McMullen, attended by quite a number of friends, drove to Lindsay and took the night train for Napanee. Mrs. McMullen's travelling costume was of gray broadcloth, with hat to match. She will be much missed in Cameron, where she was prominent in both church and choir. The many valuable presents attest the esteem in which she is held.

THE TRANSVAAL AMENDS ITS TARIFF

Duties Have Been Abolished on Machinery and Building Material

IT SHOULD HELP OUR TRADE

Sacrifice of Revenue Preferable to Increasing Cost of Renewing Industrial Property

Pretoria, October 10—An extraordinary issue of the Gazette says:

"The amended tariffs are only provisionary the Government desiring ultimately to enter the customs union on a basis which will not sacrifice the vital interests of the Transvaal. The negotiations thus far have been unavailing because the Transvaal does not feel justified in increasing the duties on certain foodstuffs to the extent which the coast colonies consider necessary for the protection of their products. In the meanwhile the conditions in the Transvaal preclude further delay in adjusting the unjustifiably high duties and the duties ordinarily reasonabel, but excessive in a country which practically has to be refitted. The duties are therefore abolished on machinery, building materials, metals and agricultural implements. The large sacrifice of revenue involved is considered preferable to increase by taxation the cost of renewing industrial capitals of the colony.

As it is imperative, however, to replace a portion of the loss the duties on wines and spirits are increased. The existing duty on dynamite is left unaltered, owing to questions bearing on the conditions of its manufacture and importation into the Transvaal being under discussion, but the duty will be separately dealt with as soon as possible. The duty of six cents on poles, two cents a pound on sulphuric acid, six cents a pound on lead and 12 cents a pound on copper wire are cancelled. All iron will be admitted free and the cost of building will be greatly reduced by the removal of the duties on cement and timber.

The alteration of the duty on cigars and ciarettes from $3.75 per hundred cigars without distinction of size, to $1.50 per pound, and on cigarettes from $3.75 per thousand cigarettes to $1 a pound is considered equitable.

"The special duties on jams and confectionery of $10 per hundred pounds, will be reduced to three cents per pound the special duty of $2.50 on oats, $1.25 on oat hay and the special duty on coal will be abolished.

"Anomalous duties will be amended. Many of the changes to be made have been agitated for years, especially with regard to matches which were specially taxed $1 per gross for the benefit of the company owning the concession. This tax will be now reduced to 50 cents per gross."

No mention is made of the special duties which were suspended in 1897 owing to the agitation here, but which the Government reserved the right to reimpose. They remained suspended, but it is expected that they would be repealed.

OPERATORS MUST SETTLE OR MINE COAL SAYS GOVERNOR STONE

Given Six Days to Take One or the Other

If They Fail the Pennsylvania Legislature will be Called Immediately

To Enact a Law that will Allow The State the Right to Seize the Collieries

New York, Oct. 10.—The American and Journal claims the highest authority for the statement that unless a strike settlement is reached or the operators succeed in mining sufficient coal within the next six days to relieve the present coal famine, Governor Stone will call a special session of the Pennsylvania Legislature to pass a law creating a State Coal committee to seize the mines, under the right of eminent domain, and proceed immediately with coal production until the public demand is adequately supplied.

FAILED TO AGREE.

Efforts in this city to settle the anthracite coal strike by conferences between the leading politicians and the coal operators have so far proved in vain. Senators Platt, Quay and Penrose and Governor Odell of New York to-day again met the representatives of the coal interests in a lengthy conference, which adjourned this afternoon, leaving the situation practically unchanged.

The four politicians mentioned were closeted in Senator Platt's office from 10 o'clock until 12.30, when Chairman Thomas of the Erie road and President Baer of the Reading joined them to receive any proposition which they might have to offer. They remained but a little while, and then the conference dispersed. Chairman Thomas spoke for the operators, and gave out the following statement;

"It was impracticable to reach any conclusion of the situation on the suggested this morning."

The exact nature of the proposals made to the operators is not known. Whatever they were, they were rejected, and this afternoon there is no indication that any definite step has been made toward a settlement of the strike.

It is understood that another conference will be held on Tuesday next.

President Mitchell, when informed of the result of the conference said: "I have no official knowledge of the proceedings down there."

Mr Mitchell then went to the phone, and had a long talk with some one, it is not known whom. When asked if he would return to the city next Tuesday to attend the next meeting of the conference, he said he did not know, but that it was his intention to return home to-night.

ADJOURNED TILL TUESDAY.

The conference in Senator Platt's office came to an end just after 1 o'clock.

Governor Odell, the first person to emerge, said, in reply to questions; "There is not a word to be said."

Senator Platt, when seen later, said; "Everything has been put over until Tuesday."

President Mitchell remained at his hotel most of the day conferring with the three district presidents, who are here with him. L. N. Hammerling of Wilkesbarre and Father Ducey called, and remained with him some time. When Mr. Mitchell's attention was called to telegrams which it is

The conference in Senator Platt's and President Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners concerning Mr. Moyer's offer to co-operate with the mine workers by calling out the Western men, Mr. Mitchell said, "I have nothing to say." He would not discuss the matter, nor admit that it was under consideration.

SENATORS WERE SEEN.

New York, Oct. 9.—On arrival here to-night President Mitchell refused to say whether or not he had come to hold a conference with the operators. Late at night he went to the Fifth Avenue Hotel, where Senators Quay and Penrose, of Pennsylvania, were registered. There was a meeting between these men, but no information regarding it was given out.

Teacher Shot Seven, Five will Die

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 9—One of the worst tragedies in the history of Western Canada, is reported tonight from the small village of Altona, on the Manitoba side, near the North Dakota boundary line.

A school teacher named H. J. Toows had some difficulty with his trustees, and meeting them on the road while going to school drew a revolver and shot A. Rempel, J. Hiebert and P. Kehlers.

Toows then returned to the school and shot two of Kehler's girls and a daughter of Rempel's. He then pulled the revolver on himself and will die. Rempel, Heibert and two of the girls are also fatally injured.

CHURCH THREATENS NATIONAL SCOUTS

Boers Who Aided Britain in the War May be Fxcommunicated

Special to The Times.

London, Oct. 10.—A pastoral letter drawn up by the Synodical Commission of the Dutch Reformed Church throws a lurid light on the attitude of that church, says a Johannesburg correspondent. The letter threatens the National Scouts and others who helped Great Britain in the later stages of the war with excommunication unless they show deep contrition of their acts. The correspondent says that until this clause of the letter is repealed no request for compensation for war losses sustained by the church can be entertained by the Government. The National Scouts and others who aided the British number 4,500, and the correspondent remarks they have only the Government to look to for protection against the religious persecution to which the Synod has given its official support. Boers are every whit as priest-ridden as ever Ireland has been, and that church has the power to accelerate or altogether prevent the pacification of the country. Provided the church listens to reason, the Government might take into consideration the diminution of its funds likely to be occasioned by the impoverished condition of the people, but there should be no compensation by payment of a lump sum. An annual subsidy on certain definite conditions to enable the church to tide over bad years is the utmost that could be expected, and that would be politic.

Special to The Times.

London, Oct. 10.—The Times says that Lord Inverclyde, the chairman of the Cunard Company, in speaking at Glasgow yesterday, said that it was true that the money given to the company by the Government was in the nature of a subsidy. The company had undertaken to build two fast steamships of the description which no private company would have undertaken to build in the ordinary commercial way. The Cunard Line, said Lord Inverclyde, was giving the Government full value for its money.

RENEWAL OF COMMERCIAL TREATIES.

Special to The Times.

London, Oct. 10.—A Vienna correspondent says one of the chief causes of the existing deadlock over the Ausgleich is the disturbing effects of the present transition stage in international commercial relations, which effects have been aggravated by the depression of the past two years. Similar difficulties will also have to be overcome by some of the principal European states in connection with the renewal of commercial treaties. The efforts of Hungary, which was formerly a purely agricultural country, to create independent industries and secure a monopoly of the home market, cause jealousy and apprehension in Austria, which are not calculated to promote a settlement of the difficulties between the two States. One of the favorable features of the present crisis is the recognition of the fact that some agreement is practically indispensable in the economic interests of all concerned.

PLAGUE SPREADS AT ODESSA.

Special to The Times.

London, Oct. 10.—The manner in which the plague at Odessa has long defied all attempts to eradicate it, says a correspondent in that city, is causing great alarm, not only in Odessa, but also in the larger centres of South Russia. The most alarming circumstances in connection with the latest cases is the severe nature of the attack. Several cases have ended fatally within between twenty-four and forty-eight hours. In a majority of the large towns in South Russia precautionary measures on an extensive scale have been ordered with a view to minimising the possible consequences of the spread of the disease.

ROUMANIAN FLOATING DEBT.

Special to The Times.

London, Oct. 9.—The best hope for the Jews of Roumania, says an Athens correspondent, lies in the near approach of the moment when the Roumanian floating debt must be converted by means of a great loan. The influence of Jewish capitalists may then be of more avail in helping their suffering kindred than the whole force of humanitarian sentiment on both sides of the Atlantic.

FUNNY MINE NEAR A FUNNY RAILROAD

Big Tons of Hard Coal for $2, and That Makes It Still Funnier

HOW THE PLAN WORKS

Eaglesmere, Pa., October 9—From a little mine on top of a mountain, five miles away, Eaglesmere people are getting their hard coal at $2 a ton, if they haul it themselves, or $4 a ton, delivered. In Philadelphia anthracite is selling at $10 a ton, when there is any to sell.

The owner, operator, and boss miner of his little colliery which has, so far, escaped the notice of the coal combine, is Charles Wooster. He fixes the price, being content with a fair remuneration, and, until the coal famine set in, mined all the coal himself. Now his force of miners consists of three men, besides himself, and he is looking for others The strike does not affect Wooster's mine, as there is no ban on the digging of northern anthracite. His coal is of free-burning northern anthracite quality, and his miners are union men from the strike region to the south.

Wooster found an outcropping of coal in the race of a sandstone bluff, on the mountain top, about a year ago. He located his mine at once, built a rude breaker and started operations. The methods of mining and handling the coal are primitive and the workings probably constitute the funniest little coal mine in the state.

The mine is two and one-half miles from the nearest railroad, which is itself an oddity, and one of Wooster's best customers. The road is narrow-gauge, is owned by C. W. Sones and runs from his lumber camp to the junction with the Eaglesmere road. One locomotive burns all the coal the railroad buys from the mine. The engine is known as "No. 37" and looks like a caboose that has swallowed a locomotive all but the smokestack. Still, it draws heavy lumber and bark cars up the stiff grades.

Wooster's mine is probably only a beginning. Prospectors have been working all summer about the head waters of Loyalsock creek. They have found many outcroppings similar to the one Wooster found. When capital follows up their explorations, the big companies will probably come in, and there'll be no more $2 coal.

PETERBOROUGH. OCT. 11, 1902.

AN INEVITABLE MORAL

In New York State the Democratic party convention has passed a resolution urging the federal government to expropriate the anthracite coal mines.

W. R. Hearst, owner of some of the largest circulated newspapers of the United States, in accepting a nomination for Congress in a New York state district, proclaims himself in favor of government expropriation of the mines.

Dozens of newspapers in all parts of the United States are arguing in favor of expropriation.

This may be called socialistic or not; desirable or not; justifiable or not by what has occurred in the strike; but there it is, an idea grown tenfold in strength since this time last week, through the answer of the coal operators to President Roosevelt's overture for a settlement.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Such statements as General DeWet's plain and manly one, "We will remain faithful to our new country if the conditions of peace are observed," are the statements by which the Boer should be judged now by the British, in place of the easily-concocted fakes of yellow journalism as to Boer hidden intentions and schemes.

Patriot Reitz, a Boer refugee, has come to this country, says the Minneapolis Tribune, to raise some money for himself and his countrymen. Doesn't he know that Webster Davis has worked that graft to the limit on this side of the street?

A Photographic Introduction.

Many years ago, when tintypes first came into general use, the booth where pictures were made "while you wait" was the center of a large crowd at every county fair and popular resort. An old-time photographer tells an experience he had long ago, before the secrets of the camera were known to everybody.

He had set up a tent at a county fair, and was trying to drum trade. He stood outside his tent, calling in true hawker fashion the merits of his pictures. The people who gathered around were interested and curious, but somewhat in awe of the little black box inside the tent. Finally the photographer thought he might set the sheep to running by singling out one of the crowd and taking his picture free. Standing near each other were a young man and a young woman. Thinking that they would like to be taken together, and that the two would have more courage to face the camera than a lone victim, the photographer called out:

"That gentleman right there and that lady, come inside and I'll give you pictures in two minutes, free of charge!"

The two looked at each other, grinned, and finally came inside the tent.

"Stand right there," said the photographer. "That's it. Now hold still a minute. There you are. Now wait till I finish 'em up."

In a few minutes he handed them each a tintype in a pink paper frame. They looked at the pictures curiously. Then the young woman blushed and her companion grinned and tittered.

"Like 'em?" asked the photographer, briskly, thinking of possible customers in the crowd outside.

"Waal," said the man, slowly, "it looks like her, and I guess it looks like me, but ye see, I didn't know and I guess she didn't know we was goin' to be in the same picture."

"Thought you'd like 'em that way," answered the photographer. "Pleasant souvenir of your visit to the fair together."

"Waal, yes, but you see we didn't come together. I never seen her before."

Then the two snickered, and the photographer bowed them out as quickly as he could.

That year he did a good business, and at the next fair he set up his booth again. One day a young couple came in and greeted him with smiles of doubtful recognition. It was the young man and woman of the year before.

"How do you do?" cried the photographer, "I—I see you know each other now."

"Yes," answered the man, looking sheepishly at the girl. "My folks know some folks of hers over to Hopkins, and when they seen her picture they recognized it. An' that's how we got acquainted."

"I'm very glad," said the photographer.

"So'm I; ain't you, Lizzie?"

"Yes," said Lizzie, shyly.

REITZ IN NEW YORK

Says He Is Not a British Subject and Never Will

And Predicts That South Africa Will Yet Be Free—Increase of Natural Feeling

New York, October 10.—Mr Reitz former Secretary of the Transvaal, was formally welcomed to the city last night by the Committee of 60, composed of delegates from the United Irish American Societies of New York. Mr. Reitz was enthusiastically greeted by the delegates who presented him with an address of welcome. Reitz in response said: "I am particularly proud that my name has been associated with the war You cannot know the pride I feel in being able, in my old age, to stand up for the principles of justice, truth and liberty and to have my name coupled with the names of Botha and DeWet. And here I would explain a matter which has come to your ears. I refer to the charge that I signed papers of surrender and then broke my word. It is not so. When those papers were signed I told Kitchener I was signing them only in my representative capacity and not personally.

"I am not a British subject, I never was one and never will be one. I have come here to lay before the American public the cause of my country, to show them the injustice this so-called war, which was really murder. I would like to say, however, that even though the British have defeated us, they have also done something else. They have made all Africa come closer, they have increased the national feeling by their actions, and the day is not far off when Cape Colony and all Africa will rise up and throw off the power of Great Britain.

Commandant Schiamen spoke briefly. The meeting then went into executive session to discuss ways and means to aid the Boers.

Dominion Coal Company Manager Denies That Maine Is to Be Supplied

Special to The Times.

Montreal, Que., Oct. 9—General Manager Shields of the Dominion Coal Company, when seen to-day regarding the despatch from Washington to the effect that the Mayor of Portland, Me., had received special facilities for the handling of 100,000 tons of Cape Breton coal, said he know nothing of the subject. What was meant by special facilities he did not know, unless it was the quick entry and clearance of the vessels.

He says Portland has already had 25,000 tons, but can have no more for the present.

The Canadian market must be supplied first. The Dominion company has an estimated output of about 3,000,000 tons annually. Of this the Canadian consumers take about two-thirds. At present there is no surplus on hand, but by January there will be, and then they will sell to any one who may require supplies. He does not believe that there will be any shortage in the bituminous coal supply.

The Chances of Long Life.

We should be afraid of the fear of death—not of death itself. If we follow this rule, there is no reason why we should not all become centenarians—so we are told in the "Revue d'Economie Politique" by M. Jean Finot. This author begins an article on the limitations of life by mentioning some traditional long lives. Among these cases are those of a resident of Goa, who is said to have reached his four-hundredth year in the enjoyment of all his intellectual faculties, a Scotchman who lived to be over 200 years old, and various monks of Mont Athos who have reached 150 years. He asserts that Servian statistics for 1897 show three persons between 135 and 140 years old, 18 from 126 to 135, 123 from 115 to 125, and 290 from 105 to 115. In 1890 there were, he says, in the United States, 3,981 persons over 100 years old and 21 in London. M. Finot cites a mathematical formula, which he credits to Dr. Richardson, by which anyone may get an idea of his probable length of life. It is only necessary to add the ages of one's father and mother to those of one's two grandfathers and two grandmothers, and the total divided by six indicates the exact number of years one should live. M. Finot does not believe that the average length of human life has been reduced. On the contrary, he believes that it is constantly increasing, owing to the progress of hygiene. Why do we grow old at all? The writer answers:

"For three reasons: First, want of physical exercise in the open air; second, poisoning by microbes which the phagocytes have not succeeded in destroying; third, fear of death. It is hard to imagine the importance of this last element. If a man fears death, it will carry him away. And yet it is quite pleasant to die; no sensation could be compared to it."

To prove this assertion, M. Finot quotes Heim, who related the sensations he experienced while falling with his companions from the summit of one of the Alps to a death which he miraculously escaped:

"At first a sense of beatitude, then complete insensibility to touch and pain; finally an extreme rapidity of thought and of imagination which in a few seconds enabled him to recollect the events of his whole life. Therefore, it is not death we should fear, but the fear it inspires in us. We are wrong, says Socrates, to fear death, as it is our greatest possession on earth, and Seneca adds that it is the best of the inventions of life, while Montesquieu concludes that we should shed tears for men when they are born and not when they die."

M. Henry de Varigny examines the question of longevity in "L'Illustration" from another point of view. He asks: Has the man of to-day a chance to live longer than the man of 2,000 years ago? He bases his conclusions upon charts and statistics published by Professor Karl Pearson in "Biometrika" and upon the researches made by W. Spiegelberg of Strassburg, on the age of Egyptian mummies. These conclusions are that an Egyptian who 2,000 years ago lived to be 68 years old was likely to live longer than a modern Englishman of the same age. M. de Varigny gives the following explanation:

"Evidently there was among the Egyptians a natural selection, resulting from environment, that does not take place to-day, at least to the same degree, among civilized people. The Egyptians who reached the age of 68 years had robust constitutions, and therefore their chances of longevity were exceptional. Mortality was higher among the children and the adults, and there was a kind of selection by death. The man of to-day is not stronger; he is possibly weaker. But the majority of the people live under conditions more favorable to longevity, because we know what conditions to promote. In other words, the greater expectation of average life is the result of the progress of sanitary science in the fullest sense, and not the result of an increase of vitality. It is the consequence of the evolution of man's intellect rather than of the evolution of his body."

For these reasons M. de Varigny asserts that although the chances of life have increased for infancy, youth, and the prime of life, they have not increased for old age.

All the Anthracite In the World

In a renowned strip of land of say, fifteen by seventy miles, near the center of the State of Pennsylvania is contained all the true anthracite coal in the world. Here is concentrated the enormous vested wealth of all the anthracite coal-carrying railroads, whose influence and prestige have been used for years in forcing the lower-priced bituminous coals out of the domestic markets of the East. One of the most effective weapons used for this purpose is the clamorous outcry against the so-called "smoke nuisance"—an anthracite cry which has resulted in much hysterical and unjust, discriminating, legislation, which practically forbids the use of an economical fuel in our larger cities, a fuel that is not controlled by any combination or corporation of capitalists, and which cannot be "bottled up" like anthracite coal, at the whim and caprice of a few interested individuals.

In the East, in the small strip of coast line embracing the larger cities of the United States, the householder knows no fuel but anthracite coal. Forgetting the ways of our forefathers, and now forbidden by law to use bituminous coal, the inventive genius of our stove-makers—stimulated and fostered in this anthracite hot-bed—produces only burners for hard coal; for our cellars, our kitchens and our apartments, our retail dealers alive to the forced demand, keep nothing but anthracite coal for sale, and when a strike occurs in this small coal-producing area, cutting short their supply, we must go without fuel or burn corporation gas at four or five times the cost of production.

The laws forbidding the use of bituminous coal in our larger cities is class legislation of the worst kind. First, because it does not prevent the rich few from using expensive cannel coals—the heaviest smoke-producer known—and, secondly, because there is no reason why such laws should exist. In Great Britain, in Germany, in France, there is no anthracite coal mined or consumed. There the rich and poor alike burn bituminous coal, all carefully screened and prepared for domestic uses, and in improved burners whose perfect combustion prevents the escape of wasteful smoke. For smoke is simply unburnt coal, is nearly pure carbon, and should be consumed.—William Jasper Nicolls in "Era."

On the Amenities of Travel.

To a friend who was going to travel on the Continent, the late William Black, the novelist, once wrote a letter, which very amusingly hits off the most objectionable practices of the average Cockney tourist: "You must be sure, whatever custom house officers, station-masters, or policemen may do to you, never to strike them. It's no use. They have the law on their side, and in Italy they put thumbscrews on you. If the man is small, you might shove him over the edge of the platform just as a train is coming up; but in ordinary circumstances, the most you should do is to threaten to write to the 'Times.' If you say 'Teems' they will understand you. Never offer a cigar to a stranger until you find out he is not English. He might be English, and discover the cigar was bad, and be angry. A foreigner would not. You can easily find out the nationality of a stranger by addressing a few questions to him. If you think he is Spanish, say: 'Como esta, Luis?' to him; if Italian: 'Datemi una bottiglia de vino ordinario;' if French: 'Allez-vous ong, does your mother know you're out?;' if German: 'He Vaterland? Rhein wein. Who stole the clock?' By these means you will make yourself agreeable to your fellow-travelers, who will probably pay for your brandy and soda at the next station. But I would recommend you seltzer water rather than soda, with foreign brandy. You must always put out your cigar before going into a cathedral. Throwing bedroom furniture out of the window of your hotel is forbidden in France, but not so in Italy. If you happen to be in a theater in some parts of South Germany, you will find that foreigners are not allowed to hit the actresses with oranges; that privilege is confined to the natives. Nor should you on any occasion fling a lemonade bottle at an actor. You can send the present to his private address. Bearing these counsels well in mind, you will get through your journey in comparative quiet. You can let out your pent-up spirits when you return to England."

The Sinful Brother.

It was at a certain church meeting, and the good bishop was calling for reports. He had a rather stern, sharp manner which sometimes jarred a little on the nerves of the more timid. By and by he came to Brother B., a lay delegate.

"Brother B., what is the spiritual condition of your church?" demanded the bishop, briskly.

"I consider it good," said the brother.

"What makes you think it is good?" went on the bishop.

"Well, the people are religious. That's what makes me think so."

"What do you call religious? Do they have family prayer?"

"Some of them do and some do not."

"Do you mean to say that a man may be a Christian, and not hold family prayer?"

"Yes, sir; I think so."

"Do you hold family prayer?"

"Yes, sir," returned the brother, quietly.

"And yet you think a man may be a Christian and not hold family prayer?"

"I have a brother who is a better man than I am who does not hold family prayer."

"What makes you think he is a better man than you are?"

"Everybody says so, and I know he is."

"Why does not your brother, if he is such a good man, hold family prayer?" thundered the bishop.

"He has no family," meekly answered the brother.

Constancy.

'Tis better—aye, lift up the glass!
Once more I'll pledge it thus—
To die a good old Has Been—
Than to live a Never Was.

She—I am afraid that mother saw you kiss me last night. He—What makes you think so? She—Well, I know that she passed the conservatory some time between eight and eleven.—"Town Topics."

The Palmist and the Pope.

The diary of M. Desbarolles, the clever palmist who for years traveled about Europe enlightening sovereigns and meaner mortals on their various aptitudes, contains curious details about an interview he had with Leo XIII., who, strange to say, is inclined to believe in palmistry:

Desbarolles begins by discussing the hands of the Holy Father: "Poor, bloodless little hands," he says, "emerging from white silk mittens which were evidently too tight for them. They are not fat and comfortable, like those of most of the church dignitaries who surround him; not hard and wiry as were said to be those of Sextus V., who was a worker and carved many of the chairs arranged against the walls of the antecameras in the Vatican; not energetic-looking, like those of the soldier-Pope Julius II., or bloated and swollen, like the hands of apoplectic and hydropic Pius IX.; they are like two tiny ivory jewels, colder than the big sapphire surrounded with brilliants which he offers to the lips of his adorers. These hands, the touch of which is weird and almost unearthly, never answer by a pressure ever so slight, to that of a friend, but are full of reserve and never responsible. The lines which are in them are not so numerous as one would have expected, because there is only one set of them, those which correspond to the brain. There are none visible coming from the heart.

"Most likely a human and perhaps kind heart is beating under the Pope's red mantle, but he has always kept it under the mastership of a powerful mind—a mind decidedly inclined towards politics; too much so, in fact, for a holy prelate; and when I ventured to point out this trait of character I saw the lightless eyes of Leo XIII. blink and become as cold as those of a serpent; he was not pleased, and showed it by quickly withdrawing his hand from mine. I did not see avarice in the hand of Leo XIII. though he is said to be somewhat parsimonious; but he is at once a close reckoner and a strangely careless man about money matters.

"One knows, for instance, his almost ludicrous adventure with Monsignor Folchi, his ex-treasurer. An enormous sum of money, which had been sent in a bag of crimson velvet by the Roman Catholic people of New York, was nowhere to be found, and the wretched cardinal, much distressed by the anger of His Holiness, was sent about in the Vatican, and even to the police, with strict orders to trace the lost treasure. When he came back to the palace in a state of great distress—for his errand had been fruitless—he found the Pope blandly smiling. 'I must apologize,' he said, quietly. 'You were scarcely gone when I remembered that I had placed the bag in this little recess.'

"The hand of Your Holiness is often full," Desbarolles said, "and Your Holiness knows exactly what is in it." On which the prelate, with a sort of childish gesture, laughed softly, rubbing his knee with his left hand.

"I saw on the hands of the Pope," Desbarolles continues, "the gift of a wonderful memory, and also the love of all that is gorgeous and imposing. When I told him so, he answered, naively, 'Are not our beautiful ceremonies the best vehicle for bringing people into our churches, the women especially?'

"Besides these lines, I saw all those which are visible on the hands of painters, architects, poets, and even engineers. No wonder that one sees installed in the palace all the modern inventions, and that the first thing Leo XIII. did when he came to live in the Vatican was to put into corners, as mere ornaments, the wick lamps used by Pius IX. Gas was installed at once, but a few years ago this was discarded, and electric light is now shining all over the palace. Leo XIII. has a hydraulic lift to carry him up to his tower in the gardens, and a cardinal related to me how His Holiness spent a whole day talking and listening at the new telephone which he had installed between his summer residence and the palace."

After Desbarolles had told him all that he read in his hand, he heard His Holiness mumble between his teeth, "A Jack-of-all-trades, then?"

"Who would have become a master in each of them," courteously answered the palmist.

The Pope sighed. "Better be the Father of all men, M. Desbarolles," he said; "at least," he corrected, "if you see in my hand that I am worthy of my mission!"

The sad intelligence was received in town yesterday morning, of the death of Thomas Bradley, son of James Bradley, sexton of the George street church. "My wife had been suffering from a complication of diseases for the past 25 years

"Her case had baffled the skill of some of the most noted physicians. One of her worst troubles was chronic constipation of several years' standing.

"She also was passing through that most critical period in the life of a woman—change of life. In June, 1895, I wrote to you about her case. You advised a course of Peruna and Manalin, which we at once commenced, and have to say it completely cured her. She firmly believes that she would have been dead only for these wonderful remedies.

"About the same time I wrote you about my own case of catarrh, which had been of 25 years' standing. At times I was almost past going. I commenced to use Peruna according to your instructions and continued its use for about a year, and it has completely cured me.

"Your remedies do all that you claim for them, and even more. Catarrh cannot exist where Peruna is taken according to directions. Success to you and your remedies."

John O. Atkinson.

In a letter dated January 1, 1900, Mr. Atkinson says, after five years' experience with Peruna:

"I will ever continue to speak a good word for Peruna. In my rounds as a traveling man I am a walking advertisement for Peruna and have induced many people during the past year to use Peruna with the most satisfactory results. I am still cured of catarrh."

John O. Atkinson,
Box 272, Independence, Mo.

When old age comes on, catarrhal diseases come also. Systemic catarrh is almost universal in old people.

This explains why Peruna has become so indispensable to old people. Peruna is their safe-guard. Peruna is the only remedy yet devised that meets these cases exactly.

Such cases cannot be treated locally; nothing but an effective systemic remedy could cure them. This is exactly what Peruna is.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

It was a quiet affair, and was attended by the following gentlemen: Messrs. Will Higgins, R. M. Glover, Dr. Tate, Jack Gemmell, Jack Comstock, Manson Comstock, W. C. Ackerman, H. Waram, and R. Matchett. Short speeches were made by the boys, who expressed the hope that Mr. Packenham would meet with success in his new position in Montreal.

Santos-Dumont Answers His Critics.

M. Santos-Dumont has at last answered his critics. He publishes in the "North American Review" for June his first article on aerial locomotion, and, despite the criticism of scientists, he makes good his case of the air-ship against the aeroplane. Most of the criticisms have been to the effect that Santos-Dumont has been on the wrong track; that no balloon—an apparatus lighter than the air, at the mercy, more or less, of the winds of heaven—could ever become a commercial success; that though he could guide it to a certain extent, he could never be sure of reaching any point; and, finally, that the birds of the air, being themselves heavier than the air, moved by means of dirigible planes—wings—and were held in space by means of locomotion, which went to prove that similar human machines could alone be successful. That was and is in the main good reasoning. But Santos-Dumont says: "Beginning with this year, I shall attempt to apply in the air the principles of aviation properly so called, in subjecting my air-ships to a continual evolution. In the same proportion that I increase the extent of the inclined planes symmetrically disposed at the right and left, I shall reduce the surface of the envelope of varnished silk, and, consequently, the volume of hydrogen relatively to the power of the motor. Thus I expect gradually to diminish the role of the hydrogen, making secondary its importance, which is now primary, and even completely doing away with the use of this gas. The air-ship will then have become an aeroplane in the absolute sense of the word, and I hope that some day we shall see it such. That day is undoubtedly not far distant, but the flying-machine will be achieved only by the way of evolution, by making the air-ship pass through a series of transformations analogous to the metamorphoses by which the chrysalis becomes the winged butterfly. My air-ship, which raises itself by pushing back the air, has already done better than the chrysalis, whose elongated form it resembles. It may be that very soon nothing will prevent it from freeing itself completely from its cocoon of silk lined with hydrogen, and from being wholly comparable to a butterfly."

In other words, he began his experiments with a large balloon and small motors and planes. Gradually from practical experience in the air he reduces the size of the balloon, the quantity of hydrogen, and enlarges the planes and motors, and he says he has carried this far enough to prove to his own satisfaction that it is only a question of time and careful study to reduce the balloon to a minimum and the aeroplane principle to a maximum. That sounds right; that is the method of the great entity which laid down the laws of evolution; that is the survival of the fittest. And meantime the great aeronaut is experimenting in the air and not in the laboratory, which in such evolution contains the essence of ultimate success.

Dowie's Crisis.

"Harper's Weekly."

"Dr. John Alexander Dowie, self-acclaimed reincarnation of the Prophet Elijah, banker and publisher, divine healer and absolute owner of a town with more than 4,000 residents, General Overseer of the Catholic Church in Zion, lace manufacturer, and founder and head of the Theocratic party, former Presbyterian preacher and present millionaire, who is said to draw regularly every week one-tenth of the total income of more than thirty thousand families in the United States and other parts of the world, has apparently reached a crisis in his career, which has so far been a remarkable demonstration of the power possible to a man who combines shrewd business methods with the audacity and fierce earnestness of a religious fanatic. The cardinal doctrine of Dowie's creed is divine healing through the prayers of himself and of his apostles. By preaching this doctrine and by denouncing physicians and all drugs as allies of the devil, he has brought about him hundreds of invalids, some of them bringing with them considerable sums of money. Two weeks ago his only daughter, Esther, was terribly burned by flames resulting from the overturning of an alcohol-lamp. Her wounds were dressed by one of Dowie's elders, after which the General Overseer and his chief men spent the whole day in prayers about her bedside. At nightfall the young woman was suffering terrible agony, and at last paternal love overcame the scruples of her father, and he sent for one of the despised physicians. The physician who responded says that from the first there could have been no hope for Miss Dowie's recovery. She died during the evening. And now the thousands who actually look upon the gray-bearded old Scotch-Australian as more than human, and who have listened to his terrible denunciations of medical men as words inspired, are asking what they shall think of his own act of heresy in the hour of personal distress. Dowie himself slipped off to his summer home, leaving behind him his apostles and a number of phonographic records of his own "inspired speech," to which 5,000 followers, gathered in the Chicago Auditorium on Sunday afternoon, listened midway between awe and incredulity. Within recent months Dowie and the great religious-business enterprises he has built up have received several other severe shocks. By a court decision he was forced to pay more than $100,000 to an English manufacturer he had persuaded to take up his residence in the holy city of "Zion," located forty miles north of Chicago, on the shore of Lake Michigan, and more recently there was a severe outbreak of smallpox in the Divine Healing College which he has established in Michigan avenue. Whatever the outcome of the present crisis, it is certain that Dowie and the strange and fanatic following he has built up in ten years are worthy of the serious study of sociologists.

"Mamma," said the fair bather, "declares that my bathing dress has not enough goods in it." "Your mamma is mistaken," asserted the young man; "it covers your shoulders completely, does it not?"

An Attractive Resort

Kingston Whig:—John Brennan, of Leahy's grocery store, and Earl Hogan, of Dr. Daly's dental parlors, returned on Saturday from Rice Lake, north of Port Hope, where they spent the past ten days hunting and fishing. They had an enjoyable outing and succeeded in bagging considerable game and in landing some fine fish. They brought home a number of fine maskinonge, weighing from seven to fifteen pounds. The fish were of a splendid quality, as a member of the Whig staff can testify. Rice Lake has now become an attractive summer resort and hundreds of cottages dot its pretty shores. The fishing is of the best, and large catches are made every day. Hunting in the adjacent woods is also good, ducks and partridges being quite plentiful. The young men had an enjoyable outing. Their many friends are glad to welcome them back.

Mainly About People.

Mr. Harry de Windt, in his book, "Finland As It Is," tells of a bon mot of Andree, the Arctic explorer. Just before his last voyage he was driven to distraction at a dinner-party by a talkative neighbor. "But how will you know, professor, when you have really crossed the North Pole?" was one of many silly questions. "Oh, that will be simple enough, madame," replied Andree, with his well-known dry humor. "A north wind will become a south one!"

It is related that when the Earl of Rochester, in the reign of Charles II., rose to make his maiden speech in the House of Lords, he said: "My lords, my lords, I rise this time for the first time—the very first time. My lords, I divide my speech into four branches." Here there was an embarrassing pause of some seconds. "My lords," the earl then ejaculated, "if ever I rise again in this House, you may cut me off, root and branches, and all forever."

The father of Earl Fitzwilliam, who died recently, was an excellent landlord. A London paper relates how once a farmer went to him with the complaint that the earl's fox-hunters had ruined a field of corn, or, as we should call it, wheat. The earl gave the man fifty pounds in payment for damage. After harvest-time the farmer returned the money, saying that the wheat had turned out well, after all. Earl Fitzwilliam drew a check for one hundred pounds and gave it to his tenant. "This is as things should be between man and man," said he. "When your eldest son comes of age, give him this, and tell him how and why you got it."

Wu Ting-fang, the Chinese Minister, told the ladies of the Washington Law College a story Saturday night that made them all laugh. "I was at a banquet a few nights ago," he said, "and I met the wife of one of the members of Congress. She sat near me at table. I tried to be entertaining. Finally she leaned over and said: 'Oh! Mr. Wu, we all think you are so brilliant. Isn't it a pity you are only Chinese?'"

The late Noah Davis, justice of the Supreme Court of New York, was one of the many judges and lawyers who make the court room the scene of some of our best wit and humor. Once a lawyer objected to a witness, but Judge Davis refused to sustain him. The lawyer cried, "But, Your Honor, I submit—" and here he broke off." "That's right," said the judge, quickly; "always submit. Crier, adjourn court!" In one case over which he presided there were fifty-five distinct offences, and four counts on each offence, two hundred and twenty in all. "Well," said Judge Davis, "there are more counts than in a German principality."

When Collis P. Huntington, the late president of the Southern Pacific Railway, was married for the second time, Henry Ward Beecher performed the marriage ceremony. Huntington's first wife had been dead less than one year, and he desired the second marriage to be kept secret until his return from Europe. He gave Mr. Beecher a marriage fee of $1,500. When Huntington returned, some months later, he went through a public ceremony, and Beecher again officiated. He gave Beecher another fee of $1,500. The great preacher had his humor aroused by this second fee. Turning to Huntington, he said: "Collis, I do wish you were a Mormon."

The butler in a Scotch family occupies a privileged and unique position. He sometimes assumes a freedom of speech which seems to American ears to border on impertinence; but to those who knew him his frank speech is only one of the many evidences of his interest in the family welfare. A young New York woman was the guest at a house where a butler of that sort reigns. She submitted to his patronage with much amusement; but one day there were unexpected and important guests for dinner, and a little while before the meal was served the butler waylaid the young American in the hall. "I'm fearin' there'll no be quite enough soup," he whispered, "so when it's offered, ye maun decline it, leddy." "Decline soup, James?" she said, laughing. "Why, that would not be polite." "Weel, not precisely," said James, with a benignant smile," but they'll a' make excuse for ye, thinkin' ye hae nae better."

Frith, the celebrated Royal Artist, once painted a portrait of himself, and in the course of years forgot all about it. But a friend entered his studio one morning and asserted that a capital picture of him was on view in a small shop in Great Portland street. "It's not a bit like what you are now," observed the friend, "but it may have resembled you some years ago. Go and look at it." Mr. Frith went, and found his own image after an estrangement of forty-five years. He determined to buy it, though he had not the faintest recollection of having painted it. "Ah, a portrait!" said Frith to the woman in charge of the shop, after he had pretended to examine several other works. "Whose likeness is that?" "That," said the lady, "is a portrait of the celebrated artist Frith, painted by himself." "Why, he must be an elderly man," put in the artist. The woman remarked that he was young once. "Humph!" quoth the genial W. P. F.; "not much of a picture." To this the woman demurred, and asked £30 for the canvas. It was Frith's turn to appear surprised. "Well," replied the shopkeeper without moving a muscle, "it cost us nearly as much; we shall make a very small profit. You see, it is very valuable because the artist is deceased." "Deceased," exclaimed the astonished painter, "Dead, do you mean?" "Yes, sir; died of drink. My husband attended the funeral." Frith bought the picture, but did not revive for some time.

English.

A Washington lady who is so fond of her home that she stays in it sometimes all the year round, was assailed, says "Lippincott's Magazine," by a conventional friend in conventional language.

"I know that you usually wintered here," she said, "but I was astonished to hear that you had summered here."

"I have not only wintered here and summered here," replied the unfashionable one, "but I will astonish you still further when I tell you that I always fall here and have sometimes sprung here."

vember, you know," but really to see for themselves the scene in which they might have been shocked at Winifred Gray's boldness, if she had not run off the first night of the piece with Lord So-and-so.

As if the fates were tireless in agitating the "boom" which had saved "Mazeppa" for the benefit of its needy manager and its company of actors, Brighton was favored with another sensation on the very morning after the girl's disappearance.

The startling posters which had been put up only on the afternoon of the first performance were all either torn down from their hoardings or destroyed beyond recognition, the name of Winifred Gray being stripped away from underneath the picture in every case.

Other posters of the same design were ordered and put up to replace the damaged ones after a day or two's delay (for Lionel Macaire still had it in his power to take this mean revenge); but on the following morning they were seen to have gone the way of their predecessors, even though a reward had been advertised for the detection of the guilty person.

Meanwhile Lionel Macaire remained in Brighton, having sent for a detective from a certain well-known private agency, not to be on the watch, save incidentally, for the destroyer of the posters, but to take up the scent from the start and track down Winifred Gray.

He did not move openly in the matter, Wantage, as business manager of the company, acting for him. But even if the interest which he took in finding the girl leaked out, it could not damage his reputation. He it was who had given the first kick to the football of scandal which at the time of the Duke of Clarence's Theater incident had linked their two names together. Now he was to be pitied, both as the financial backer of a company treacherously deserted by its principal member and as a lover deceived by her upon whom he had heaped benefits.

The detective was certain that by some method, which it was his duty to discover, the girl had contrived to get away not only from the theater but from Brighton. Everybody else believed this, of course; but then only two or three persons knew the real reason why it would have been especially difficult for the actress to escape. Only Wantage, Jeffrey, Mrs. Purdy, Lionel Macaire, and now the detective, were aware that Winifred had been prepared for the "great scene" while fainting, and that, so far as could be ascertained, she had had no possible opportunity or even time for changing. In spite of this fact, however, the man from Sleigh's agency persisted in his theory. The girl must have hidden herself somewhere in the theater for hours, and then received assistance from outside. Once away, she would naturally have taken steps to leave Brighton as soon as possible. Her mother, who had just returned to London, was shadowed, but in vain. It was discovered that Mrs. Gray was ill in a nursing-home in Welbeck street, and that she had within the last few days suffered a relapse; but nothing could be learnt there about her daughter.

Lionel Macaire, however, could not be brought to share the detective's theory. He was utterly without religion, yet his was a superstitious mind. He believed in the warning power of dreams, or curious coincidences which had sometimes ruled his conduct on the Stock Exchange or in racing. He had a conviction that Winifred Gray was not far from him; and while it kept its grasp upon him he wished to linger in Brighton.

So a week passed on, and still "Mazeppa" flourished at the Thespian Theater; and still the detective had been able to learn nothing of importance about Winifred.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Masked Minstrels.

On the eighth day after Winifred's disappearance Lionel Macaire went out late in the afternoon from the Hotel Metropole, where he was staying, and walked slowly along the King's road. He was thinking of Winifred, as he almost always was now, not sure whether he most loved or hated her; and with thoughts of the girl came up memories of his strange past. Before the eyes of his mind rose the image of a woman far more beautiful than Winifred, of whom the girl reminded him in some of her moods. If that chapter of his life could have ended differently, perhaps he would have been a different man.

"F. E. Z." Though the woman's fair face was only a memory—distant though never dim—and her place in what he called his heart had been usurped by a girl thirty years younger than she—those initials had the power to call up a thrill even now, half delicious, half painful. Oddly enough, just as he hated and loved Winifred Gray at the same time, so he had loved and hated that other woman. Since he could not have her, he would kill her if he could; if she had had a son he believed that it would have given him a subtle pleasure to be revenged for the past, through him.

Suddenly he remembered the dark young man who had called at the Duke of Clarence's Theater, with an introduction to George Anderson from F. E. Z.

It had been in Macaire's thoughts at the time that the good-looking young fellow in the odd clothes might have been more than a mere friend to the beautiful woman whom so many had adored. When F. E. Z. had vanished from the world where she had scintillated as a bright, particular star—vanished as mysteriously as Winifred Gray—she had been older than Winifred was now; twenty-three or twenty-four perhaps.

That was now twenty-seven or twenty-eight years ago. He had been a young man then, poor and obscure, though he had already secretly sown the seeds of his great future. Now he was rich almost beyond his own knowledge; and he was fifty-six years old, past middle age, though his heart was hot as it had been in his youth.

The man whom he had seen at the theater, in the very act of doing personal injury to an employee of his, could not have been more than six or seven and twenty; therefore his relationship with F. E. Z. could hardly have been that of a lover, unless she had by some magical power carried the charms of her youth through the chill shadows of middle age. Macaire's narrowed eyes had studied the clear-cut face for traces of a likeness. He had not seen what he sought; still, the fancy had lurked in August 29th we issued a special letter showing the present and prospective value of these properties. Every day since we have noted their purchase. Notwithstanding the many flurries and drastic movements in the markets, these stocks have steadily advanced, while others declined, Pressed Steel showing a $12 a share advance. Grain—THE MARKETS OF THE WORLD—Stocks

Some time ago when the market was weak and July corn was selling at from 61 to 62 cents, we predicted that it would soon sell above 75 cents. We advised our clients to buy. JULY CORN SOLD FOR 90 CENTS, PROVING OUR PREDICTION CORRECT ALTHOUGH MADE IN THE FACE OF A WEAK MARKET. Those who followed our instructions realized enormous profits.

The conditions at present, the tone of the market, everything favors the buyer of December corn. BEFORE DECEMBER 30th IT WILL SELL FOR 70c., and again our advice is to buy. A small investment may make you independent. If you want the best price and the largest profit, BUY NOW. Our predictions on July corn were correct. Our advice on September corn was just as good. Send at once for our Booklet (mailed free) telling why corn will advance and how to trade with small capital. We have the highest references.

SWORN STATEMENT

On June 15th, 1901, a client of the firm deposited with me at my suggestion, one hundred dollars to be invested in Corn for September delivery. I purchased for his account 5,000 bushels at 43 1/2 cents per bushel, with a margin of 2 cents. I sold his holdings at 47c., giving a profit of $275.00; I purchased again at 47 1/2 cents per bushel, 10,000 bushels on a 2c. margin; resold at 50c; I continued to buy and sell on this account, watching the market closely, until the middle of August, when my client instructed me to close the account and submit the amount to his credit; this I did, his account showed a balance due him of $5,850.00, as his investment of $100.00 for two months.

CHARLES H. BROOKS.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this fifth day of December, 1901.

Under oath as to its truthfulness, I make the following statement. March 25th, 1902, I deposited $25 to be invested in Corn, leaving the handling of my investment to the judgment of the Commission Company. On April 12th I was advised that my account was worth $50.00; on the same day I was advised that they had bought for me 2,500 bushels of Corn for July delivery at 61 3/8 cents; on April 16th, they sold and bought for my account, increasing my earnings to $131.75; again they bought for me, selling on April 23rd; my account now showing a net profit of $303.10 in 28 days, on an investment of $25.00 R ROY BRYAN, Deer, Mo.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 25th day of April, A.D. 1902.

H. G. Dennis, President, St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Sir,—Any time you want any recommendations from me as to what I think of your plan of campaign in the corn market, you can have it, for I have not, in many years I have been trading in future corn, met with such success as you have achieved for me in the handling of my account. As you know, I am such a busy man that I cannot give any personal attention to these matters, and while I know that you had made some of my friends enormous profits in the July corn deal that you handled with such remarkable success, as everybody knows, I really made my little investment of $25 with you more for a flyer for cigar money than anything else, and when I think that in addition to the cheque for $137 50 sent me on August 23rd as result of first investment, cheque for $40.75 which you handed me on August 29th as result of second investment, and look at the market to day, and see nearly $200 profit in the third investment, I am simply pleased beyond measure.

I also want to thank you for the purchase that you made for my two friends yesterday who, at my suggestion, left it entirely to your hands, as I see they have a nice profit in their trades to-day.

If you think well of it, take on some December corn for me, as I notice you are now advising to buy December corn. Very respectfully yours,

Major Hugh C. Dennis, St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Sir:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 10th inst., enclosing therewith your check No. 457 on the Third National Bank for $218.40.

This certainly shows most gratifying results of the small investment of $25, which I placed in your hands to handle, as your best judgment would dictate, on August 15th, less than a month ago, and assure you that I appreciate same highly.

As you know, I was first attracted to your company from the fact that had come in contact with a number of friends whose investments handled by you had proven highly satisfactory and profitable. It will afford me great pleasure to recommend your Company, and also their plan of trading, to my friends, at all times, for certainly where such results as above can be obtained from such a small investment, the inducement offered speculators and investors is far out of the ordinary. Again thanking you,

I remain, very truly yours, W. W. Wood, Trav. Pass. Agent.

Gentlemen:—Yours of the 4th inst., at hand and noted; you cannot understand by this letter my appreciation of your services. If I had ten thousand dollars to invest I would put it in your hands for investment, as I firmly believe that you will make it win if any Commission Company can; you can invest my deposit according to your judgment, adhering to a former letter I wrote you regarding profits. Hoping you are successful in the next investment, and awaiting your commands, I am,

Very respectfully, J. J. Underwood.

Pressed Steel Car and Car and Foundry

New York, Oct. 10.—While on the subject of steel stocks to which we have devoted our last three letters, we cannot refrain from again calling your attention to the shares of the Pressed Steel Car and Car and Foundry. About six weeks ago when pressed steel was 51 and car and foundry 30 we sent out a letter to each one of them separately, recommending their purchase for a good advance, also analyzing both properties so our clients would be thoroughly familiar with them. If you will consult your file of our letters you will see how urgent and ultra bullish both of these letters were. Both stocks duly made each a tremendous advance, and, in the face of serious obstacles, a close money market. Had the market for money been normal, we believe each of these issues would today be quoted at least five points higher than their yet best recorded prices.

We believe pressed car will shortly sell above 75 and car and foundry around 45. These two companies will undoubtedly be consolidated sometime within the next twelve months, and there is every reason to believe that once they are one concern the Pullman Palace Company would be likely interested in their management; they are the people who would like to be in control of the consolidated corporation.

Pressed Steel Car statements shows it to be earning over 20 per cent. upon its common stock. Car and Foundry is proportionately doing equally as well, earning 12 per cent. upon its common stock. Pressed Steel car is paying off $500,000 bonds per annum out of net earnings; these bonds being put off originally by the company at its conception for the purpose of providing working capital. Both stocks are still immensely cheap, and are bound in the natural order of events to sell very much higher. Note their tremendous strength in face of tight money and in a market in which prices for many shares crumbled away materially.

Both concerns have a very nice surplus and each at the present time has more orders on hand than they can conveniently care for. Their 940 patents give them absolute control of the production of their kind; consequently prohibitive to competition. For an investor to purchase and put away they are a splendid proposition, for a speculator to purchase upon margin they are absolutely certain to return good profits as any proposition can be in Wall street.

ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18-inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realize the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purposes of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

We furnish the rich property—you furnish the mill. In a few months it will be in operation—almost before you expect it—and we divide the immense returns.

A meeting of the Dan Spence Memorial Fund committee was held in the Town Clerk's office on Thursday evening. His Worship T. H. G. Denne, Reeve John Smith, and Messrs. G. M. Roger, Jas. Succee and D. As the money was raised for the purchase of an ambulance, and as at a meeting of the subscribers held some time ago, it was decided to do nothing else with the money other than that which was intended, the committee had nothing further to do than to look into prices, styles, etc., of ambulances. It will cost at least $800 for an ambulance, and as there is only $400 subscribed, the committee decided to meet the Ashburnham and Peterborough councils, in order that they may learn whether or not the municipalities will make up the balance. A representative of one of the leading ambulance firms will be in attendance at the next meeting.

TO ARRANGE FOR FUEL

Meeting of the Town Council to be Held This Evening

A meeting of the Town Council will be held this evening with a view to making some arrangements for a supply of fuel for the town. The several wood and coal merchants of the town will be there, and a serious effort will be made to settle the difficulty. The scarcity of fuel is now being felt severely, and it is necessary that immediate action should be taken. Toronto's success in this matter should be a help for the Peterborough aldermen.

McColl, Cavan.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 10.30 from the residence of her son, Mr. Jas. McCarrell, lot 19, con. 4, Emily, to Omemee cemetery.

MR. BRADLEY'S DEATH

Particulars of the Accident Which Cost a Life

The remains of Mr. Thomas Bradley, son of Mr. James Bradley, town, who lost his life through an accident in Rochester, N.Y., on Wednesday last, arrived on the 6.35 Grand Trunk express yesterday evening. Mr. Will Bradley, of Rochester, brother of deceased, accompanied the remains.

It appears that the deceased was engaged in painting a church, and, with a companion, was working on scaffolding 65 feet above the pavement. When noon hour came, on the fatal Wednesday, the two men decided to climb over the wall and descend by a ladder on the other side. They were in the act of doing this when the hook which held the ropes supporting the scaffolding gave way, and Mr. Bradley fell, striking on his head, causing instant death. His companion managed to hang on to some ropes, and was saved.

The deceased was a member of the Mystic Circle, who sent a superb wreath of flowers. Many other wreaths from friends in Rochester, where Mr. Bradley was very popular greatly esteemed, accompanied the remains.

Mr. Bradley was 27 years of age and was unmarried. The funeral will leave the family residence, 625 Aylmer street, on Sunday, at 2.30 p.m.

The bereaved parents and family have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in their great sorrow.

EXCHEQUER COURT

There will be a session of the Exchequer Court here on Monday morning at 11 o'clock, to be presided over by Hon. Geo. W. Burbidge. The case is Rex vs. Hull, which is of the nature of an information or suit to compel John Hull, of Lakefield, to receive the amount that was tendered him for damages in the construction of the Trent Valley Canal. The amount tendered was $6,500. It is claimed that the blasting operations in connection with the building of the canal in the vicinity of his mill at Lakefield seriously interfered with his business, and a portion of land adjoining the mill was also appropriated. The case was instituted in 1895, but has not yet been taken up by the Court. C. F. Shepley, K.C., Toronto, and R. R. Hall, Peterborough for plaintiffs; G. H. Watson, K.C., Toronto, and D. W. Dumble, K.C., Peterborough, for defendants.

FOOD VS. RECREATION

Good Food of the Greatest Importance

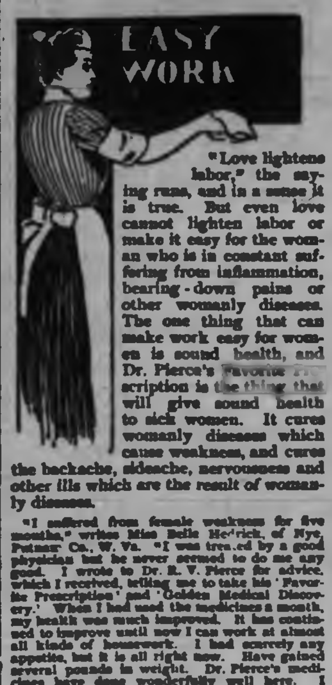
There is really no need to go away for rest if one will take scientifically made food that rebuilds the nerve centres and makes work a comfort and pleasure.

One of our prominent novelists was sent to Colorado. "Ride every day, sleep in a tent, eat when you are hungry" my physician told me, "but food did not satisfy me and rest would not end the fatigue that had me in its grip. I was a mere machine; eating, sleeping, walking riding, but unequal to a day's work and with no zest for the day's pleasure.

At the lowest ebb of strength and courage, my eye fell on a piece of newspaper with which my guide was making a camp fire and I picked it up and read, 'Grape-Nuts, a Food for Brain and Nerve Centres.' I read on, it seemed to be a description of my own case cured by a diet of Grape-Nuts. I sent for a supply of the Food by the next pack-train that left my camp. It came, 45 miles from the nearest settlement, on a burro's back. That night I ate Grape-Nuts without cream, milk or sugar. It tasted good, I felt that for the first time in six months, that I had been fed.

I went to my bed of pine boughs, slept like a tired child, and woke rested. Then I knew that I had found what I needed, better than a new sky, better than exercise, better than rest, because lacking the food the exhausted nature was crying for, these things could not help me.

I am well now. If, in the future, I win any rewards by my pen, I shall count them gained by the food that made work possible to me and that gave back to me my old joy in living." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.



"Love lightens labor," the saying runs, and in a sense it is true. But even love cannot lighten labor or make it easy for the woman who is in constant suffering from inflammation, bearing-down pains or other womanly diseases. The one thing that can make work easy for women is sound health, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the thing that will give sound health to sick women. It cures womanly diseases which cause weakness, and cures the backache, sideache, nervousness and other ills which are the result of womanly diseases.

"I suffered from female weakness for five months," writes Miss Belle Hedrick, of Nye, Putnam Co., W. Va. "I was treated by a good physician but he never seemed to do me any good. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce for advice, which I received, telling me to take his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' When I had used the medicines a month, my health was much improved. It has continued to improve until now I can work at almost all kinds of housework. I had scarcely any appetite, but it is all right now. Have gained several pounds in weight. Dr. Pierce's medicines have done wonderfully well here. I would advise all who suffer from chronic diseases to write to Dr. Pierce."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

COAL $5.00 A TON

WITH THE WONDERFUL

STAR HEATER

The only heater that is guaranteed to give satisfaction with soft as well as hard coal. As a fuel economizer it is unequalled, producing heat on about one-third the coal used in any other heater in existence.

The Star has a tube behind for the escape of the gas. As anyone who uses soft coal knows, the gas accumulates under the fresh coal, and if there is no escape there will be explosions and puffs of smoke. In the Star this disappears in the gas escape. The Star has a sliding damper and ornamental door of mica.

After being filled, the Star will heat for 48 hours without attention. It will hold fire and give out heat longer than any other stove.

The Star is 25 per cent more economical than any other stove.

MORE THAN 5,000 ARE IN USE IN THE LOWER PROVINCES.

PRICE LIST

No.	Height	Diameter	Price
0	24 1-2 in.	9 in.	$11.20
1	30 1-2 in.	9 in.	$12.00
2	34 in.	10 1-2 in	$15.00
3	37 1-2 in.	12 in	$19.20
4	41 in.	15 in	$26.00

DIRECTIONS

When filling the stove always shut the draught door at the bottom.

Keep the small opening in the back pipe closed except when cleaning.

Clean the back pipe every two weeks.

COAL CONSUMERS, ATTENTION!

We are using one No. 3 Star stove in our large rooms, where formerly we had four large wood heaters, and get more heat now than before. The wood stoves cost us $4.50 every week for fuel, and the Star stove which we are now using costs us only $1.50, making a saving of $3.00 per week in the price of fuel—which would soon pay for the stove. We can recommend this stove to any person wanting a first-class heater. We would not use any other stove that is made.

ST. PETER'S T.A.S.
M. J. Sevo, Chairman Trustees.

We certify that we have in use one No. 3 Star stove in our large pool and billiard room, the size of which is 40x30 ft., with 16 ft. ceiling. We have perfect heat, and the most coal we have used on the coldest day yet has been three scuttles in 24 hours. We are so well pleased with the stove that we would not use any other.

ROCAMORA & CALLAHAN.

I have been using a No. 3 Star stove in the sitting room at the City Hotel for some time past, and it has proved so satisfactory that I have ordered two more to replace two stoves in the upstairs. The Star gives more heat than the other stoves with half the amount of coal.

MARTIN CONNORS.

We have in use in our composing room a No. 3 Star coal stove, and wish to state that it is giving eminent satisfaction. The entire absence of gas by the escape provided, the increase of heat and the saving in coal are special features of the Star, and it requires a minimum of attention.

IS CONTAINED IN THE

HEINTZMAN & CO. PIANO

When a piano is extolled by such artists as Friedheim, Plancon, Albani, Plunket Greene, Burmeister, Edward Lloyd, Lieut. Dan Godfrey, there surely can be no question as to its merits. When they go farther, as in this case, and agree that for power, brilliancy of tone and touch, an artistic construction, the Heintzman & Co. Pianos are unexcelled, it places this instrument in an enviable position in the music world. Plunket Greene says in regard to this instrument:

> "I have sung to your piano on my two Canadian tours, and at the close of my second season in Canada I feel I would be lacking in courtesy, did I not congratulate you on the high character of the instrument which you produce. My Recital programmes involve a wide selection of songs of most varied characteristics, and require, of necessity, a piano capable in the highest degree of the most delicate inflections and of widest range, alternating from fine pianissimo effects to the most powerful manifestations of dramatic force. To these demands I found your instrument most responsive. I can assure you that it was to me, as an Englishman, the greatest pleasure to find so splendid a piano assisting in the musical prestige of Her Majesty's foremost colony."

TO TAP THE EARTH'S INTERIOR AND PROCURE THE HEAT WE NEED

Novel Suggestion Made By an American Civil Engineer

HE WOULD GO DOWN FIVE MILES

The Result He Expects Will Finish The Coal Trust—Gossip From the Nation's Capital

Special to The Times.

Washington, D.C., Oct. 12.— Substitutes for coal are what we want now, and want them bad. A civil engineer, whose name is prudently withheld, has recently presented to the Navy Department a comprehensive scheme to drive coal out of the market even more effectually than it has now been driven, and so prominent a man, as Rear Admiral Melville has permitted himself to be published as saying that he sees nothing wild or erratic about the plan. This being so, and the need for more heat being imperative, we may expect soon to hear of the formation of a trust to tap and monopolize the internal fires of the globe and peddle them out to the unfortunates who crawl around on the earth's crust at prices just low enough to undersell the coal trust, but not low enough to give the freezing masses any real relief. The new scheme wouldn't be a real trust if it did not "charge all the traffic will bear."

The scheme spoken of is so simple and promises to be so effective that it is strange indeed nobody has sooner thought of it. It is proposed just to put down a tube, and let some of the earth's internal heat out. To keep it always bottled up means at intervals such affairs as that of Mont Pelee, by which certainly a vast amount of heat was wasted and without the least discoverable benefit to anybody to offset the frightful havoc done. The proposal is to sink a "U" tube (that is, two parallel tubes a few feet apart, and united at the bottom); it will not be needful to sink the tubes very deep, not more than about five miles. At that depth it is believed that everything is piping hot, yet not in a state of fusion. There may be a little difficulty about uniting the two tubes at the bottom but there are two plans for accomplishing it. One is to send down dynamite and blow out a pocket which would be tapped by both tubes and would answer as well as welding them. The other is to drive them on a slight angle toward each other, so that they will come together at the five-mile level. The pipes being down (and the engineers seem to think the getting them down, a mere matter of detail— given the money, engineers will undertake nowadays to do anything), the pipes being down, it might be sufficient just to let the hot air (or whatever there may be down there, instead of air), whiz out, and catch it and bottle it as it comes or pipe it where needed.

But the proprietor of this big idea is not satisfied with any such plain and easy handling of it. He wants power out of it as well as heat. His scheme calls for an unending supply of superheated steam days, nights and Sundays, without a cent of outlay for fuel. He figured on having steam enough to drive dynamos enough to supply both heat and power to the whole district now dependent on the anthracite mines for fuel. His little device for securing this unlimited steam supply has the simplicity of all great ideas. It is simply to pour water down one of his tubes and let the steam come up the other. He has all the confidence that most inventors have in untried schemes, that all the water would be instantly converted into steam on its arrival below, and that the pressure of a five-mile column of water behind it would force it up the other tube with volcanic force. But he thinks that being prepared for it and having the proper appliances in waiting he could harness even a volcano and distribute its earth-rending forces around in the right sized parcels so that it would not only be harmless, but would do a world of good —the greatest good of all being that the coal trust would be left without a shadow of excuse for longer cumbering the earth.

WIFE IS WEDDED

REPORTS OF HIS DEATH

When The Supposed Widow Waited a Year and Took Another Husband

Meriden, Ct., Oct. 12—Without making himself known to his wife, whom he had not seen for years, without kissing his son, whom he had never seen, Jacob Watrous, hiding from them even the fact that he lives, has returned to distant Alaska.

Five years ago Watrous went from Durham, this state, to the Klondike to seek his fortune. Hearing that he was dead his wife married again. A week ago Watrous came back and learned that the wife had taken another husband, whom the baby boy called papa. He went unrecognized to the house where his wife dwells, saw the baby boy and successor in the office of husband and departed.

When no more letters arrived from Watrous to his wife, and she read in a newspaper that a party of miners had found four bodies buried in the Alaskan snow and that papers on one positively identified it as that of Jacob Watrous, she waited a full year, then ceased to mourn him and married Turner.

Watrous returned to Meriden a week ago. He had prospered in the Klondike and he wished to give his wife a joyful surprise, not only by appearing before her unannounced, but by telling her the unexpected news of his good luck. Without making himself known to his friends here, Watrous engaged a carriage to drive to Durham. He questioned the liveryman, recalled Jacob Watrous, and asked if he had ever known him.

"Oh, yes," lightly answered the man. "Watrous went gold hunting years ago, and died in Alaska; his wife married again to Otto Turner."

Watrous was thunderstruck, but hid his surprise. Dusk was falling when he arrived at Turner's house, before which a little boy was playing. Turner whom Watrous instantly recognized opened the door,

"Come in, Jakey; supper's ready," he called.

"Yes, papa," the child answered, and ran into the house. The child was Watrou's and bore his name of Jacob. Watrous stood for a few moments before the house that sheltered all that had been dear to him.

"She has forgotten me," he said. "Best let her continue to think I am dead." He returned to his carriage and was driven here. He met three or four of his old friends, who could scarcely believe that the broad-shouldered, bronzed, bearded man from the Klondike was the pale, slender Jacob Watrous with whom they parted five years ago. Watrous told them of his unalterable determination to go back to Alaska.

"LINE" STORES ABOUND ON EASTERN BORDER

How the Line Store is Run to Evade Custom Duties

Merchant Build on the Line and Keep Goods Produced in Both Countries

Montreal, Oct. 13—What are called "line stores," and in many cases are so designated by large signboards, are a well known institution along the boundary between Canada and Maine. The governments of both Canada and the United States look with suspicious eyes upon those stores, and there has been more or less talk of joint action to prevent the erection of any buildings upon the boundary line.

There is a door on each side of the line, with which line the shelves and counter run parallel, and thus there is a Canadian store and an American store, each with its own entrance. On the Canadian side are Canadian goods, such as woolens, blankets, dress goods, ready-made clothing, fur coats and robes, carpeting, buttons, sugar and some lines of hardware. On the American side are cotton goods, prints, Yankee notions, tobacco, jewelry, kerosene oil., etc., and on this side farm produce is taken in exchange. The Canadian and the American goods are kept, each on their own side, and no attempt is made to conceal the fact that both are there. The Canadian customer can go in at the Canadian door, purchase Canadian goods on the Canadian side and go out again without having crossed the boundary line at all, and the American customer can do the same on his side, but, while the storekeepers keep the two classes of goods separated they do not ask the customers any questions, and they can buy at either counter, and make their exit by either door.

Stores of this kind are chiefly found on the line between the province of Quebec and the states of Vermont and New Hampshire and the northwestern part of Maine, but they are not unknown on the line that divides northeastern Maine from New Brunswick. They are always a mile, generally several miles, from a custom-house station. It is related that one man who built a line store took up a boundary post and did not replace it. He afterward sold out and moved away, and the post was set down at random by his successor. Sometimes a store is on one side of the line with a warehouse exactly on the line. There are a few manufacturing industries located on the line, including, it is said, one that makes patent medicines and requires considerable alcohol.

On the Maine and New Brunswick line the stores are mostly devoted to the sale of liquor. There was a rather notorious resort near Houlton, known as the Line House, where men gathered from Aroostook County towns on a Sunday to drink "imported" liquors. One night the place took fire and was burned, much to the relief of the customs officials and the respectable residents of the locality.

In some places there are two stores, separated by but a few feet and connected by a board walk, by which goods can easily be transported from one building to the other. It is a very convenient arrangement, for people who don't mind dodging the customs laws. A provincial man can step across the floor to the Maine side, and buy some tobacco, and a Maine man can move across to the New Brunswick side and get some liquor, all under the same roof. Farm produce can be changed from Canadian to United States produce in short order. A manufacturer can get raw material from both sides. Canadian produce can be exchanged for Yankee jewelry or notions, Canadian woolens into American cottons, and so on. Of course, it is not admitted for a minute that the line houses were built for smuggling purposes— but there they are, right on the line, and it would be a great relief to the two governments if they were not there.

SOME BITTER CHAPTERS

In Kruger's Book on the Boer War Just Published

London, October 13—The political chapters of Kruger's book, now in the press, reveals more bitterness in dealing with Hon. Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Milner than in the treatment of Cecil Rhodes. Mr. Chamberlain is charged with complicity in the Jameson raid, the telegrams between Flora Shaw and Mr. Rhodes, produced before the Parliamentary committee and large inferences being drawn from the suppression of other telegrams, and from the Colonial Secretary's defence of Mr. Rhodes, after the close of the investigation.

Hon Mr. Chamberlain is accused of organizing a systematic campaign of provocation on the late Boer Republics, after the failure of Jameson's dash, and is reproached for misrepresenting the facts embittering British opinion, and bringing on the war. Lord Milner is described as a marplot, who acted captiously and without reason at the Bloemfontein conference, and as an accomplice of Hon. Mr. Chamberlain in harassing and provoking the Dutch allies.

The Reform party, of Johannesburg, is dismissed with contempt as opera bouffe conspirators, who had no thought of exposing themselves to danger, but were bent upon dragging England into complications with Boer states. Mr. Kruger explains in detail how troublesome it was to save Jameson's life when the Burghers were exasperated, and how impossible it was for the Boer leaders to argue with anybody so unreasonable as Mr Chamberlain, especially in matters in which the British Government wa ters in which the British Government was dealing insolently with small states. Mr. Kruger's book, while characteristic and interesting, is not a peace offering for the settlement of racial feuds.

THE AMERICAN PENNY EXPRESS COMPANY

An Investment That Already Pays a Handsome Dividend

The American Penny Express Company, whose advertisement will be found in the advertising columns, bids fair to rival the foremost Express Companies in New York.

The local express business of that city, populated with over 4,000,000, is of the phenomenal order, and coupled with the distribution of advertising matter for the many firms who distribute circulars and samples among the homes, and are desirous of securing their goods being placed with the lady of the house who does the buying, is the most up-to-date method of distribution that has ever yet been devised, and the advertisers who were skeptical in the first place in regard to the merits of the system, have now become imbued with the idea, and are sending out their goods in this manner, having found it more effective than any method of distribution ever attempted by them.

The system is applicable not only to New York City, but to other large cities of a fair sized population, and it is the intention of the American Penny Express Company to branch out in other cities and adopt the same method there as they are now running so successfully in New York City.

The stock is a gilt edged investment, as al. Express Companies doing business not only on this side of the water, but on the other side appear to be successful and the fact of this Company having already paid a 5 per cent. dividend, although it has only been running for four months, speaks volumes, for the enterprise. The stock is selling at $1.00 per share and will not remain long at that price. The prospects are bright for an increased dividend the next quarter.

A Double Header Grain Train from Midland Meets with an Accident

Another double-header grain train from Midland met with a serious mishap on Thursday morning, about three o'clock, but it was not accompanied with any loss of life.

Soon after leaving Lorneville, and when about four miles from the scene of the fatal wreck on Sunday, Sept. 21st, the rails spread under the heavy train and seven cars were thrown into the ditch and a number of others damaged by the sudden application of the brakes. The crews jumped when they felt the first heavy jolt, and it is understood that everyone escaped injury. The wrecked cars after leaving the rails pounded along for a considerable distance and ruined a long stretch of track.

The track has since been placed in working order by the auxiliaries from Lindsay and Barrie.

The Post, Orangeville, has the following:—The removal of Dr. Coughlin from Arthur will be regretted, not only by the citizens of the village, but by the people throughout the district, and particularly by the Conservative party, of which he has been a most active and energetic member. On the eve of his departure he was the recipient of a popular testimonial Mr. J. McGowan, M.P., and Mr. B Tolton, M.P., being among the participants, and he leaves for the larger centre of activity at Peterborough with the heartiest good wishes of all classes and creeds in this section. The doctor is a gentleman of ability in his profession, is a facile and vigorous public speaker, and we have no doubt but that he will soon forge to the front in Peterborough.

THANKSGIVING TURKEYS

The Wet Weather Killed Thousands of the Young Birds

One consoling thought which will make Thanksgiving Day brighter for the ordinary householder will be that even if he had the coal with which to roast the customary turkey he would not be able to procure the bird.

There is every indication that this will be a turkey-less Thanksgiving. Every dealer is beset with orders for turkeys, and none can be had. One of the reasons given for the scarcity of the supply is that the farmers were not consulted with when Thanksgiving Day was set for a date nearly a month earlier than usual, and that the birds were not fattened and are now unfit for sale. The principal cause for the shortage in the demand is, however, the wet weather during the last summer. Turkey's require a dry climate, and thousands of them died this year of the "pip," which is induced by dampness, and which in a human being would be galloping consumption.

The dealers are more concerned over the foreign than the local market. They will be unable to fill the orders from England. Last year the country exported about 1,000,000 pounds of turkeys, but this year's business will be far below that.

It is prophesied that by Wednesday next the birds will be selling at 14 cents per pound, dressed, which will be an advance of four cents on last year's prices.

THE GOVERNMENT AND THE FUEL FAMINE

Many Strong Objections to the Giving of the Crown Timber

The Government Could Not Keep Track of the Wood Cutters—A Political Reason Also

Special to The Times.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 12.— The Crown Lands of Ontario will not be thrown open to whomsoever would cut wood. The government has not definitely refused the application of the Toronto and West York members who asked that this step be taken for the relief of the fuel famine, but at the Parliament Buildings it is known that the government has not the remotest intention of following the suggestion. Apart from the objections mentioned by the Premier in discussing the question with the deputation, there is another reason which all by itself would be sufficient and which now suffices. The Honorable Mr. Ross, while handing out the time honored promise to give the suggestion his most careful consideration, pointed out that there existed two difficulties. One was that the various municipalities interested would have to take the matter up, and the other was that unless government agents accompanied the many wood cutting expeditions, the axes of the fuel hunters would be innocently laying low timber included in the limits sold to the numerous lumber companies operating in Ontario.

Against these two obstacles, those at the back of the famine relief project have arguments. The desire humbly to know where, hwen and how the rights of municipalities to control the disposal of timber limits became a paramount importance with the Ontario Government. They pointedly inquire where these scruples have been when the government has been selling by auction and otherwise large tracts of standing timber. The rights of the municipalities may be temporary and time serving, but if they actually exist and came to be enforced, the anti-famine projectors are well aware that the government's objection would be effective. By the time municipalities in Northern Ontario, where the timber lands are, would be likely to approach a conclusion as to whether the permission should or should not be granted, the people lower down, where the need is pressing, have ample time to freeze to death. Further, the anti-famine projectors realize that with much timber at their doorsteps the powers of the northern municipalities would be slow to appreciate the coalless and woodless condition of the cities lower down.

Against the second objection, that private property would be likely to suffer, the Toronto deputation is ready with another argument. They urge that, as the limits already sold go for the most part by township sections, and are thus more or less defined, there would be little chance of genuine mistakes, especially as the cutters would be lumbermen familiar with the localities.

The government's other objection, the objection which is believed by the well wishers of the scheme to be the real one, the rock on which the project splits, has not been mentioned by Mr. Ross either to the deputation or in any of the other statements handed out by him. The reason is that when J. W. St. John, M.P.P.; Dr. Beattie-Nesbitt, M.P.P.; Thomas Crawford, M.P.P., and Dr. Payne, M.P.D., appeared at the Parliament Buildings with their large hearted effort in the interests of the suffering public, the government officials smelt a rat, and the rat did not appear to be undersized. There was not a single Grit member in the deputation to relieve the suggestive monotony of Toryism. The Premier is credited with harboring the suspicion that these four Conservatives were not moved in their efforts solely by sympathy for their fellow beings in affliction, but rather by a desire to make political capital. Then did the Honorable G. W. Ross tell the rights of municipalities and see the danger to the property of absent lumber companies. And the shivering householder is asking himself, "Would the Honorable G. W. Ross be likely to assist in establishing the popularity of the Conservative party?" and the answer is, "Oh, no."

The Town Council and the Fuel Situation

They will buy 600 Cords of Dry Slabs From the Dickson Co., to be laid on the Cars at Lakefield for $2 a Cord

Ald. Roger moved, seconded by Ald. McGregor, the the Council purchase from the Dickson Company 600 cords of DRY SLABS at $2 per cord on the cars at Lakefield, and that further details in connection with selling this wood to the public, and securing further purchases of fuel be left in the hands of the Finance committee.—Carried.

This was the result of the City Father's conference with the coal and wood dealers. The freight on these slabs will be about 30c. a cord, and the delivery about 40c or 50c a cord. This means that the public will have an opportunity of buying from the Town dry slabs at the same price as charged by local dealers, $2.75 a cord delivered, provided satisfactory arrangements can be made for its delivery. To say the least, the Council have by their action placed within sight a sufficient quantity of soft wood to relieve the present enormous pressure on the wood yards for this kind of fuel.

THE SITUATION.

The Town Council met the local coal and wood dealers in the Town Clerk's office Saturday night to discuss the fuel situation.

Mayor Denne explained that many citizens are exceedingly alarmed at the prospects of a fuel famine the coming winter, and, he said, "we are here as guardians of the people to ascertain the views of local coal and wood dealers as to the probable supply of fuel, and the probable cost of the same."

Mr. R. Hicks replied that he found it almost as hard to secure soft coal as anthracite. Recently the former had jumped as much as 50c per ton a day, until reaching the present figure. When in Montreal on Tuesday he was offered Welsh anthracite coal at $8. a ton at the dock in Montreal, which would mean $10.53 on the car in Peterborough; but there is a loss of 25 per cent. from this coal in screening. He was offered Scotch soft coal at $4.75 a ton at the docks, which with freight and handling would cost $7.50 on the cars here. (This price has gone up $1 since quoted.) Most of the stock of hard coal which was on hand, has been sold, although one dealer, he believes, has still some 300 or 400 tons in his yards. He himself (Hicks) has possibly some 60 or 70 tons, which is not nearly enough to fill his contracts. As to hardwood, there is from 20 to 25 per cent. shortage in the supply to-day compared with a corresponding date last year, while the demand is ten times as great. Mr. Hicks here quoted his prices for fuel as follows: Pittsburg soft coal, $8 a ton; hardwood, $7.00 a cord; tamarac, $6; mixed wood, $4.50. He thought there was enough wood to last till January if properly distributed; but there is not 50 per cent. as much wood in the country unsold as this time last year.

Ald. McGregor—"Is it not a fact that you dealers could sell under contract hard wood at $5 per cord?"

Mr. Hicks—"No, it could not be done. Six car loads cost me $6.50 a cord laid down here.

Mr. McClelland said his company had a little hard coal on hand, but if they had left the price at $8 they would have none to-day. "The poor people never start to burn coal till the end of November or the beginning of December. Soft coal is getting as hard to purchase as hard, and "I received a letter from one of the biggest dealers saying he had not been able to get a car in six days. The outlook for soft coal is exceedingly blue."

Mr. Hicks remarked that if miners resumed work to-morrow, it would be spring before prices dropped to a normal condition."

The coal dealers all agreed that we would not get any quantity of hard coal laid down here till 60 or 90 days after the strike is settled.

Mr Jas. Stevenson said that a certain party within 30 miles of town would let the corporation have 75 cords of mixed wood at $2.25 on the track there. Both the C.P.R. and G.T.R. have agreed to reduce the freight on wood.

Mr. Shook, of the Dickson Company, offered the Town 500 or 600 cords dry slabs, mostly pine, at $2 a cord on the track at Lakefield. This would probably cost about $2.50 on the cars here. His company are selling there slabs in town to-day at $2.75 delivered.

Mr. Fitzgerald here read telegrams from Buffalo dealers quoting Pittsburg lump coal at $2.25 net at the International bridge. This would mean $5.53 laid down here.

Ald. Best here wanted to know if the object of the meeting was to buy fuel for the whole community or for charitable purposes. If for the latter we should simply add to the appropriation for the Charity committee.

Ald. Roger replied that we are confronted with a situation likely to prove exceedingly serious to a good many. There may be a shortage of fuel no matter what its price, and that price is likely to be a prohibitory one to a large number of citizens, and we should endeavor to check a threatened exhorbitancy in charges. There are people of moderate means, who are willing to pay for their fuel, whom we will have to consider.

Ald. Roger here moved that the Town accepts the Dickson Company's offer of 600 cords of slabs at $2 a cord on the cars at Lakefield.

Mr. Fitzgerald here remarked that there will be plenty of fuel in the shape of soft coal and wood.

Ald. Rush agreed with Ald. Roger and suggested that, outside of charitable purposes, those slabs be sold at say $2.75 delivered.

The ways and means of delivery could not be decided on at present.

Ald Roger—"My motion only refers to the purchase of wood now. This would quiet the minds of the public, that supply is in sight."

The resolution as quoted above was then seconded by Ald. McGregor, and carried.

Ald. Roger here asked the dealers if they could put the town in the way of securing soft coal.

Mr. Hicks replied that he had two cars on the way now—an early purchase at a little under present prices—which the Town could have at cost price, $7.25 laid down here. He is selling that coal at $9. He made this offer owing to the uncomplimentary reports in circulation regarding the dealers. He has sold wood in Peterborough, on which he could have made an additional profit an additional net profit of 50c. a car by shipping it out of town. He thought our own people should have first choice. We are buying hardwood against Toronto dealers who are bidding higher than us.

Mr. Wills remarked that he is selling dry slabs at $2.75 a cord.

The Mayor did not think the corporation could sell slabs at less than the dealers.

To Ald. Rogers, Mr. Wills replied that it will cost from 40 to 50c. per cord to deliver slabs from the car.

This will bring the cost of the dry slabs to be purchased by the Town up to $2.75 delivered.

THE SCOTCH COAL.

It may be interesting to note here that Montreal has been offered an unlimited supply of wood. Also Toronto has an enormous quantity contracted for and on the way, together with the following offers of soft coal:

The Board of Control considered an offer made by H. MacLure to supply an unlimited quantity of Hamilton Ell Scotch coal, laid down in Toronto, all expenses paid, for $7.25 per ton. Hamilton Ell is the domestic fuel of Scotland, and Mr. MacLure states that while it is called soft coal, he cannot recognize much difference between it and the hard coal used in this country. He also offered to supply Hartley coal at $7.75 per ton, delivered in Toronto.

The Board doubted that it had the power to purchase the coal without securing the ratification of the Council. Mr. MacLure was instructed to cable his people to hold 2,000 tons of Hamilton Ell coal and to keep the offer open till Tuesday morning. The Board will ask the Council to ratify the purchase at the meeting to-day.

Ald. Sheppard placed an offer he had received from Mr. C. Beck, Penetanguishene, to give the city Pittsburg lump coal on board cars at Penetanguishene at $7 per ton. This would be equivalent to $8.25 per ton delivered in Toronto.

FIXED ASSESSMENT.

A communication was read from thee Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company, pointing out that as agricultural implement manufacturers in other towns and cities are favored with exemption of taxes and bonuses, they find it difficult to compete with them. In consequence of this fact they (the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company) asked for a fixed assessment for 10 years.

The Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company asked for a fixed assessment for 10 years, on the same grounds.

Ald. Turner thought these manufacturers were certainly entitled to a fixed assessment, as they are of great benefit to the Town.

Mayor Denne explained that these firms asked that a by-law be immediately prepared and submitted to the people, by whose decision they are content to abide.

Ald. Turner here asked that his firm be granted the same exemption. The by-law could be submitted with the others. His firm was willing also to abide by the decision of the ratepayers.

Ald. Morrison moved that the matter of fixed assessments just asked for be left in the hands of the Manufacturers' committee, and submitted to the people at the January elections.

Ald. Roger moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. McGregor, that all the town manufacturers' applications for privileges be referred to a Committee of the Whole Council with Ald. Rush in the chair, to report at the earliest possible convenience.—Carried.

Council then adjourned.

Vessels Laden With Coal are Unloading in Montreal

A Great Quantity of Wood is Cut But There is a Scarcity of Cars

Montreal, Oct. 13.—The coal situation will be somewhat relieved when the large number of vessels now in port discharge their cargoes.

The Avona, from Swansea, arrived at Windmill Point yesterday afternoon, and is discharging her 2,000 tons there; the Dunet Crown is likewise discharging 3,000 tons of Welsh coal at Hochelaga, and the Curinga 3,000 tons of Scotch coal, the Iguassu 2,000 tons of Welsh coal, while the Bonavista, the [illegible] and the [illegible] are unloading soft coal in the basins and at Hochelaga.

The Active is on her way from Pictou with 2,500 tons for the Intercolonial Coal Company, to be followed by other ships next week for the same company. Hocking Valley from Cleveland, Ohio—1,500 tons—is due early next week, but this is all said.

A prominent dealer of [illegible] street to-day said he considered the situation in Montreal considerably improved. He was prepared to furnish every kind of coal and coke with the exception of American anthracite. He did not care to quote prices which depended on quantity and distance to be hauled.

PETERBOROUGH, OCT. 13, 1902.

CANADIAN INDEPENDENCE

The wisdom of the East is now largely concentrated upon this subject, the Halifax Chronicle, the Halifax Herald, the Ottawa Citizen, the Montreal Star, and other prominent newspapers lending their aid to the prevailing discussion. This is not the first outburst in Canada, on this question and the root of it lies in the improper language used by talking Englishmen, of Canada and Canadianism, the latter becoming gradually imbued with the idea that English (lower class) jealousy and self-righteousness will never allow of our being part of the Empire in word and fact. Americans invest here and if they lose do not proceed to revile us, but blame themselves. Englishmen, however, call us names so bad that, without being oversensitive, we feel that sooner or later it must stop. Perhaps Goldwin Smith was not so far wrong after all. The next few years means much to us in our relationship to the dear old British Empire.

A GLOOMY OUTLOOK

Mr. Tieplo, Commissioner of Industrial Statistics for Rhode Island, has been in private consultation with President Mitchell and other labor leaders, and has been given every facility for examining the conditions of things at the anthracite coal mines. As a result he takes a despondent view of the situation as reported by the N. Y. Herald:

"To my mind the situation is very gloomy. I do not see now the slightest prospect of either side receding from its position one iota. After a long talk with Mr. Mitchell, I am convinced that he is very firm. It is equally obvious that the operators are now determined to yield nothing. The only end I can now see is a gradual wearing down of the strikers' forces by the slow process of attrition. The time must come when other industries will be crippled for lack of coal to run their power plants. When that happens members of labor organizations who are now contributing to the support of the striking miners will have to struggle to support themselves. Outside relief will gradually diminish until it becomes wholly inadequate, and then miners will be confronted with the alternative of surrender or starvation."

THE MINERS

Mr. B. P. James, who is well acquainted with the anthracite mining region of Pennsylvania, writes that twenty years ago the miners were composed of Americans, British and Dutch, the British generally predominating. Today there is a new element made up of Hungarians, Poles, and a few other European races, and representing about forty per cent. of the miners. The Huns and Poles, though "rough, rude and reckless" as a whole when first imported, have greatly improved during these twenty years. They show a tendency to adopt American ways, but are still inferior to the other miners. They are excitable in temper, and among them there are depraved men, prone to lead in acts of violence. But as a rule they are frugal, and very religious, being mostly Roman Catholics and constant in their attendance at church. The English, Welsh and Irish still form the basis of the conservative mining population, and are far from being crude and reckless. The Welsh retain the traditions of their native land, and are distinguished by their devout religious temperament and love of music and literature. The Irish miners show great zeal in self-improvement, and are very active in temperance, literary and debating societies. From them have come many lawyers and public men of this region. They show great activity in the local miners' unions, and may be called leaders in the present coal strike. While many of the Huns and Poles live in the squalid company houses, the English-speaking miners live in choicer locations, and often in tasteful homes of their own, with well-kept yards and gardens. Of course, some miners "spend their money foolishly," says Mr. James, but he declares the larger and better class o' them saving and thrifty. In some of the mining towns, whole streets may be seen in which nine out of ten of the houses are owned by the miners themselves.

A Photographic Introduction.

Many years ago, when tintypes first came into general use, the booth where pictures were made "while you wait" was the center of a large crowd at every county fair and popular resort. An old-time photographer tells an experience he had long ago, before the secrets of the camera were known to everybody.

He had set up a tent at a county fair, and was trying to drum trade. He stood outside his tent, calling in true hawker fashion the merits of his pictures. The people who gathered around were interested and curious, but somewhat in awe of the little black box inside the tent. Finally the photographer thought he might set the sheep to running by singling out one of the crowd and taking his picture free. Standing near each other were a young man and a young woman. Thinking that they would like to be taken together, and that the two would have more courage to face the camera than a lone victim, the photographer called out:

"That gentleman right there and that lady, come inside and I'll give you pictures in two minutes, free of charge!"

The two looked at each other, grinned, and finally came inside the tent.

"Stand right there," said the photographer. "That's it. Now hold still a minute. There you are. Now wait till I finish 'em up."

In a few minutes he handed them each a tintype in a pink paper frame. They looked at the pictures curiously. Then the young woman blushed and her companion grinned and tittered.

"Like 'em?" asked the photographer, briskly, thinking of possible customers in the crowd outside.

"Waal," said the man, slowly, "it looks like her, and I guess it looks like me, but ye see, I didn't know and I guess she didn't know we was goin' to be in the same picture."

"Thought you'd like 'em that way," answered the photographer. "Pleasant souvenir of your visit to the fair together."

"Waal, yes, but you see we didn't come together. I never seen her before."

Then the two snickered, and the photographer bowed them out as quickly as he could.

That year he did a good business, and at the next fair he set up his booth again. One day a young couple came in and greeted him with smiles of doubtful recognition. It was the young man and woman of the year before.

"How do you do?" cried the photographer. "I—I see you know each other now."

"Yes," answered the man, looking sheepishly at the girl. "My folks know some folks of hers over to Hopkins, and when they seen her picture they recognized it. An' that's how we got acquainted."

"I'm very glad," said the photographer.

"So'm I; ain't you, Lizzie?"

"Yes," said Lizzie, shyly.

A BIG SUCCESS

IS BEING MADE OF

THE UNITED STATES ELECTRIC CLOCK COMPANY

CAPITAL STOCK $500,000 (Full Paid and Non-Assessable)

Because this company is making a "KEYLESS CLOCK," a self-winding time piece, a clock that you do not have to approach but once a year. This everlasting winding of clocks will be dispensed with when the "Keyless Clock" is bought, for it relieves you of that botheration. In a few years all clocks will be self-winding.

The United States Electric Clock Company, of New York, is in the field with the

which is now being sold all over the world under their trade mark "The Keyless Clock."

The business is being managed by responsible business men of the highest character and integrity, and a big success is being made. A large factory covering about 10,000 square feet is now being used for the manufacture of this wonderful clock. It occupies six floors, and has a large equipment of machinery. ALL PAID FOR

The company is making clocks, selling clocks and shipping clocks. Enough orders on hand to keep factories running for weeks.

The present capacity of the Company's plant, 60 Elizabeth Street, New York, is 50,000 clocks per year, which means

AN ASSURED PROFIT OF $250,000 A YEAR NOW

By the addition of very little space and the installation of some additional machinery, this output can be doubled with ease, thus Bringing the Profit up to $500,000 a year. "Keyless Clock" shares may

DRAW DIVIDENDS OVER 100 P.C. AT THE PRESENT PRICE

NO UNTRIED EXPERIMENT, but a clock made and sold in quantities to-day.
NO DOUBTFUL MARKET, but a field that takes in the entire world.
NO RISK NOR CHANCE, but absolute safety of both principal and profit.
NO ONE MAN'S CORPORATION, but a monopoly for the benefit of all shareholders.

The Company has no debts, no mortgages, no bond, no preferred stock—All Profits go to the Purchasers of the Stock now Offered to the Public.

Wanted 500 Stockholders.

200 FAR-SEEING INVESTORS from all parts of the country bought "KEYLESS CLOCK" shares at $6.00 per share. The price was advanced to $7.50 a few days ago, and nearly 100 more have rushed in their subscriptions. The intention is to again advance the price to par, which is $10.00 PER SHARE, as soon as the stock books show 400 STOCKHOLDERS. Bear in mind there are subscriptions coming in every day, and the

First 100 Subscribers after Oct. 1st will get their stock at $7.50 per Share

After that it will cost $10.00 each, and only 100 subscribers can get stock at that price. THIS WILL MAKE 500 STOCKHOLDERS altogether, which is the limit placed by our directors. With 500 shareholders all over the United States, this Clock Company should sell as many clocks as all the other companies combined.

Don't pay $10 per Share when You can Get it at $7.50.

This Company reserves the privilege to advance the price of shares, or withdraw them without notice, and to reject any and all subscriptions, and to return such subscriptions should this offer be over-subscribed.

BUY DEC. CORN NOW

Some time ago when the market was weak and July corn was selling at from 61 to 62 cents, we predicted that it would soon sell above 75 cents. We advised our clients to buy. JULY CORN SOLD FOR 90 CENTS, PROVING OUR PREDICTION CORRECT ALTHOUGH MADE IN THE FACE OF A WEAK MARKET. Those who followed our instructions realized enormous profits.

The conditions at present, the tone of the market, everything favors the buyer of December corn. BEFORE DECEMBER 30th IT WILL SELL FOR 70c., and again our advice is to buy. A small investment may make you independent. If you want the best price and the largest profit, BUY NOW. Our predictions on July corn were correct. Our advice on September corn was just as good. Send at once for our Booklet (mailed free) telling why corn will advance and how to trade with small capital. We have the highest references.

SWORN STATEMENT

On June 15th, 1901, a client of the firm deposited with me at my suggestion, one hundred dollars to be invested in Corn for September delivery. I purchased for his account 5,000 bushels at 43 1/2 cents per bushel, with a margin of 2 cents. I sold his holdings at 47c., giving a profit of $275.00; I purchased again at 47 1/2 cents per bushel, 10,000 bushels on a 2c. margin; resold at 50c; I continued to buy and sell on this account, watching the market closely, until the middle of August, when my client instructed me to close the account and submit the amount to his credit; this I did, his account showed a balance due him of $5,850.00, as his investment of $100.00 for two months.

Under oath as to its truthfulness, I make the following statement. March 25th, 1902, I deposited $25 to be invested in Corn, leaving the handling of my investment to the judgment of the Commission Company. On April 12th I was advised that my account was worth $50.00; on the same day I was advised that they had bought for me 2,500 bushels of Corn for July delivery at 61 3/8 cents; on April 16th, they sold and bought for my account, increasing my earnings to $131.75; again they bought for me, selling on April 23rd; my account now showing a net profit of $303.10 in 28 days, on an investment of $25.00. H. G. Dennis, President, St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Sir,—Any time you want any recommendations from me as to what I think of your plan of campaign in the corn market, you can have it, for I have not, in many years I have been trading in future corn, met with such success as you have achieved for me in the handling of my account. As you know, I am such a busy man that I cannot give any personal attention to these matters, and while I know that you had made some of my friends enormous profits in the July corn deal that you handled with such remarkable success, as everybody knows, I really made my little investment of $25 with you more for a flyer for cigar money than anything else, and when I think that in addition to the cheque for $137 50 sent me on August 23rd as result of first investment, cheque for $40.75 which you handed me on August 29th as result of second investment, and look at the market to-day, and see nearly $200 profit in the third investment, I am simply pleased beyond measure.

I also want to thank you for the purchase that you made for my two friends yesterday who, at my suggestion, left it entirely to your hands, as I see they have a nice profit in their trades to-day.

If you think well of it, take on some December corn for me, as I notice you are now advising to buy December corn. Very respectfully yours,

Major Hugh C. Dennis, St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Sir:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 10th inst., enclosing therewith your check No. 457 on the Third National Bank for $218.40.

This certainly shows most gratifying results of the small investment of $25, which I placed in your hands to handle, as your best judgment would dictate, on August 13th, less than a month ago, and assure you that I appreciate same highly.

As you know, I was first attracted to your company from the fact that had come in contact with a number of friends whose investments handled by you had proven highly satisfactory and profitable. It will afford me great pleasure to recommend your Company, and also their plan of trading, to my friends, at all times, for certainly where such results as above can be obtained from such a small investment, the inducement offered speculators and investors is far out of the ordinary. Again thanking you,

I remain, very truly yours, W. W. Wood, Trav. Pass. Agent.

Gentlemen:—Yours of the 4th inst., at hand and noted; you cannot understand by this letter my appreciation of your services. If I had ten thousand dollars to invest I would put it in your hands for investment, as I firmly believe that you will make it win if any Commission Company can; you can invest my deposit according to your judgment, adhering to a former letter I wrote you regarding profits. Hoping you are successful in the next investment, and awaiting your commands, I am,

Very respectfully, J. J. Underwood.

STOCK MARKETS

Bottom Prices Reached—Time to Buy

New York, Oct. 11—We have watched the current market very carefully the past four weeks, and as a result of our observations have come to the conclusion that lowest prices have been made, consequently it is time to buy back your stocks. We will undoubtedly run into a period of steady upward market immediately, but we will enter a period which will, we feel confident, be in the line of improvement generally. The market will possibly not be so active for a short time as it has been. It would not do to immediately encourage heavy speculation, at least before the money situation eases itself naturally, which it will now do daily. Before a month has elapsed money will be in quite a satisfactory condition and stocks will be higher. The high priced securities like Ill C., N. Y. C., Union Pacific, Pennsylvania, St. Paul, Mo. Pacific and such class of stocks which broke quickly and severely during the past three weeks upon the closeness of money, are now becoming lodged in the very strongest hands. They are remarkably cheap at present and in our opinion all of them will sell higher than any previous high price they have hitherto recorded. We consequently recommend their purchase. All those who disposed of their stocks during the decline are now recommended to come back into the market and repurchase their stocks. We believe they will make no mistake in so doing. There will naturally be many reactions, and the upward movement will possibly be somewhat slow at the start but it will increase in vigor within a comparatively short time. Those who buy now will be in the market when the advance commences. Outside of the money situation and the coal crisis everything favors the bull party. The strength of the coal shares recently is most significant and foreshadows a speedy resumption of mining. We look for steady improvement from now on. A rising markets with frequent setbacks, is your chance.

ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18-inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realize the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purposes of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

HARRINGTON, former Superintendent Quincy Mines, Park City Utah, which paid in dividends last year $1,250,000 (see Engineering and Mining Journal) promises to make "La Plata" a second Quincy within six months. No Further Offering of this stock will be made when this allotment is placed, as the company will then have all capital needed to make it self-supporting and a large dividend earner.

IT IS NOT OFTEN that you have an opportunity to secure stock of this character at such a price, one that will pay dividends within a year.

Company owns 600 acres of Mineral Land, including the Town site of "La Plata," and water power. Should Mr Harrington's predictions be fulfilled $10 per share will look cheap for this stock. Send all orders and checks to

BUY DEC. CORN NOW

Some time ago when the market was weak and July corn was selling at from 61 to 62 cents, we predicted that it would soon sell above 75 cents. We advised our clients to buy. JULY CORN SOLD FOR 90 CENTS, PROVING OUR PREDICTION CORRECT ALTHOUGH MADE IN THE FACE OF A WEAK MARKET. Those who followed our instructions realized enormous profits.

The conditions at present, the tone of the market, everything favors the buyer of December corn. BEFORE DECEMBER 30th IT WILL SELL FOR 70c., and again our advice is to buy. A small investment may make you independent. If you want the best price and the largest profit, BUY NOW. Our predictions on July corn were correct. Our advice on September corn was just as good. Send at once for our Booklet (mailed free) telling why corn will advance and how to trade with small capital. We have the highest references.

SWORN STATEMENT

On June 15th, 1901, a client of the firm deposited with me at my suggestion, one hundred dollars to be invested in Corn for September delivery. I purchased for his account 5,000 bushels at 43 1/2 cents per bushel, with a margin of 2 cents. I sold his holdings at 47c., giving a profit of $275.00; I purchased again at 47 1/2 cents per bushel, 10,000 bushels on a 2c. margin; resold at 50c; I continued to buy and sell on this account, watching the market closely, until the middle of August, when my client instructed me to close the account and submit the amount to his credit; this I did, his account showed a balance due him of $5,850.00, as his investment of $100.00 for two months.

Under oath as to its truthfulness, I make the following statement. March 25th, 1902, I deposited $25 to be invested in Corn, leaving the handling of my investment to the judgment of the Commission Company. On April 12th I was advised that my account was worth $50.00; on the same day I was advised that they had bought for me 2,500 bushels of Corn for July delivery at 61 3/8 cents; on April 16th, they sold and bought for my account, increasing my earnings to $131.75; again they bought for me, selling on April 23rd; my account now showing a net profit of $303.10 in 28 days, on an investment of $25.00. H. G. Dennis, President, St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Sir,—Any time you want any recommendations from me as to what I think of your plan of campaign in the corn market, you can have it, for I have not, in many years I have been trading in future corn, met with such success as you have achieved for me in the handling of my account. As you know, I am such a busy man that I cannot give any personal attention to these matters, and while I know that you had made some of my friends enormous profits in the July corn deal that you handled with such remarkable success, as everybody knows, I really made my little investment of $25 with you more for a flyer for cigar money than anything else, and when I think that in addition to the cheque for $137.50 sent me on August 23rd as result of first investment, cheque for $40.75 which you handed me on August 29th as result of second investment, and look at the market to-day, and see nearly $200 profit in the third investment, I am simply pleased beyond measure.

I also want to thank you for the purchase that you made for my two friends yesterday who, at my suggestion, left it entirely to your hands, as I see they have a nice profit in their trades to-day.

If you think well of it, take on some December corn for me, as I notice you are now advising to buy December corn. Very respectfully your.,

Major Hugh C. Dennis, St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Sir:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 10th inst., enclosing therewith your check No. 457 on the Third National Bank for $218.40.

This certainly shows most gratifying results of the small investment of $25, which I placed in your hands to handle, as your best judgment would dictate, on August 15th, less than a month ago, and assure you that I appreciate same highly.

As you know, I was first attracted to your company from the fact that had come in contact with a number of friends whose investments handled by you had proven highly satisfactory and profitable. It will afford me great pleasure to recommend your Company, and also their plan of trading, to my friends, at all times, for certainly where such results as above can be obtained from such a small investment, the inducement offered speculators and investors is far out of the ordinary. Again thanking you,

I remain, very truly yours, W. W. Wood, Trav. Pass. Agent.

Gentlemen:—Yours of the 4th inst., at hand and noted; you cannot understand by this letter my appreciation of your services. If I had ten thousand dollars to invest I would put it in your hands for investment, as I firmly believe that you will make it win if any Commission Company can; you can invest my deposit according to your judgment, adhering to a former letter I wrote you regarding profits. Hoping you are successful in the next investment, and awaiting your commands, I am,

Very respectfully, J. J. Underwood.

STOCK MARKETS

Bottom Prices Reached—Time to Buy

New York, Oct. 11—We have watched the current market very carefully the past four weeks, and as a result of our observations have come to the conclusion that lowest prices have been made, consequently it is time to buy back your stocks. We will undoubtedly run into a period of steady upward market immediately, but we will enter a period which will, we feel confident, be in the line of improvement generally. The market will possibly not be so active for a short time as it has been. It would not do to immediately encourage heavy speculation, at least before the money situation eases itself naturally, which it will now do daily. Before a month has elapsed money will be in quite a satisfactory condition and stocks will be higher. The high priced securities like Ill C., N. Y. C., Union Pacific, Pennsylvania, St. Paul, Mo. Pacific and such class of stocks which broke quickly and severely during the past three weeks upon the closeness of money, are now becoming lodged in the very strongest hands. They are remarkably cheap at present and in our opinion all of them will sell higher than any previous high price they have hitherto recorded. We consequently recommend their purchase. All those who disposed of their stocks during the decline are now recommended to come back into the market and repurchase their stocks. We believe they will make no mistake in so doing. There will naturally be many reactions, and the upward movement will possibly be somewhat slow at the start but it will increase in vigor within a comparatively short time. Those who buy now will be in the market when the advance commences. Outside of the money situation and the coal crisis everything favors the bull party. The strength of the coal shares recently is most significant and foreshadows a speedy resumption of mining. We look for steady improvement from now on. A rising markets with frequent setbacks, it is your chance.

ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18-inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realize the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purposes of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

We furnish the rich property—you furnish the mill. In a few months it will be in operation—almost before you expect it—and we divide the immense returns.

A Big Fish

Mr. Dan Foley, the genial proprietor of Jubilee Point Hotel, was in town Saturday, and brought with him a 'lunge of enormous proportions, weighing 20 pounds, which he presented to our neighbor across the street—Mr. Myles Henry. If Myles don't breath the odor of fish for a week, at least, it won't be Dan's fault.

A Painful Accident

The many friends of Mr. Stephen Payne, the well known market gardener, will regret to learn that he had the misfortune to fall and break his collar bone, on Friday last. Mr. Payne is over 70 years of age, and his injury, therefore, is serious. He is, we are pleased to say, doing nicely.

Committed for Trial

On Saturday morning in the County Police Court, before His Honor Judge Edmison, John Falon was charged with an offence under the Charlton Act. The offence was committed upon a girl about 12 years of age. The prisoner elected to be tried by jury, and he was accordingly committed to stand his trial at the next sitting of a court of competent jurisdiction.

Don't miss the Grand Concert and Entertainment in Bradburn's Opera House, Thursday, Thanksgiving Night, Oct. 16th: Miss Edna Sutherland, reader, Miss Merielle Patton, contralto soloist, Mr. Frank Smith, solo violinist. Plan now open at Ormond & Walsh's Drug Store. Remember the date.

Saturday's Market

There was a good attendance at the market on Saturday morning. Some of the prices were as follows: Potatoes per bag, $1.00 to $1.10; apples per bag, 30 to 50 cents; peas per peck, 25 cents; corn per dozen, 10 cents; tomatoes per basket, 25 cents; onions per peck, 20 cents, hamb per lb., 7 and 8 cents; pork per lb., 9 and 10 cents; chickens per pair, 60 and 70 cents; ducks per pair, 80 to 90 cents; geese each, 80 cents to $1.00; butter per lb., 22 cents; eggs per dozen, 17 to 18 cents.

The Industries Affected

The coal famine is affecting the local industries. The Wm. Hamilton Company use considerable quantities of coke, which has advanced from four dollars to eleven dollars per ton. The Peter Hamilton Company are also large users of coal, and, we understand, have little on hand. The Canadian General Electric Company require many tons, as also does almost every other local industry. We do not know how long they can hold out, but hope it will be until relief comes. In another column we note the arrival at Montreal of a large fleet of coal steamers, which will, no doubt, greatly relieve the situation in Canada.

FUEL AT COST

To the Editor of The Times.

Dear Sir,—In the event of the Town Council failing to establish a Municipal Coal and Fuel Yard, I would suggest the formation of a co-operative company with a capital of $30,000, divided into six thousand shares of $5 each, no person being allowed to hold more than twenty shares. A company thus organized would be able to furnish fuel to shareholders at cost. Similar societies have been formed in England, and do an enormous business, besides being a great benefit to the community at large.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space, I am, etc.

R. F. McGREGOR.

Over $80 Raised in Apsley—The Times Fund now Stands at $54—Further Contributions Needed for the Unfortunate Family

There are no further particulars regarding the death of the three Parks children in Chandos township, other than that already recorded in these columns. The mother, as already stated, was visiting a sick neighbor, while the father and elder daughter went out to a religious meeting, leaving the three little ones, ranging from five to nine years old, in bed. On their return there was nothing to be seen but the smoking ruins of their home, and the charred remains of their babes.

Kind neighbors did what they could to comfort the stricken family. The bones of the victims were gathered together, tenderly placed in a box and buried

A subscription was started at once, and $70 raised in Apsley, besides provisions, wearing apparel, lumber for rebuilding the house, which will be put up at once.

On Saturday night word was received that the aid from Peterborough had come to hand, and The Times was requested to gratefully acknowledge the same. The family are entirely destitute, and, while money cannot bring back the little ones, it will do much to comfort the stricken family. Further help is urgently needed, and those who feel like contributing should do so at once. Money may be sent to The Times, and it will be forwarded to Warden Eastland or to Mr. Gallon, at Apsley, and acknowledged through these columns. The following contributions have been received to date by The Times:

THE OTONABEE RIVER WILL BE DREDGED

A FULFILMENT OF THE WISHES OF THE COUNCIL

The Dredge Trent to Begin Operations Near the C.P.R. Bridge This Week—Mr. R. B. Rogers to Superintend the Work

Mayor Denne was good enough to inform The Times on Saturday that an order was received from the Public Works Department at Ottawa that the dredging of the Otonabee above the C.P.R. bridge should be proceeded with at once. The work will be under the supervision of Mr. R. B. Rogers. The dredge Trent is to be placed on the job, and has been taken apart to permit of her passage under the C.P.R. bridge. Mr. Clem. Gordon will be in charge of the dredge. The dredging of the Otonabee river may be said to be significant of many things for the best interests of Peterborough, and with the completion of the Trent canal, the shipping and docking advantages forseen in the perspective may be said to be losing their illusionary features.

The work will likely begin early this week. The credit for the activity that is now developing may justly be accorded His Worship Mayor Denne and the Aldermen, all of whom displayed the greatest interest in so desirable an undertaking, and with this in view, invited the Minister of Public Works, Hon. J. Israel Tarte, thither to give the proposition his consideration. The Minister promised his hearty support, and Mayor and Aldermen are congratulating themselves that so early a fulfilment is in view.

Moore 61 for $3.00; C. Curtis 58 for $2.00. In match No. 2, distance 500 and 600 yards, Capt. King of the 46th, scored 60 for $5.00, and Pte. Gibson tied the score for second money, $4.00. Staff-Sergt. Bartlett scored 60 for $3.00; Pte. Curtis 56 for $2.50; Pte. Fitzgerald 51 for $2.00; Sergt. Moore 51 for $1.50. In the extra series match Pte Gibson again tied the best score of 48 made by Capt. King and Sergt. Moore did the same. Pte. Fitzgerald scored 47. In the aggregate Pte. Gibson's score was 124, and Staff-Sergt. Bartlett's 120. Capt. King of the 76th, took first in every event. Capt. W. W. Nasmyth and Lt. Jas. Nasmyth, also of the 46th, ran up good scores.

FOOLED HIM

But in the Pleasant Ways of Peace

Good thing some men are married. Their wives keep a sensible watch over them and have a way to help overcome their troubles.

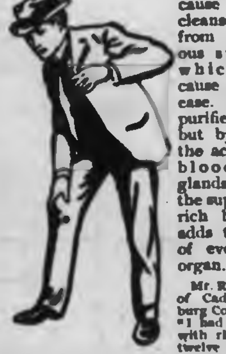
Mr. M. Lewis, of Shaniko, Ore., was located for several years at various points in South America, and fell into the native custom of frequently drinking coffee. He says, "I took to using it the same as those nervous, excitable people in South and Central America. They make very black coffee and it becomes more or less an intoxicating beverage. At the end of about four months, I began having severe sick headaches, and nervousness, but supposed it was from the tropical sun. At last my wife became alarmed at my headaches and stomach trouble. She tried to induce me to quit drinking coffee, laying my trouble to that, but I continued to use it.

She read of Postum Food Coffee and ordered some from the States, but kept it a secret from me. The very first time she made it when I came in for my coffee and roll, I noticed that peculiar, pleasant flavor of Postum and asked her what it was. She said it was a new brand of coffee and asked me how I liked it. I tried two cups of it with rich 'Leche-de-Cheua,' which is used by everyone as milk in Panama, and thought it excellent. After a couple of days, my headaches stopped, and in a short while my nervousness disappeared as if by magic. I have been using nothing but Postum for the past year, and have been completely cured and my wife has also been cured of constipation by changing to Postum, and we shall never go back to coffee again."

A Sudden Twinge

Of pain is generally the first warning of an attack of rheumatism. It feels as if the disease were in the bones or muscles, but the real cause of rheumatism is found in impure blood. In order to cure rheumatism the blood must be cleansed of the poisonous impurities which are the cause of the disease.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been very successful in the cure of rheumatism, because it entirely cleanses the blood from the poisonous substances which are the cause of the disease. It not only purifies the blood but by increasing the activity of the blood-making glands, it increases the supply of pure, rich blood which adds to the vigor of every physical organ.



Mr. R. A. McKnight, of Cades, Williamsburg Co., S. C., writes: "I had been troubled with rheumatism for twelve years, so bad at times I could not leave my bed. I was badly crippled. Tried many doctors and two of them gave me up to die. None of them did me much good. The pains in my back, hips and legs (and at times in my head), would nearly kill me. My appetite was very bad. Everybody who saw me said I must die. I took five bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and four vials of 'Pellets,' and to-day my health is good after suffering twelve years with rheumatism."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the sluggish liver.

COAL $5.00 A TON WITH THE WONDERFUL

STAR HEATER

The only heater that is guaranteed to give satisfaction with soft as well as hard coal. As a fuel economizer it is unequalled, producing heat on about one-third the coal used in any other heater in existence.

The Star has a tube behind for the escape of the gas. As anyone who uses soft coal knows, the gas accumulates under the fresh coal, and if there is no escape there will be explosions and puffs of smoke. In the Star this disappears in the gas escape. The Star has a sliding damper and ornamental door of mica.

After being filled, the Star will heat for 48 hours without attention. It will hold fire and give out heat longer than any other stove.

The Star is 25 per cent more economical than any other stove.

MORE THAN 5,000 ARE IN USE IN THE LOWER PROVINCES.

PRICE LIST

No.	Height	Diameter	Price
0	24 1-2 in.	9 in	$11.20
1	30 1-2 in.	9 in	$13.00
2	34 in.	10 1-2 in	$16.00
3	37 1-2 in.	13 in	$19.20
4	41 in.	15 in	$23.80

DIRECTIONS

When filling the stove always shut the draught door at the bottom.

Keep the small opening in the back pipe closed except when cleaning.

Clean the back pipe every two weeks.

COAL CONSUMERS, ATTENTION!

We are using one No. 3 Star stove in our large rooms, where formerly we had four large wood heaters, and get more heat now than before. The wood stoves cost us $4.50 every week for fuel, and the Star stove which we are now using costs us only $1.50, making a saving of $3.00 per week in the price of fuel—which would soon pay for the stove. We can recommend this stove to any person wanting a first-class heater. We would not use any other stove that is made.

ST. PETER'S T.A.S.

M. J. Sorro, Chairman Trustees.

We certify that we have in use one No. 3 Star stove in our large pool and billiard room, the size of which is 45x32 ft., with 15 ft. ceiling. We have perfect heat, and the most coal we have used on the coldest day yet has been three scuttles in 24 hours. We are so well pleased with the stove that we would not use any other.

ROCAMORA & CALLAHAN.

I have been using a No. 3 Star stove in the sitting room at the City Hotel for some time past, and it has proved so satisfactory that I have ordered two more to replace two stoves in the upstairs. The Star gives more heat than the other stoves with half the amount of coal.

MARTIN CONNORS.

We have in use in our composing room a No. 3 Star coal stove, and wish to state that it is giving eminent satisfaction. The entire absence of gas by the escape provided, the increase of heat and the saving in coal are special features of the Star, and it requires a minimum of attention.

A GREAT DANGER TO THE BRITISH CABINET

The Balfour Government May Be Defeated On Education Bill

Opposition Keenly Desirous of Defeating the Ministry for the Boer War

London, Oct. 14—It signifies an astonishing change in the political situation in Great Britain that the question is widely debated whether the Government shall stand or fall at the extra session of Parliament, which is to assemble next week. The agitation throughout the country in regard to the Educational bill has reached such a point that talk or resignation has been resorted to, even by the Ministers themselves.

It is apparent that the public excitement over the Education bill is largely fictitious. It furnishes, as Sir William Vernon Harcourt admitted the other day an issue on which the opposition to the present Government can concentrate. This opposition, as has been repeatedly pointed out in the last two years, is largely among those nominal supporters of the Unionist cause, who are keenly desirous of punishing the Government for the mistakes and mismanagement of the war.

Both Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and Secretary of State for War Brodrick have declared that the Government will risk its existence on the fate of the bill. Some concessions will undoubtedly be made, but these are designed more for pacification in the ranks of the Conservatives than to conciliate the Liberal Opposition. The Ministers will be unable to control all the Liberal-Unionist votes in the House of Commons, but there is great uncertainty as to what extent this defection will go.

Taken altogether, it is predicted that there will be the liviest session of the House of Commons in many years.

AN AFRICAN PRINCE LOST IN THE STATES

Heir to Throne Cannot be Found in Uncle Sam's Domain

He is Somewhat Shy on Book Learning but Can Talk Several Languages However

Philadelphia, October, 13 — Somewhere on the face of the fair earth there is a lost African prince, heir to two thrones, who answers to the names of "Yuca" and "Jimmy" Parker, but his whereness is as much in darkness as the depths of the Yowah jungle, Zolof land, in western Africa, whence he came to learn American ways and habits as they are taught at University of Pennsylvania.

The dusky "Jimmy" was shy on luck, and, though an earnest student, he failed to pass his examinations, and got discouraged and dropped completely out of sight last June, and has not been seen since. He is 30 years old and speaks five languages fluently, including English.

He was first brought to this country by a missionary to West Africa, who discovered the Yowah tribe, some ten years ago and converted the whole royal family to Lutheran belief.

Dr. Day, the missionary, took Yuca to London in 1893, where the lad studied awhile, then be went to Paris and Berlin and studied some more. America was the next country to be visited. He attended Lincoln University, near Oxford, Pa., for two years, and then entered the University of Pennsylvania last fall. It was the June examinations that proved too much for him.

Aside from inheriting the throne of the Yowahb, he is next in line to the throne of the Pessys, a neighboring tribe, to which his mother belonged. Yuca is a tall, slender and athletic young man and was popular among his fellow students.

The general belief is that he has returned to the Yowah jungles, to get to rule his people when the proper time comes, not caring to remain longer in the land which witnessed his humiliating failure, after his signal successes in his studies in other countries.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Paine's Celery Compound

FOR CLEANSING AND PURIFYING THE BLOOD

It Eradicates the Seeds of Disease Invigorates and Rejuvenates

Thousands of men and women who have neglected the work of physical recuperation in the summer months, are now carrying a burden of disease. In the majority of cases, impure and poisoned blood and sluggish circulation are the direct causes of suffering and misery Are you, reader, one of these victims? If so, do not hesitate a moment in regarding what you should do. The life stream must be made pure, the health-wrecking laxity of the blood vessels must be corrected, the nerves and tissues must be nourished. Paine's Celery Compound is the medicine that physicians recommend for the increase of pure blood in the arteries and for arousing the purifying organs to cast off the impurities that give rise to disease. Mr. T. F. Mitchell, New Hamburg, Ont., writes as follows:

"My mother suffered for five years with a sore leg, and her system was so far run down that doctors could not help her. She could hardly walk about the house. She tried almost everything to procure a cure, but no good results came until Paine's Celery Compound was used which gave her instant relief. She is now using the third bottle, and is able to do her own work.
to do her own work."

AMMUNITION SEIZED

1,000 Rounds Sent to Strikers Confiscated—Second Case of the Kind

Special to The Times.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 13—Company D of the Thirteenth Regiment managed to confiscate 1,000 rounds of ammunition in Olyphant this morning. Information came to them this morning that apparently a case of ammunition had come to S. Passelo in Jessup. Capt. Foote and Company D were sent to the station before the case had been sent from the depot. They found it in charge of Passelo and Anthony Botti. The men were arrested and the ammunition seized.

The discovery of 1300 rounds of ammunition in the same locality a few days ago and the confiscation of the ammunition today would seem to lend color to the report that the foreigners are drilling and that they are armed with rifles, and Col. Watres has decided to investigate.

ITEMS OF NEWS BY CABLE AND LETTER

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 11.—Twenty-five cars of anthracite coal mined and broken this week at the colliery of the Lykens Valley Coal Company, were shipped from Lykens yesterday. There was no demonstration as the cars were started from Harrisburg on their way to Philadelphia. The breakers at Lykens and Williamstown are being operated without interference.

BACKED BY MORGAN.

New York, Oct. 11.—"We are determined to go down with the ship if need be," remarked one of the coal operators. "We think that the threats of coercion which were made ought to be known to the public. Our attitude is one between employer and employe, and our determination to adhere to our policy is not to be changed as a matter of political expediency, favorable or unfavorable to any party."

"What is Mr. Morgan's opinion?" was asked.

"Mr. Morgan," was the reply, "bitterly resents the efforts of the politicians and the methods pursued by them and their stock market allies. He refused absolutely to interfere in the matter, stating that the entire management of the strike was in the hands of the operators, and he declined to become involved in any way in the controversy. He was particularly indignant when he learned that the entire matter of bringing the politicians and United Mine Workers to the city was the work of David Lamar and Edward Lauterbach. He will now back up every move of the operators.

MITCHELL KEEPS MUM.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 11. — President Mitchell arrived at strike headquarters from New York this morning. He was immediately questioned by reporters, but he steadfastly declined to talk of his New York trip for publication. When asked why he maintained such reticence regarding his visit, he said:

"I think the best interests of the operators, the miners, and the public will be subserved by my remaining silent."

Mr. Mitchell's attention was called to the letter of Vice-President Wilcox of the Delaware and Hudson Company to President Roosevelt, in which he contends that the Miners' Union is an illegal organization. The strike leader hesitated a minute, and then replied:

"The Miners' Union is organized along the same lines as all labor unions in the country. If the miners' organization is illegal, so are all the others; and I say our union is not illegal."

Mr. Mitchell denies a rumor that he would go to Washington to-day.

The strike leaders are now looking to the American Federation of Labor for help. The federation has a membership of nearly two million, and its purpose is to assist organized labor generally. The Miners' Union is the strongest body in that organization, and they feel that the federation should now take an active interest in the struggle.

MORE PRESSURE THREATENED.

London, Oct. 13.—Some of the English trades unions are considering the advisability of striking in support of the Pennsylvania miners. The price of coal in London has already reached the highest level that was recorded all last winter, and with the first cold spell still to come, the outlook for the winter is by no means cheering.

London, Oct. 13When the British torpedo-boat destroyer Viper went ashore on Renonquet rock, near Alderney, in a fog and was totally wrecked a year ago, the critics were loud in their condemnation of turbine-driven craft. A little over a month later, the Cobra, a sister ship, on her way from the builders, foundered in the North Sea, and out of the 79 persons on board only 12 escaped. The boat had buckled amidships, her back broke and down she went.

At once there was a howl against the turbine boat, coincidence, unfortunately, phaving marked these boats, but buckling spines became manifest in the regular type driven by the ordinary engines, and the defamers had to admit reluctantly that the steam turbine was not in itself responsible for the mishap.

The remarkable speed of the turbine-driven vessels—over 32 knots—had attracted the attention of thewhole world and their untimely loss left the question of the steam turbine as a means of propulsion for naval craft still undetermined. Now it is to have a further test. The Parsons company has thus permitting the machinery to be lower in the boat, something that adds not only to the stability of the craft, but keeps the motive power much better hidden from the enemy's shot.

The Velox is 210 feet long and has a maximum beat of 21 feet, and special attention has been given to the feature of longitudinal strength. She will have two high-pressure and two low-pressure turbines—the high-pressure turbines, will drive the two other shafts and the two low-pressure turbines will turn the two inner shafts. Each shaft will carry two propellors, one forward of the other.

Here comes the novel feature. There will be two triple expansion engines of moderate power which are coupled by the two high-pressure turbines. When running at cruising speeds, steam will be fed directly from the boilers to these engines, which, in turn, will exhaust into the turbines, where the remaining power of the steam will be fully utilised.

When it is desired to make the 30 odd knots of which the Velox will be capable steam is fed directly from the boilers to the high-pressure turbines and the auxiliary engines are disconnected, for it would not be safe to have them working at anything like the number of revolutions thoroughly possible and safe for the turbines, in fact, a reciprocating engine would be racked to pieces long before it attained such velocity.

How well the steam turbine can work in passenger steamers the Clyde passenger boat King Edward has amply proved. This vessel has been running in competition with a sister boat, of the same line, the paddle wheel steamer Duchess of Hamilton. The King Edward makes 18 1-2 knots an hour, while the Duchess of Hamilton makes 16 1-2 knots, yet, the King Edward burns relatively less coal and her mechanical performance in other respects has been beyond question.

Anticipating the performance of the Velox the admiralty has ordered two third-class cruisers to be built by Beardmore and to be engined by the Parsons company. These vessels are to be 360 feet long, to have 41 foot beams, draughts of 14 feet, 6 inches, and, with displacements of 3,000 tons, to make 21 3-4 knots. The performance per ton of engines has been set very high by the admiralty, and should the ships live up to it the turbine will be an established naval factor for the future. New York Sun.

THE BOER GENERALS MEET KRUGER

They Deny That They Declined the Emperor of Germany's Invitation

Utrecht, Holland, Oct. 14— A conference of the Boer leaders and Generals was held here today, with Mr. Kruger presiding. Dr. Leyds, the former European representative of the Transvaal was not present.

In reply to the statements in the North German Gazette that the Kaiser had agreed to receive them, provided they would present themselves through the British Ambassador, and would abstain from anti-English agitation in Germany and that they did not accept these conditions, the Boer Generals have written to correspondents explaining that they did not refuse the invitation from the Kaiser and certainly did not refuse to accept the services of the British Ambassador.

Eight Chinks Executed

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 8.—The steamer Lyon from China brings news of the execution of eight Chinamen who participated in the murder of missionaries at Chew Shew, Hunan. In addition to the executions, five officials were dismissed and the church was repaired. The remains of the murdered missionaries were buried with great ceremony.

GIRL DROWNS HER RIVAL

Pushed Another Girl Into the River Causing Death

Special to The Times.

Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 13—Rodella Bain has confessed that last Monday evening she pushed Gay Smith, her rival in the affections of Henry Nolan, into the Ohio River, thereby causing her death. The young woman made this confession to the Chief of Police and a charge of murder was brought against her. She said she asked the Smith girl to give up Nolan and the young woman replied indignantly that she would not do so.

"I looked to see how far we were from the water," said the Bain girl. I pushed her hard and she fell over and never screamed." The young woman is guarded by police. She is recovering from the effects of chloroform which she drank yesterday with intent to commit suicide.

MADILL PREACHED TO FARMERS IN OVERALLS

Former President of the P. P. A. is a Farmer in Manitoba

Special to The Times.

Winnipeg, Oct. 13—Rev. J. C. Madill, formerly an Ontario pastor and erstwhile president of the P.P.A., farms and preaches at Little Britain, Manitoba. His wheat crop this year yielded 34 bushels to the acre. He raised 500 bushels of flax and sold a quarter of it at $1.75 a bushel.

"Were you able to attend to your ministerial duties and farm at the same time?" he was asked by a Winnipeg reporter.

"Yes; I never missed a single service. Two Sundays I preached in my overalls. I worked until midnight on Saturday night, and was with the boys again when they started ework early Monday morning. The congregation I preached to said the sermons I delivered in my rough clothing were enjoyed more than usual. There seemed to be a novelty about it."

Mr. Madill said he personally did all his own fall ploughing and cut every bit of his own grain with his own binder.

OPERATORS IN CONFERENCE TO STOP THE STRIKE

An Important Meeting of the Coal Chiefs in New York Yesterday

Expects to Have Results—One Story is That They Will Propose the Incorporation of the Miners.

New York, Oct. 13. — A conference of the representatives of the coal-carrying railroads was held here to-day, which, according to one of those present, may result in a definite step towards the settlement of the coal strike. The conference was held in the office of E. B. Thomas, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Erie Railroad, and was participated in by him and President Olyphant and Vice-President Wilcox of the D. and H., President Fowler of the the Deaware, Lackawanna, and Western.

AN IMPORTANT CONFERENCE.

As Mr. Truesdale entered Mr. Thomas' office he said in reply to a question; "Yes, a conference is to be held, and it will be an important one. It may be productive of immediate results in the situation."

A number of rumors to the effect that a basis of settlement has been reached were afloat to-day, but none of them could be traced to an authorative source. The Commercial Advertiser prints the following:

"It was said to-day by a person believed to be in a position to know the facts that a definite plan for the settlement of the strike has been suggested to the operators, and an answer is expected from them at their usual weekly meeting to-morrow.

TO INCORPORATE MEN.

"Briefly, the plan is this: The Mine Workers Association to be incorporated, and with a capital that will make them a responsible body, with which the operators can make a binding contract as to wages, hours of labor, etc. Then, the operators will grant their men the hours and wages demanded and a contract to that effect being made that this plan will become effective. There has been some talk already of arrangements having been made for the origin of a corporation of that description at Trenton under the laws of New Jersey."

The conference in Mr. Thomas' office lasted a little more than one hour. When the participants dispersed, they declined to make any statement as to what had transpired. It was announced, however, that the conference was informal.

Besides those already mentioned, President Walter of the Lehigh Valley was present, and the independent operator, John Markle, the latter remaining only about five minutes.

It was intimated that later in the day a statement might be issued, but no hint of its nature was obtainable.

Pottsville, Pa., Oct. 13.—As the result of last week's mining at the Brookside colliery, 35 gondolas, containing over 800 tons were shipped to market this morning. Good Spring colliery also made a small shipment, as did Kalmia washery. None of the troops have been stationed at any of these points.

COAL STRIKE HAS REACHED A CRISIS.

The Operators Have Agreed to the Appointment of a Commission

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 13. — Interest was centered today in the efforts of the coal companies to induce men to return to work under the protection of the troops. Information from coal companies is difficult to obtain, but, judging from early reports from various sources, there are few additional workers in the mines of this region to-day. The troops were out early, but were not called upon to suppress any disorder. In some places detachments of troops were on duty near collieries all night, and at other points soldiers were scattered in twos and threes along streets and on street corners.

It was stated at strike headquarters that there were no desertions from the ranks of the strikers to-day, but, on the other hand, fewer men are at work than last week. President Mitchell said he had heard rumors of a strike settlement, but there was nothing in them so far as he knew. He is apparently waiting for news from the other side.

ANOTHER MINE STARTED.

Hazelton, Pa., Oct. 13.—S. Pardee and Company started their Latimer colliery to-day with 125 men, the majority laborers and special officers. Coal mined before the strike started was run through the breakers. Soldiers guarded the colliery, but no attempt was made by strikers to interfere.

COAL FROM ENGLAND.

New York, Oct. 13.—Within the next sand tons of English coal will arrive in port.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 13. — Twenty-nine presidents and twenty-one representatives of presidents of the local unions at a meeting held here have decided by an unanimous vote to support the cause of the Pennsylvania coal miners. The unions will be required to contribute to the fund at least one day's pay for each members. By this means it is expected that 175,000 will be raised and forwarded to Mr. Mitchell as the donation of the Portland organizations. A committee composed of presidents was appointed to solicit subscriptions from the citizens.

New York, Oct. 13.—A special from Washington to the Tribune says: One thing that the President has fully made up his mind to do is to recommend to Congress the total repeal of the duty on coal. The appeal of this tax will be stoutly resisted by the Senators and representatives from the coal-producing States, but it will be warmly advocated by the legislators from many other States, especially by those from New England, where except for the duty, coal could be procured from the Nova Scotia England, where, except for the duty, coal fields of the United States. The duty on bituminous coal is 67 cents a ton. Anthracite is on the free list.

The President continued his conefrence on the coal strike situation yesterday with members of the Cabinet and Commissioner Wright. His course will depend largely on the report which Secretary Root will make to him upon his visit to New York.

THE FEDERATION'S APPEAL.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The American Federation of Labor, through its Executive Council, has issued an address to the public appealing for financial and moral aid for the striking anthracite miners and denouncing the attitude of the mine owners, on whom, the appeal says, must rest the responsibility for the hardships resulting from the coal famine.

The address says in part: "That the strike has continued to this day is entirely due to the contempt which the presidents of the coal companies have for the people of our country and the untold sufferings which all may endure.

"No offer to settle the strike could be fairer than that made by the miners' representatives at the conference with President Roosevelt. The operators' haughty arrognance, brutal, dominating spirit, blasphemous assumption of divine wealth-proprietorship shocked the civilized world, and aroused the honest indignation of all lovers of justice and fair-dealing.

"What more could the miners do and maintain their self-respect and not forfeit the respect of their fellow-men than hsow their willingness to submit all matters in dispute to a commission appointed by President Roosevelt, and when that was refused to leave the entire controversy to Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, one of the men largely interested with the operators?

"The cold blasts of winter confront us, the chattering teeth of young and innocent children, the shivering of the weak, poorly-clad, and underfed men and women, the stoppage of the wheels of industry and commerce, the health undermined and the thousands driven to untimely graves, the calamity threatening our entire social life, with all the dire consequence which may follow, are all upon the heads of the mine operators.

"The miners must be sustained in their righteous and holy struggle. The miners must at least have bread for themselves, their wives, and their little ones. In behalf of the miners, in behalf of the cause of freedom, for justice and right, the undersigned, representing the organized wage-earners of America, appeal to all people to contribute generously, promptly, and to continue the same until the termination of this contest, and to that end it is suggested that:

"(1) In each city and town, business, professional, and public men form relief committees to solicit financial and other contributions.

"(2) The hour between 10 and 11 o'clock of each Monday morning during the continuance of the strike is designated as 'miners' hour,' and the wages earned during that hour by the working people of our country be contributed to the strike.

"(3) Ministers of the Gospel of all denominations make a special plea to their respective congregations each Sabbath morning in behalf of the miners, their wives and children, and that they constitute themselves into relief committees among their respective parishioners.

"(4) The daily, weekly, and labor press solicit contributions from their readers.

"(5) Entertainments be arranged and contributions from unions and other organized bodies be solicited."

A Dispatch Received at 4 a.m.

Washington, D.C., Oct. 13.

The operators have agreed to the appointment of a Commission by the President of the United States. The whole shall be referred to all questions at issue between the companies and their own employees, whether they belong to a union or not, and the decision of the Commission shall be accepted by the operators. The Commission is to consist of an army or navy engineer officer, an expert mining engineer, not connected with the coal mining properties, one of the judges of the United States Courts of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, a man prominent as a sociologist, and a man who by active interpretation in mining and in selling coal, is familiar with the physical and commercial features of the business.

Coal Along the Yukon

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 14—A J. Collier, a coal expert, has just returned from a trip of 1,200 miles made slowly this summer down the Yukon River to investigate the coal resources of that country. He found that coal exists along most of the Yukon. His geological party extended its operation from ten to fifteen miles away from the river, making notes of coal formations and the manner in which they can be worked to best advantage.

Four mines were found in operation. One is at Five Finger Rapids and another at Cliff Creek, both in Canadian territory. Two American mines are being developed, one twelve miles below Nulato and one nine miles below. These mines are all producing a good quality of steaming coal, and several Yukon steamers are using it in place of wood, which is becoming more and more expensive each year.

Much of the coal along the Yukon is frozen to a depth of 150 feet or more, the action of freezing reducing it almost to granulation. This does not impair its burning qualities.

THE SECRET OF THE MAINE

Reason of Destruction of Ill Fated Ship Can Never Be Known

Washington, D. C., October 13 — When Lieutenant Morris committed suicide probably an everlasting lock was turned upon the secret of the Maine. He was the leotrician on that ill starred ship when she was sunk by an explosion in Havana harbor and called the Spanish war. His intimates have been sure that he knew the secret of the cause of the catastrophe, and that it was internal and not external; but his revelation involved the responsibility of a brother officer, and so Morris carried the weighty secret until it could be borne no longer and took his life as the only means deliverance.

The failure of the commission of inquiry into the cause of the catastrophe to find a reason for it has left an open question, and open question it always will be so far as direct evidence is concerned. The suicide of Morris, his occasional talk about defective wiring, and the feeling of his confidential friends that he knew the cause and that it was within the ship and not outside, constitute circumstantial evidence only, but such as it is it acquits Spain of the responsibility that only circumstantial evidence fastened upon her.

The consequences of that calamity have been stupendous for had not the Maine blown up there would have been no Spanish war, nor the long train of vexatious consequences, the further projection of which no human wisdom can see. The president was opposed to the war and relied upon diplomacy to free Cuba and accomplish all that war could do, and by better means, but the explosion in Havana harbor was followed by an echo of wrath in this country which demanded that the president throw the issue to congress to be decided by the direct representatives of the people. If Morris at that moment had unlocked the secret it might have stayed the hot tide of rage and it might not. Who can tell?

LESSONS FROM COAL FAMINE

It is an ill wind that blows no good, and it will be found that the present fuel famine will not have been without its advantages. In the first place the famine will have the effect of showing the country the delicate position it would be in as regards coal in case of war with the United States, and a clear conception of the cold truth may lead the government to take steps toward piling up a reserve of coal against the evil day. For such a step there is the precedent of the Chinese government. The great hill of coal at Pekin was stored up centuries ago by some provident Emperor in view of a lengthy seige.

Then the famine will go a long way toward inculcating doctrines of government ownership of public utilities, or more properly speaking, public necessities, municipal ownership, and to some extent doctrines of socialism. It is possible the inconvenience we are undergoing just now may be the means of preventing the possibility of inconveniences, big or little, of a similar kind recurring.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If it gets a little cooler you'd better take your fences inside, nights.

They say that Hot Scotch will be a dollar a drink next winter, if coal continues to go up.

With noses red and lips all blue,
The people wonder what they'll do.
Oh, let them shiver, I don't care,
Yours truly, G. F. BAER.

Mr. Reitz has made a new peace proposal, "If they give us back our country, I will be friendly with England," he has declared. The government is said to be considering the offer. If it be not accepted, Mr. Reitz intends to expose us in every town in Europe, and to destroy the good opinion of England that is always prevalent on the continent.

President Baer's reported remark that this talk about people suffering from coal this winter is only a scare recalls the reply of the gentleman who was invited by Noah to get aboard the ark, and who observed that there wasn't going to be much of a shower.

A strike of the soft coal miners now, or of any large section of them, would soon almost paralyze the industries of America and make millions of men idle. Then discussions of government action would take place legally or illegally.

A Cleveland man woke up and imagined he had swallowed his store teeth. He went to the hospital and was X-rayed. The teeth were located and the surgeons carved. "The operation was successful;" but the teeth were not found, and the man is going to die. The man's sister found the teeth under the bed, and rushed to the hospital, just in time to see the last stitch put in the incision. All of which shows the great value of the X-ray, properly handled.

BONNY DUNDEE

Published by Request.

To the lords of convention 'twas Claver'se who spoke.
"Ere the King's crown shall fall there are crowns to be broke;
So let each cavalier who loves honor and me
Come follow the bonnet of Bonny Dundee.

Come fill up my cup, come fill up my can,
Come saddle your horses, and call up your men;
Come open the West Port and let me gang free,
And it's room for the bonnets of Bonny Dundee."

Dundee he is mounted, he rides up the street,
The bells are rung backward, the drums they are beat;
But the provost, douce man, said "Just e'en let him be—
The gude town is weel quit of the deil of Dundee."

With sour-featured Whigs the Grassmarket was crammed,
'As if half the West had set tryst to be hanged;
There was spit ein each look, there was fear in each ee,
As they watched for the bonnets of Bonny Dundee.

These cowls of Kilmarnock had spits and head spears,
And lang-hafted gullies to kill cavaliers;
And they shrunk to close heads, and the causeway way free,
At the toss of the bonnet of Bonny Dundee.

"Away to the hills, to the caves, to the rocks—
Ere I own an usurper I'll couch with the fox;
And tremble, false Whigs, in the midst of your glee;
You have not seen the last of my bonnets and me."

A Double Header Grain Train from Midland Meets with an Accident

Another double-header grain train from Midland met with a serious mishap on Thursday morning, about three o'clock, but it was not accompanied with any loss of life.

Soon after leaving Lorneville, and when about four miles from the scene of the fatal wreck on Sunday, Sept. 21st, the rails spread under the heavy train and seven cars were thrown into the ditch and a number of others damaged by the sudden application of the brakes. The crews jumped when they felt the first heavy jolt, and it is understood that everyone escaped injury. The wrecked cars after leaving the rails pounded along for a considerable distance, and ruined a long stretch of track.

The track has since been placed in working order by the auxiliaries from Lindsay and Barrie.

his mind that the man for whose sake F. E. Z. had spoken after all these years might have been near and dear to her through ties of blood.

He had not wished Anderson to do anything for the fellow. There had been a grim joy in thwarting a request of the woman he had loved and lost, feeling that through time and distance he could stand in the way of her desire. But he had not meant to lose sight of the young man, and he had regarded it as not impossible that he might patronise him in the future. Only, whatever was done he intended should be done by himself and in his own way.

Anderson had unintentionally thwarted his last design by forgetting to enquire the address of Hope Newcome (an assumed name, no doubt); and in the quickly following events, which concerned Winifred Gray, Macaire had neglected to follow up a clue that might once have been easily obtained.

Rather curiously, he cherished no personal grudge against Hope Newcome for the fight with the man on the box-seat of Winifred's cab outside the stage-door on a certain night full of excitement. If a fool made a mess of his work he deserved to be ignored by his employer and punished by a stranger. Lionel Macaire had no use for fools, and was merciless to those who failed. But, maimed and physically handicapped himself in almost every way, he secretly adored and respected strength and courage above all other attributes of men.

He was jealous of them, too, because of rather than in spite of his admiration, and nothing on earth afforded him more subtle amusement than to make servants of strong men—great giants who could have crushed him with a blow of their fists, yet were forced to become the slaves of his money and the position which that money had won for him.

He did not hate Hope Newcome for thwarting him; but if all his soul had not been absorbed in the pursuit of Winifred he would have desired to have the young man as a pawn on his chessboard, to be used, taken up, and thrown down as whim or occasion suggested.

Macaire regretted to-day, as he thought of F. E. Z., and the man she had sent to her old friend, that he had allowed the latter to slip out of sight. Not that it mattered much. Still, the feeling in his mind was like the annoyance of having carelessly let the reins drop when they should have been firmly held.

As he walked on, noticed and recognized by many of the passers-by, the sound of music came to his ears. A woman was singing to the accompaniment of a banjo, cleverly played.

Macaire lifted his head and saw a couple of masked minstrels; a girl poorly dressed, with long, curly red hair falling from under her hat over her shoulders, her face completely concealed by a mask; a tall man, with his face also hidden, and in his hands a banjo.

The couple played and sang better than the majority of seaside "buskers," and their masks gave them a certain piquancy; yet Macaire threw them but one glance, and pushed his way on through the small crowd which had collected for the music. He had not gone far, however, when a sudden cry of fear or pain in a woman's voice caused him to turn his head.

The group surrounding the masked minstrels had been partly made up of several swaggering young cockneys from the lower middle class, who had probably come to Brighton for a Saturday to Monday "lark" on their bicycles. One of their number, perhaps dared by his fellows, was in the act of attempting to pull off the red-haired singer's mask as Macaire turned, and it was her protest he had heard.

What he stopped to see was the neat way in which her companion, despite the hampering banjo, sent the aggressor sprawling.

"Well done!" Macaire said to himself, hoping for more fun, as he dearly loved a fight, and was an enthusiastic patron of the ring.

He was not to be cheated of the desired sport, for the other members of the fallen man's party rallied round him thirsting for revenge. Luckily for the millionaire's amusement, not a policeman was in sight. The various nursemaids and their little charges who had been listening to the music scattered like frightened rabbits, and the town men seemed likely to have it all their own way for a moment or two with the masked minstrels.

Macaire stood at a distance faintly grinning, a twinkle in his pale eyes. "That fellow's got his work cut out for him," he thought. "I hope to goodness no one will interfere."

Some of the man's intimates who knew that he had once had a bear-fight to the death in one of the cellars under his town house; that men had pommelled each other's bodies and faces into a blood-stained jelly in the same place to win an enormous purse and afford secret midnight amusement to a few choice spirits—these intimates of his would have understood the expression on his face now and the ugly glint in his yellow eyes.

He was near enough to hear the masked man say to his companion: "Run, as fast as you can go!" He saw the girl turn and try to obey, and he saw the spring that one of the cads made to do what his prostrate chum had failed in doing—tear off her mask.

Up went the girl's hands to defend herself; but the defence was not needed. A smashing blow with the banjo, which brought the taut parchment down on the cockney's head and crushed his hat over a red, astonished face, finished him as a combatant. He retired with a bleeding nose to assist his fallen comrade, while the three others, still in fighting trim, attacked the minstrel, who now stood in front of the red-haired girl.

Two of the men seemed to have some technical knowledge of boxing, as Macaire's trained eye was quick to note, and the third, while his friends used their fists, raised a stick over the tall minstrel's head to avenge the late attack with the banjo.

But the masked man was not to be taken unawares. Keeping off the two boxers, who were sparring up to him, he sprang suddenly to one side, caught the thick stick which threatened him, broke it in two pieces as if it had been a reed, threw it in the owner's face, and turned his attention again to the principal attack, all without allowing the boxing contingent a chance worth having.

"By Jove, what a fellow!" thought Macaire. "Wonder what he plays the banjo for when he might be coining

RESULTS:

Some years ago the public was offered the following stocks at nominal figures. Each one to day is in demand at a fancy price and paying a large income:

$500 invested in Gold Coin in 1897 is now worth $11,000.00.
$500 invested in Lillie in 1895 is now worth 9,000.00
$500 invested in Portland in 1896 is now worth .. 8,000.00
$500 invested in Elkton in 1896 is now worth 3,420.00
$500 invested in Home Mining in '99 now worth $12,300.00
$500 invested in Vindicator in 1897 is now worth 3,100.00
$500 invested in Isabella in 1898 is now worth .. 2,100.00
$500 invested in Gold King in 1897 is now worth 5,000.00

There are thousands of instances in Colorado where investments in bona fide properties have returned many hundred-fold for every dollar invested and have made men and women independent for the balance of their lives. More fortunes are created in gold mining than in any of the other industries, and it is the only product the demand for which fails not and market quotations control not.

A small investment in this company, which is safe and sure of quick returns, may bring an enormous return at any moment. It has the possibilities of rivalling the great mines of the past.

ED. McCARTHY & COMPANY, Bankers, Responsibility, $100,000
GALVESTON, TEXAS, September 18, 1902

This bank will receive subscriptions for the stock of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company and hold the funds in trust, subject to terms of guarantee, which are as follows:

"Subscriptions to the stock of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company sent to or deposited with Ed. McCarthy & Co., Galveston, are to be held in trust for subscribers until the Company cuts an ore shoot of smelting grade (2 oz. to 6 oz., or $40.00 to $120.00 per ton) and makes shipments. Upon the Company furnishing a certificate executed by competent parties that a tunnel has cut an ore shoot and shipments made of smelting ore, the bank will transfer all funds to the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company, and certificates of stock will be issued to subscribers upon presentation of receipt issued by this bank. Should the Company fail to accomplish this within three months' time all funds so held in trust will be returned to subscribers upon presentation of receipt issued by this bank.

The Board of Directors of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company are well known to us to be reliable and responsible, and we can recommend the Company as worthy of confidence.

Signed) ED. McCARTHY & CO'Y

THIS IS A GOING, NOT A WAITING, ENTERPRISE

The property of this Company, consisting of over 100 acres, with one mile of a true fissure vein, is located in Gunnison County, Colo., in what is known as the Gunnison Gold Belt, which is in the great Gold Belt of Colorado, the "Mother" lode, or dike, which has produced 55 per cent. more gold than the total output of the Cripple Creek district.

The best machinery money can buy has been installed and paid for and with it development is being pushed night and day.

Smelting ore has been shipped from shallow workings to the Bueno Vista Smelter—value $40 to $120 per ton. The cost of mining, freight and smelters' charges amounts to $12 per ton. So, with oceans of this ore, this mine has the possibilities of rivalling the great mines of the past.

The capital stock of the Company is $100,000—par value of shares $1.00—full paid and non-assessable. A portion of the treasury stock is now offered at

25 Cents Per Share---Par Value $1.00
FULL PAID AND NON-ASSESSABLE

The proceeds are to be placed in a trust fund, so, when guarantee is complied with and shipments of ore begins, fund will be on hand for the immediate erection of mills and boarding houses, buying horses and wagons for hauling ore to the railroad, and make this not a small mine, but a great one. Order at once, as the right is reserved to advance this stock without notice and to return any subscriptions.

INVESTIGATE AT OUR EXPENSE

Any person or association of persons in any town or community desiring to buy as much or more than $600 worth of Pitkin Gold Belt mining and reduction Company's stock may deposit such money in their local bank, to be held by such bank pending a trip by one of their number to visit Pitkin, Colo., to personally inspect the gold belt and investigate the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company and its property, and upon this Company being notified by such bank of such deposit, will forward to the person selected free transportation to Pitkin, Colo., and return. If, upon thorough investigation, the representations made by us are found to be true, such investment is to be made; otherwise, all money is to be returned by such bank to the parties depositing same.

BUY DEC. CORN NOW

Some time ago when the market was weak and July corn was selling at from 61 to 62 cents, we predicted that it would soon sell above 75 cents. We advised our clients to buy. JULY CORN SOLD FOR 90 CENTS, PROVING OUR PREDICTION CORRECT ALTHOUGH MADE IN THE FACE OF A WEAK MARKET. Those who followed our instructions realized enormous profits.

The conditions at present, the tone of the market, everything favors the buyer of December corn. BEFORE DECEMBER 30th IT WILL SELL FOR 70c., and again our advice is to buy. A small investment may make you independent. If you want the best price and the largest profit, BUY NOW. Our predictions on July corn were correct. Our advice on September corn was just as good. Send at once for our Booklet (mailed free) telling why corn will advance and how to trade with small capital. We have the highest references.

SWORN STATEMENT

On June 15th, 1901, a client of the firm deposited with me at my suggestion, one hundred dollars to be invested in Corn for September delivery. I purchased for his account 5,000 bushels at 43 1/2 cents per bushel, with a margin of 2 cents. I sold his holdings at 47c., giving a profit of $275 00; I purchased again at 47 1/2 cents per bushel, 10,000 bushels on a 2c. margin; resold at 50c; I continued to buy and sell on this account, watching the market closely, until the middle of August, when my client instructed me to close the account and submit the amount to his credit; this I did, his account showed a balance due him of $5,850.00, as his investment of $100.00 for two months.

Under oath as to its truthfulness, I make the following statement. March 25th, 1902, I deposited $25 to be invested in Corn, leaving the handling of my investment to the judgment of the Commission Company. On April 12th I was advised that my account was worth $50.00; on the same day I was advised that they had bought for me 2,500 bushels of Corn for July delivery at 61 3/8 cents; on April 16th, they sold and bought for my account, increasing my earnings to $131.75; again they bought for me, selling on April 23rd; my account now showing a net profit of $303.10 in 28 days, on an investment of $25.00 R ROY BRYAN, Deer, Mo.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 25th day of April, A.D. 1902.

H. G. Dennis, President, St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Sir,—Any time you want any recommendations from me as to what I think of your plan of campaign in the corn market, you can have it, for I have not, in many years I have been trading in future corn, met with such success as you have achieved for me in the handling of my account. As you know, I am such a busy man that I cannot give any personal attention to these matters, and while I know that you had made some of my friends enormous profits in the July corn deal that you handled with such remarkable success, as everybody knows, I really made my little investment of $25 with you more for a flyer for cigar money than anything else, and when I think that in addition to the cheque for $137 50 sent me on August 23rd as result of first investment, cheque for $40.75 which you handed me on August 29th as result of second investment, and look at the market to-day, and see nearly $200 profit in the third investment, I am simply pleased beyond measure.

I also want to thank you for the purchase that you made for my two friends yesterday who, at my suggestion, left it entirely to your hands, as I see they have a nice profit in their trades to-day.

If you think well of it, take on some December corn for me, as I notice you are now advising to buy December corn. Very respectfully yours,

Major Hugh C. Dennis, St. Louis; Mo.

Dear Sir:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 10th inst., enclosing therewith your check No. 457 on the Third National Bank for $218.40.

This certainly shows most gratifying results of the small investment of $25, which I placed in your hands to handle, as your best judgment would dictate, on August 13th, less than a month ago, and assure you that I appreciate same highly.

As you know, I was first attracted to your company from the fact that had come in contact with a number of friends whose investments handled by you had proven highly satisfactory and profitable. It will afford me great pleasure to recommend your Company, and also their plan of trading, to my friends, at all times, for certainly where such results as above can be obtained from such a small investment, the inducement offered speculators and investors is far out of the ordinary. Again thanking you,

I remain, very truly yours, W. W. Wood, Trav. Pass. Agent.

Gentlemen:—Yours of the 4th inst., at hand and noted; you cannot understand by this letter my appreciation of your services. If I had ten thousand dollars to invest I would put it in your hands for investment, as I firmly believe that you will make it win if any Commission Company can; you can invest my deposit according to your judgment, adhering to a former letter I wrote you regarding profits. Hoping you are successful in the next investment, and awaiting your commands, I am,

Very respectfully, J. J. Underwood.

ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18-inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realise the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purposes of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

We furnish the rich property—you furnish the mill. In a few months it will be in operation—almost before you expect it—and we divide the immense returns.

Boot Sale 50c Pair

Line of ladies' and misses' fine boots and shoes, some worth up to $2.50, on Wednesday at one price 50c. per pair, at the Bankrupt Store, 166 George street.

The Railways Busy

The freight departments of both railways are busy just now, and large quantities of freight are in store and constantly arriving for merchants and others. The Cereal Company is bringing in a dozen cars of grain per day.

The Parks Fund

Yesterday Mr. J. H. Burnham sent in a dollar to assist the Parks' family, of Chandos. This makes a total of $55 which has been subscribed through The Times. Further subscriptions will be thankfully received.

Liquor Licenses

The number of liquor licenses issued in 1900-1 was 3,000—8 less than 1899-1900 and 32 less than in 1898-9. The revenue in the years named was about the same—in 1900-1 $626,228 of which the municipalities received $260,482.

Another Industry

—Mr. Alex. Culverwell is in town for a day or two. He states that he is bringing a Toronto manufacturer here to meet the Council at its next meeting with a view to location here. The matter in reference to the linen manufactory, which has been talked of for Peterborough, will be delayed for about ten days. Mr Culverwell states that he is sure this industry can be secured for Peterborough.

Plenty of Cordwood

Whiel we are face to face with a coal famine in Peterborough we nevertheless have the satisfaction of knowing that if coal is scarce, cordwood can be made fairly plentiful. If the price of wood keeps going up, as it most assuredly will, the men who have wood lying in the bush will rush it into the markets. There is an abundance of cordwood in Ontario and it will soon become visible with high prices in sight. The people of Ontario at least will not freeze.

Is Now on the Spot

The dredge Trent was successfully taken under the C.P.R. bridge, and is now ready to go to work. It was necessary to take down considerable of the woodwork as well as the smoke stack from the dredge, which was partially filled with water and made as heavy as possible. The water in the river was lowered to a considerable extent. The dredge is fast being got into shape again for work which will be begun as soon as possible. Mr. Clem. Gordon is in charge of the dredge.

Literary Notice

The Methodist Publishing House in Tokio, Japan, has had large portions of "What a Young Boy Ought to Know" and "What a Young Man Ought to Know" two of the Purity Books in the Self and Sex Series translated and published in Japanese. The total absence of pure words in the Japanese language rendered the work of the translators exceedingly difficult, and the size of the Japanese characters rendered it impossible to publish either book entire, especially the book to young men, as it would have made a volume as formidable as an encyclopedia.

Returned from Manitoba

Mr. James Davidson, of Smith, returned yesterday from a months' trip through Manitoba. Mr. Davidson reports everything booming in the West, and predicts a great future for that country. During his travels he met quite a number of Peterborough people. Mr. George Wallace, bricklayer, is living in Winnipeg, and is doing well. Mr. Walter Walsh and his brother Frank, are building a large elevator in one of the small towns in the interior. They are both prosperous, and have made considerable money. Mr. Davidson says that the young men should follow Horace Greeley's advice and go West.

MARRIAGE BELLS

A Former Peterborough Boy to Be Wedded October 15

The following, taken from the Daily News-Record, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., will be read with interest by many Peterborough people. Mr. Gillespie is a son of Mr. John Gillespie, town. His many friends here will heartily join The Times in extending its hearty congratulations.

The first formal announcement of the prospective marriage of Miss Lillian Isobelle Stevenson to Richard Gillespie, of the Canadian Soo, was made last evening when Mrs. Chester H. Moran entertained for Miss Stevenson at her home on Maple street with a china shower. The approaching nuptials of these popular young people have been known for some time but no formal statement has been made until last evening.

Miss Stevenson is a neice of Mrs. Adam Ferguson and she has resided in the Soo for a number of years. Till recently she had been private secretary to R. G. Ferguson, head of the Soo Hardware Co. Miss Stevenson is a very popular young woman and her happy manner and wit have made her much sought socially. Mr. Gillespie is manager of Stark's furnishing house in the Canadian Soo. He formerly resided on this side of the river, and during his brief residence here made many friends. He is still considered a Soolite and is known heree socially by a wider circle than in his own home.

Mr. Gillespie and Miss Stevenson are to be married October 15 and after a brief eastern wedding tour will take up their residence in the Canadian Soo.

One Common Cause of Headache

Perhaps the most general cause of headache and pain across the eyes is catarrh. The simplest sure fa to inhale the medicated vapor of Catarrhozone which traverses every air cell and air passage of the throat, lungs and nose. It kills myriads of germs at every breath, clears away mucous discharges, preserves and heals the membrane. Catarrhozone is just a splendid remedy for headache, and its action is certain and unfailing in diseases of the Throat, and Lungs, Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Catarrh. A trial will convince the most skeptical that Catarrhozone is all right. Large size, $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

—The Times requires the services of a canvasser to act as circulation manager. Good salary and permanent position offered.

—The Beaverton Express says that the coal famine has stimulated interest in Mr. Dobson's peat factory, and Toronto capitalists have offered $6 per ton for the entire season's output.

—The Exchequer Court, Hon. Justice Burbidge presiding, was in session yesterday on the Hull case, and will continue for several days.

—Early Sunday morning a small pile of lumber in the yard south of Mr. Allister's mill and belonging to the Dickson Company, was partially destroyed by fire. The brigade turned out and extinguished the blaze and saved adjoining piles of lumber. The loss is not great and is covered by insurance.

The Evils of Constipation

This dangerous condition causes sick headache, abdominal pains, piles, and in severe cases insanity and apoplexy. The most agreeable and satisfactory remedy is Ferrozone which makes the bowels so well ordered that natural and unassisted action is established. It is mild and certain in action and never causes distress or inconvenience and may be taken as long as required. Pains in the stomach and intestines, piles, biliousness and headache disappear at once when Ferrozone is used. Recommended and sold by druggists, price 50c.

THE PEAT INDUSTRY

The Monetary Times Thinks we are on Right Track

The Value of the Peat Bogs will Soon be Demonstrated—A great future for Peat Fuel Assured

The peat bogs of Ontario are likely to prove of immense value in the near future. In Peterborough and Victoria counties on the line of the Trent Valley Canal, are bogs sufficient, it is thought, to produce fuel sufficient for the whole country for hundreds of years to come. The Monetary Times, in referring to peat fuel says:

Ontario possesses rich beds of peat. Beginning with Gloucester Township, close to Ottawa, where the deposit is known as La Mer Bleue, and coming west to Victoria County we find good peat bogs near Beaverton; plenty around Orangeville and further towards Georgian Bay; deposits near Stratford, and the well known peat bogs of Welland, near the Niagara River.

True, the peat industries of 1874 and thereabout did not prove markedly successful. At least they declined or were abandoned, as coal, both hard and soft, grew more easy to procure. A letter from a correspondent in Montreal throws some light on this. But it is very likely true that the machinery used in those days to prepare peat for market was faulty. And the question just now is one of an alternative or subsidiary fuel, to be available in time of scarcity or dearness of coal. Much money has been sunk trying to produce and sell merchantable peat in Ontario, as well as in Quebec. Still it is possible that the right method had not been reached by previous experiemnters. We have heard of a process to be used this winter by a Mr. Speencer, of Stratford, which is greatly lauded, but seems to promise too much. Another peat enterprise, that of Mr. Dobson, at or near Beaverton Ont., commends itself more to us. This man has been experimenting for some years and produces briquettes of peat sold for two or three winters at $4 per ton on track, and burned in various towns, including Beaverton and Toronto, at a cost ranging from $4 to $4.75 per ton. His machine, his own invention is described to us as the best suited for the purpose of any yet tried. We remark in passing what is greatly to Mr. Dobson's credit, if true, that he has refused a Toronto man's offer of $5 per ton, on track, Beaverton, for two hundred tons of his briquettes, preferring to keep it for those Beaverton people who have patronized and befriended him.

Those who have used peat briquettes in their houses tell us that they are satisfactory and convenient as fuel for grate or kitchen stove, but not at all comparing with coal for furnace use. Of course the difference in heat units of the two substances is to be borne in mind, for the heating power of peat is, we aretold, 60 that of coal as 54 to 72. This means that twelve tons of coal will give as much heat as sixteen tons of peat. With coal scarce and dear, with wood increasing in price as fuel, there remains gas, which must go up, as coal does, and peat, to be considered as heat makers. If Canada is not to remain a hand-maiden to the United States, and the coal barons thereof, it behooves her to make sensible and economical use of her own resources in this as in other directions.

The Home Lessons

Complaints have been made to The Times regarding the home lessons under our school system. These are indeed intolerable. To master these lessons evening after evening means intellectual loss. They are, in short, an inhuman device. They are contrary to the law of nature, which is the law of God. Home lessons will be absolutely abolished by the new educationists who is coming. There will be a working and studying day for the child of five hours; the balance will be for play and observation. To put the young child on the rack all day, to subject him to the tyranny of home lessons in the evening, and then expect him to be intellectually nimble throughout his whole school course, is the height of folly. We will smile to think how little we understood the child nature which we were especially supposed to appreciate. Parents should everywhere make protest against a system which stuns the mind, makes school a terror and denies to the child that freedom of body and mind which are so essential at the school age—that freedom which delights in innocent sport, in happy observation of outward things which offer more to the heart and mind than all the text books in the world.

USUAL ELECTION OFFICIALS

Same Machinery for Referendum as at Last Election

The writs for the referendum will probably be issued about the 1st of November. It is understood that the same officials and general machinery that was used at the recent provincial election will be appointed to act at the prohibition vote-taking. The lists of returning officers, etc., will probably not be made public for a couple of weeks.

"I do not look as though I ever was sick."

When a woman is sick she falls off in looks. This is particularly the case when she suffers from diseases peculiar to her sex. Not only is her strength undermined, but she loses beauty of face and grace of form.

It is characteristic of the cures of womanly diseases effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that with restored health there is a restoration of good looks.

"Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I wish to thank you for the good your medicines have done me," writes Mrs. Mae Brown, of Canton, Fulton Co., Ills. "I was troubled with female weakness and doctored with several different doctors. They did not seem to help me; indeed I got worse all the time. I had ulceration and displacement of the uterus. What I suffered no tongue can tell. I had heavy bearing-down pains and thought my back would kill me. I also had a very bad drain, but after taking five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I am feeling as well as ever. It has been almost two years and I have had no return of the trouble. My friends tell me I don't look as though I ever was sick."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Gold Lake Club

The members of the Gold Lake Hunting Club are not unanimous regarding the fall campaign, which is about to open. It is understood that some of the old members are not likely to participate in the chase this year. In fact it is said that Mr. George Fitzgerald, the Commodore of the Eagle Lake Hunt Club, has made an offer on behalf of his party to lease the lodge during the cranberry season, which is now on, in which event he will require the services of at least 100 girls and boys to pick berries. That the matter is serious is known from the fact that Chief Snowden of the Gold Lake Club and his "cabinet" were closeted together for several hours last night, and may still be in session. Misfortunes never come singly: First it was the coal strike, then the wood famine, and now we are threatened with the strike of the Gold Lake Hunters. Three strikes and out.

COAL $5.00 A TON WITH THE WONDERFUL

STAR HEATER

The only heater that is guaranteed to give satisfaction with soft as well as hard coal. As a fuel economizer it is unequaled, producing heat on about one-third the coal used in any other heater in existence.

The Star has a tube behind for the escape of the gas. As anyone who uses soft coal knows, the gas accumulates under the fresh coal, and if there is no escape there will be explosions and puffs of smoke. In the Star this disappears in the gas escape. The Star has a sliding damper and ornamental door of mica.

After being filled, the Star will heat for 48 hours without attention. It will hold fire and give out heat longer than any other stove.

The Star is 25 per cent more economical than any other stove.

MORE THAN 6,000 ARE IN USE IN THE LOWER PROVINCES.

PRICE LIST

No.	Height	Diameter	Price
0	24 1-2 in.	9 in	$11.20
1	30 1-2 in.	9 in	$12.00
2	34 in.	10 1-2 in	$15.00
3	37 1-2 in.	12 in	$19.20
4	41 in.	16 in	$23.00

DIRECTIONS

When filling the stove always shut the draught door at the bottom.

Keep the small opening in the back pipe closed except when cleaning.

Clean the back pipe every two weeks.

COAL CONSUMERS, ATTENTION!

We are using one No. 3 Star stove in our large rooms, where formerly we had four large wood heaters, and get more heat now than before. The wood stoves cost us $4.50 every week for fuel, and the Star stove which we are now using costs us only $1.50, making a saving of $3.00 per week in the price of fuel—which would soon pay for the stove. We can recommend this stove to any person wanting a first-class heater. We would not use any other stove that is made.

ST. PETER'S T.A.S.
M. J. Serro, Chairman Trustees.

We certify that we have in use one No. 3 Star stove in our large pool and billiard room, the size of which is 45x33 ft., with 15 ft. ceiling. We have perfect heat, and the most coal we have used on the coldest day yet has been three scuttles in 24 hours. We are so well pleased with the stove that we would not use any other.

ROCAMORA & CALLAHAN.

I have been using a No. 3 Star stove in the sitting room at the City Hotel for some time past, and it has proved so satisfactory that I have ordered two more to replace two stoves in the upstairs. The Star gives more heat than the other stoves with half the amount of coal.

MARTIN CONNORS.

We have in use in our composing room a No. 3 Star coal stove, and wish to state that it is giving eminent satisfaction. The entire absence of gas by the escape provided, the increase of heat and the saving in coal are special features of the Star, and it requires a minimum of attention.

Russia Said to be at the Bottom of the Troudle

Turkey Unable to Put Down the Rebellion

Europe Will Be Obliged To Take a Hand Sooner or Later

London, Oct. 15—The latest despatches from the East are not at all reassuring to the lovers of peace. Russia is said to be at the bottom of the Macedonian insurrection and is aiding the rebels in every possible way. Things will speedily come to a pass when she will send her forces into the country, as Turkey appears to be entirely helpless.

The present situation in Macedonia is practically intolerable and no lends confirmation to the current cable reports of spreading revolution. A writer says that this year, contrary to usual experience, insurgent bands have been active all the summer, and have received much practical aid from Christian peasants. As for the Turkish authorities, he says that, notwithstanding all their professions of activity and zeal they are unwilling or unable to make any serious effort to grapple with the situation. They sometimes try to mask the disgraceful state of the administration with a display of energy in trifling matters. Certain of the higher functionaries seem anxious to create an impression in the outer world that the Government is conducted in accordance with civilized principles, and a few of them honestly endeavor to put these principles into practice, but nothing avails against the widespread corruption of the officials, the lawlessness of the Albanian element, and the growing strength of the revolutionary movement. In many cases the troops and police despatched against the bands take care to avoid a pitched battle, and, if the brigands have funds, they find no difficulty in coming to an amicable arrangement with the pursuing force, especially when the latter is composed of gendarmes. The published reports of successful encounters with the revolutionists and the extermination of entire bands are as a rule entirely untrustworthy, according to this authority, and there is nothing in the statement which is inconsistent with Turkish practices.

Much Coal By Water Has Reached Montreal Port

Last Week Some 20,000 Tons Were So brought In--50,000 Tons Expected Before Close of Navigation

Montreal, Oct. 15—Last week there was between 15,000 and 20,000 tons of coal delivered at the port of Montreal, but of this 3,000 tons of Welsh coal, ex. steamship Avona, consigned to a Montreal dealer has been sold to the corporation of Ottawa.

The Hocking Valley coal, ordered by the Pennsylvania Coal Company has not yet come to hand. The corporation says it cannot procure any more of this article, and are practically, for the moment out of the business. Scotch coal is being quoted at $7.50 per ton today. Hocking Valley contracted for at $9, Welsh at $10, Nova Scotia from $6.50 to $7, and English coke at $10.

Messrs. Andrew Baile & Co., representing the Acadia mines, of Nova Scotia, are not taking any new contracts and are reserving the output of the mines for their customers at $7. Hardwood, it is said, is held in the hands of country merchants, who are asking in some cases $8 a cord. There are only two coal vessels in port today— the Avona from Swansea and the Mystic from Sydney. The Activ is on her way up from Pictou, N.S., with soft coal to fill Intercolonial contracts. The Turret Crown is also on her way up from Sydney with 2,000 tons for the Dominion Coal Company. The Hestia, of the Donaldson line, is loading at Glasgow, and the Mennona at Swansea, with Welsh anthracite. The Belfast will bring out another load of Welsh and several of the Elder-Dempster and Lord Line boats will yet bring out anthracite.

WILL DELIVER 50,000 TONS.

It is estimated, therefore, that at least 50,000 tons of hard coal will be delivered at St. Lawrence ports before the end of navigation.

"In so far as the retailers are concerned," said a McGill street dealer today, "we do not consider that we have any cause of action against the operators for non-delivery, and so far as I can ascertain we are all agreed that the strike comes under the clause in our contract which releases the operators from responsibility in the case of floods, acts of providence, or as we say in this province, cause majeure.

"Some of us I understand, only act as agents, but the majority buy direct from the mine owners. Few people have any idea of the imperious policy of these American coal barons toward the Canadian retailers. They not only fix our prices, but they have a cast iron set of regulations they impose on us which makes little better than their clerks. For instance, if you go to New York in April and endeavor to secure a stock which will carry you through the season, you are refused point blank and told that a month's supply is all they can spare and when that is finished come again. In other words, they want the profit any rise in the market will give and only accord to us the cut and dried profit of about 50 cents per ton they have established. Moreover if they discovered any of the Canadian contingent departing from their schedule of prices the culprit would soon be pounced upon and refused further supplies. A volume could be written regarding the tyranny of these barons but we are helpless and have to play the role of beggars. So secret are the deliberations of these people that we actually do not know who make the prices beyond the fact that the quotations come from New York."

The Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company are refusing further orders for coke stating that they "have at the present time more orders in hand than they can deliver during the next two or three months."

The change from hard to soft coal was very perceptible in many of the churches yesterday the gas which escaped from the furnaces being quite noticeable.

THE FISHERY QUESTION ON THE FROZEN RIVER

The Request of the Americans Refused by British Columbia

They Cannot set up Fish Hatcheries on the Frozen River

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 13 — When Alexander Mackenzie, the noted explorer, crossed the Rockies by the Peari River Pass and worked his way down towards the Pacific Coast, he found the Indians regaling themselves on salmon, which seemed to be the staple diet of the red man. The supply of fish was extraordinary, and so continues, although the department of Marine and Fisheries insists that this state of affairs can only be maintained by well regulated seasons and the prevention of such methods as are destructive of fish life. The Washington State authorities are at the present time endeavoring to secure from the Canadian Government permission to set up fish hatcheries in the upper waters of the Fraser River in British Columbia, whither the salmon go each year to spawn. They offer to build hatcheries and maintain them to keep up the supply of fish. This offer has been refused, because it is feared that the stocking of the Fraser River by the hatcheries would be made a matter of secondary consideration, and the real object would be to use the hatcheries for the benefit of United States waters. There is in connection with this fishery question the much discussed point as to the use of traps. These traps are permitted on the American side, and many Canadians are clamoring for the Department at Ottawa to permit their use in Canada. But so far this has been refused. The opinion of the Ottawa fisheries officials is that if the Washington State authorities are in earnest to preserve the salmon industry from extinction they would take steps to abolish traps and control their own fishermen. Both countries would profit by a sensible arrangement which provided one set of fishery regulations governing the fisheries on each side of the boundary line.

A CIVIC TELEPHONE SYSTEM IN OTTAWA

WILL DISPENSE WITH GIRLS

Two Hundred Telephone Automatic Switchboards to be Installed at Once

Ottawa, Ont, October 15 — A sample telephone system to compete with the Bell telephone system is to be tried on a large scale in Ottawa in a very short time. Two hundred instruments will be installed in the city in a week or two.

City Engineer Ker and other prominent Ottawa men were down last week in Ohio, where they got information and tested a new telephone system, which, it is believed, is far more modern than the one in Ottawa and twice as cheap. It is also pretty nearly certain that the installation of a municipal plant on this system would be about twice as cheap as the present system.

The new telephones are to dispense with the hello girl. They are of most modern make. On the face are the ten unit numbers on separate buttons. A man who wishes to get, say 260, would press the number 2, then the number 6, then the number 0, and pull down a lever. This would put the 'phone at once in communication with 260. Should 260 be using their telephone, the lever will indicate this.

Thus there is no need of a central exchange. The wires come together in a central point, but one man is enough to look after everything there. Thus the cost of maintenance is much reduced.

One of the largest chambers on Bank street has been secured and a private system of 200 telephones will be installed, one in each office. The test would have been made on a larger scale throughout the city were it not for the exclusive monopoly the Bell company holds here through its agreement.

However, permission may be asked to install two long distance telephones on this system, one to the east, and the other to the west of the city. If this is granted it will add to the test.

The cost of telephones on this new system is, house telephones $15, and business telephones $20 a year.

The Grand Trunk Railway And The Coal Strike

Important Statements at the Semi-Annual Meeting in London--The Present Progress and Prospects of the Company

London, October 14—The serious condition of the coal strike and the recent financial scare in Montreal gave especial interest to the semi-annual meeting of the shareholders of the Grand Trunk railway today. The shareholders were gratified to learn from Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, the president, that the strike not having extended to the soft coal districts, the Grand Trunk was unaffected though he warned the meeting that prices of coal would possibly increase. The general manager of the Grand Trunk, Mr. C. M. Hayes, was, however, not apprehensive for the board had heard no complaint from him.

Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson declared that the general record of the company was one of progress and prosperity. The directors of the Grand Trunk, however, held their trust not for today only, and consequently their finance should not be of hand-to-mouth order.

From July 1 to October 7, the gross increase in traffic was £122,000.

The report and accounts were adopted.

—Mr. M. Cadigan, of Ennismore, discovered a bear and two cubs in the bush near Gannon's Narrows, and went to Mr. James Tracy's, who secured a gun and killed the lot.

STRIKE CHECKS MARRIAGES

Fewer Licenses Issued in New Haven Because of Shortage

Special to The Times.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 14—The explanation advanced this afternoon as to why the total number of marriage licenses issued for September in this city had fallen far below that of last year and the year before was that coal is too high to encourage matrimony. This year there were eighty-five licenses, last year, 103, and in 1900, 118.

It is said that several licenses were returned because of the high price of coal, the young people, all of moderate circumstances, deciding not to wed until the strike was settled.

SETTLING SOUTH AFRICA

A Commission Appointed to Deal With the Whole Question

London, October 15 — A commission has been appointed at Johannesburg, to deal with the whole question of the resettlement of the Transvaal. A provisional board was appointed, even before the war had finished to receive applications from intending settlers, but the members of it soon found that there were more applicants who wished to start farming at once than they could possibly deal with. So the distribution of farms was entrusted to an official in the Governor's office, and now farms are alloted with no more delay than is, perhaps, inevitable. No attempt has been made by the Government as yet to bring settlers from Great Britain, in view of the number of applications received from ex-soldiers and others already in South Africa. The leases are limited to one year, or, in some cases, to five years, with a first option for the settler at the end of the period of acquiring the land on terms which will be formulated in the first place by the new commission.

Each member is hereby notified that no spooning or like diversions will be tolerated during the moon's absence, as the surroundings will be illuminated by gas and electric light. The Katydyds are nearly all composed of workers in a couple of dry goods stores, and the committee have power to add to their numbers. After the game the matter of the coal question will be sifted.

SIGNIFICENT HINT TO KAISER WILLIAM

Why The Emperor Did Not Receive The Boer Generals

KING EDWARD IS CONCERNED

The Pro-Boer Committee Refused Permission to Make Street Collections in Brussels

London, October 14 —There is excellent authority for stating that intimation was recently conveyed to Emperor William from an exalted British personage that if he insisted on granting an audience to the Boer generals, he would have to give up his plan of visiting King Edward on the latter's birthday. The German Foreign office was informed that if the Boers asked for an introduction to the Emperor through the British ambassador at Berlin, the Ambassador would be instructed to refuse to grant it.

The Burgomaster of Brussels, says the Times correspondent, has refused the application of the pro-Boer committee to be allowed to take up street collections in aid of the Boer fund. Such collections are prohibited under municipal regulations and the Burgomaster fails to see why he should establish a troublesome precedent.

SOUTH AFRICAN SITUATION

A Hopeful View by Hon. Alfred Lyttleton, in North American Review

London, Oct. 15—The Hon. Alfred Lyttleton; whose brother, Lieut.-Gen. Lyttleton succeeds Lord Kitchener as commander-in-chief in South Africa, and who was chairman of the commission which was sent to South Africa to investigate the claims of foreigners for compensation for damages incurred during the war, writes in the August North American Review on "Practical Problems in South Africa." He takes a most hopeful view of the situation there. He points to the affinities between the Dutch and British races, and to the similarity between the pursuits and the historical aspirations of both peoples. Though the loss of national independence must be a grievous thing to the Boers, still there are precious things which national independence does not safeguard, such as personal liberty, religious toleration and the free expansion of the individual, which, it is to be hoped, his absorption into the British Empire will guarantee to the Boer. Mr Lyttleton tells of some of the things which have already been accomplished. The law affecting the natives of the Transvaal has been reformed; the illicit drink traffic with natives has been put down ; the gold and patent laws have been improved ; a scheme for irrigation has been worked out by Mr. Wilson, and a land settlement plan devised by Mr. Arnold-Forster.

AUSTRIA AND HUNGARY WILL MAKE TROUBLE

The Two Countries Will Dissolve Friendship and Appeal to War

THIS IS NOW PREDICTED BY MANY

The Demise of the Emperor Will See a Violent Rupture Which May Take Place Sooner

London, Oct. 15—The Post says:—Indications are becoming more frequent in latter years that the combined monarchy of Austria-Hungary holds together by a slender tie, and that it would require only an extra strain to snap the connecting link. That this strain will be applied on the death of the Emperor Franz Josef of Austria is becoming painfully evident.

Hungarian statesmen believe, with or without sufficient reason, that the rulers of Austria proper discriminate against the Hungarian monarchy in the matter of compelling it to pay more than its share of the joint expenses of what might be termed the Federal government. There never was much love lost between the two nations, and this question of expense is one which is not at all likely to be settled amicably, and if not so settled, then it must be compulsorily leaving a rankling grievance behind.

This oddly constituted dual government has existed since 1867, and since then each nation has "gone it alone" in the matter of home rule and local legislation, while a separate body provides for the imperial affairs. The official official title of the combined monarchy is the "Oesterreichisch-Ungarische Monarchie," composed of a "Cisleithan" empire and a "Transleithan" kingdom; the former officially designated as "die im Reichsrathe vertretenn Konigreich und Lander," commonly called Austria, and the latter as "di Lander der ungarischen Krone," commonly called Hungary.

Each of the two countries, as intimated above, has its own parliament, ministers and government, the only thing in common between them being a hereditary sovereign, the army and navy and the diplomatic outfit. The imperial affairs are looked after by a common body known as the delegations, consisting of 120 members selected half and half by each country. These Delegations are chosen by the parliaments of each nations, the upper house of each government selecting twenty members and the lower house each choosing forty.

These Delegations usually sit in two bodies, sixty Austrians and sixty Hungarians deliberating on imperial affairs, but if they do not act in accord, the bodies must hold a joint meeting and without debate cast a final vote which is not subject to any review by the parliaments of either country, but becomes binding on the whole empire. The jurisdiction of the delegations is limited to foreign affairs, common finances and war.

There are three distinct budgets—that of the delegations for the joint empire, that of the Reichsrath for Austria and of the Hungarian diet for the Kingdom of Hungary. In addition to the Reichsrath, or central diet, Austria has seventeen provincial diets, variously constituted and differing in numbers according to the population of the province. These provincial diets make laws affecting local administration, particularly those relating to taxation, the cultivating of the soil, educational, church and charitable institutions and public works.

As will be seen from this summary, the scheme of government is a complicated one, but on the whole it works well enough, and it does not seem that the friction which exists between the two countries arises from any fault of the working in the machinery of government but rather of a district and mutual aversion. The countries are like an ill-sorted team of horses that will endeavor to pull in different directions.

The Hungarian chamber is now in session, and there is no prospect that its deliberations will be carried on with more cordiality to Austria than during the last session. Indeed, one of the first incidents of the meeting was a violent attack on the Emperor by a Kossuth deputy, who charged that the Emperor's design was to crush Hungary. There is a deadlock on the question of imperial expenses, and Hungarians are demanding an economic separation.

The latest Hungarian movement is to make the newly born son of the Archduke Franz Ferdinand and of his morganatic wife, the Princess Hohenberg, heir to the Hungarian throne. How this cam be accomplished without a complete separation of the countries it is hard to see, as the baby could not by any means become Emperor of Austria-Hungary.

It will require diplomacy and forbearance to bring the two countries to a condition of accord and harmony, but there is little of such statesmanship visible in the relations of either side with the other at present. The worst indications are that coercion may be required to compel Hungary to fulfil her part of the financial obligations of the empire, and if this should prove neccessary pire, and if this should prove necessary a shrewd prophet would be required to fortell the result.

BIG PREPARATIONS FOR SIR WILFRID'S RETURN

Montreal Preparing to welcome the Premier, who will Return To-motrow

Montreal, Oct. 14—Arrangements were completed today for the welcome home of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The Elder-Dempster Line managers says that there is very little doubt that the Lake Erie will reach Rimouski early on Thursday morning. It is proposed to have the Government tug, the Druid, in waiting at Rimouski, with a few personal and political friends of the Premier on board.

Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier will be taken on board the Druid and will reach Quebec about seven in the evening. An address is to be presented to him, and fireworks and music will add to the enthusiasm of the occasion.

On Friday morning the Premier will leave by train for Montreal. The only stops he will make will be at Portneuf, Three Rivers, Louiseville and Berthier. It is likely that at each place addresses of welcome will be presented, but it is not thought that he will speak beyond a few words of thanks.

RECEPTION AT PLACE VIGER.

The train will reach Montreal at Place Viger Station at seven o'clock and Sir Wilfrid will be escorted by the Mayor and Aldermen to the balcony of the hotel, where the address of welcome will be be read by His Worship. It is not intended to have any speeches beyond that of Sir Wilfrid, and those who are in his confidence say that he will speak for a short time. The Montreal Street Railway Company will be asked to have all cars which go through Place Viger take another route for an hour or so, so that the immense crowds which are sure to congregate will not be disturbed.

It is estimated that fully fifty thousand will be in the neighborhood of Place Viger and nearly that number in the line of the procession—if the night is fine.

The eastern portion of Place Viger will be brilliantly illuminated by the Harbour Commissioners and the west end by the city.

Every political club in the city is to be asked to turn out and make a welcome free from politics.

At the close of the Premier's address the procession will be formed. Ten thousand torches will be supplied and headed by a band the Premier will be taken along Craig street, St. Lawrence, and St. Catherine to the Windsor, where he will see a few personal friends before retiring for the night.

MITCHELL HAS DEFERRED THE STRIKE SETTLEMENT

He Does Not Like the Proposition of the Operators, but the Miners are Divided

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 14. — President Mitchell of the Miners' Union refuses point blank to talk for publication at this time upon the new proposal for the arbitration of the coal strike laid before President Roosevelt last night by the presidents of the coal-carrying railroads. No official information can be had as to his views. As to the striking miners in this region, a large number favor a rejection of the offer as formulated by the operators, while there are equally as many who see some good in the offer. The miners, however, have the greatest commfidence in the judgment of their leader, and it is certain they will leave the matter in his hands.

The citizens of the region generally are rejoicing at the new turn of affairs, and feel confident that the step just taken by the operators will result in much good, if not a speedy settlement of the great conflict.

President Mitchell received the news from the newspaper men after 1 o'clock this morning—the moment it was flashed here from Washington. He had been informed by the correspondents that a conference was in progress in the White House, and he decided to wait to hear what its result would be. He immediately retired after learning of the arbitration offer.

GRAPPLING WITH THE ISSUE

Canadians have a high opinion of their political system, and generally speak of it as the freest and best form of government, but, in such a crisis as that now existing in Pennsylvania, we could not turn in any direction for such decisive action as that which it is said Governor Stone will take.

There is a beautiful simplicity about the way the Governor of Pennsylvania deals with the strike. He tells the mine owners that they must produce coal in usual quantities forthwith, or settle with the strikers or the State will take the mines out of their hands.

He does not quote statutes, nor go to law, nor appoint commissions. He simply says the people govern, they need coal, they are not to be deprived of it, and if it is not produced for them they will go and take it. Is this course constitutional? The proposition is to do it and find out. A country whose constitution is continually being violated to the injury of the public can afford now and then to give the precious constitution a few bumps for the benefit of the masses.

THE UNION JACK

The London Times publishes an interesting article upon the national flag and its proper or improper use or display:

"This," it says, "is necessarily prescribed with far greater precision and authority as regards ships at sea than citizens on shore. At sea the national flag, in whatever form in is lawfully displayed is an international symbol of nationality which confers certain definite rights, privileges and immunities. It must not, thereofre, be so used as to confound different classes of ships entitled to wear different forms of it, nor must it be so used by merchant vessels of any class as to interfere with the recognized symbolism or significance of its use for various purposes by ships of the royal navy. For this reason the senior naval officer present in any part of the world is empowered to restrain the improper use of any form of the national flag by any and every British vessel afloat. But on land there would seem to be no occasion for the observance of such precision nor for the exercise of such authority. The national pride in the national flag should suffice to restrain its improper use and display, and all that seems to be needed is a wider diffusion of accurate knowledge on the subject. It should be a reproach to every loyal and patriotic citizen not to know what the national flag is, what are its proper form and construction, and what is the proper use and symbolism of the several forms of it; and, were this the case, public opinion might safely be trusted to discountenance the use of all forms of it not properly constructed, or not recognized by established usage and authority. The form, construction, history and proper usage of the national flag might well be made a definite subject of teaching in every school in the kingdom. It is full of interest and contains a good deal of history in a very attractive form. It makes no difference for this purpose whether the national flag is, as we think, the Union Jack or the Red Ensign, as Lord Hawkesbury insists, since no one can understand the Red Ensign or any other ensign unless he first understands the Union Jack. If this were done the illicit and improper forms of the national flag, badly made and faultily hoisted, of which we have seen so many examples of late, would soon disappear altogether. 'You can always fly the Union Jack,' say Lord Knollys. Provided it is the Union Jack, properly made and properly hoisted, it does not much matter, on shore, whether it is flown in the form of the Red Ensign or of any other ensign duly recognized by authority. But, lest naval susceptibilities should be offended, it had better be, we think, the Union Jack by itself."

THE SECRET OF THE MAINE

Washington, D. C., October 12 — When Lieutenant Morris committed suicide probably an everlasting lock was turned upon the secret of the Maine. He was the electrician on that ill starred ship when she was sunk by an explosion in Havana harbor and called the Spanish war. His intimates have been sure that he knew the secret of the cause of the catastrophe, and that it was internal and not external; but his revelation involved the responsibility of a brother officer, and so Morris carried the weighty secret until it could be borne no longer and took his life as the only means deliverance.

The failure of the commission of inquiry into the cause of the catastrophe to find a reason for it has left an open question, and open question it always will be so far as direct evidence is concerned. The suicide of Morris, his occasional talk about defective wiring, and the feeling of his confidential friends that he knew the cause and that it was within the ship and not outside, constitute circumstantial evidence only, but such as it is it acquits Spain of the responsibility that only circumstantial evidence fastened upon her.

The consequences of that calamity have been stupendous for had not the Maine blown up there would have been no Spanish war, nor the long train of vexatious consequences, the further projection of which no human wisdom can see. The president was opposed to the war and relied upon diplomacy to free Cuba and accomplish all that war could do, and by better means, but the explosion in Havana harbor was followed by an echo of wrath in this country which demanded that the president throw the issue to congress to be decided by the direct representatives of the people. If Morris at that moment had unlocked the secret it might have stayed the hot tide of rage and it might not. Who can tell?

money with his fists? I'd like to match him against Joey the Kid."

At this instant a big policeman, informed of what was going on by one of the fleeing nurse-maids, appeared upon the scene.

The man who had gone down first was up now, and, seeing the policeman, gave the alarm to his companions.

Before the policeman could get near them they had turned tail and darted away round the first corner and out of sight, the masked minstrel not deigning to follow. He stood his ground, merely stooping to pick up the broken banjo, which he had flung aside for the fight, after smashing the frame too severely for the instrument still to be practicable as a weapon.

If Macaire had had eyes for anyone so insignificant he might have seen that in the melee somehow the little masked, red-haired girl had contrived to slip away. But he was watching the man, and approachingly slowly that he might, if necessary, win the young athlete's gratitude by bearing witness in his defence.

CHAPTER XVIII.

A Discovery.

Macaire was just in time, as it happened, to be of yeoman service, for the policeman, irritated that the other offenders had escaped, and not too kindly disposed towards a "busking" vagabond with a mask, had opened the vials of his wrath when the millionaire sauntered up.

"Look here, bobby," said he in the harsh voice which, for some curious, occult reason seemed to have great power over the lower classes, "my name is Lionel Macaire. Perhaps you know it, and I give you my word that this young man is in no way to blame for what has happened. I saw the affair from the beginning, though unfortunately I was unable to interfere. One of these ruffians insulted a girl who was with him, singing, and this man defended her. Then all the others set upon him—five to one. He is a brave fellow, and ought to be praised instead of reprimanded."

The policeman was a reader of newspapers, and had known for years that the name of Lionel Macaire was financially one to conjure with. The millionaire had been pointed out to him also since the sensational affair at the Thespian Theater, and once having seen that frightful face it would be impossible to mistake it for another's.

Why a millionaire's word should be accepted more readily than a pauper's ought to be hard to explain; but such is human nature—even among policemen.

"All right, sir; if you say it's all right I suppose it is," this member of the force responded promptly. "I must do my duty, sir, that's all."

"Well, you have done it, and now it's over," said Macaire. At the same time he produced from his sovereign pocket two gold pieces; and though the man in blue honestly scorns bribes—in silver—he was not able to resist an offer of more than a week's salary, "all in one go," merely for taking a gentleman's word.

"This is a little token that I appreciate your common sense and moderation," went on the millionaire; and then the two sovereigns changed hands. The policeman at that instant opportunely spying a motor-car which he thought might be going too fast, had the best of excuses for bestowing his presence where it was more needed; and with warning shouts of "Hi-hi!" to the oblivious motorist he went off at a run.

"Thank you, sir," said the masked minstrel, heartily, to Macaire. "You have saved me from a lot of bother, I'm sure." He spoke like a gentleman, but if he were English his accent suggested that he had lived for years out of his native country.

"On the contrary," returned the other in his most ingratiating manner, "it is for me to thank you for as pretty an exhibition of dash and skill as I've seen for some time. You can imagine that I don't refer entirely to your musical feats, though they were excellent, no doubt. But I'm no judge of music. I am, I flatter myself, a judge of most things in the athletic line, and if you'll allow me to say so, I wonder that you care to earn your living by your fingers when you might do it so much more effectively with your biceps and your fists."

The young man in the mask laughed frankly, and glanced down at his ruined banjo. "I did better work with this to-day than usual, perhaps," he said. "But it looks as if it had played its last tune. As for the talents you're good enough to think I possess, sir, I've tried to make use of them since I came to England, but the market for muscles is apparently overstocked. Indeed, I tried several things before I began making a professional use of my banjo; but I can't afford to despise it, as it's been the best friend in the money-making line I've found in this country."

"All the worse for the country, then," responded the millionaire. "I hope, though, you're not so discouraged as to want to leave it and go back to your own—wherever that may be."

"I shan't leave it till I've done what I came to do," the young man answered, with a nonchalance which perhaps cloaked a deeper feeling. "Not if it takes me ten years."

"Oh, so you came to England with an object, eh?" enquired Macaire, in the good-natured way he could affect when he had a motive.

His motive now was to get this young athlete under his patronage, and match him against a certain champion who had gone about in swaggering defiance of rivals long enough. It was something to have his thoughts taken off his galling failure with Winifred Gray, and he was pleased to find himself feeling so keen an interest in an alien subject.

"Don't most men travel with an object?" retorted the man with the mask. "There'd be no incentive to a lazy fellow, else. And for fear I go back to a condition of laziness I must be off, sir—thanking you again for what you did for me."

"Stop a bit," ejaculated Macaire. "I've something to suggest to you. As you say, few men—that is, few men of brains like yours and mine—do things without an object. Now, I had an object in interfering in your interest with our friend in blue. It wasn't entirely a selfish one, perhaps, though partially so, I admit, and I should like to have a talk with you about it if you're so inclined. It might turn out to be for our mutual advantage."

Again the young man laughed. "You can guess that I'm open to offers, sir,

COAL $5.00 A TON WITH THE WONDERFUL STAR HEATER

The only heater that is guaranteed to give satisfaction with soft as well as hard coal. As a fuel economizer it is unequalled, producing heat on about one-third the coal used in any other heater in existence.

The Star has a tube behind for the escape of the gas. As anyone who uses soft coal knows, the gas accumulates under the fresh coal, and if there is no escape there will be explosions and puffs of smoke. In the Star this disappears in the gas escape. The Star has a sliding damper and ornamental door of mica.

After being filled, the Star will heat for 48 hours without attention. It will hold fire and give out heat longer than any other stove.

The Star is 25 per cent more economical than any other stove.

MORE THAN 5,000 ARE IN USE IN THE LOWER PROVINCES.

PRICE LIST

No.	Height	Diameter	Price
0	24 1-2 in.	9 in	$11.20
1	30 1-2 in.	9 in	$12.00
2	34 in.	10 1-2 in	$15.00
3	37 1-2 in.	12 in	$19.20
4	41 in.	15 in	$23.50

DIRECTIONS

When filling the stove always shut the draught door at the bottom.

Keep the small opening in the back pipe closed except when cleaning.

Clean the back pipe every two weeks.

COAL CONSUMERS, ATTENTION!

We are using one No. 3 Star stove in our large rooms, where formerly we had four large wood heaters, and get more heat now than before. The wood stoves cost us $4.50 every week for fuel, and the Star stove which we are now using costs us only $1.50, making a saving of $3.00 per week in the price of fuel—which would soon pay for the stove. We can recommend this stove to any person wanting a first-class heater. We would not use any other stove that is made.

ST. PETER'S T.A.S.
M. J. Sorro, Chairman Trustees.

We certify that we have in use one No. 3 Star stove in our large pool and billiard room, the size of which is 45x32 ft., with 15 ft. ceiling. We have perfect heat, and the most coal we have used on the coldest day yet has been three scuttles in 24 hours. We are so well pleased with the stove that we would not use any other.

ROCAMORA & CALLAHAN.

I have been using a No. 3 Star stove in the sitting room at the City Hotel for some time past, and it has proved so satisfactory that I have ordered two more to replace two stoves in the upstairs. The Star gives more heat than the other stoves with half the amount of coal.

MARTIN CONNORS.

We have in use in our composing room a No. 3 Star coal stove, and wish to state that it is giving eminent satisfaction. The entire absence of gas by the escape provided, the increase of heat and the saving in coal are special features of the Star, and it requires a minimum of attention.

BUY DEC. CORN NOW

Some time ago when the market was weak and July corn was selling at from 61 to 62 cents, we predicted that it would soon sell above 75 cents. We advised our clients to buy. JULY CORN SOLD FOR 90 CENTS, PROVING OUR PREDICTION CORRECT ALTHOUGH MADE IN THE FACE OF A WEAK MARKET. Those who followed our instructions realized enormous profits.

The conditions at present, the tone of the market, everything favors the buyer of December corn. BEFORE DECEMBER 30th IT WILL SELL FOR 70c., and again our advice is to buy. A small investment may make you independent. If you want the best price and the largest profit, BUY NOW. Our predictions on July corn were correct. Our advice on September corn was just as good. Send at once for our Booklet (mailed free) telling why corn will advance and how to trade with small capital. We have the highest references.

SWORN STATEMENT

On June 15th, 1901, a client of the firm deposited with me at my suggestion, one hundred dollars to be invested in Corn for September delivery. I purchased for his account 5,000 bushels at 43 1/2 cents per bushel, with a margin of 2 cents. I sold his holdings at 47c., giving a profit of $275.00; I purchased again at 47 1/2 cents per bushel, 10,000 bushels on a 2c. margin; resold at 50c; I continued to buy and sell on this account, watching the market closely, until the middle of August, when my client instructed me to close the account and submit the amount to his credit; this I did, his account showed a balance due him of $5 850.00, as his investment of $100.00 for two months.

Under oath as to its truthfulness, I make the following statement. March 25th, 1902, I deposited $25 to be invested in Corn, leaving the handling of my investment to the judgment of the Commission Company. On April 12th I was advised that my account was worth $50.00; on the same day I was advised that they had bought for me 2,500 bushels of Corn for July delivery at 61 3/8 cents; on April 16th, they sold and bought for my account, increasing my earnings to $131.75; again they bought for me, selling on April 23rd; my account now showing a net profit of $303.10 in 28 days, on an investment of $25.00 R ROY BRYAN, Deer, Mo.

H. G. Dennis, President, St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Sir,—Any time you want any recommendations from me as to what I think of your plan of campaign in the corn market, you can have it, for I have not, in many years I have been trading in future corn, met with such success as you have achieved for me in the handling of my account. As you know, I am such a busy man that I cannot give any personal attention to these matters, and while I know that you had made some of my friends enormous profits in the July corn deal that you handled with such remarkable success, as everybody knows, I really made my little investment of $25 with you more for a flyer for cigar money than anything else, and when I think that in addition to the cheque for $137.50 sent me on August 23rd as result of first investment, cheque for $40.75 which you handed me on August 29th as result of second investment, and look at the market to-day, and see nearly $200 profit in the third investment, I am simply pleased beyond measure.

I also want to thank you for the purchase that you made for my two friends yesterday who, at my suggestion, left it entirely to your hands, as I see they have a nice profit in their trades to-day.

If you think well of it, take on some December corn for me, as I notice you are now advising to buy December corn. Very respectfully yours,

Major Hugh C. Dennis, St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Sir:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 10th inst., enclosing therewith your check No. 457 on the Third National Bank for $218.40.

This certainly shows most gratifying results of the small investment of $25, which I placed in your hands to handle, as your best judgment would dictate, on August 13th, less than a month ago, and assure you that I appreciate same highly.

As you know, I was first attracted to your company from the fact that had come in contact with a number of friends whose investments handled by you had proven highly satisfactory and profitable. It will afford me great pleasure to recommend your Company, and also their plan of trading, to my friends, at all times, for certainly where such results as above can be obtained from such a small investment, the inducement offered speculators and investors is far out of the ordinary. Again thanking you,

I remain, very truly yours, W. W. Wood, Trav. Pass. Agent.

Gentlemen:—Yours of the 4th inst., at hand and noted; you cannot understand by this letter my appreciation of your services. If I had ten thousand dollars to invest I would put it in your hands for investment, as I firmly believe that you will make it win if any Commission Company can; you can invest my deposit according to your judgment, adhering to a former letter I wrote you regarding profits. Hoping you are successful in the next investment, and awaiting your commands, I am,

Very respectfully, J. J. Underwood.

STOCK MARKETS

Opening of the Week

New York, Oct. 14—The market started out the new week with heaviness and a continuance of selling fever which followed up the decline of the last 15 minutes of business on Saturday. After the announcement of the belated Bank Statement, much to the surprise of the best monetary statisticians, the reserves showed a decrease and the loans an increase, despite the fact that the most complete compilations of the movements of money during the week would lend to the expectation that reserves would have shown a material increase. This fact in the natural order of events is bound to militate towards a continuance of a feverish and more or less erratic market. There will consequently be alternate periods of weakness and strength. One thing is certain, stocks are rapidly becoming lodged in the strongest kind of hands.

The cliques and pools have been compulsory buyers of stocks. As the public again commenced to sell on the results of the bank statement, this state of affairs brought about by the movements of money may cause somewhat lower quotations for the time being. It cannot alter the fact, however, that stocks are cheap, in some cases remarkably so. When everyone gets bearish it will be a dangerous proceeding to be short of any great line of stocks. The public are known sellers, but bear in mind every time they dispose of a share of stock some one must be the buyers. The buyers of the present time are of the courageous sort, they will be the sellers when matters have righted themselves, and the situation is clearer; they will furthermore be sellers at a profit. A decline of from 15 to 130 per share places some very tempting offers upon Wall Street's bargain counter. The increase of cash orders for stocks is most noticeable. Our business in that particular line has increased in the last week fully four fold. We mention this fact to show the greater demand for stock at these low prices.

Care should be exercised in trading for the time being, and all ventures should be backed by liberal margins on the ability to provide it should it become necessary.

Summary—Today's markets exhibited marked strength from the opening on the improved coal situation. We strongly advocated a week ago the purchase of the coal stocks, anticipating a speedy settlement. Small declines from the opening prices were recorded, due to over night realizing sales by the fortunate purchasers at yesterday's low prices. After these sales were absorbed the market took on renewed strength, which was splendidly maintained throughout the day. The day's record shows as material advance for 24 hours as were some of the recent declines for similar duration of time. Money is easier and the outlook for its continuance materially improved. To-morrow's letter will contain facts of interest.

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

WITH BULLS AND BEARS.

As to the market, we see nothing to found a bull market on. So far the fall has not been nearly enough to attract general investment buying. If the money market get really easier, and general business remained active, it would be wise to buy stocks. But how can the money market get easy till after January 1st?

Money is still scarce in New York. A broker who offered all dividend railroad stocks as collateral was refused renewal of a time loan.

ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18-inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realise the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purposes of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

We furnish the rich property—you furnish the mill. In a few months it will be in operation—almost before you expect it—and we divide the immense returns.

COFFEE VISE

Holds Fast Until You Get a Knock-down

"'I had used coffee moderately up to six years ago'" writes a lady from Piney Creek, Md., "when I was seized with an attack of nervous prostration, and was forbidden coffee by my physician. I was constantly under treatment for nearly three years. After my recovery, I once took a cup of coffee and it made me so sick I did not want any more.

After the nervous prostration, my stomach was very weak, so that I had to be careful with my appetite. As soon as I would eat certain things, I would have an attack of stomach trouble sometimes lasting several weeks, so when I was attacked by erysipelas two years ago, my stomach was immediately out or order.

I kept getting worse until nothing would stay on my stomach, not even rice water or milk, and I was so weak I had to be fed with a spoon. I had a craving for something like coffee, but that was impossible, so Father went to town and got some Postum Food Coffee and when he asked the doctor if I might have it, he quickly answered, 'Yes.' Mother made it exactly as directed, and brought me part of a cup and it was delicious, satisfied every craving, and best of all stayed on my stomach without distress, giving comfort instead. For several days I lived on Postum, gradually increasing the amount I took until I could drink a cupful. Then I began to take solid food with it, and so got well and strong again. I now use it constantly and am entirely free from any stomach trouble.

Father and Mother both use it. Coffee made Mamma nervous and disagreed with her stomach so that she would taste it for hours after drinking. Father had stomach trouble for five or six years and used to be deprived of various articles of food on account of it. Now he can eat anything since he quit coffee and uses Postum. Father says that it is better than Mocha or Java." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

KILLED AT MINDEN

Death of a Lady who is Well Known in Peterborough

Word was received yesterday from Minden, conveying the particulars of a sad accident, by which the wife of Mr. Francis Graham, a sister-in-law of Mr. Wm. Graham, of Smith, lost her life.

It appears that the deceased, who resides with her husband and family about three miles from Minden, village, with her daughter Bertha and nephew D. Richardson were milking, when the stack of straw fell on them, killing her and two cows. The daughter was badly injured, but the boy escaped.

THE POWER TURNED ON

Otonabee Power Company's Plant Tested Yesterday

The splendid power plant of the Otonabee Power Company was put in operation for the first time yesterday, and found to work splendidly.

The completion of the power house at No. 5 dam was greatly delayed on account of the high water and incessant rains last summer. The power developed is, we understand, about 800 horse. This can be increased to the full capacity of the dam, which is, we learn, about twelve to fifteen hundred horse power.

The Cordage Company will be the first to use the power, and will take about half the output.

A MUNICIPAL FUEL YARD.

Carpenters and Joiners Endorse Municipal Control

At the regular meeting of the Carpenters and Joiners' Union, held Monday evening, the following resolution was carried:

Resolved that this Union endorse the scheme introduced by Alderman McGregor, viz.—The ownership of a municipal fuel supply of coal and wood for the Town of Peterborough, and that we fully endorse the sentiments of Alderman McGregor on this matter, and especially so at this critical period of a fuel famine. We believe that the council could not take a wiser step than adopting this plan of trying to bring fuel to a price that would be in reach of many a working man who at the prices charged by the local dealers, cannot afford to pay it.

Resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Town Council and also to the daily press.

The resolution was unanimously carried by a well attended meeting of the members.

Mr Rutherford's Condition

Mr. Alexander Rutherford, who was stricken with paralysis yesterday while at work on one of his houses on Elizabeth street, Ashburnham, is gradually recovering. He became unconscious when taken ill, and remained so until evening, when he showed signs of returning reason. Dr. McClelland, who is in attendance, is hopeful of his complete recovery.

The Coal Strike

and refused to say anything. When he came down from his room this morning for breakfast he was again questioned by reporters, but he once more refused to discuss the proposition, saying that he had not read it. Later in the morning, after he had read the operators' adress to the public, he told the newspaper men that he did not know whether he would have anything to say during the day. His attention was called to the assertion in the address that possibly only one-half of those on strike are members of the union. He also declined to discuss this phase of the document.

The gossip at strike headquarters shows that many miners are against the new plan, because no recognized representative of the workmen is included in the operators' suggestions unless he can be selected under the head of "a man of prominence, eminent as a sociologist."

Objection is likewise expressed to clause three, which, the strikers say, limits the President to the selection of a judge from about four men. Those in favor of the plan feel that President Mitchell should accept it and trust to President Roosevelt to make the board or commission as impartial as it is in his power to do under the conditions laid down by the operators.

The best judgment of those who have been associated with President Mitchell through the strike, is that the arbitration plan is unsatifactory to him, but owing to the tremenduous pressure being brought to bear upon each side to end the strike, it is not improbable that Mr. Mitchell will waive this objection and advise that the proposition be accepted.

President Mitchell was asked at noon by the correspondent of the Associated Press whether he and the district officers had the power to consider the operators' plan, and end the strike. His reply was:

"Speaking without special reference to the statement issued by the coal operators, it is a rule of our organization that no settlement can be made by the officers of the union without the consent of a delegate convention."

When asked whether the Shamokin convention, which formulated the demands made to the operators, or the Hazelton convention, which made the strike permanent, gave him this consent, he replied, "No."

The three district presidents are on their way here. President Mitchell will immediately confer with them on the new offer. Mr. Mitchell continues to decline to answer all questions as to whether he is for or against the operators' plan as a whole, or in part. He has not yet received official notification of the operators' desire to arbitrate.

The situation at the collieries to-day remains unchanged, with every prospect of it remaining so while the present arbitration plan is under consideration. The soldiers were sent out through the outlying territory as usual to-day, but they found nothing to do.

New York, Oct. 14.—The regular weekly meeting of the presidents of the coal roads was held to-day. Prior to the meeting President Truesdale of the Lackawanna said:

"The whole matter rests with the President. I don't know whether the Presidents intends to consult Mr. Mitchell before deciding to appoint the commission, and I have no idea of its possible make-up. If he sees fit to appoint an arbitration commission, and to take up our proposal, we will not question the appointment of any individuals he may select."

Some comment has been caused by the absence of the signature of John Markle, the independent operator, from the petition to President Roosevelt.

President Fowler of the O. and W., when asked about this, replied that he did not know that Mr. Markle knew anything about the move toward a cessation of the strike.

President Truesdale was asked if the coal roads had sufficient cars to carry coal should the strike be ended. He replied that he thought they had, but for his own part he could say so positively. These cars, he added, are available afr the immediate movement of coal, and he believed the same conditions prevailed with the other coal roads.

"I do not look as though I ever was sick."

When a woman is sick she falls off in looks. This is particularly the case when she suffers from diseases peculiar to her sex. Not only is her strength undermined, but she loses beauty of face and grace of form.

It is characteristic of the cures of womanly diseases effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that with restored health there is a restoration of good looks.

"Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I wish to thank you for the good your medicines have done me," writes Mrs. Mae Brown, of Canton, Fulton Co., Ills. "I was troubled with female weakness and doctored with several different doctors. They did not seem to help me; indeed I got worse all the time. I had ulceration and displacement of the uterus. What I suffered no tongue can tell. I had heavy bearing-down pains and thought my back would kill me. I also had a very bad drain, but after taking five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' I am feeling as well as ever. It has been almost two years and I have had no return of the trouble. My friends tell me I don't look as though I ever was sick."

THE REAL CAUSE OF THE GREAT COAL STRIKE

It Was Precipitated by Miners to Prevent Laborers from Revolting

THE RELATION OF ONE PARTY TO THE OTHER

Miners Earn Good Money but the Laborers Have the Heavy End of the Burthen.

Special to The Times from our own Correspondent.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 16—I have just returned from a trip through the coal fields and will give The Times the result of my investigations:

The miner drills the hole in the coal seam, inserts the powder, fires the blast which knocks the coal down, and then takes a rest while his helper pulls the coal out and loads it into the mine car. A miner, in four to six hours, with easy work, can ordinarily knock down enough coal to keep his helper busy from eight to ten hours or longer. The miner is paid by the car in this region, averaging about a dollar a car, and his usual day's work is six cars, holding about 3,000 pounds of lump coal, rock "bony" and slate.

Of this $6 gross earnings the miner pays $2 to the laborer and keeps $4 for himself, out of which he must pay for the powder he uses, oil, wicks, fuses, and the sharpening of his picks. In some places the unit of pay is the square yards of coal in the seam, and in others a weight unit of 2,750 pounds, it being claimed it will take from 2,750 to 3,000 pounds of gross coal—that is, coal as it comes from the seam—to net one ton of 2,240 pounds of coal as prepared at the breaker for market.

The miners claim that where the unit of payment is the mine car the car of today is bigger than in years gone by and continually growing. One of their jokes is that the mine car is made of live oak.

However this may be —and my personal belief is that there is just about as much honesty on one side as on the other —it is a fact that the industrious miner averages, net, per month for about twenty days' work of from four to six hours a day, all the way from $60 to $100 per month, and could make twice as much if he would blow enough coal to keep two laborers employed instead of one. To-day miners who are scabbing work as high as ten chambers apiece and earn, in some cases, $20 a day. But it is a peculiar fact that under normal conditions the miner does not seem to be anxious to do more than one chamber at a time, or to work beyond five or six hours a day.

The real cause of this strike was that the miner's helpers, who are mostly foreigners, had got it into their heads that the miners were not making a fair divide. They were organizing a mine laborer's movement to force the miners to divide even. The operators have nothing to do with hiring the helpers. They are hired by the miners themselves. To avert a sub-strike among their "buttles," as the laborers are called, the miners swung the general strike ostensibly for the points set forth in their published demands, but in reality to enable the union to control discipline and thus put it beyond the power of the laborer to revolt.

In the mines also are many 'company hands,' men paid by the month to run engines, act as firemen, attend to the pumps, etc. The union's demand for an eight-hour day was to enlist them in the strike. They are getting good wages—engineers $60 to $80 a month for long hours but light work, and others in proportion. Nine-tenths of these men were entirely satisfied and many of them refused to go out.

When the coal in big lumps comes from the mine or pit, it is passed through a high structure called the breaker, where it is broken by steam machinery into the various sizes and the impurities picked out. Much of the labor in the breaker is done by boys, who average seventy-five cents a day. They have no complaint, for their pay is better than that of the average lad in a city office. But they belong to the union and have votes in the calling of strikes, and the idea of striking has developed among them rapidly. Last year, in this end of the coal fields there were a hundred odd local strikes, mostly over the paltriest conceivable things, and the breaker boy and bar-room loafer element had a good deal to do with declaring them.

I have lived in the anthracite region fourteen years, and know that in the year 1901 the miners earned more money than ever beofre during my time. Our banks are full of their savings, very little of which has yet been drawn out, in spite of their five months' idleness. There is no similar grade of labor in the country which is better paid than the anthracite coal miner, and no workman more independent, because the law of the state practically gives him a monopoly of the labor of mining by forbidding any but a licensed miner to work at mining in the mines. To get a license, or certificate, as it is called, he must first have worked at least two years in the mines as a laborer, and then pass an examination to show that he knows enough about the particular requirements of mining to be a safe man to admit to a chamber.

REVOLUTION IN BRICKMAKING

Production Increased Fifteen Times—No Clay and no Fire Used

Special to The Times.

A revolution in the art of brickmaking is promised by Mr. Wm. Owen, C.E., of London, England, who is at present in Toronto. He has just arranged with a Toronto firm to purchase the American rights on a machine which, he states, will produce daily 150,000 brick as hard as granite. That is fifteen times the ordinary capacity of present day brick machines. The new machine does away with the use of clay, and with the brick kiln, as the new brick is not burned. The raw materials used are sand and lime. The brick is pressed in a twinkling, and is then put through a hardening process involving a chemical reaction, which occupies about five hours. The finished product, Mr. Owen stated to a representative of The Times would resist a crushing strain of 200 tons to the square feet. In addition to brick for building and paving purposes Mr. Owen claims to be able to manufacture paving slabs six inches thick and three feet by two in area. The company with which Mr. Owen has dealt have the exclusive rights on the machine in the United States and Canada.

QUIT GROWING WHEAT

THE BERLIN SUFAR BEET FACTORY AN IMMENSE CONCERN

Farmers are Delighted with the Prospect—What Peterborough Needs

Woodstock, Oct. 15—One of the wonders of the year is the new beet sugar factory which is being built at Berlin, Ont. It is being put up with the capital of a Michigan firm, and is to cost the enormous sum of $600,000. The factory which is to be put up on the most substantial plan, will be ready to start next week in all probability. It is an immense concern situated about a mile and a half east of the town, so big in fact that it takes you about half an hour to walk around it. Electric cars will run to it.

Farmers in Waterloo country have about quit growing wheat and now grow sugar beets. There is more money in them. The sugar company agrees to take all the beets brought in and pay a set price for them. The factory will only run three months a year, from October to New Years. By then the beets are ready.

A Times representative who visited the factory a day or two ago very naturally asked the question of a gentleman interested,—"But are you quite sure that beet sugar is a success and that the people will use it?"

"Why," was the good natured reply, "nearly all the sugar eaten in Canada comes from beets. The Redpaths have been supplying beet sugar from Germany for many years. There's no difference in the taste at all. In fact you don't know its beet sugar."

This great concern might have come to Woodstock, had somebody got a move on about the time the German city began to saw wood. Berlin, by the way, feels badly indeed, if it doesn't get one or two new factories a year.

A Fierce Attack By O'Donnell

The Agitator Says That Irish Land Should Be Given Up

London, October 14—A telegram from Dublin to The Times says that Thomas O'Donnell member of Parliament for West Kerry, addressing a meeting at the new town of Dillon, said the landlord's combination was at work, as writs recently served in the district showed. If, however, there were a combination of farmers, laborers, and shop keepers, the lands would remain idle and tenantless, in spite of the writs and evictions.

The people's organization, said O'Donnell, claimed the land should be given to the rightful owners, and that organization was declared illegal; while the organization of the landlords — scoundrels who wished to continue in possession of what had never been rightfully theirs — was declared legal. The people's leaders were sent to prison, while the landlords could go to Dublin Castle and send out proclamations which turned a crimeless land into one of disorder.

O'Donnell said that Ireland could turn English misrule out of the country if they had an active branch of the United Irish League in every town and village.

THE LONDON TIMES ADVICES THE STRIKERS

Should Accept Roosevelt's Court--Railway Deficits Increase In Australia

Special to The Times:

London, Oct. 15—A Melbourne correspondent says that owing to the drought and other causes the railway deficits are increasing, and the Government has reduced the number of trains. Instead of dismissing the railway employes affected by this reduction, an order has been promulgated limiting each hand to five days'work per week.

TIMES ADVISES THE STRIKERS.

Special to The Times:

London, Oct. 15—The Times, commenting editorially on the anthracite situation in the United States says this morning that the miners will put themselves right with public opinion by placing themselves unreservedly in the hands of the tribunal nominated by President Roosevelt. President Mitchell, it is pointed out is undoubtedly in an awkward position, but if he is wise he will perceive that he cannot gain anything by prolonging the fight against the good sense of the community. The strike, The Times continues, will not have proved an unmixed evil, if out of it arises in the minds of legislators, a preception of the tremendous social and industrial dangers involved in the practical control by the least educated portion of the nation, of the physical basis whereon all industries and activities depend.

ANGLOPHOBIA IN BARVIA.

Special to The Times:

London, Oct. 15—A Vienna correspondent says that among the most bitter and active enemies of Great Britain during the South African war were the ultramontane clericals, and that in Barvia, where they are rampant, Anglophobia still rages. One of the present objects of the clericals, according to the correspondent, is to excite public feeling all over the continent against England and the United States. They are perhaps more to be feared, continues this authority, than the Pan-German, because the latter work in broad day-light, while the influence of ultramontanism is not so easy to detect, owing to the occult and stealthy methods of those engaged in the movement.

TO STUDY CAPITAL AND LABOR.

Special to The Times:

London, Oct., 15. —The Times says that arrangements are now practically completed for a commission of inquiry, headed by Alfred Mosely, to take a steamer for the United States about the end of the present month to study the relations between capital and labor in the country, the conditions of production and kindred subjects. The delegates in this commission will probably number twenty-five, embracing a very large number of trades. The various steamship companies, recognizing the usefulness of the commission and the far-reaching results likely to ensue from their labors, will, it is said, convey the delegates to and from America as guests.

SANTOS DUMONT IS ANNOYED.

Special to The Times:

Paris, Oct. 15—M. Santos Dumont is far from happy. He is afflicted by a terrible accident to M. De Bradsky, and is further annoyed that certain newspapers have called attention to his airship trials and demand their suppression. To a correspondent, the plucky Brazilian said: "I consider it absurd that on account of the experiments of two almost inexperienced men, a check should be put to the progress of such a glorious and interesting science as the conquest of air by navigable balloons. This latest feaful catastrophe was due to the fact that the wires upholding the car did not act in unison, the fault being that instead of being geometrically measured, they were cut in lengths, and at the last moment placed anyhow and anywhere, without any fixed scientific idea. I do not think the weakness of a piano cord should enter into the question. Had they worked together the unfortunate aeronaut would have landed safely. Even had a safe landing been accomplished. I do not think the experiment would have taught aeronauts anything of value, as De Bradsky's balloon was simply pushed about by the wind and turned upon its axis. This accident will not deter me from making further attempts in two or three weeks' time. Providing the weather is propitious I hope to start from the same place as Severo and De Bradsky and descend at a place to be fixed beforehand, somewhere in the Capital.

A PARISIAN STORY OF LEO'S SUCCESSION

A Printer Disclosed the Plot and Frustrated It

A Story that Reads Like a Fairy Tale, only More Sensational.

Paris, Oct. 16—M. de Bonnefon tells us that a short time ago Cardinal Rampolla prevailed upon the pope to abdicate in his favor and a conclave would have have been summoned, which, voting under the pressure of papal infallibility, would have ratified the choice by an election pro forma. The secret of the intrigue came out in this way. The vatican possesses two printing works. One takes up the whole of the Sixtus V. gallery, and all sorts of documents intended for publication are printed there. The other is in a secluded building into which nobody is allowed without written leave of the pope's major-domo. The men employed there are the safest in the world. They are all tried Catholics and every year they give an oath not to betray the secret of documents entrusted to them.

A few weeks ago a high prelate, one of the state secretaries of the vatican, brought a sealed envelope to the confidential printing shop, and said the contents must be set up at once. The men, who had other work to do, sent around for two of the most reliable men from the other works. These assistants were not upon their oath. The "copy" set up by them was so amazing that one of them, who owed his position to a cardinal now in disgrace went and told him. The story may be summed up briefly: The procedure for the election of a pope is made up of traditions, written law and compromises. Besides this every pope gives directions in his will, which affect more or less the procedure of his successor's election.

The document referred to above was nothing less than the seventh pontifical will of Leo XIII. It was a new departure, indeed, in all papal traditions. Leo XIII was no longer contented with "bequeathing" his office to Cardinal Rampolla, as he tried to do last year. (The scheme was made public too soon and miscarried doctors in canon law having shown that such a bequest was null and void.) This time the document, written out entirely in Cardinal Rampolla's hand and signed by the pope, was simply a deed of conveyance of the tiara to the ambitious cardinal. The pope, after notifying his abdication ('in which he was within his right) set forth that his policy ought not to be interrupted by his death. The pope, addressing each cardinal by letter, and after referring to the interests of the church and the infallibility of the pope, entreats him not to oppose his choice, of a successor, the only man who knows all the secrets of the present papal policy. Now that this scheme is known it will come to nothing, but M. de Bonnefon feels sure that the fertile brain of Cardinal Rampolla will devise some new combination.

MITCHELL CONFERS WITH ROOSEVELT.

Operator's Proposition is not Satisfactory to Head of Mine Workers

Proposal Not Fair to Strikers but Some of Them Believe That Mitchell will Accept a Modified Plan

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 15. — President Mitchell of the Miners' Union, left shortly after 3 o'clock this morning for Washington, where he will confer with President Roosevelt to-day. He did not intimate that he was going until he left headquarters for the railroad station. It is known that the operators' proposition in its present form is not entirely satisfactory to Mr. Mitchell. Some of the local dealers are of the opinion that he is willing to accept a modified plan. The strikers feel that the arbitration scheme as it now stands is not fair to them.

If a proposition is finally agreed upon, it is probable a convention will be called to meet within four days from the time the call is sent out. It is stated by some of those at headquarters that Mr. Mitchell has the power to send the men back to work immediately.

Mr. Mitchell's departure for Washington has again raised hopes in the miners that the end is near. It is their opinion that President Roosevelt and he will come to some understanding, which will result in the speedy closing up of the negotiations.

The superintendents of the coal companies in this vicinity report that no additional men returned to work today. They do not look for an increase as long as the negotiations for arbitration are in progress.

According to a New York American despatch from Wilkesbarre, President Mitchell will at once call on President Roosevelt in Washington and lay before him the attitude of the mine workers towards a proposition for arbitration by the operators. This announcement is said to have been made by a person close to Senator McQuay.

MITCHELL WAITS ON ROOSEVELT.

Washington, Oct. 15.—John Mitchell, the strike leader, arrived at the White House at 11.50. He was unaccompanied save by several newspaper men, who had met him at the station. He was at once ushered in Secretary Cortelyou's office, where he remained for a few minutes before going upstairs. Commissioner of Labor, Wright, was with the President when Mr. Mitchell entered the room.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 15.—A thorough canvass of the district shows every indication that the proposition of a commission to settle the strike made by the presidents of the different mines will not be accepted in its present form. Though there is a division among the miners, it is thought that the suggestion to have the President of the United States select an arbitration commission, the constitution of which is partly laid down, limits the President too much.

This statement was handed out to the press by President Mitchell:

I fully appreciate with what anxiety the people of our country are awaiting the end of the coal strike. The coal operators have not addressed the Miners' Union or its officers, in making their public statement. It is therefore impossible for me to state the attitude of the miners at this time. I am now, as I have always been, deeply solicitous of the interests of the public and the welfare of the mine-workers, who have been on strike for the past five months. A formal statement defining our position and intentions will be issued just as soon as we are in possession of the full meaning of the proposition of the operators.

Outside of this statement, President Mitchell and his cohorts have maintained an admirable silence, though President Fahey intimated that the miners were not going to be "gold bricked" by any means.

There will be a conference between Mr. Mitchell and the three district presidents to-morrow, and it is thought the full sentiments of the strikers would be known and action be taken.

A damper was put on the otherwise enthusiastic crowd by a leader who said some of the miners would rather go down to straight defeat that submit to the proposition submitted.

ITEMS OF NEWS BY CABLE AND LETTER

London, Oct. 12.—It is understood that the Ministers at the Cabinet on Saturday resolved to adhere to clause seven of the Education Bill, in the form in which Parliament passed it before adjourning. As it stands the provisions journing. As it stands the provision places the voluntary schools under a Board of management consisting of six members, four to be chosen by the founders, who provide the buildings, and are to continue answerable for their upkeep, and two to represent the ratepayers. There are over fourteen thousand coluntary schools in existence in England.

Mr. Chamberlain emphatically declares that whatever happens the Ministry will not withdraw the bill, for its prestige would be gone if it did. That is to say, the Anglican Church would revolt. On the other hand, the Liberal Unionists (those of Mr. Chamberlain's own Birmingham fold in the van, will only be appeased by some degree of ratepayers' control over the church schools now to be rate-aided, which in the opinion of the church must destroy their Anglican character. Hence a nimpasse which Mr. Chamberlain's angry threats of the resignation of the Ministry do not remove.

HIS OWN REMEDY.

Mr. Chamberlain's own panacea is to give the ratepayers control, over sectarian education only, in the church schools, leaving the church supreme in religious teaching, but even if a plan of this nature is devisable, it would fail to give the church what it demands as vital, namely, an entirely church atmosphere in church schools. It looks indeed as if Mr. Chamberlain's published harangue in his Birmingham caucus and his open-door poll of his supporters was a clever deice to put the screw on the church, which knows only too well that if the Balfour Ministry should be overthrown it would get very much poorer terms from any conceivable Liberal Ministry.

London, Oct. 15—The Kreuz Zeitung has been occupied with the Boer war. England has been gradually obtaining a mastery over the Turkish provinces of Hejaz and Yemen. "English newspapers have described a state of insurrection there, which did not exist with the object of assisting the Government. Lord Curzon's plan is to become master of Mecca and Medina, and the masters of Mecca and Medina are the masters of the Mohammedan world."

Military conquest of the land is not intended by England, only a peaceful change. But Russia and France must be reckoned with. These powers cannot permit England to become master on both littorals. If they did, Obok would cease to be of importance, and Russia would see her dream of establishing herself at Rabeita or elsewhere on the Red Sea vanish. This is why the Negus is now negotiating with Russia. He wishes to prevent his country falling into a state of vassalage to England.

Advices from Cairo, while showing that the Government of the Negus, inspired by Menelik himself, is offering every inducement to Egypt to open up the country by rail communication between Omdurman and Sennar, Matamma, and Roseries on the Blue Nile and between Berber Kassala and Adowa further north, there is developing at the court of the Negus a strong Church party which, bent on drawing closer the bonds of the orthodox Russian and Abyssinian Churches, obstructs in every way every scheme of Menelik to improve his country through the medium of Anglo-Egyptian resources.

HALIBURTON FATALITY

Mother and Two Children Pinned Under a Straw Stack

A most distressing sad accident happened about 8 o'clock on Monday morning on a farm near Boskung Lake, about three miles from Minden. Mrs. Frank Graham, a woman about fifty years of age, was instantly killed, and her daughter, aged 14, was seriously injured.

Mrs. Graham, her daughter and a grandson named Richardson, a lad about ten years of age, and three cows were under a temporary shed, over which was piled considerable straw. Mrs. Graham was engaged in milking, and the two children were keeping her company. Suddenly the shed collapsed and fell in pinning them underneath. The little boy happened to be standing near the outer edge of the building and managed to burrow his way out. Hearing the cries of the girl he located her and soon had her liberated, but she was badly cut and bruised. He carried her to the house and then ran to the nearest neighbor for assistance. The work of removing the straw was pushed with vigor, and about half an hour later the body of the poor man was found pinned underneath a large timber and badly bruised and cut. The cattle, lying a few feet from the woman, were also dead. The little girl was stricken down near a buggy, and it is supposed that the wheels of the vehicle saved her life. The accident is supposed to have been caused by the rain and the heavy wind storm.

Mr. Graham, who is a thresher, left his home early this morning, and contemplated being away all week. If the little boy had not been able to free himself from the debris and give the alarm no doubt they would have lain there till Mr. Graham returned, as the nearest neighbor lives a mile away, and the road is not travelled very much.

THANKSGIVING DAY

The festival of Thanksgiving, the day upon which the people of Canada and the United States rest from their labors and render thanks to Almighty God, is of puritanical origin, and a native of the Western Hemisphere.

The first thanksgiving celebrated in America, though not connected with the Day, as we know it, took place in 1578, on the shores of Newfoundland. Rev. Mr. Walfall, a Church of England divine, who accompanied the Frobisher expedition, ordered the men to return thanks to God for having delivered them from the dangers of the deep, and for having brought them safely to land. He likely preached the first sermon, and celebrated the first Holy Communion in North America. Another thanksgiving day was celebrated in 1607 by the settlers of the Popham colony at Sagadahoc on the coast of Maine.

The first typical North American Thanksgiving Day, however, was held on December 13, 1621, and was the result of a direct order of the Puritan Governor of Massachusetts, Bradford. The festival owed its origination to a plenteous harvest, following a period of general depression.

The Governor despatches four colonists in search of game, to be used upon the occasion, and they returned with a supply of wild fowl, principally turkeys and in this manner the Thanksgiving turkey was made a feature for future years. Besides a full stock of good cheer the festival had two other sides of it. There was the religious ceremony, which was generally associated with a strong puritanical sermon, in which the preacher took occasion to remind the husbands of absent wives, who were engaged in preparing a sumptuous feast that they should not prefer the flesh-pots to spiritual things. An exhibition of drill was indulged in during the afternoon, when the military array of the colony turned out in full force. Strange to say, all the early associations of Thanksgiving Day are as prominent today in Canada as they were upon the coast of New England two centuries ago.

The other New England colonies followed Massachusetts in adopting the celebration, except that venison and bear meat were the favorite dishes in Connecticut and Rhode Island. At first the festival was not regularly celebrated; sometimes it was held once a year, sometimes twice; and it was sometimes skipped for one or two years; but beginning with 1687 the festival became a formal and an annual one in Massachusetts.

Another reason advanced for the adoption of Thanksgiving Day as an annual festival was that the Puritans regarded the celebration of Christmas as a "Popish custom" and, as they desired a festival at that period of the year, consequently the latter end of November was well suited to their wishes.

During the course of the Revolutionary War no less than eight Thanksgiving Days were ordered to be celebrated, every year, by the Continental Congress. The festivals were held in April, May, June and December.

Among the former customs which have disappeared was a raffle for turkeys and geese, which took place on Thanksgiving Eve, and in many instances the successful competitor found that his bird was a tough one. A shooting match was another enjoyment, but it was found that it kept the young men away from church and was consequently frowned upon. Up to the middle of this century it was considered quite as fashionable as on New Year's Day to make a number of calls, the well-known Ward McAllister, of society fame, being a participant in the latter custom.

THE PHILADELPHIA FIRE VETERANS

The steps of the Courthouse in Toronto is a vantage point for many a fine photograph and on the morning of Tuesday October 14, there was gathered there a notable assembly for the purpose of "having their pictures taken."

The interesting group was a contingent of the Veteran Fire Association of Philadelphia, now visiting in Toronto, together with the Allentown band, of Allentown, Pa., and a complement of thirty-five ladies. The Veterans made a fine showing, uniformed in white helmets, drab overcoats, white belts inscribed "Veterans" and gloves to match. Each man had a natty blue cap slung at his belt also. Of these ninety hale and hearty-looking men, not one was under fifty, and some had reached the ripe age of eighty years. As they marched up to the court house to the music of "God Save our Noble King," all in perfect form and drawing by stout ropes an old hand-engine, as venerable as themselves, and equally as well preserved, they attracted much enthusiasm from the quickly formed crowd of observers. Some little time was occupied in getting the contingent satisfactorily placed and much frolicsome eagerness was exhibited by the "sisters" while it required constant exhortation from the attendant police to keep the sightseers from intruding scraps of themselves on the focused area. The contingent was accompanied by the following officers:—Chief James Baxter, now Chief of Philadelphia Fire Dept., of Edwards; Vice-Pres., W. Macdibbet, Pres. Organization of Fire Underwriters of Philadelphia; S. Hensel, Fin.-Sec.; R. C. Gill, Rec.-Sec., of Philadelphia Customs House, all old Veterans. The headquarters are at 166 N.10th st., and The Times was promised a hearty welcome and an interesting investigation of numerous rare relics, if at any time we should be in Philadelphia. The hand engine occupied the foreground and was fraternally draped with the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack. It was one used by the veterans until 1871 when it was replaced by modern appliances. Although shelved for younger inventions, the veteran engine was in high order and looked as if, with its caretakers, it might yet be the "hero of a hundred fights." After the photographing of the whole contingent, the Allentown band posed, their neat blue braided uniforms and bright instruments making an effective group. The band consists of thirty-six pieces; it was first organized in 1858 and re-organized in 1886. After the negatives were taken the band performed two selections which met with hearty applause. The photographers were Messrs. Galbraith, of Toronto.

The Times was courteously afforded information by Mr. W. Lester and a comrade veteran. As one watched this fine body of men fall into line simultaneously and marched away with the rythmic tread of trained feet, one was forcibly reminded of the declarations of Cato Major who maintained that Old Age could always accomplish more because already it had done so much.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A trail of leze majesty convictions has followed Emperor William's recent trips through Germany. A Berlin despatch says that the Duesseldorf visit cost an aggregate of nineteen years of imprisonment for insult to his majesty. During 1902, 643 prosecutions for lese majesty were tried in Berlin, of which 186 were thrown out of court as false. The sentences varied between five years and twelve months.

Miss Rose Cleveland, the sister of ex-President Cleveland, is a successful farmer. She now owns about one-half of a 700-acre island near Islesboro', Me., having within a few days acquired an additional tract of land. Miss Cleveland has about 800 chickens, a large herd of cows, and a big vegetable garden on her island, where she raises prize pumpkins, fat chickens, and makes prime dairy butter. She handles her affairs herself, it is said, but employs a large force of men. There is but one other cottage on the island.

Two years ago the Shah of Persia spent about $2,000,000 on his European tour, besides a large sum devoted to the purchase of real and sham jewelry. Apparently he found himself hampered by the smallness of the sum named, for last February before departing from home to attend the coronation of King Edward he arranged for a loan of $6,000,000. Even if he lavished this vast amount in this trip, however, he still fell far behind the extravagance of his father who is said to have spent $10,000,000 during a six months' progress through Europe in 1873.

THE SMUGGLING OF CONTRABAND SPIRITS

Smuggle the People Must and Smuggle They Will

A CELEBRATED SMUGGLER

New York, Oct. 14.—A French ship, loaded apparently with salt, was wrecked on this side of the Atlantic recently, and the islanders to whose coast the wreckage drifted, got gloriously drunk. The ship was supposedly bound for Newfoundland, and a well-posted member of the English Parliament stated that it was really bound for St. Pierre and Miquelon.

This branch of shipping, commonly known as the smuggling of contraband spirits, is a most flourishing trade, and all the revenue officers which and Government had appointed for the last twenty years and all the revenue cutters and all the extra men which it has employed in that time to stop the business have had no more than a temporary effect. It is as bad as ever now and if the people who know are to be believed, it is worse than ever.

It is not till some time is spent on the lower banks, shores, one might almost say, of the mighty River St. Lawrence that it becomes apparent how difficult it must be for the Government officials to cope in any way with this trade, writes a special correspondent of the Chicago Chronicle, from Rimouski, Quebec. It is not till the numerous islands on the way up from Quebec and the hidden coves and the thousand and one hiding places for small boats are noticed that the arduous nature of this work can be realized.

Smuggle the people must and smuggle they will. The thing comes natural to them. Their fathers and grand-fathers have done it before them, and what was good enough for them is good enough for their descendants. Even if the moneyed men in Quebec and other places did not buy their merchandise they would probably do it still to a certain extent, because it has become second nature to them.

It is difficult to state how much contraband liquor enters Canada in this way, for neither the smugglers themselves nor the revenue officials care to tell, but it must be a large quantity. And the spirits do not all come from France, either. Thousands and thousands of gallons of United States whisky and brandy and shipped to St. Pierre and Miquelon and from there retailed to the Canadian smugglers. One great difficulty which the revenue officers find in trying to stop the trade is the sympathy of the people living on the banks of the lower St. Lawrence with the men who actually run in the contraband stuff. Not only this, but highly respectable people in the parishes thereabout will club together and invest in an expedition and thus increase their little savings.

TALES OF THE TRADE.

Let any one go down the Intercolonial Railway as far as Rimouski or Father Point and spend a few weeks there hunting and become friends with the fishermen and the pilots and the small farmers and he will hear many remarkable tales of the trade. No one there considers it dishonorable to have an interest in a smuggling enterprise, and almost any one will give shelter to or lie for a smuggler whole hard beset, and many will allow goods to be hidden temporarily on their premises. All the way up the river on both sides as far as Quebec people are permeated with the smuggling spirit.

The Island of Orleans, where the precious snowbirds gather, a great summer resort for Quebeckers, who have their summer residences there, and the place where the annual competitions and tices of the Dominion Ordnance Department take place, was for years, it is said, for smugglers of contraband spirits. Even now it is whispered that many a barrel and jug finds a hiding place there.

Old people going to market with vegetables would bring the stuff into town hidden in bags of potatoes, protected by layers of onions and put away under the false bottoms of their wagons. When they were finally caught they had usually been warned in advance and no proof was found against them, and after a reasonable space of time they would commence all over again.

Ten years ago the trade was doing such harm to the business of the Canadian distillers—the Walkers, the Gooderhams, the Seagrams and others—that they offered the Dominion Government to bear the cost of a first-class steamer of great speed, but, though the matter was discussed and almost came to a head, the idea was finally abandoned.

One of the greatest depositories for contraband spirits was at one time not so very long ago near St. Anne de Beaupre, the shrine visited by thousands upon thousands of good Catholics. It was a large breeding establishment of fowls of all sorts, including turkeys for the United States market. Another place was an immense potato farm. The promoters of this smuggling enterprise would occasionally take their friends to look at their crop of potatoes, and when the latter expressed the opinion that they had seen many better ones the farmers would wink their eyes and and push a stick in the earth and show them that barrels upon barrels of smuggled whisky were hidden underneath the plants.

IN REVENUE SERVICE.

Many of the celebrated smugglers of a few years ago who were not afraid to own up to the trade have either died or retired with a competence, but younger men have sprung up to carry on the work. A celebrated smuggling captain is now in the Canadian revenue service. He with others gave the revenue cutter Constance heaps of trouble. Finally he was caught in a systematic raid of some months, in which the Government enlisted the services of the present chief of the Montreal detective force, Silas H. Carpenter.

One of the favorite dodges of the smugglers is to get a rumor got abroad to the effect that a load of spirits will be run up the river on a certain night. On the time appointed a small schooner does come skulking in, and is watched and followed and captured when it finally lands, only to be found filled with useless rubbish, while on the same night a boat filled to the gunwales with contraband stuff is run into some other cove on the shore on one of the many islands and unloaded.

The smugglers have a great system of signals along the shore and all sorts of dodges to deceive the Government lighthouse keepers, such as repainting their vessels and giving them different sets of sails and rigging. Their loyalty to one another and their friends is a byword, and a case is still remembered of a prince of smugglers, now dead a few years, who, with his companions, being hard pressed by the revenue officers while they were conveying a barrel of stuff to safety, saw nothing for it but to hide it in the well of a well known country doctor.

The revenue officers finally found the barrel there, and the doctor was hauled up to court. When he was on the point of being sentenced the smuggler turned up and acknowledged that he was the culprit who had hidden the barrel there, and his manly avowal and smooth explation of how he came in possession of the barrel not only insured him a very small fine, but the respect of the authorities, who unwittingly on the strength of this allowed him to carry on his extensive smuggling business till his death.

EUROPEAN DISPATCHES

Where is That $35,000 for Parnell's Monument

The Newmarket Races—American Jockeys Preferred—Discontent in Russia

London, Oct. 15.—The Irish Times, in an article on the procession on Sunday to the grave of Charles Stewart Parnell, asks what has become of the $30,000 which Mr. Redmond, M.P., and then Lord Mayor of Dublin, collected in America for the erection of the statue of Parnell in Dublin. The paper says the foundation stone has been laid near rotunda, but nothing more has been done. It adds: "The money collected in America, if reasonably well invested, should amount to over $35,000. Dublin is paved with the foundation stones of monuments to patriots which have never got further for lack of funds, but in Parnell's case the money was collected, and no account was even given to American subscribers or the Irish public."

GERMAN LANGUAGE.

London, Oct. 15.—In connection with the Pan-Germanic movement, a Vienna correspondent comments on a recent article in the Staats-Zeitung of New York, in which that paper anticipates the day when the German will put the English language in the shade and rule, both on land and sea. The correspondent says that, though such expressions are extravagant, a serious attempt is being made to create in the midst of the American people, a formidable alien factor, taking its inspirations from abroad. Prince Henry's visit to America was only intended as a flattering attention to United States, but was also regarded as a means of awakening a sentiment of solidarity with the old home among German-Americans. The votes of these German-Americans, says the correspondent, might turn the scale and decide the policy of the United States at a critical moment when differences might arise in regard to the practical application of the Munroe Doctrine.

GOOD RACING FOR NEWMARKET.

London, Oct. 15.—Some of the most interesting racing of the year will take place at Newmarket this week. The Middle Park Plate for 2-year olds, the winner of which generally starts as afvorite for the following year's Derby, and Czarewitch chiefly occupy attention. The American owners, Mr. Whitney, Mr. Foxhall Keene, Mr. J. R. Keene, and Mr. Croker, are strongly represented in the four days' programme, and on the first day's card alone have between them no fewer than sixteen entries. Their winning prospects, however, are not very bright; the only horse at the present moment that looks like winning is Mr. Whitney's Ballantrae, in the Newmarket Oaks, in which race the King will be represented. In view of the Cambridgeshire, the prospects are that Ballantrae may be reserved for that race, though it is difficult to see how the outing could jeopardize the chance of the filly, which was a firm favorite today at 9 to 1.

GOOD CHARACTER.

London, Oct. 14.—In order to prevent the repetitions of frauds that were caused by collision between jockeys and bookmakers, the English and French jockey clubs are negotiating on an agreement that before renewing the licenses of jockeys, no matter what their nationality, they must produce letters proving their good character and guaranteeing their good conduct.

PREFER AMERICAN JOCKEYS.

London, Oct. 15.—Commenting on the French turf scandals and the suspension of the American jockeys, Rigby, McIntyre, Henry and J. Reiff, the Daily Telegraph says: "The partiality shown by French owners for American jockeys must be a convincing proof that such severe punishment would not have been meted out had circumstances admitted mitigation."

EXPRESSIONS OF DISCONTENT.

London, Oct. 15.—Every day it becomes more evident, says a St. Petersburg correspondent, that all the efforts of M. De Plehve, Minister of the Interior, have not availed to prevent the open, general and emphatic expressions of discontent with the existing bureaucratic system, and the whole social and political condition of Russia. The correspondent says that a hopeful feature of the situation is that Zemstvo, the only representative institution in Russia, refused to allow themselves to be discouraged by the Czar's recent warning, "mind your own business," and are insisting on playing a prominent part in the inquiry in regard to the needs of agriculture. They are also demanding the extension of their independence and sphere of activity as among the necessary conditions for a revival of agriculture. The Minister of the Interior, the correspondent adds, has vetoed the project to publish a periodical, under the control of the Moscow Zemstvo, to serve as an organ of all Zemstvo institutions. M. De Plehve gives as his reason for this prohibition, that it is the business of the central Government alone to secure the co-operation of the various local representative assemblies.

WOULD NOT STOP FIGHTS.

London, Oct. 15.—A Paris correspondent says that several members of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, have asked the Government to prevent the bull fights about to be given in some districts of France. Premier Combes declined to interfere. The Premier took this attitude on the ground that the present state of legislation in regard to cruelty to animals does not warrant action on the part of the Government. The correspondent remarks that such an admission, coming from such a source, is certainly humiliating.

Some Facts of Interest

New York, Oct. 17.—Developments as to Pacific Coast matters among the railways running into that territory now preclude the liklihood at present of the extension of St. Paul to the Pacific. Less that two years ago Chairman Roswell Miller resigned from the Union Pacific Directorate because he believed the interests of St. Paul were subordinated by that company to those of the Chicago and Northwestern. The preparation of St. Paul to extend its lines to the western coast have caused Union Pacific to look with favor upon a St. Paul-Union Pacific traffic alliance, such as was recently negotiated between St. Paul and Mo. Pacific. There is now good authority for the statement that such an agreement had been consummated which will furnish St. Paul all the trackage advantages west of Omaha that the Union Pacific can afford. After Nov. 1st it is announced that St. Paul trains will run solidly from Chicago to the Pacific coast, using the Union Pacific tracks as freely as the Chicago and Northwestern. This has been brought about through the influence of Rockefeller and Gould. The Rockefeller crowd dominates the St. Paul and is very powerful in the Harriman syndicate, which controls Union Pacific. Neither Gould nor Harriman want another road to the Pacific coast. Chairman Miller or some other St. Paul man will go back into the Union Pacific Directorate. This plan largely benefits all companies interested.

The sixth annual Frisco statement is out; it is splendid. Earnings for the year increased over two and one-quarter millions of dollars, tonnage increased 13 per cent. The road expended nearly a million in one year in improvements. It is another of the excellent annual reports being given out now-a-days illustrating the magnificent progress of all American lines. J. W. Gates is to arrive in New York to-day. He is reported as stating before he sailed that he expected to see the strike settled by the time of his arrival here. He will be an additional factor in the share market, at last there is an ending in decreases reported for our exports. For September the report shows an increase in our exports amounting to about six million dollars in excess of the same month for the preceding year. Cotton increased about thirteen million; it was off set by a decline in provisions and minerals and oil. Anything that enlarges the supply of commercial bills in our present foreign exchange market is a factor of immense importance.

Continuous strength was the feature of to-day's trading improvement, extended to all stock groups. A lower range of prices reported from London cut but a sorry figure, the market opening somewhat off at the opening, then advancing immediately under a flood of buying orders. Several issues recorded gains of two points and more, while improvements from half per cent, to a point and one half were numberless. The demand in the loan crowd showed marked increase. The short interest is a strong leverage to assist in the work of advancing quotations. Bulls on the market are more scarce than they were. While one month ago you could not find a bear, to-day they are most plentiful. As a rule, when such is the case, the market will do to buy into. Money closed last loan at 7 per cent.

RESULTS:

Some years ago the public was offered the following stocks at nominal figures. Each one to day is in demand at a fancy price and paying a large income:

$500 invested in Gold Coin in 1897 is now worth	$11,000.00.	$500 invested in Home Mining in '99 now worth	$12,300.00
$500 invested in Lillie in 1895 is now worth	9,000.00	$500 invested in Vindicator in 1897 is now worth	3,100.00
$500 invested in Portland in 1896 is now worth	8,000.00	$500 invested in Isabella in 1898 is now worth	2,100.00
$500 invested in Elkton in 1896 is now worth	3,420.00	$500 invested in Gold King in 1897 is now worth	5,000.00

There are thousands of instances in Colorado where investments in bona fide properties have returned many hundred fold for every dollar invested and have made men and women independent for the balance of their lives. More fortunes are created in gold mining than in any of the other industries, and it is the only product the demand for which fails not and market quotations control not.

A small investment in this company, which is safe and sure of quick returns, may bring an enormous return at any moment. It has the possibilities of rivalling the great mines of the past

ED. McCARTHY & COMPANY, Bankers, Responsibility, $100,000
GALVESTON, TEXAS, September 18, [illegible]

This bank will receive subscriptions for the stock of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company and hold the funds in trust, subject to terms of guarantee, which are as follows:

"Subscriptions to the stock of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company sent to or deposited with Ed. McCarthy & Co., Galveston, are to be held in trust for subscribers until the Company cuts an ore shoot of smelting grade (2 oz. to 6 oz., or $40.00 to $120.00 per ton) and makes shipments. Upon the Company furnishing a certificate executed by competent parties that a tunnel has cut an ore shoot and shipments made of smelting ore, the bank will transfer all funds to the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company, and certificates of stock will be issued to subscribers upon presentation of receipt issued by this bank. Should the Company fail to accomplish this within three months' time all funds so held in trust will be returned to subscribers upon presentation of receipt issued by this bank.

The Board of Directors of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company are well known to us to be reliable and responsible, and we can recommend the Company as worthy of confidence.

Signed) D. McCARTHY & CO'Y

THIS IS A GOING, NOT A WAITING, ENTERPRISE

The property of this Company, consisting of over 100 acres, with one mile of a true fissure vein, is located in Gunnison County, Colo., in what is known as the Gunnison Gold Belt, which is in the great Gold Belt of Colorado, the "Mother" lode, or dike, which has produced 55 per cent. more gold then the total output of the Cripple Creek district.

The best machinery money can buy has been installed and paid for and with it development is being pushed night and day.

Smelting ore has been shipped from shallow workings to the Bueno Vista Smelter—value $40 to $120 per ton. The cost of mining, freight and smelters' charges amounts to $12 per ton. So, with oceans of this ore, this mine has the possibilities of rivalling the great mines of the past.

The capital stock of the Company is $100,000—par value of shares $1.00—full paid and non-assessable. A portion of its treasury stock is now offered at

25 Cents Per Share---Par Value $1.00

FULL PAID AND NON-ASSESSABLE

The proceeds are to be placed in a trust fund, so, when guarantee is complied with and shipments of ore begins, fund will be on hand for the immediate erection of mills and boarding houses, buying horses and wagons for hauling ore to the railroad, and make this not a small mine, but a great one. Order at once, as the right is reserved to advance this stock without notice and to return any subscriptions.

INVESTIGATE AT OUR EXPENSE

Any person or association of persons in any town or community desiring to buy as much or more than $600 worth of Pitkin Gold Belt mining and reduction Company's stock may deposit such money in their local bank, to be held by such bank pending a trip by one of their number to visit Pitkin, Colo., to personally inspect the gold belt and investigate the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company and its property, and upon this Company being notified by such bank of such deposit, will forward to the person selected free transportation to Pitkin, Colo., and return. If, upon thorough investigation, the representations made by us are found to be true, such investment is to be made; otherwise, all money is to be returned by such bank to the parties depositing same.

ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18-inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realize the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purpose of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

We furnish the rich property—you furnish the mill. In a few months it will be in operation—almost before you expect it—and we divide the immense returns.

Permanent Cure for Neuralgia

Experienced sufferers state that no remedy relieves neuralgia so quickly as a hot application of Polson's Nerviline, the strongest liniment made. Nerviline is certainly very penetrating and has a powerful influence over neuralgic pains which it destroys almost at once. Nerviline is highly recommended for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica and Toothache. Better try a 25c. bottle, it's all right.

THE RIVER DREDGING

A Channel to be Cut 6 Feet Deep and 117 Wide

It is understood that the dredge, which will start to work at once, will dig a channel six feet deep by one hundred and seventeen feet wide. The dredging will be placed on the sides of the channel.

The probable cost of the work, the Times is informed, has been greatly exaggerated. It may not exceed $15,000. Even at this expenditure, it will be a good thing for the town.

Rifle Matches, Golf, Rugby Match and Concert at Night

Amongst the attractions for Thanksgiving Day are the following:

THE CANAL TO BE USED

Three Hundred Cords of Wood to be Brought In

On Tuesday Mr. Wm. Trennum, of Harvey, called at The Times and enquired regarding the section of the canal between Lakefield and Peterborough. Mr. Trennum said he had 300 cords of wood that he intends to ship to Peterborough, provided he could do so by way of the canal.

The Times telephoned Mr. R. B. Rogers superintendent of the canal, and learned that there would probably be little difficulty in the way. The canal had not yet been taken off the hands of the contractors, and it would be necessary to make application to the department at Ottawa when no doubt permission would be granted.

C. P. R. FREIGHT CHANGES

Offices Goes to Toronto—Mr. M. H. Brown Promoted

Two important changes take place in the C.P.R. freight department. Mr. W. B. Bulling, assistant freight traffic manager, whose office has been transferred from Montreal to Toronto, will arrive with his personal staff of four or five clerks and occupy the offices of the solicitors who will be moved up town This change indicates the growing importance of Toronto as a C.P.R. freight distributing centre. Mr. M. H. Brown, who has been assistant-general freight agent of the Ontario Division, today becomes general freight agent, occupying the position vacated by the promotion of Mr. Lanaigan to Winnipeg. Mr. Brown is one of the most popular younger railway men of Ontario, and he will be warmly congratulated upon this promotion by his many friends in Peterborough and elsewhere.

GRATEFUL FOR FOOD

Lived Seven Weeks on Milk

"Three years ago this month, I was a great sufferer with stomach trouble," writes Mrs. William Leigh of Prairie du Sac., Wis. "I had to give up eating meat, potatoes, and sweets, and lived simply on bread and tea; finally that too had to be given up. I got so weak I could not work and I took nothing into my stomach for seven weeks but milk. I had tried three doctors and all for no purpose; the last doctor advised me to stop all medicine. I had to anyway. I was so weak I was prostrate in bed.

A friend advised me to try Grape-Nuts but I was afraid to when a teaspoonful of milk brought tears to my eyes, my stomach was so raw. But I tried one teaspoonful a day of the Grape-Nuts for one week and finding it agreed with me, could walk out to the kitchen. In four weeks I walked half a block and today I do my own light housekeeping.

I live on Grape-Nuts and know they saved my life; my people all thought I could not live a month when I commenced using them, and are very much surprised at the change in me. I am very grateful that there is such a food to be obtained for those who have weak stomachs."

ASHBURNHAM WEDDINGS

Mr. Chill Turner Weds Miss Daisy Yenney Yesterday Morning

A very pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday morning in St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt.

The contracting parties were Miss Daisy E., daughter of Mr. H. A. Yenney, principal of the South Central school, and Mr. Achilles W. Turner, son of Mr. J. J. Turner, town.

The bride was becomingly attired in a dark navy blue travelling dress and picture hat to match, and was attended by her sister, Miss Lillian Yenney, who wore white organdie trimmed with valenciennes lace. Mr. Reginald Turner, brother of the groom, performed the duties of best man.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the young couple and guests returned to the home of the bride's parents on Homewood avenue, where an elaborate wedding breakfast was partaken of.

The happy young couple were the recipients of a number of very choice presents. The employees of J. J. Turner & Sons presented them with a very handsome dinner set, and the bride was given a handsome check by B. F. Mason & Co., on whose staff she has been for some time past.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner left on the morning train for Toronto, Buffalo and points west, and will take up their residence on Stewart street, Ashburnham, on their return.

CRAIG—RAY.

On Tuesday evening another pretty wedding was celebrated in Ashburnham, when Miss Laura Elsie Craig was united in marriage to Mr. R. W. Ray, Peterborough, at the home of her father, Mr. J. T. Craig.

The bride was assisted by Miss Minnie Craig, while Mr. Arthur Noble performed similar duties for the groom.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. J. A. Wilson. After a short wedding tour to Buffalo and other points, Mr. and Mrs. Ray will return and reside on King street, Peterborough.

WAND—THROOP.

The residence of Mrs. William Wand, Ashburnham, was the scene of a very interesting event on Tuesday evening, when her daughter, Miss Katie, was married to Mr. Albert Throop, of Ware street, Peterborough, by Rev. C. L. Thompson, of Mark street Methodist church.

White organdie trimmed with chiffon ribbon was the becoming robe worn by the bride, who was assisted by Miss Nellie McCabe, who wore a pretty dress of like material. Miss Sadie Patterson performed the duties of flower girl. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. W. J. Patterson, of Ottawa, and Mr. Edward Wand performed the duties of groomsman.

The many friends in town of this popular young couple wish them all the happiness this world can bestow. Mr. and Mrs. Throop will reside on Stewart street, Ashburnham.

TO DIVIDE COAL

Operators Divide the Continent Into Separate Districts

Washington, Oct. 16 — It is understood here that the operators are glad to have their side of the case laid before the president, and especially the work.

It is said that they have divided the country into districts and will attempt to equalize the supply so that no one community will suffer; also that the railroads will make similar arrangements to handle soft coal so as to supply all who can make use of it in place of the anthracite.

STRAYED CATTLE.

Strayed from the premises of the undersigned, lot 15, 8th con. of Ennismore, about the last week in September, six yearling cattle — three heifers and three steers. Anyone who will give such information as will lead to their recovery will be suitably rewarded.

The Band in Norwood

The 57th Band went down on the local last night to Norwood, where they gave one of their splendid concerts. There was a good attendance, and never was there a more delighted audience. The programme was particularly good, every number being a gem. Quite a number of Peterborough people took in the concert. The band returned by special train at 11 o'clock.

BAER IS MYSTERIOUS.

New York, Oct. 15.—It was learned early to-day that President Baer of the Philadelphia and Reading Company was called to New York on Sunday, and that he spent the day in close conference, probably with J. P. Morgan, over the anthracite coal miners' strike. What the outcome of the supposed conference will be is a matter of complete guess work.

Uncommon Colds.

"It is just a common cold," people say, "there's no danger in that." Admitting their statement, then there are uncommon colds, colds which are dangerous; for many a fatal sickness begins with a cold. If we could tell the common cold from the uncommon we could feel quite safe. But we can't. The uncommon variety is rarely recognized until it has fastened its hold on the lungs, and there are symptoms of consumption.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures coughs, bronchitis, "weak" lungs and other diseases of the organs of respiration. It increases the supply of pure, rich blood and builds up the emaciated body.

"I took a severe cold which settled in the bronchial tubes," writes Rev. Frank Hay, of Nortonville, Jefferson Co., Kansas. After trying medicines labeled 'Sure Cure,' almost without number, I was led to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles and was cured, and have stayed cured. When I think of the great pain I had to endure, and the terrible cough I had, it seems almost a miracle that I was so soon relieved. That God may spare you many years and abundantly bless you is the prayer of your grateful friend."

If you ask your dealer for "Golden Medical Discovery" because you have confidence in its cures, do not allow yourself to be switched off to a medicine claimed to be "just as good," but which you did not ask for and of which you know nothing.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure dizziness and sick headache.

COAL $5.00 A TON WITH THE WONDERFUL

STAR HEATER

The only heater that is guaranteed to give satisfaction with soft as well as hard coal. As a fuel economizer it is unequalled, producing heat on about one-third the coal used in any other heater in existence.

The Star has a tube behind for the escape of the gas. As anyone who uses soft coal knows, the gas accumulates under the fresh coal, and if there is no escape there will be explosions and puffs of smoke. In the Star this disappears in the gas escape. The Star has a sliding damper and ornamental door of mica.

After being filled, the Star will heat for 48 hours without attention. It will hold fire and give out heat longer than any other stove.

The Star is 25 per cent more economical than any other stove.

MORE THAN 5,000 ARE IN USE IN THE LOWER PROVINCES.

PRICE LIST

DIRECTIONS

When filling the stove always shut the draught door at the bottom.

Keep the small opening in the back pipe closed except when cleaning.

Clean the back pipe every two weeks.

COAL CONSUMERS, ATTENTION!

We are using one No. 3 Star stove in our large rooms, where formerly we had four large wood heaters, and get more heat now than before. The wood stoves cost us $4.50 every week for fuel, and the Star stove which we are now using costs us only $1.50, making a saving of $3.00 per week in the price of fuel—which would soon pay for the stove. We can recommend this stove to any person wanting a first-class heater. We would not use any other stove that is made.

ST. PETER'S T.A.S.
M. J. Serre, Chairman Trustees.

We certify that we have in use one No. 3 Star stove in our large pool and billiard room, the size of which is 65x30 ft., with 16 ft. ceiling. We have perfect heat, and the most coal we have used on the coldest day yet has been three scuttles in 24 hours. We are so well pleased with the stove that we would not use any other.

BOCAMORA & CALLAHAN.

I have been using a No. 3 Star stove in the sitting room at the City Hotel for some time past, and it has proved so satisfactory that I have ordered two more to replace two stoves in the upstairs. The Star gives more heat than the other stoves with half the amount of coal.

MARTIN CONNORS.

We have in use in our composing room a No. 3 Star coal stove, and wish to state that it is giving eminent satisfaction. The entire absence of gas by the escape provided, the increase of heat and the saving in coal are special features of the Star, and it requires a minimum of attention.

NEARLY SEVENTY THOUSAND PEOPLE PERISH.

Returned Catholic Priest Relates his Experience in Land Rent by Volcanoes

Vancouver, B.C., October 17—The Rev. Father Lebrand, a French priest, who was in charge of the church of San Juan de Dois, in the city of Quezaltenango, Guatemala, which was destroyed by the recent volcanic eruption and earthquake there, recently passed through Vancouver on his way to California.

The rev. father who bore evidence of the awful privation and weeks of horror in a country literally torn asunder by mysterious force, was interviewed by a reporter for the Vancouver Province and told a graphic tale of the trials which he had undergone in that stricken city.

The city of Quezaltenango, which had a population of 70,000 was almost totally destroyed a few months ago, during which time over 7,000 lost their lives in the awful volcanic eruption and the earthquake that followed. The city is situated at the foot of two volcanic mountains, Santa Maria and Cerro Guemado. These mountains are in a direct line west of Mont Pelee, and an eruption took place simultaneously with the volcanic outburst of that volcano. Although the eruption of these two volcanoes was not so serious as the fearful devastation caused by the explosion of Mont Pelee, the earthquakes which continued in that district for weeks afterwards caused incalculable damage and rendered the land a perfect inferno.

Father Lebrand had with him a number of photographs of scenes taken after the earthquake had destroyed the city. His own church was a magnificent edifice, and was built 200 years ago by the Spaniards. Its walls were of massive stone, very thick and solid. It was a great church, but still the earthquake crumbled it up as if it had been of paper. One picture shows the church as it was before the eruption and earthquake, in all the glory of its antiquity, and another view gives an idea of the awful force of the convulsion, and the interior of the church is a mass of ruins.

THE PRIEST'S STORY.

"Yes," said Father Lebrand to The Province representative, "I saw what many thought was the end of the world. I saw the living entombed and the graves opened. I saw the work of centuries undone in a few seconds, and I witnessed whole mountains moving and rocking and emitting fire and flame. Yes, I thought for a time it was the end of the world, too.

"The city of Quezaltenango, in which my church was located, was a beautiful place—beautiful and rich. It was well built, and some of the magnificent buildings were created over 200 years ago, and were the most substantial edifices imaginable. It was about 5.30 o'clock on that fatal evening when the disaster befell us. It was dark at that time, for it gets dark there shortly after six. It all came without any warning——"

Father Lebrand paused and passed his hand over his face, on which the scars of the wounds he received at the time are still visible. It seemed as if when he closed his eyes, the scenes of horror he had witnessed came back to him with all their vividness, and a terrible experience had evidently permanently affected his nerves.

"I cannot find words to express the horror of it," resumed Father Lebrand. "With the first shock I was struck with terror. The earth and the mountains moved up and down and from side to side. The noise was terrific. Great buildings came tumbling down all around us. In the house where I was stopping at the time, the furniture fell, and the walls crumbled in places. I tried to escape, but the movement of the room had effectually closed my door. I finally got out, astonished at being alive. Running to a companion —another French priest — I found him seated on his bed speechless with terror. Around him on every side huge stones were falling, and how he escaped was a miracle. Together we ran a short distance to get clear of the falling buildings, and were just in time to see a WHOLE VILLAGE DESTROYED.

"This was a village of 500 souls, near the outskirts of the city, and as we looked an awful abyss opened right through the centre of it, and the whole village disappeared from the sight of man,— utterly wiped out. Chasms opened here and there, and the continual movement of the ground produced an effect like acute seasickness. God miraculously preserved me through it all, and I worked and worked amid the scenes of horror. Almost the first thing I thought of after escaping from the house I was in was the blessed sacrament and the holy vessels of the church. Running into the edifice, which had been already partially destroyed, I secured the Holy Eucharist and escaped. Five minutes later the great roof was tumbling down on the place where I had crossed, and had I been there I would have perished with the others who met their death on that memorable night.

"All the people fled to the plaza, the public square, and there we spent a night of terror. Those of us who could, helped the injured, and there was plenty of that to do. The hospital was among the buildings destroyed, and some of the patients had been killed in their beds by the falling walls. Our schools and all the large public buildings were in ruins, and to add to our troubles, fire broke out among the wreckage. It was a fearful night. In the morning the sun shone on a ruined city.

DOUBTED NO LONGER.

"I met a man that morning who shortly before had professed not to believe in God. He was pale and trembling and the abject picture of physical terror. "And do you still doubt?" I said to him. 'Father,' he said, I believe. It took man 200 years to build this city; it has taken God less than a night to destroy it. I believe!

"For days and nights the survivors labored. There was much to do. There were thousands of maimed and crippled and fifty surgeons were kept busy performing operations. For fifteen days after the seismic shock I assisted the surgeons at their operations. They cut off many limbs to save lives, and yet over 200 persons died from the operations. It was terrible.

THE DEAD WERE RAISED.

"I will tell you of one ghastly incident among many I saw during these terrible days. One of the priests died from—well, he died. As he had been a good man, and loved by all, we buried him with more ceremony than was given to most men at that time. I, with five other priests stood around the body in the open casket at the cemetery. With crucifixes raised, we six started to sing, and then— then the ground started to move. We saw the body of the dead rise out of the coffin, and, horror stricken, we almost ran away. The ground swayed and heaved, and we were thrown around like corks on a wave. Pretty soon all was quiet again. The body moved no longer, and we proceeded with the service. But should I live a thousand years, I will never forget that sight. I will see at night that body raised from the coffin, I will hear the people scream; I will feel the horror of it all.

THREATENED WITH PLAGUE.

"The first awful shock, which followed the eruption was followed by other shocks every fifteen minutes exactly. Then there was a cessation for several hours and after that they came every three hours. They were still continuing at those periods when I left. The condition of the city had then become very desperate. The grave yards had been opened by the seismic disturbances and I saw bodies that had been thrown out of the graves. Bodies of those who were killed were neglected for a time, and a panic filled the hearts of the survivors. We were threatened with a plague. The air, the ground, everything was tainted.

"I grew ill, desperately ill, and I fled. I was dying and I fled for the coast. My people said, 'Father, do not desert us, do not go.' But I did go, for I knew if I stayed there any longer my life would only be a question of a few days. With careful nursing they saved my life on the coast, and then I came north to San Francisco.

"There I met a wealthy family who had been members of my church. A young lady, who had assisted me in many ways on helping the poor of my parish, urged me to return as soon as I recovered my health, and I consented. From San Francisco I went to Denver, from there to Texas, and from there finally reached the city of Mexico, on my way to Gautemala. It was there that I met others from my old home who told me that the earth was still quaking; that the mountains gave further evidence of still other eruptions, and that, to make matters worse, the country was threatened with a political revolution that promised disaster and distress to those who had escaped the war of the elements. So I came north again and went to Manitoba, where I worked some eight years ago as a parish priest. While there I attended the consecration of the new bishop of the Yukon, who passed through here recently on his way north.

"Some day, perhaps, I will return to that once beautiful land which I had learned to love, and which had been my home for so many years. I am now on my way to visit a friend in a monastery in California, where I intend to try and recuperate my health."

The Archbishop Has Refused

Mgr. Bruchesi Has Declined to Allow the Trappistine Sisterhood to Settle in This Diocese

But They Are Permitted to Establish Themselves in Ontario

Montreal, Oct. 17—Word was received in the city to-day from His Grace Archbishop Bruchesi announcing that after seriously considering the request made by the Sisterhood of the Trappistines to establish a monastery in the diocese of Montreal, he had decided that the request could not be granted.

In his letter His Grace states that since the expulsion of religious orders from France applications had been received from as many as twelve orders for permission to establish themselves in this diocese. His Grace had decided that there were already as many orders as can be supported and that any more would be a burden on the parishes in which they might be established. In announcing his decision the Archbishop advises the superiors of the orders to settle in the western provinces of Canada, if they still thought they should come to this country.

The Sisterhood of Trappistines is an order similar to that of the Trappists so far as the contemplative part is concerned. The remainder of their time they make priest garments, and all kinds of church ornaments. The order has existed in France for a number of years, and has been very successful.

AN ANXIOUS TIME FOR NEURALGIC SUFFERERS

Paine's Celery Compound

The Only Medicine That Successfully Cures This Terrible Nerve Disease

Experienced physicians know well that the variable weather of this autumn month decided the fate of thousands in ill health. At the present time, men and women are falling around us like leaves before the chilling north winds.

Amongst the diseases prevalent at this time, neuralgia, with its sharp, lacerating and darting pains, is doing its intolerable work. The cold winds, damp air and sudden changes of temperature favor this pain-racking disease. The best physicians of all schools admit that Paine's Celery Compound is the only known specific for the cure of neuralgia. If you are experiencing the torments of this most terrible of nerve diseases, we counsel you to give Paine's Celery Compound an immediate trial. It has permanently cured others; it will, without fail, meet your case. Mrs. T. McMaster, Toronto, Ont., says:

"Ten years ago I was attacked with neuralgia, and though treated by six doctors the disease grew worse and nearly made me insane. Day after day I became utterly disheartened. One day my deliverance came. A lady who had suffered as I had, told me that Paine's Celery Compound had cured her. I used the compound and it simply made a new woman of me. The pain vanished. I grew well, and I never felt happier in my life. All this is due to Paine's Celery Compound."

A FINE BUILDING

Messrs. J. J. Turner and Sons New Structure at Corner of King and George Streets

Increased Business and Larger Premises the Reward of This Enterprising Firm

In viewing the commodious and substantial new brick building erected at the corner of George and King streets by Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, one is forcibly reminded of the truth of that splendid proverb which says, "The hand of the diligent maketh rich." The name of J. J. Turner & Sons, Tent and Awning Makers has become synonymous for push and enterprise in this growing town and it is mainly owing to the energy of such firms that Peterborough today is so fast rushing onward march of progress.

For months past the interest of the townspeople has been centered on this new building. It has a most imposing appearance and the location is all that could be desired. The improvements throughout are most modern, no expense being spared to provide all the comfort possible for both employers and employees. Mr. J. E. Belcher, architect, is to be congratulated on the model building which is the result of his plans and specifications. The factory is 45 by 100 feet, three stories high, and has in addition a large well-lighted basement. On the first floor is situated the show room, general office, vault, stenographer's office and a handsome private office for Mr. J. J. Turner, sr. A well fitted out lavatory forms another most essential addition.

The handsome show room has a 12-foot ceiling and exhibits the stock to perfection. To the rear is the elevator, that wonderful labor-saver, which facilitates the work on every hand.

The second floor which is all in one large room, is occupied by the sewing machine operators. The machines are driven by electric power and a busy staff is engaged operating them. On the third floor the waterproof goods are manufactured and the sign-writing is done. The sign-writing part of their business is growing every day and ere long the firm will lead in this line also.

A feature worthy of the utmost commendation is the excellent plan of lighting. Over 125 windows form an abundance of light in the day time, and electricity is used at night.

A complete stable 30 by 25 feet, is situated at the rear. This handy addition is capable of accommodating three horses.

Two large, up-to-date furnaces, in the cellar are used for heating and each flat is provided with its own lavatory.

The new building is universally acknowledged to be a credit to Peterborough and the many friends of this energetic firm wish them a continuance of the same prosperity in their new factory which characterized them in the old.

HE SAW THE ERUPTION

A Peterborough Visitor Who Saw The Great Disturbance

Capt. Mackay, who was in town a few days ago, witnessed the great eruption of Mont Pelee last May, and tells a reporter about it. Capt Mackay is superintendent of the West India Department of the Quebec Steamship Company. At the time of the eruption he was in port at Fort de France, fourteen miles away.

"The eruption was one of the greatest things which one could ever expect to see in a lifetime," said the Captain. It surpassed by a hundred per cent any possible electrical effect. I was standing on deck about nine o'clock in the evening looking towards the volcano when suddenly there shot into the air two large fiery balls to the height of about a mile. This was followed by a cloud of dust which took the shape of a cauliflower and as the fiery balls broke they made scattering scintillations in the midst of the cloud. On the deck of the vessel one could stoop down and gather handfuls of dust and one of our ships over 800 miles away was besprinkled with it. On the occasion of the first eruption we had a vessel, the Roraima, totally destroyed. Only fourteen of the crew got safely away. On the south end of the island of Martinique, within about ten miles of the volcano, the dust which has fell has proved a wonderful fertilizer, but the rest of the territory is nothing more than a depository of the lava and rocks which came out."

Capt. Mackay has some of the rocks which were thrown out and some of the dust he gathered. The dust is so fine that it can be used to polish silverware. The rocks are not unlike any ordinary rock.

BEATEN TO DEATH

By Insane Brother While Asleep in Their Beds

Homestead, Pa., Oct. 16.—Not in twenty-five years has this place been so roused as it is over the horror in which Charles Cawley, the seventeen-year-old inventor, turned to a raving maniac by overwork and disappointment, murdered his mother and sister, fatally wounded his infant brother and little twin brother and sister, and injured another sister and brother.

The tragedy occurred in the early morning while the family slept. The maniac used a keen-edged axe for his work.

Three more deaths were added to-day to the sum of young Cawley's frenzy. His baby brother, Joseph, aged fifteen months, and his six-year-old sister, Adaline, and her twin brother Raymond, whom he attacked as they lay sleeping in their cribs, died in the South Side Hospital, Pittsburg. His mother, Mrs. Hannah Cawley, and his thirteen-year-old sister, Isabella, expired in bed as the axe descended upon their heads.

The maniac-murderer is in the station house here, muttering incoherently and apparently unconscious of his terrible deed.

The only parallel in atrocity of this tragedy in the history of Allegeny County was the Ortwein horror of a quarter of a century ago, when the employe of a rich farmer living just below Homestead bent on robbery, murdered the family of six persons and tried to cremate their bodies. He was captured, tried, convicted and executed. Before the execution he made a confession detailing all the horrible incidents of his crime.

It was about 4 o'clock yesterday morning that Charles Cawley arose in the room where his brothers, James, aged twenty, and Harry, aged fourteen, slept, and, without arousing them, crept to the cellar and procured a sharp axe. He returned to the room adjoining his own, where his mother and his two baby brothers and sisters were slumbering.

Raising the axe above his mother's head, he began the fearful slaughter. Blow after blow rained on the woman's head, and she never awoke to know that her own son had sent her to sudden death.

Frenzied by the sight of carnage, he hurried to the other side of the bed, where Isabella lay, and dispatched her with the same demoniac ruthlessness.

He turned and looked upon the innocent face of the babe, Joseph, in his cradle. Not even that angelic sight deterred him, nor the sweet faces of little Raymond and Adaline, the twins. The axe feel again, but the blows were not so well directed.

As the little ones uttered piercing cries he ran brandishing the axe into the next room, where his two brothers lay. James, roused by the moans of the little victims, jumped from the bed just as the maniac entered and banged the door behind him, leaving the room in darkness. He was barely in time, for Charles, aiming at the spot where his brother had been sleeping, hacked the bedclothes into shreds and smashed the bed itself into splinters. Once he struck Harry a glancing blow, but the boy jumped aside and escaped serious injury.

Then began a terrific struggle between James and the maniac. Time and again the demented youth rushed with the axe at his brother. James dodged blow after blow, but at length seizing a heavy rocking chair, he knocked the axe from the maniac's hand. After a breathless struggle, Charles was overpowered.

James dragged his brother by main force to the street. The maniac fought desperately, and it was fully an hour before his brother succeeded in landing him at the lock-up.

When questioned in the prison Cawley did not seem to know what had happened. He said:

"I was awakened by screams in my mother's room and hurried there to find my mother and sister dead. On the floor was an axe, which I picked up and hurried back to the room occupied by my brothers. There I found, on striking a match, and they, too, had been attacked. With the axe I struck my brother James lightly. He awoke with a start, seized me and the scuffle followed."

Young Cawley is the owner of three patents on air and power breaks for street cars. He was at work upon a patent jail cell when his mind gave way after realizing that he could not possibly be successful with the invention.

SAW MANY PEOPLE GO DOWN TO DEATH

A Hamilton Man Tells of the Awful Disaster He Witnessed

SAW MANY BOAT LOADS SINK.

Was One of Those Who Viewed the Shipping Disaster on the Shores of South Africa and Got a Dozen Snap Shots.

Hamilton, Oct. 16.—Writing home from Port Elizabeth, South Africa, on Sept. 14th, Mr. Herb. Connell says that up to that time 40 bodies had been picked up on the shore of the Indian Ocean from the terrible shipwreck of a couple of weeks before. The town opened a relief fund and raised $20,000. The day before writing two first-class British cruisers and gunboats arrived. He also sent a dozen or more photographs. One shows the wrecks of three ships and others are of wreckage, life-boats, etc. In one of the pictures the doomed sailors can be seen hanging in the rigging. Other pictures include a military parade, public buildings, a coronation arch, etc.

The scene of the shipping disaster, Herb. says, was appalling. He saw a small boat with eight sailors and one woman in it, only 200 yards from shore, go to pieces, the storm defying all the efforts of the life-saving crew and the rocket brigade to render assistance. One by one the occupants of the boat jumped overboard, the only remaining hope being that they might swim or be washed ashore, but not one of the nine escaped a watery grave. Another ship presented a terrible spectacle. All that was left of it was the stern, which stood out of the water, and on which ten people could be seen in the dim darkness, for the disaster occurred at night, the signals ringing out just as the town had settled down for slumber. The cries of the ten people could be heard above the roars of the storm. At last the rocket brigade shot a line over to the fast disappearing hull. It was made fast, fast, and one by one the ten persons were landed safely ashore by means of a basket, amid the greatest excitement and cheering that was louder than the noise of wind and water. The crew of another vessel, an Italian barque, perished in spite of the fact that the rocket brigade shot them a line. Herb. saw man after man attempt to climb the rigging to make fast the line, but not one could succeed. Then the worst part of the terrible incident occurred. One of the Italian sailors was being pulled in when the life line broke and, before the eyes of their friends, five of the rescuers were washed to sea and perished.

MITCHELL BELIEVES MEN WILL RATIFY THE PLAN

Has No Doubt That His Followers will Support the Agreement Reached

Washington, Oct. 17.—The response of John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, to President Roosevelt's notification that he had appointed a commission, was made public today. It informs the President of the action of the Executive Boards of Districts 1, 7, and 9, in calling a convention and agreeing to recommend unanimously the resumption of work and the submission of the differences between the "operators and the mine workers of the anthracite coal fields" to the commission.

The reply expresses confidence that the convention will agree to arbitration by the "eminent and impartial men" chosen by the President, and expresses gratitude to the President for his patriotic efforts to bring about an honorable settlement of the strike. The reply goes at length into the grievances of the miners, and concludes with an expression of hope and belief that from this arbitration will come "a complete satisfactory, and permanent solution of the troubles which have vexed the anthracite field from time immemorial."

Turkey Denies the Report

Paris, Oct. 16—The Turkish Embassy here has issued the following notice: "The Porte declares that there is no truth in the report that negotiations are proceeding between Turkey and Russia for the opening of the Dardanelles to Russian warships."

A despatch from Constantinople to the Figaro asserts that in one of his interviews recently with the Grand Duke Nicholas of Russia the Sultan expressed a desire to receive the Czar at Constantinople. The Grand Duke promised to convey the invitation to the Czar. Since then the Sultan has sent the Czar a formal invitation in an autograph letter intrusted to the head of a Turkish mission to Livadia.

CLAIM RELATIONSHIP TO MANY NATIONS

Boers Alleged Affinity in Blood or Language to Various Europeans

Will Loyalty Support Government? Rank and File of Unionists Will Stand by Balfour—Threaten to Ruin Irish Landlords

London, Oct. 17.—What has struck public opinion in Paris, says a correspondent in that city, is that the Boer generals seem to have decided that in their speeches they will lay claim in one way or another to affinity in blood or language with nations they are visiting. In Paris they affirmed that they had French blood in their veins. In Berlin they will probably declare that they have ties uniting them with the Germans. The people of Paris are curious to hear what ties attach generals to the British nation, or what they will discover of that sort on revisiting England.

Determination of Unionists.

London, Oct. 17.—The Times says the most noteworthy feature in the present English political situation is the manifest determination of the rank and file of the Unionist party to give loyal support to the Government at any sacrifice of personal comfort and convenience. "No compromise," the challenge of the Liberals on the Education Bill, will be met by "no surrender" as the battle cry of the other side of the House. It is understood that in the event of any organized obstruction in the committee on the Education Bill, the Government will not hesitate to adopt drastic measures, including, possibly, a plan for closure by compartments.

Light Sentences For Offenders.

London, Oct. 17.—The following information, says a St. Petersburg correspondent, is from a source hitherto perfectly trustworthy, and throws a vivid light on the methods employed to "pacify" the disturbed districts. At the recent trial of some Kharkoff peasants charged with complicity in disorders in the spring, the counsel for the defence, eight Moscow lawyers of some position, attempted to question the accused in regard to their treatment by soldiers. The president of the court refused to allow these questions. The lawyers then read a declaration to the effect that they could not continue pleading after the president's decision. They had wished to adduce proof that the peasants had already been sufficiently punished by the dragooning they had received. Men had been mercilessly flogged, and great numbers of women had been assaulted by soldiers. Ultimately the defence was entrusted to a local lawyer appointed by the court. The peasants were sentenced to comparatively light punishment, ranging from six months' imprisonment upward.

Threaten to Ruin Landlords.

London, Oct. 17.—A telegram from Cork says William Abraham, member of Parliament for Cork County, in addressing a United Irish League meeting at Carrignavar, said the Irish had smashed coercion acts in the past, and would do so again. Abraham said it was his belief the Chief Secretary for Ireland did not suppress the United Irish League, because he knew very well that behind it lay the county and district councils of Ireland, and that if he suppressed the league they would all become working branches of it. The struggle, declared Abraham, would end in the ruin of landlordism, which, like another upas tree, was poisoning the whole social and commercial life of Ireland.

SHOOK FIST IN BALFOUR'S FACE

John O'Donnell M.P., Lost His Temper in the Imperial Commons

London, Oct. 17.—During an exciting scene in the House of Commons, which reassembled yesterday, Premier Balfour moved the suspension of Mr. John O'Donnell, Nationalist member for South Mayo, and the latter crossed the floor, stood in front of Mr. Balfour, shouted defiance, and shook his fist in the Premier's face. He was suspended by a vote of 241 to 84.

When the sitting opened Premier Balfour moved that the remainder of the session be entirely devoted to Government business.

Mr. Patrick O'Brien, for the Irish members asked that at least a day between now and Christmas be devoted to the discussion of the serious state of affairs in Ireland. Mr. Balfour replied that if the request for such a discussion came from the Liberal leaders the Government would grant it, but they could not notice it from the Irish party.

TALKED OF REVOLT.

This roused the Irish members. William O'Brien said that Ireland was on the verge of revolt. The constitution was practically suspended, and now the members were gagged in the only Parliament they had. Throughout Mr. O'Brien's remarks the Irish members kept up a perfect storm of applause.

When Mr. Wyndham, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, entered the House they hissed him loudly, and the Speaker, who was frequently on his feet, asking for "order," sternly repressed the demonstration.

Mr. Lloyd-George, backed up by the Irish members, and Mr. T. P. O'Connor increased the excitement by bitterly upbraiding Mr. Balfour for declaring that Irish matters must only be discussed by favor of the English Liberals. Only after a heated colloquy with the Speaker was Mr. O'Connor prevented from voicing abuse of Mr. Wyndham.

Members of the House of Lords at this time began to crowd into the House of Commons, in expectation of a scene, for the threats from the Irish benches became more and more demonstrative.

SOME FINE SATIRE.

Mr Healy, amidst intense excitement, said in icy tones: "I rise to speak as a native of Uganda." The House was convulsed with laughter. In a speech which on all sides was characterized as one of the finest satires ever heard in the House of Commons, Mr. Healey, always as a Ugandian, thanked the Premier for his consideration, which enabled the Imperial Parliament to devote time to the discussion of national affairs. He complimented Mr. Balfour on being able to sufficiently detach himself so as to be oblivious of the vital disturbances prevailing "in that distant and distressful country, Ireland."

In this vein, which irrestibly held the attention of the House, and which caused Mr. Balfour himself frequent amusement, Mr. Healey completed what a Unionist member defined as one of the "finest satirical indictments which the Government had ever undergone."

Mr. William Redmond regretted that the Irish people could not, with arms in their hands, strike a blow against the violent tyranny to which they were subjected.

THE CLOSURE APPLIED.

Ultimately Mr. Balfour moved the closure, and the uproar broke out again with renewed vigor. Mr. John O'Donnell stood up and refused to give way to the Speaker. His fellow-Nationalists shouted encouragement and cheered vigorously. The Speaker repeatedly warned Mr. O'Donnell that he was out of order, and an exciting scene followed.

Mr. Balfour moved the suspension of Mr. O'Donnell, and the latter crossed the floor, stood in front of the Premier, shouting defiance, and shook his fist in Mr. Balfour's face.

Mr. Balfour smiled quietly as the Irish member shouted and gesticulated, and other members of the Cabinet, fearing that Mr. O'Donnell would actually assault the Premier, moved towards him, but Mr. O'Donnell, having concluded what he had to say, returned to his seat. The House suspended him by a vote of 241 to 84 and he left the House.

ITEMS OF NEWS BY CABLE AND LETTER

Woodstock, Oct 16.—One of the wonders of the year is the new sugar beet factory which is being built at Berlin, Ont. It is being put up with the capital of a Michigan firm and is to cost the enormous sum of $600,000. The factory which is put up on the most substantial plan, will be ready to start next week in all probability. It is an immense concern situated about a mile and a half east of the town, so big in fact that it takes you about half an hour to walk around it. Electric cars run to it.

Farmers in Waterloo country have about quit growing wheat and now grow sugar beets. There is more money in them. The sugar company agrees to take all the beets brought in and pay a set price for them. The factory will only run three month's a year, from October to New Year's. By then the beets are ready.

A Times representative who visited the factory a day or two ago, very naturally asked the question of a gentleman interested: "But are you quite sure that beet sugar is a success and the people will use it."

"Why," was the good natured reply, "nearly all the best sugar eaten in Canada comes from beets. The Redpaths have been supplying beet sugar from Germany for many years. There's no difference in the taste at all. In fact you don't know it's beet sugar."

This great concern might have come to Woodstock had somebody got a move on about the time the German city began to saw wood. Berlin, by the way, feels badly indeed if it doesn't get one or two new factories a year.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services.

CANADIAN EMPIRE

In his speech at the opening of the new Produce Exchange in Liverpool on the eve of his departure for Canada, Sir Wilfrid Laurier alluded to the expansion of the Canadian produce trade, and dwelt on the success assured to men of muscle and business capacity who would go to Canada, and occupy the vast territories there which are still without population, and only sparsely settled. During the past two or three years our Agricultural Bureau and its immigration agents have been at work trying to induce settlers to occupy the vacant lands of western Canada. They have worked the English farmers have invaded the rural districts of Ireland and Scotland, and, in this country, have circulated captivating literature through such states as Ohio and Iowa.

The result of all this effort has been that wonderful crops of grain have been harvested for the past three seasons by new settlers who have taken up land in the West. So flattering have the prospects become that Sir Wilfrid tells the Liverpool produce merchants that in the next decade or two Canada would be able to meet, under favorable weather conditions, Great Britain's total grain requirements, thus insuring her against the shortage of seasons, of failure of crops, and relieving her of all anxiety in regard to a plentiful supply of breadstuffs in time of war.

The problem of fast steamship service was also referred to by our Premier. Our facilities for carrying grain to the seaboard by canal and river routes are esteemed as rivaling those of the United States. But they have been wanting in ocean freight and passenger carrying facilities. Sir Wilfrid alluded to this circumstance in his Liverpool speech, and remarked that the important matter had been under consideration even since he had been Premier. He now hoped that Canada would be able to solve this difficult question as she had solved problems vastly more difficult. This confidential mode of speech leads to the belief that the Premier brings with him some tangible proposition which will be divulged when Sir Wilfrid arrives home.

Sir Wilfrid looks forward to the time when Canada would excel Great Britain in population and wealth, and when an empire of peace could be built upon industrial and commercial pursuits and the patriotism of an earnest and spirited people. This is not altogether a fanciful dream. Canada is going ahead with wonderful strides.

PEAT FUEL AGAIN

Since the coal strike has suggested substitute fuels for this country, attention has been directed to peat, which exists abundantly in Ontario and other parts of Canada. Experiments heretofore with this material have not been encouraging, but the possibilities of peat have been demonstrated very successfully in Germany and France, says the London Free Press. For some time past agents have been in this Province with samples of the briquettes of peat fuel "made in Germany" and an endeavor has been made to interest capital in the manufacture here. Briquettes are made from brown coal, carbonized peat, coal dust, &c., A well known London citizen states that he has seen the process of manufacture in several parts of Germany, and has no doubt that it is destined to add very largely to the fuel supply in that country. U. S. Consul General Mason, at Berlin, has sent details of the business to his department at Washington. He says in his report that at the close of 1900 there were in Germany eighty-nine manufactories of fuel briquettes, producing more than 100,000 tons yearly. It has become a standard commercial industry both in France and Germany. All that is needed either in the United States or Canada, is to employ experts from Europe to make tests in order to demonstrate whether the peats of this continent can be treated with the same success. Mr. Mason, after describing the several processes, says, "Turf briquettes ordinarily contain about 66 per cent. of inflammable elements, the remainder being made up of inorganic ash and water. They are thus inferior as fuel to briquettes made from brown coal which averages 70 per cent or more of inflammable matter. Both represent in their present form the utmost that science has been able to do in utilizing inferior and otherwise almost worthless materials to supplement and eke out the insufficient coal supply of European countries."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The longer the coal strike lasts, the easier people are becoming reconciled to the fact that anthracite is not such a necessary of life as they thought it was. Supposing the strike was not settled all winter, if we in Ontario, with soft coal in plenty, with abundance of hard wood, soft wood, green wood, and dead wood, to draw upon, with gas fuel and oil fuel no dearer than normal, cannot survive with the minimum of inconvenience, it's a pity!

—The hard coal magnates complain that the unions which are backing up President Mitchell are controlled by ignorant foreigners and irresponsible boys, and assert that if the intelligent workmen were allowed to decide matters the strike would end very soon. Be this as it may, some one is going to be impertinent enough to ask who introduced ignorant foreigners and irresponsible boys into the coal regions in the first place.

L. J. Forget & Co., of Montreal, brokers, have advanced $100,000 to the mayor and council to buy fuel to be supplied to the poor at cost. Forget & Co., will get back their money, of course as the fuel is sold; but the advance, which is made because the use by the council of civic money would be illegal, is nevertheless a most generous one. Inevitably there will be some loss, which Forget & Co. will bear; and besides, they authorize the mayor to distribute the fuel in needful cases without charge. Senator Forget, the head of the firm, which is the most important broking firm in Canada, shows by this action that he is the big man which might be inferred from his business and political success.

A serious accident occurred on Wednesday morning at the station, when a horse belonging to Mr. Arthur Nelson of Lang Roller Mills, took fright at a train and ran to Keene, a distance of about two miles. The load, which consisted of a canoe and some bags of grain, were scattered along the road. The wagon is a complete wreck.

—Our quiet little village is at present disturbed by a number of its inhabitants getting intoxicated. This is an every day occurrence, Sunday included. The drunkards consist of men so far advanced in age that it is time they were thinking of their better existence. This is a discredit to their families and to the village. It is about time this habit ceased and the hoodlums sent up to Nesbitt's castle for a term.

if it's anything of that sort you mean."

"That's precisely what I do mean," announced the millionaire. "Look here, it's getting on towards one's dinner hour. Come with me. I'll get a private room, and we'll have a chop and a bottle of Burgundy together if you can spare the time."

"I've got more time than anything else just now," responded the masked minstrel, lightly. "And I'm very much at your service."

They walked to the nearest good restaurant, forming a strange contrast; the tall young man with the black mask covering his face, the broken banjo in his hand; the stooped figure of the millionaire, with his hobbling limp and his scarred features.

There could hardly have been a more incongruous pair, and people they met turned to look after them. But Macaire either did not notice the attention he and his companion aroused, or was too independent of public opinion to care for it.

He was wondering whether the masked minstrel knew anything of him besides the name which he must have heard spoken when he had mentioned it to the policeman a few moments ago. He wondered whether the fellow was aware that he was walking beside one of the richest men in England—a man so rich that he could afford to do, say, look and wear exactly what he pleased.

Macaire hoped that the other did know all this, although, as he had apparently not long ago come to England, he might be in ignorance of his companion's importance. It would be awkward to call direct attention to it, especially as the millionaire was on his best behavior, endeavoring to appear a jolly, modest fellow, not too proud, despite his wealth and position, to hobnob with a nobody to whom he had happened to take a fancy.

Wishing to impress the minstrel in some quiet and unobtrusive way he took the best private room he could have, and, though it was too early in the day for him to work up an appetite for dinner, instead of the chop and bottle of Burgundy he had suggested he ordered an elaborate feast, with plenty of champagne of his own favorite brand.

"Now," he remarked, when the hors d'oeuvres appeared, "now is the time when you must cease to hide your light under a bushel, and throw off the mask—that is, unless you merely intend to look on while I eat my dinner."

"To a man who hasn't dined, but only eaten food, for some time, that would be too cruel an aggravation," returned the minstrel. "It is nothing more nor less than morbid self-consciousness—vanity, if you will, sir—that tempted me to pick my banjo from behind a screen. I don't intend to trouble you with my antecedents, but—people who were once dear to me would have been made unhappy if they could have known I was destined to get my living by 'busking' at the seaside; and I suppose I'm idiot enough to be ashamed, in a way, of what I've been doing—though I'm ashamed of myself, too, for being ashamed. But, anyhow, here goes the mask."

It had been tied behind his head, and as he talked he had been fumbling awkwardly—as men's unaccustomed fingers do fumble—with the knot. But the strings yielded at last and the mask suddenly fell, to show a dark, handsome, clear-cut face, with lips parted in a rather shy, boyish smile over a row of strong, perfect white teeth.

The minstrel's laughing brown eyes met those of the millionaire; and Lionel Macaire's boasted self-control came into play as he restrained a start of surprise.

"Haven't I seen you somewhere before?" he asked, hiding all emotion.

As well as he knew his own strange antecedents did he know when and where he had seen that dark face before; but he did not wish the other to guess himself of enough importance to have been definitely remembered.

"Yes," the young man answered without an instant's hesitation. "At least I have seen you, sir, and I recollected it the moment you came up to me this afternoon, though I didn't suppose you'd noticed me particularly that other time."

"Where was it?" asked Macaire, "and when, if you can recall that?"

"I have some reason for recalling it," replied Hope Newcome. "I had a big disappointment that night. I'd been at the Duke of Clarence's Theater with an introduction from—an old friend of Mr. Anderson's, to him. I wanted a short engagement till I could get something else to do—merely as Charles the Wrestler in the production of 'As You Like It,' which was coming on. But, though I'm nearly six feet, Mr. Anderson has an inch or two the advantage of me, and thought it wouldn't do. I saw you coming out of the theater with him afterwards."

"Oh, yes!" exclaimed Macaire, as though suddenly enlightened. "Of course. How stupid of me. You were engaged—ha, ha!— in much the same occupation as I found you at to-day. A queer coincidence."

CHAPTER XIX.

Macaire's Proposition.

"You'll think me a very pugnacious person, sir," Hope Newton said, flushing slightly under the clear, sunburnt olive of his skin—that kind of sunburn which does not wear away with years, unless in mortal illness. He did not use the word "sir" in addressing the millionaire as if he were kowtowing to a superior, but as though he, a young man, adopted it out of respect to one many years his senior. Though he had been seen fighting at stage-doors, and playing the banjo on Brighton beach, he had the air of simply—unconsciously almost—taking it for granted that he was Macaire's equal. And Macaire saw this, and was grimly amused by it, considering certain differences between them.

"The shortest road to my regard, as far as that's concerned," responded Macaire, "is by being a 'pugnacious person,' as you call it. If I hadn't thought you one through our acquaintance to-day we shouldn't be dining together now. And what I've just learnt only raises you in my estimation. I believe now that I even heard you speak to my friend Anderson that night, and I am usually rather quick to recognize voices. But yours sounded differently when you spoke through your mask. By the way, as it happens, that was rather an eventful night for me, too."

He could not have told why he should volunteer the admission; but he let it come because he did not see that acting upon impulse could in this in-

COAL $5.00 A TON WITH THE WONDERFUL

STAR HEATER

The only heater that is guaranteed to give satisfaction with soft as well as hard coal. As a fuel economizer it is unequalled, producing heat on about one-third the coal used in any other heater in existence.

The Star has a tube behind for the escape of the gas. As anyone who uses soft coal knows, the gas accumulates under the fresh coal, and if there is no escape there will be explosions and puffs of smoke. In the Star this disappears in the gas escape. The Star has a sliding damper and ornamental door of mica.

After being filled, the Star will heat for 48 hours without attention. It will hold fire and give out heat longer than any other stove.

The Star is 25 per cent more economical than any other stove.

MORE THAN 5,000 ARE IN USE IN THE LOWER PROVINCES.

PRICE LIST

No.	Height	Diameter	Price
0	24 1-2 in.	9 in.	$11.20
1	30 1-2 in.	9 in	$12.00
2	34 in.	10 1-2 in	$16.00
3	37 1-2 in.	13 in	$19.20
4	41 in.	15 in	$22.20

DIRECTIONS

When filling the stove always shut the draught door at the bottom.

Keep the small opening in the back pipe closed except when cleaning.

Clean the back pipe every two weeks.

COAL CONSUMERS, ATTENTION!

We are using one No. 3 Star stove in our large rooms, where formerly we had four large wood heaters, and get more heat now than before. The wood stoves cost us $4.50 every week for fuel, and the Star stove which we are now using costs us only $1.50, making a saving of $3.00 per week in the price of fuel—which would soon pay for the stove. We can recommend this stove to any person wanting a first-class heater. We would not use any other stove that is made.

ST. PETER'S T.A.S.
M. J. Sero, Chairman Trustees.

We certify that we have in use one No. 3 Star stove in our large pool and billiard room, the size of which is 40x22 ft., with 15 ft. ceiling. We have perfect heat, and the most coal we have used on the coldest day yet has been three scuttles in 24 hours. We are so well pleased with the stove that we would not use any other.

ROCAMORA & CALLAHEN.

I have been using a No. 3 Star stove in the sitting room at the City Hotel for some time past, and it has proved so satisfactory that I have ordered two more to replace two stoves in the upstairs. The Star gives more heat than the other stoves with half the amount of coal.

MARTIN CONNORS.

We have in use in our composing room a No. 3 Star coal stove, and wish to state that it is giving eminent satisfaction. The entire absence of gas by the escape provided, the increase of heat and the saving in coal are special features of the Star, and it requires a minimum of attention.

The Star Stove is on sale at A. E. MICK'S, George Street, and DURAN-CEAU'S, Hunter street.

STOCK MARKETS

Better Tone to Market

New York, Oct. 17—The coal strike appears to be on the way to a speedy close. Reading is in the neighborhood of ten per cent. higher than it was at the time of the declaration of the strike last May, at which time it sold at 59 7-8, so the bears with early news, have not much to plume themselves on. We called attention about a week ago to the likelihood of a speedy ending to the anthracite troubles, advising the purchase of these stocks. We believe they will be much higher this winter. Considerable bullish talk is again in evidence on C. F. and I., the arrival of J. W. Gates probably is responsible for a great deal of it. We are inclined to take some stock in it. The stock has acted remarkably strong for the past two or three weeks. Our reasons for bullishness on these shares we made the subject of a letter within the past ten days; we have not as yet changed our views, seeing no reason in action of the stock for so doing.

All the steel stocks have held wondrously strong during the entire close money period. United States steel did not sell so low during that time as it did about a month or so prior. Pressed steel, car and foundry actually recorded fair advances during that time, selling higher than at any previous time. This certainly is a most plain indication of the strong position on the market of these securities, and is a strong pointer that they will be materially higher this fall. St. Paul maintains a wondrous strength, all the time recovering rapidly from each market depression, and coming pretty close to reaching its extreme high point. It is plainly evident that something of importance in this security is going on, something that will ultimately cause it to command a very high price. Were it merely speculation which carried its shares up so materially, the bubble would have been pricked sometime ago, and to-day the stock would not be within 10 points of the price it now commands. The Mo. Pacific people seem to have recovered their equilibrium. We think the pool have repurchased their shares sold recently; the action of the stock would so indicate. The good decline in such standard shares as New York Central and Illinois Central cause them to appear specially attractive at going prices.

New York, Oct. 17—Marked strength continues to be the characteristic of market dealings, it looks as if the week were to close in a blaze of glory with Finis a rattling good bank statement. Money continues to become easier, and exchange weak. All stocks were strong Mo. Pacific and Ill., Coalers and Steel shares making decided gains. Our opinion that the first of the week would see the low prices of the week proved correct. We advise buying stocks on each reaction from now on until further notice; probably the first part of the week will witness one; it's about due. Sometimes things that are generally prepared for in Wall Street fail to materialize. If you have sold for a reaction and then stocks continue strong, do not be afraid to repurchase them. In doing so maintain your position upon the side of advancing values. Money closed at 5 per cent; sales 1,071,200.

ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18-inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realise the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purposes of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

We furnish the rich property—you furnish the mill. In a few months it will be in operation—almost before you expect it—and we divide the immense returns.

I recommend Peruna to everybody and some have commenced to use it. The folks all say that if Dr. Hartman's medicine cures me it must be great."—John Vance.

Mr. J. Brake, of Petrolea, Ontario, Canada, writes: "Four years ago I had a severe attack of Bright's disease, which brought me so low the doctor said nothing more could be done for me. I began to take Peruna and Manalin, and in three months I was a well man, and have continued so ever since."—J. Brake.

At the appearance of the first symptom of kidney trouble, Peruna should be taken. This remedy strikes at once the very root of the disease. It at once relieves the catarrhal kidneys of the stagnant blood, preventing the escape of serum from the blood. Peruna stimulates the kidneys to excrete from the blood the accumulating poison, and thus prevents the convulsions which are sure to follow if the poisons are allowed to remain. It gives great vigor to the heart's action and digestive system, both of which are apt to fail rapidly in this disease.

Peruna cures catarrh of the kidneys simply because it cures catarrh wherever located.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS

New Members Reception

A reception will be tendered the new members of the Young Women's Christian Association on Tuesday, Oct. 21st, at 8 p.m.; at the Association Rooms, George street. All members are invited to be present.

Gratefully Acknowledged

Mr. and Mrs. James Dradley desire through the Times to thank their many friends for their sympathy in this their great sorrow and bereavement, in the loss of their beloved son; also for the many floral offerings.

A Masonic Presentation

On Wednesday evening last Mr. F. D. McKay, who is about to remove from town, was entertained by the local Masonic brethren, and presented with an address accompanied by a past master's jewel. Mr. McKay responded in a suitable manner. The Times joins in wishing him future success.

A Singular Accident

The Brileville correspondent of the Toronto World of Monday, tells this wonderful tale: A peculiar accident occurred near Feathers on the Grand Trunk junction line recently. A freight train bound from Lindsay to this city was bowling along when a draw bar broke and fell on the rail, causing a car that passed over it to leave the rails. The pressure behind forced the car upward and outward, and it was thrown against the fence along the right of way. The train then closed up and proceeded. It all happened so quickly that if the car could not have been seen the train crew might have imagined that it was just a pipe dream.

A Great Success

The concert given on Thursday evening in the Opera House, under the auspices of the Charlotte street Methodist church, was a great success. The audience as might be expected, was large, and the entertainment was one of the best ever presented to a Peterborough audience, everybody being delighted.

Why Bears are Plentiful

Bobcaygeon Independent: Scarcity of nuts in the woods appears to be causing the bears to prowl around the open more than usual this fall and they are being seen, and killed, frequently. A week ago, a bear and two cubs were shot at Chase's, near Oak Orchard. Last week a bear and two cubs strolled into the village, and were observed near the ground where Petrie's mill stood. Several chevied out with their rifles, and Mr. Richard Pearson succeeded in getting one of the cubs.

A Thanksgiving Day Wedding

A very quiet wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. John Heathorne, Stewart street, Ashburnham, on Thursday evening, it being the occasion of the marriage of Miss Aggie E., daughter of Mr. Wm. Dawson, Concession street, Ashburnham, to Mr. William S. Robinson, Murray street, Peterborough. The bride wore a gown of hunter's venetian green, trimmed with cream silk, applique and velvet. Rev. Mr. Thompson, of Mark street Methodist church, officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will in future reside on Murray street, Peterborough.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

—The automatic alarm at the C.P.R. crossing on George street, has been out of repair. One of the company's electricians has placed the apparatus in good working order.

—Yesterday, a load of cases on a dray, adressed to parties in Quebec city, passed down street, bearing the imprint "Quaker Oats," manufactured by the American Cereal Company, Peterborough." The product of the company's mills, going to all parts of the world will be a big advertisement for Peterborough.

THINKING MADE EASY

There is a Way

"I asked Husband to get some Grape-Nuts, the ready cooked food. He brought them at noon, and I served a dish for dinner, for I thought what was good for breakfast was good for any other meal Well! do you know we did not eat half so hearty of the meat, potatoes, etc., after eating the Grape-Nuts. It filled that vacancy which the regular fare did not.

The newspaper puffs' as I used to call them (I know better now) are not one bit too strong—are not strong enough, for [illegible] [illegible] [illegible], increased endurance and a renewed reserve fund of strength are now mine, and I cannot be too thankful. I can walk five miles without one-half as much loss of strength as when I formerly walked one.

If, in cleaning house and numerous other back breaking tolls. we women must do, we would all prepare a dish of Grape-Nuts instead of the old-time 'cup of tea to brace up on,' one would soon see the difference.

I have found, since using Grape-Nuts, that mental occupations, which months ago were taxing and fatiguing, are now real pleasures. I can think steadily and with such ease. By putting a spoonful of Grape-Nuts in a cup of good, rich Postum, I have a drink fit for a King." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Peterborough Contractors Abroad

A Times' representative while in Lindsay yesterday, dropped into the new Bank of Montreal building, which is being constructed in that town by Mr. James Bogue, the well known Peterborough contractor. The building is faced, for the first storey, with Ohio granite, handsomely embellished, while the floor of the banking room and vestibule will be tiled. The upper storeys are being fitted up as a dwelling for the manager, and will be commodious and well finished. Messrs. Rutherford Bros., of town, are doing the carpenter work, under the superintendence of Mr. James Haggart, a guarantee of superior workmanship, as Mr. Haggart never does anything but a first class job.

Peterborough's Bright Future

One hears a good deal just now about Peterborough's wonderful progress in the development of her natural resources in the way of power. That we have a great future there is no doubt. Yesterday a Times representative while in Lindsay, happened to meet an old friend, Ven. Archdeacon Casey, who at once began to speak of our rising young city. "Peterborough," he said, is bound to grow. The advantages she possesses in the way of water power, gives her prominence over her sister towns and cities, and the fact that a great industry like the American Cereal Company chose Peterborough in which to erect their immense mills, is sure to attract other industries."

WEDDED IN TORONTO

Nuptials of Miss Mabelle Rathbone, Toronto and Mr. H. Sherin, Lakefield

A very pretty wedding took place on Tuesday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Rathbone, 28 Northcote avenue, Toronto, when their daughter, Miss Mabelle, was united in marriage to Mr. J. Harry Sherin, of Lakefield. The ceremony was performed by the Rev Mr. McLean Ballard, rector of St. Anne's. The bride wore a beautiful gown of gray silk de crepe de chene over lavender silk and applique trimmings, and the customary veil, with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The bride was assisted by her cousin Miss Jennie Robson, who wore white Swiss, trimmed with Valencia lace, adorned with maidenhair fern and lilies of the valley, while Miss Winnifred Rathbone, sister of the bride, made a very sweet flower girl. Mr. J. McDonald, of McMaster, was groomsman. The bride was the recipient of very many handsome presents, including a sunburst of pearls and diamonds from the groom, who also presented the bridesmaid and flower girl with a pearl ring each. The happy couple left for a trip to Washington, Atlantic City and other points, after which they will reside at Lakefield.

REAL ENJOYMENT.

The woman who reads this will understand to the full what Mrs. Tipton meant when she says: "I am enjoying good health." It takes a person who has been made wretched by sickness to understand the joy of health.

There are very many women who suffer as did Mrs. Tipton, who might be cured as she was by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"It is with pleasure I recommend Dr. Pierce's medicine," writes Mrs. Nora Tipton, of Cropper (Cropper Station), Shelby Co., Kentucky. "You remember my case was one of female weakness and weak lungs. I had no appetite and would often spit blood; was confined to my bed almost half of the time and could hardly stand on my feet at times for the pains through my whole body and system. My husband had to pay large doctor bills for me, but since I have taken four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, four of 'Favorite Prescription' and three vials of 'Pleasant Pellets' we haven't paid any more doctor bills. It has been [illegible] months since I stopped taking Dr. Pierce's medicines and I have been enjoying good health all the time. I can never praise these medicines too highly, for I have received so much benefit. I pray that many who suffer as I did will take Dr. Pierce's medicines. I am sure they will never fail to cure when given a fair trial. Everybody tells me I look better than they ever saw me. I am sure I feel better than I ever did before."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a ladies' laxative. No other medicine equals them for gentleness and thoroughness.

KEENE.

A serious accident occurred on Wednesday morning at the station, when a horse belonging to Mr. Arthur Nelson, of Lang Roller Mills, took fright at a train and ran to Keene, a distance of about two miles. The load, which consisted of a canoe and some bags of grain, were scattered along the road. The wagon is a complete wreck.

—Our quiet little village is at present disturbed by a number of its inhabitants getting intoxicated. This is an every day occurrence, Sunday included. The drunkards consist of men so far advanced in age that it is time they were thinking of their latter existance. This is a discredit to their families and to the village. It is about time this habit ceased and the hoodlums sent up to Nesbitt's castle for a term.

—Mr. Joseph Hinkhirst, Jr., of Keene, is leaving for Oregon in a few days.

—Our new doctor, Mr. Victor McWilliams, has been smitten by Cupid's dart, and if appearances do not deceive, is about to desert the bachelors. Good luck, Vic.

—Quite a number from Keene and vicinity attended the Norwood fair on Wednesday.

MATTER OF TAXES ON C. P. R. LANDS

Canadian Pacific Railway Objects to Paying Levies in the Dominion

THE COURTS MUST SETTLE IT

The Disagreeable Task Which Confronts Sir Wilfrid Laurier—Bourinot's Death

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 19—When the contract was entered into between the Dominion Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway for the construction of the road, provisions was made that the land grant of 25,000,000 acres, which the company was to receive from the government as part of the consideration for undertaking the work, was to be exempt from taxation for twenty years. The question as to when the twenty years expires is disputed. The company contends that the land cannot be taxed until twenty years after the patents for the same had been issued by the crown. There are different contentions in opposition to this, but the one which the law officers of the crown are likely to put forward is that the exemption should cease twenty years after the land had been earned under the contract, no matter when the company may have taken out its patents. The Department of Justice is now preparing a case for submission to the courts so that the matter may be finally disposed of. The Canadian Pacific Railway, has consented to be a party to a test case. Proceedings have already been begun through the Department of Justice arranging with the municipality of North Cypress, in Manitoba, to demand taxes from the Canadian Pacific Company for railway lands within its limits for the purpose of having the issue raised in the courts.

The records show that over twenty years have elapsed since the Canadian Pacific Railway selected its lands in that township. The taxes for the current year will be demanded on the property. Upon November 15th the taxes on this land will be due and payable; and the money not forthcoming, a suit will at once be instituted by the Dominion Government in the name of the municipality of North Cypress. There is said to be an understanding between the Government and the Canadian Pacific that the latter is not to resort to legal technicalities so as to delay the hearing of the case on the finding of the courts. The issue to go before the judges will be a plain one. The Supreme Court will hear the case, but it is not likely that either party will be satisfied without having the opinion of the judicial committee of the imperial privy council, which is the court of last resort.

DOES THE SEVERED HEAD LIVE AND THINK?

A United States Naval Surgeon Says That It Does

SAW OVER FIFTY DECAPITATIONS

And in Every Case Life Seemed to Exist After the Head was Off

Philadelphia, Oct. 18—Does decapitation cause instantaneous death? Dr. Oliver D. Norton, of the United States Navy declares that it does not, and his conclusions are based on personal observation gained as a witness of nearly fifty executions.

Dr. Norton has been in the naval service for eighteen years. He is at present stationed on the receiving ship Minneapolis, at the League Island Navy Yard. He has been around the world several times. He has seen much service in the Philippines, and when the allied forces marched to the relief of Pekin he accompanied them. It was on this expedition that he gathered the data that forms the basis of his declaration that the death of a man beheaded is not instantaneous. At Canton he witnessed the execution of thirty-six Chinese in one afternoon and studied the gruesome spectacle from a purely scientific standpoint. In telling about the spectacle Dr. Norton said—

It was on a Sunday afternoon in last November that the wholesale execution took place. I was standing outside a pottary where the official execution ground is situated, when there were loud shots and a crowd of Chinese came running up. The thirty-six condemned men followed in litters carried by coolies. The men's elbows were drawn back and pinioned; their hands were bound together and heavy irons were on their legs. The litters were turned over and their occupants spilled out on the ground. Seven came in the first batch and these were forced to kneel in the street and wait nearly ten minutes for the arrival of the others. Piracy and murder were the crimes for which the majority of the men were to be killed.

When the others arrived they too were made to kneel, the party being arranged in a long line, two and three abreast. A tag was attached to each man's pigtail and a similar tag was fastened to the blouse. This was for the purpose of identification and to insure the burying of each head with the body to which it belonged. A stick stuck out of the collar of each man's blouse and to this was attached a paper containing an account of the criminal and his crime. The men showed no sign of being under the influence of opium and were apparently unconcerned.

A high official, with a red umbrella, came out to see that justice was done, and a guard of fifteen soldiers lined up to prevent any attempt at a rescue. Many of the condemned men exchanged farewells with friends in the crowd on onlookers, but there were no signs of grief or collapse on the part of anyone.

Two executioners perofrmed the entire thirty-six decapitations. The headsmen were armed with heavy two-handled swords. They did their work cleanly and rapidly and in all but three cases the heads fell at a single stroke. There was no pause on the part of the executioners and each seemed to be anxious to outdo the other by performing the greater number of decapitations. Before each stroke the headsman rose on his toes and delivered the blow with all his strength. His assistants followed him and when the bodies did not fall they pushed them over.

The executioners began their work at the front of the line and those behind saw their companions accept the fate that was to be theirs in a few moments. There was no flinching, however, and not a man fainted or showed any symptoms of being about to do so.

A remarkable feature of the occasion was the demeanor of the spectators. As the sword fell on the first victim there was a wild outburst of cheering, and this was repeated after each stroke. I asked a Chinese the reason for the demonstration and he said that it was to make the doomed man brave.

As each head was severed a stream of blood spouted from two to three feet in the air, and by the time the last man had been beheaded the bodies lay in a lake of red.

Dr. Norton's observations on the results of decapitation have created a sensation in the medical world. As each head fell the doctor watched closely and was strongly impressed with the idea that death was not instantaneous, but that it came almost immediately after the stroke accompanying a syncope. He fixes the period of consciousness after decapitation at about five seconds. Continuing his story he said:

"As the heads fell I examined them closely. There would be a swift upward movement of the eyes, an expression of surprise would come over the face, as if the victim were wondering what had hit him, the lips would move as if in an attempt to speak, and then the faces would turn pale, and a faint, which speedily gave to death, would follow. Many of the faces showed looks of intelligence as the face fell, but that was of course, only for a second.

"In a number of cases a decided effort to swallow was shown, and repeated several times. In some instances there was a pronounced effort to speak, judging from the expressions and movements of the lips. This was not a convulsive movement, but a most deliberate and expressive one. The men were not in the act of speaking when the blow fell. In other cases there was a natural movement of the eyes, as if looking, and an opening and closing of the lids occurred.

"There were no convulsive movements in any of the bodies or legs, the heads alone showing signs of life. Close examination of the facial expressions convinced me with the idea that it was the face of a person in syncope, and the eyes eyelids, lips, color and general expression were those of a person who was about going into a deep faint."

At a decapitation conducted by the Japanese, which Dr. Norton attended, the victims were made to kneel over the graves which had been dug for them. When they were decapitated heads and bodies fell into the trenches.

Before leaving China Dr. Norton communicated his views of decapitation to Vice-Consul Langhorne at Canton. Langhorne afterwards attended a number of executions and his observations bear out Dr. Norton's contention that beheading does not cause instantaneous death.

RUSSIA'S DEEP DESIGNS

Her Proposed Treaty with Turkey will Probably be Blocked

London, Oct. 20—The special correspondent of the London Daily Mail in Bucharest states that Russia has offered to Turkey a revival of the Unkiar Skelessi treaty. By this treaty, which was concluded in June, 1833, the Black Sea was converted into a purely Russian lake. The Porte, undertook, on the request of Russia, and in time of war, not to permit any foreign warships to enter the Black Sea under any pretence whatever. The treaty lasted about eight years, but afterwards it was not renewed, probably on account of the opposition of the western powers. Now, however, Russia has proposed to Turkey, not only to renew it but to introduce articles which, if possible, would radically strengthen its purport.

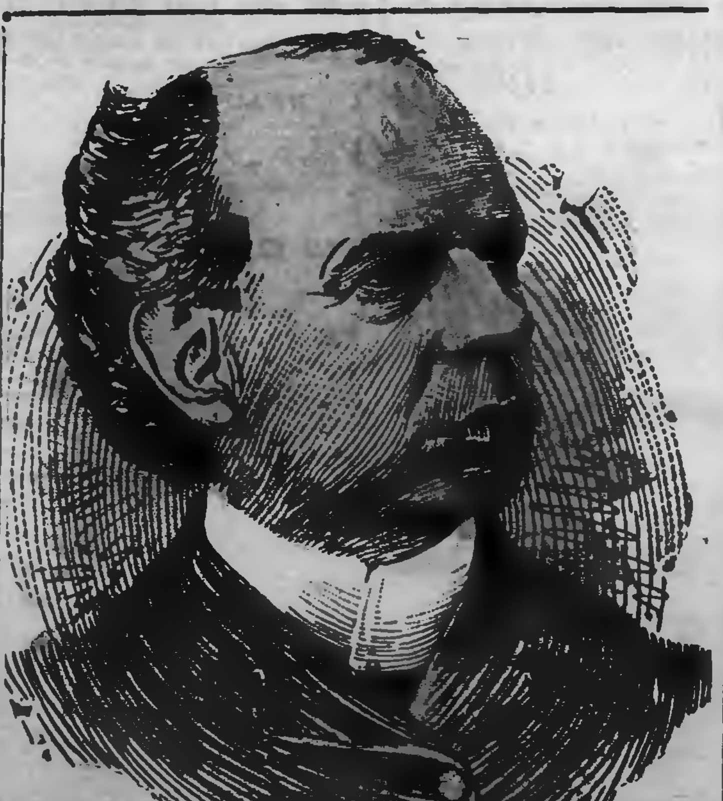
THE PREMIER ARRIVES IN MONTREAL AND IS GIVEN A ROYAL RECEPTION

Sir Wilfrid and Party Reach Metropolis Saturday Evening

The Premier Delivers a Speech from the Balcony of the Hotel

Thousands Turn Out to Do Honor to the Statesman



Montreal, Oct., 19—Sir Wilfrid Laurier was tendered a very hearty welcome to the commercial metropolis on Saturday evening.

Sir Wilfrid arrived by special Canadian Pacific train from Quebec. Upon his arrival at Place Viger station, the Premier was received by the Mayor and aldermen; Mr. Speaker Brodeur, delegations from the Board of Trade, Corn Exchange, Chambre de Commerce, the Liberal clubs, and the citizens generally. Sir Wilfrid was accompanied by Hon. W. S. Fielding and several others of his colleagues and proceeded to the balcony of the hotel, where the addresses were presented and the Premier delivered a speech to the assembled people.

The station was profusely decorated and illuminated as well as Place Viger and the joining residences. Mr. Padgor, of the Fire Alarm Department, was in charge of the illuminations at Place Viger and had men at work stringing wires for several days. Fire works were displayed on the eastern part of the square as the train steamed into the station.

It was estimated that at least 4,000 people took part in the procession, from Place Viger to the Windsor, via Craig and St. Lawrence, St. Catherine and Windsor streets, all of whom bore torches. A platoon of mounted police headed the procession.

The order of the procession was as follows:—Platoon of city police; the St. Charles Band, the St. Lambert Liberal Club, the St. Gabriel Liberal Club, the Harmony Band of St. Henri, the Marchand Club of Ste. Cunegonde, the Liberal Club of St. Henri, the Liberal Club of the West End, the Bickerdike Club, the Geoffrion Club, the Victoria Rifles Band, the Readoux Club, the Prefontaine Club, the Mercil Club, the Harmony Band of Mile End, the Laurier Club, the Bernier Club, the Hochelaga Band, the Chenier Club, the Mercier Club, the Cartwright Club, the St. Vincent de Paul Band, the Tarte Club, the Letellier Club, the City Band, the Archambault Club, the Club of Liberal Students, the Club of St. James North, the Liberal Club of St. Louis Ward, The Temperance Band, the Liberal Club of the East End, the Ville Marie Guard, preceded by its Band and Bugle Corps, the Band of the 65th batallion, the Royal Foresters

Followed by carriages containing Aldermen, Senators, Members of Parliament, and of the Legislature, representatives of the Board of Trade, Corn Exchange, Chamber of Commerce, and the officers and members of the Club National, of the Reform Club, of the Liberal Club, and of the Liberal Club of St. Lawrence Ward.

The Premier was greeted with cheers all along the route. When the Windsor was reached he was given an ovation. From the balcony the Premier addressed the assembled thousands, thanking them for their magnificent reception.

Soufriere Again in Eruption

The Volcanic Giant Was Again Active on Wednesday and Thursday—Ashes Fell in Great Quantities

Kingstown, Island of St. Vincent, B. W.I., October 20—A terrific eruption of the Soufriere volcano commenced Wednesday night. During the preceding day earth tremors apparently too slight to be considered important, were experienced in the centre and northern part of the island. At 8 o'clock Wednesday night there were indubitable indications of an eruption. Rumbling noises were heard; they increased until 9 o'clock, when the roaring volcanic giant belched out its deadly contents. This eruption was followed by a brief lull. Then from 10 o'clock until 4 o'clock this morning the upheaval continued. The outbreak was accompanied by an incessant and confused cannonading; there were incandescent clouds and sparkling matter was ejected. About four o'clock the disturbance gradually decreased, but the noise of the boiling cauldron is still audible in the districts neighboring the volcano.

Both craters of the Soufriere apparently were active; they have been steaming all day long. Sand fell heavily everywhere from half past 1 until half past two yesterday morning. At southern points the sand is half an inch deep; the depth gradually increasing toward the volcanic cone, where there were showers of large stones, pebbles and cinders.

Kingstown and other southern points of the Island have not been damaged. Reports from the Windward districts are awaited.

A NEW YORK TRAGEDY

William Turner Murders Two Men in a Law Office and Then Turns the Revolver on Himself

Special to The Times:

New York, October 20—William C. Turner today shot and killed Albert Hamilton and W. M. Mallard in the office of the law firm of Cantor, Adams and McIntyre in Broad street, and then committed suicide. Turner was at one time treasurer of the Climax Bottling Co in which the other two men were interested and the three met today to effect a settlement growing out of an alleged default on the part of Turner. During the conference a heated discussion arose and Turner drawing a revolver killed Hamilton and Mallard and then turning the weapon upon himself committed suicide.

Turner was also president of the Bottling Company and it is alleged that he was a defaulter in the sum of $5,000 in his accounts and he met his victims by appointment to effect a settlement. A member of the law firm in whose offices the shooting occurred said that after the three had been in conference Turner said:

"Well, here's a check for $5,000."

With that he put his hand into his pocket, drew out a revolver and fired point blank at Mallard. Hamilton sprang on Turner and grappled with him but Turner succeeded in turning his revolver on him and killed him. Before any one could get into the room the murderer killed himself. Another account says that during the discussion that as the railway can be built and

REPRESENTATION AT OTTAWA WILL NOW BE LOWERED

Premier Ross, in an Interview Said That Ontario Cannot Afford to Go Back on the Principle of Representation by Population

Special to The Times.

Toronto, October 17—So long as Ontario is represented by Hon. G. W. Ross this province will not go back on the principle of representation by population. Such was the impression conveyed by the Premier when interviewed by a Star representative with a view to ascertaining the stand he would take at the conference of provincial premiers to be resumed shortly at Quebec.

The conference was called for the purpose of considering various differences between the provinces and the Federal Government. The first session was held at Ottawa, but little or no business of importance was transacted and the adjournment was made with a view to having a fuller representation.

Perhaps the most important matter to be discussed is the representation which the various provinces shall have in the House of Commons. As is well known by the Act of Confederation Quebec got 65 members and each of the other provinces such a number as will give the same proportion of representation to its population as the number 65 bears to the population of Quebec as shown by each decennial census. The figures, as they stand today, mean the cutting down of Ontario's representatives from 91 to 86 members. Nova Scotia will lose two representatives, while New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island will only lose one each. The only gains in the English provinces are in the west, Manitoba securing two additional members and British Columbia one.

This does not make up for the relative lead which Quebec will have for although her representation is stationary at 65, that of most of the other provinces will be reduced.

"We can't go back on 'Representation by population'" said Hon. Mr. Ross jocularly, "and after all it does not matter so much how many men you have, as it does what good men you elect. We have fought for this principle and it would be manifestly unfair and wrong to discredit it now, just because it is going against us for the time being. What we lose is made up to some extent by the increase in the west and aside from that it is only proper that the act of Confederation should be strictly adhered to in the interest of the Dominion."

Determination of Unionists.

London, Oct. 17.—The Times says the most noteworthy feature in the present English political situation is the manifest determination of the rank and file of the Unionist party to give loyal support to the Government at any sacrifice of personal comfort and convenience. "No compromise," the challenge of the Liberals on the Education Bill, will be met by "no surrender" as the battle cry of the other side of the House. It is understood that in the event of any organized obstruction in the committee on the Education Bill, the Government will not hesitate to adopt drastic measures, including, possibly, a plan for closure by compartments.

India Is Safe from Attacks Made by Russians

Kitchener will Continue Indian Army Reform, Ready for Any Emergency

Much Depression in Austria—Royal Money for Organ Grinder Russian Concessions from China

London, Oct. 18A despatch from Simla says that Viceroy Lord Curzon of Kedleston, in speaking at a farewell dinner to General Sir Arthur Power Palmer, the retiring commander-in-Chief in India, declared that General Palmer might look back upon an army almost entirely re-armed with modern, quick-firing guns supplied with a large number of additional officers, and equipped with a bona fide transport organization and a scientific system of frontier defence, almost immeasurably superior to that of a few years ago. The artillery, moreover, had been re-armed, and factories for the supply of war materials had been established in India. In General Palmer's successor, Lord Kitchener, the Viceroy said, he was sure the Indian army would find a commander who would continue the era of interrupted practical reform.

CONFIDENCE IN SHAMROCK III.

London, Oct. 18—Quite radical difference between Shamrock III. and her two predecessors will be found in the lines of the bow. The new challenger will not have the familiar blunt nose, but will be cut away much finer, with the idea of preventing her pounding when there is any sea. Among Sir Thomas Lipton's friends there is quite a feeling of confidence that Shamrock III. will do the trick. Already there is some show money to back this opinion, but long odds are demanded. A friend of Sir Thomas Lipton who ought to know what he is talking about, said the other day that the report that the new boat will be built entirely out of steel and at less cost than Shamrock II. is all bosh. There is practically no limit to the cost, while fully ten times the amount of aluminum in the old boat will enter into the construction of the new yacht.

ROYAL MONEY FOR ORGAN GRINDER.

London, Oct. 18—The Newmarket meeting, which ended today, has almost been a record as regards attendance and good racing. The King's presence each day attracted all the fashionable world of turf. An amusing incident which happened yesterday while the King was driving to the course gave the police who were watching his Majesty, quite an ugly start. As the Royal carriage passed along the avenue, an Italian organ-grinder who was playing in the street suddenly deserted his instrument and ran toward the vehicle, waving his hat. The carriage stopped, and the police rushed up with the thought of an attempted assassination, only to find the King laughing heartily at the bold mendicant. His Majesty told an equery to give the Italian, whose name was Arpino, two shillings and then drove on.

MUCH DEPRESSION IN AUSTRIA.

London, Oct. 18—Forecasts made both in Vienna and Budapesth, are very gloomy, says a correspondent in the Austrian capital. He thinks that the depression, which is not confined to Parliamentary circles, may not be altogether justified, but says that the opening of the Austrian and Hungarian Legislatures has certainly taken place under unfavorable auspices. There is a deadlock over the Ausgleich negotiations, and the prospect of a compromise between the two leading nationalities in Austria seems as remote as ever, while in Hungary there is a chronic economic crisis and consequent popular discontent. Furthermore, it is idle to deny that people of both halves of the Monarchy contemplate with increasing concern the contingencies which the advanced age of Emperor Francis Joseph forces on the public mind. It is not pleasant to think of what state the country would be in if it were not for the universal confidence in the Emperor.

RUSSIAN CONCESSIONS FROM CHINA.

London, Oct. 18—An Imperial edict has been issued says a Shanghai correspondent, sanctioning the raising of a loan of $6,000 in Paris for the construction of a railway from Chang Ting Foo to Tai Yuen Foo. The loan was negotiated by Sheng, Director of Railroads, through the Russian Bank, on conditions similar to those of the Lu Han contract. The memorial from the Chinese Foreign Office recommending the undertaking to the Throne describes the railway as a branch of the Lu Han road, whereas the expired agreement between the Russian Bank and the Pekin syndicate describes it as an independent main line. The ease and rapidity with which Russia obtains concessions from the Chinese Government are in marked contrast to the position of similiar British enterprise. It is a matter of comment among native officials that Sheng is able persistently to block the Pekin syndicate's right to develop its important concession by connecting the mines with the Yang-Tse River.

SETTLERS FOR NEW ONTARIO

One of the conditions of the land grant to Mr. Clergue's railway was that 10,000 settlers should be located along the line of the Algoma Central within ten years. Mr. Clergue says now that he will have that number within five years. As fast as the railway can be built and the land surveyed, the settlers are going in. There has been some little delay in obtaining rails for the road, on account of the steel rail mill at the Sault being occupied in filling orders for other roads, but the general report is that the Sault industries are progressing satisfactorily. The farmers and market gardeners of Wentworth County, as well as the manufacturers of Hamilton will be pleased to hear this for a great many carloads of fruit and garden truck were shipped from Hamilton to the Sault last summer, and a market like that comes in very handy.

CHILDREN'S EYESIGHT

While the School Trustees are listening attentively to talk regarding the inefficiency of modern teachers and teaching, here are a few other points for incidental reflection. They refer to the schools of Big London, but may have a bearing in other lands. The London Mail notes the great increase in the number of spectacled persons in that city in recent years. Opticians affirm they are doing double the business they formerly did; the big eye hospitals of the metropolis have never treated so many patients as they do today. Prof. McHardy ophthalmic surgeon at King's College, Hospital, and Professor of Ophthalmology at King's College, spreads a warning to the parents in regard to this. He has spoken publicly on the dangers of the present methods of education in board schools, especially those in teaching the youngest children. "I believe," he said, "that the present kindergarten system is at the root of much of the injury caused to young children's eyes. I have closely studied this phase of the question, and am able to speak from experience. The continuous concentration of young eyes on colored papers and upon the small objects used in the infants' school room does, I am convinced, tend to provoke short sight in a few years.

This mischevious element can be detected not only in London, but in all large towns where young children are forced, quite unconsciously, to strain their eyes in one direction in a poor light. A little reading and a little sewing by children do no harm, but when the dose is in the slightest degree over-done, as I am convinced it is in many of our schools, then injury to vision takes place.

"Then," continued Prof. McHardy, "I ascribe much of the imperfect vision today to the slovenly posture in which people read and write, especially when they have not done growing. How often do you see passengers in railway trains crouching or curled up over a newspaper in a bad light? Not only are they injuring their vision, but their spines as well. I do not say that newspaper reading in itself is the cause for increasing bad sight. It is due, rather, to the distance the paper is held from the eyes, the poorness of the light and the stuffiness of the atmosphere.

"A paper or book should in ordinary cases be held about 18 inches from the eyes, and if artificial light is employed that should fall, not on the eyes, but on the paper, and of course over the left shoulder. I myself never read in a train, unless it is for the first few minutes of the journey to prevent people talking to me; after that I'm generally asleep."

—Mr. Andrew McNeil, a former resident of Peterborough, who has been living in New York, will again take up his residence in town. Mr. McNeil will be the representative of a Montreal firm in Ontario.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Out of her 57,000,000 inhabitants Germany takes annually 540,000 for military service. Of these, however, many are exempt so that the net draft is 412,000. That is a big drag on industry, but in France it is greater. In that country of every 1,000 men, between 21 and 60 years, 58.4 are taken for military service in peace times. In war times the number in France is 171; in Germany 130.

London, Oct. 17.—What has struck public opinion in Paris, says a correspondent in that city, is that the Boer generals seem to have decided that in their speeches they will lay claim in one way or another to affinity in blood or language with nations they are visiting. In Paris they affirmed that they had French blood in their veins. In Berlin they will probably declare that they have ties uniting them with the Germans. The people of Paris are curious to hear what ties attach generals to the British nation, or what they will discover of that sort on revisiting England.

THE MOONSTONE SPHINX

By Mrs C N Williamson

stance do any harm. And somehow he found himself oddly drawn towards the young fellow. There was a certain fascination about his strong, virile personality, which was augmented by the knowledge that this was he whom F. E. Z. had known, perhaps loved. Yet Macaire was far from sure whether the magnetic attraction he experienced was nearer to hate or affection. He only knew that he felt it, and desired to have a master hand over this young man's fate.

"I didn't know who you were that night, sir," Hope Newcome said. "But I remembered your face."

The corners of Macaire's mouth went down in a bitter sneer.

"That's because of my fatal beauty," he retorted, harshly. "I seldom find myself forgotten—even by a pretty woman. But I have more important things to talk of than personalities, and my ideas concerning you are in no way changed by the fact that we have met before. You tell me you wanted to play the wrestler on the stage. It has occurred to me that you might like to do so in good earnest, since that is your forte. Surely you haven't wasted those muscles of yours all your life? And as surely you've had training?"

"Oh, yes, I trained both as a wrestler and boxer," Newcome answered; "but I never intended to use the arts professionally. It was at a Western university in America where I first began to take a great interest in sport. I was in rather a sporting set, and I took the fancy of an old prize-fighter resting on his laurels, who lived in the town. He and a pal of his taught me everything I know, and they seemed to think me a decent sort of pupil.

"Then, a year before I finished my college course, family affairs took me away from home. I lived a very different sort of life after that, but I didn't forget what I'd learnt from Foxy O'Sullivan and his mate. I had a chance at a wrestling match with a big man among the amateurs—champion he was then, and I got the belt from him. Two or three matches I had afterwards, but I kept the belt."

"Are you any good with the gloves, or don't you go in for anything but wrestling?" asked Macaire, his eyes dwelling with a queer, jealous, grudging admiration on the other's splendid shoulders, his arms, his wrists—visible under shabby sleeves too short for him—his strong brown hands that had done damage to-day.

"Oh, wrestling's been my specialty, but I believe I'm not a bad boxer," Newcome answered, with modest confidence in his own powers. "I think I could hold my own with most amateurs, though I'm a bit out of training."

"How would you like to go into training again, if you stood to make your fortune, eh?"

Newcome's dark eyes flashed. "I'd do anything that would keep me in England, and among the sort of men I must be among, if I'm to do what I came a good many thousand miles to do. And as for a fortune—well, I've got more than one use for money just now."

As he finished his face changed. No longer open, it became reserved. Though at first sight he seemed to have been exceedingly outspoken, even confidential, about his past and his present circumstances, after all he had told practically nothing; and despite his boyish frankness at times he looked like a man who could keep his own counsel, a man who would be strong enough, dogged enough to die for the keeping of a secret if need arose.

Macaire, however, did not now make these reflections regarding his companion's character. He thought of him as a connecting link with the past, through F. E. Z. (concerning whom he meant cautiously to put questions in time to come), and as a magnificent young animal to be trained for his uses, rather than as a thinking, feeling man with ambitions and hopes of his own. The millionaire was accustomed to make puppets of others who were handicapped in life's race by the lack of what he possessed in abundance; and one of his most extravagantly eccentric ideas was taking form in his brain for the future of his present companion.

By this time dinner was well under way. Here and there they had paused in their conversation for one course to go and another to come, lest the subject should prove too interesting for a waiter's ears; and they had now passed by oysters, soup, and filleted sole.

"Very well, then," Macaire commented on the other's answer. "Then you're the man for me. And I rather think I'm the man for you, too. I'm rich—I suppose you've heard that of me, haven't you?"

"I've heard that there's a Mr. Lionel Macaire who's got millions. Are you that Macaire, sir?"

"I'm that Macaire. I like to amuse myself, and I can afford to pay for it; I do pay for it. I invite you to cater for my amusement, and I'm willing to pay a big price. If you consent, after I've explained, I don't mind giving you a sum down if you're so situated that money in hand would be a convenience—a sort of retaining fee, don't you know?"

"Thank you," said Newcome. "If I saw that I could earn the money, I don't deny that it would be a convenience."

"Good. There's just one thing, then, before I put my proposition and try to see if you and I can come to terms. Will you give me your word, if you accept, that the arrangement between us shall be entirely confidential—entirely, mind you? I haven't asked you to confide in me, and I don't know whether you're alone in England or whether you're with friends or relatives, male or female. But when I say that I want our transactions to be private, between ourselves, I don't except such relatives or friends."

ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18-inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realize the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purposes of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

We furnish the rich property—you furnish the mill. In a few months it will be in operation—almost before you expect it—and we divide the immense returns.

Montana Consolidated Mining Company

Capital Stock $500,000, divided into 500,000 shares of $1 par value.

The Capital Stock of the Company is so small that very large dividends can be paid. There is sufficient treasury stock for all purposes 400,000 shares, (four-fifths of the whole capital). Products of these mines are copper and silver, always in demand. The stock is absolutely non-assessable.

The thanks of the editor of this great family journal are due to Mr. J. M. Brooks for a couple of mountain trout, caught in Ketchecum Lake. This, we believe beats the record.

The Band Concert

Norwood Register:—The concert on fair night under the auspices of the Fifty-Seventh Regimental Band, Peterboro was a splendid success, and proved to be a rare musical treat. This band is composed of forty members, all of whom are fine musicians. The programme was lengthy and very interesting, one item of which, "Reminiscences of Scotland," was especially enjoyed by the audience. In "The Hunting Scene," the description of the chase was so vivid one could almost see the foxes. A very large number were present, the receipts being $121.00.

Drunkenness in Keene

Mr. Samuel English, of Keene, called on The Times on Saturday regarding the item which appeared under Keene news recently, stating that there was considerable drinking done in the village on Sunday. Mr. English keeps one of the two hotels there, and states that he never sells or allows liquor to be sold on his premises either on Sunday or during prohibited hours on week days. He believes that the other hotel is equally strict. The hotel keepers of Keene rather pride themselves on the observance of the law. Any liquor that is consumed in Keene on Sunday is certainly not purchased in the village.

FROM KETCHECUM LAKE

Hunting and Fishing Party Returned from the North

Messrs. J. M. Brooks, R. B. McKee, H. Le Brun, A. H. Stratton, John Crane D. Davidson and J. D. Collins returned on Friday night from Ketchecum Lake, where they spent a week trout fishing and hunting. There are two hunting clubs with cottages on this beautiful sheet of water—the Ketchecum Hunt Club and the Salmon Hunt Club. The first mentioned club christened their cottage on Thanksgiving Day, naming it "Win-Ketch,"—the first syllable after Mr. Harry Winch, the popular and jolly chief, and the last after the lake. The christening ceremonies were performed in the presence of large numbers of both clubs, Capt. Harry Winch, making a speech fully 37 feet long, after which the party partook of refreshments, during which speeches and songs were liberally indulged in. Mr. LeBrun gave the Marseillese in his inimitable style and with several different accents. During the week's outing about 150 mountain trout were caught, and any quantity of partridges were shot.

EDUCATIONAL BILL

Much Heated Discussion About the Supposed Sectarian Tendencies of the Educational Bill

London, Oct. 19.—There has been so much heated discussion about the supposed sectarian tendencies of the Education Bill that the public have lost sight of its provisions. Parliament, at its adjournment, had reached, and passed, the seventh clause. It may be well to recall what the Bill really does.

London will be dealt with after the passing of the present Bill, but throughout the country the school boards disappear, and the county council of every county and every county borough becomes instead of them the local education authority levying the necessary rates.

Elementary education must be provided by these local authorities, the optional clause—the 11th—having been struck out of the measure.

With the concurrence of the board of education, they may also aid schools and colleges giving higher or secondary education, and may, where necessary, erect new institutions.

The cost of such higher education is to be borne by the "Whiskey and Beer Money" granted from the imperial revenue for technical education, and, if required, a rate of 2d. in the £1 may be levied. The consent of the local government board must be obtained for any higher rate.

Training for teachers will also be provided by the county councils, according to the needs of the locality.

In a district where there is already a residential church training college, Nonconformist teachers will be received, if they are prepared to accept the ordinary secular preparation, hostels being added to the establishment for their accommodation.

In these higher schools or colleges so aided the Council cannot require that any particular religious teaching "shall not be taught," and no pupil can be excluded on the ground of religious belief.

Day or evening scholars cannot be required "to attend or abstain from attending" any "Sunday school, place of religious worship, religious observance, or instruction in religious subjects."

Clause seven deals with the management of schools. There is no controversy as to the management of the ordinary elementary school, which will be governed by a body of six, four members to be appointed by the council of the county, and two by the council of the locality in which the school is situated.

It is around the church schools that the battle is fought. They have been built and equipped by voluntary effort, ation, and thus earning grants upon accepting public inspection and examination, children who pass the required standards.

Voluntary school buildings are kept up by their founders, the whole cost of the secular education being borne under the Bill by the rates.

No payment is to be made out of the rates in respect of religious instruction given the denominal schools.

Mr. Balfour proposed that there shall be four foundation managers of a church school to two other managers in a governing body of six. From that proportion he would not flinch, and he was supported by 220 votes to 98.

The House would go no further, and the right hon. gentleman has reserved the proposed machinery ofr electing these managers for consideration at the resumed sittings of the House.

The Prime Minister was warned that by adhering so absolutely to this proportion of the voluntary schools he was imperiling their future, to which he had made the obvious reply that if that were so he could not understand the anxiety for compromise on the part of those who sought to deprive these schools of their denominal character.

Altogether there are twenty clauses. In point of magnitude they are but a drop as compared with the sea of amendments which have been proposed. The whole principle of the measure must come up again on the constitution of the electorate, who are to appoint the governing body of the voluntary schools.

Half and Half.

The dyspeptic may well be represented pictorially as being half masculine and half feminine, and combining the least desirable characteristics of either sex. He has all the stubbornness of the man with the peevish irritability of a sick woman. He's not pleasant company at home or abroad.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and associated organs of digestion and nutrition. It renews physical health which carries with it cheerfulness of temper, and makes life a pleasure instead of a penance.

The "Discovery" purifies the blood by eliminating the corrupt and poisonous accumulations from which disease is bred. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, so increasing the supply of pure rich blood, which gives life to every organ of the body. It gives new life and new strength.

"Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has performed a wonderful cure," writes Mr. M. H. Howe, of Charleston, Franklin Co., Ark. "I had the worst case of dyspepsia, the doctors say, that they ever saw. After trying seven doctors and everything I could hear of, with no benefit, I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and now I am cured."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

ITEMS OF NEWS BY CABLE AND LETTER

Kingston, Ont., October 19—The board of trustees of Queen's College have not yet selected a principal. A meeting will be held next month when it will be decided to formally offer the principalship to Rev. Mr. Patterson, of Aberdeen. He was recommended by Rev. Dr. Hill, of Montreal.

New York, Oct. 17.—An announcement has been made that a marriage has been arranged between Earl Rosslyn and Miss Beatrice Simpson, who is known on the stage as Beatrice Irwin. Both are members of an organization which is playing, "There's Many a Slip," at Garrick Theatre. Lord Rosslyn is known to New York theatre-goers as James Erskine. They were introduced as members of the same company six weeks ago. It was love at first sight, as the Earl says, and although Miss Simpson was prepared, as she confesses to dislike him, she did not, and the English peer declares that in consequence, he is the happiest man alive. No date has yet been set by Miss Simpson ofr her marriage, but it is likely that it will take place early next year.

The wedding will take place at Rosslyn Chapel, on the Earl's estate. Lord and Lady Rosslyn will establish their home at Rosebank, Scotland. The Earl said that neither Miss Simpson nor he intended to leave the stage, as he had determined to devote his life to a theatrical career. Miss Simpson is the daughter of the late Rev. Wm. Simpson, who was one of Queen Victoria's chaplains in India, and she is the granddaughter of Lady Hall, widow of Sir John Hall, K.C.B. Her mother is still living, although most of her childhood was spent with Lady Hall. Her family is one of the best in Scotland. Miss Simpson, who is 21 years old, made her debut on the stage four years ago as a member of the companies of Sir Henry Irving and Sir. Chas. Wyndham. Her talent was recognized and she was rapidly advanced. In the play which is now at the Garrick, Miss Simpson is ingenue, and there is no scene between her and the Earl. In "His Excellency the Governor," which is to be revived next week at the Garrick Theatre, is a love scene, in which they will appear, love scene, in which they will appear, which is one of the most effective scenes in the play. Miss Simpson enacted the same role in this play when she went with a company to South Africa.

To-day the readers of the public press have the pleasure of reading the greatest investment offer of the age, and those who wish to profit by it must act quickly, and be in line on Tuesday morning, October 14, at 9 o'clock, to subscribe for the number of shares they desire to buy without any great inconvenience to their Pocketbook.

I beg to announce to the general public a pleasant surprise—that the great and profitable business of William H. Moffitt has been organized and created into

WM. H. MOFFITT REALTY COMPANY

$500,000 CAPITAL STOCK

100,000 SHARES — $5 PER SHARE

Organized under the laws of the State of New York with capital fully paid in.

The energy, pluck and perseverance of American enterprise have been well demonstrated from this office during the past twelve years. More New York people have purchased lots and plots through this office than any office in New York. Investments of gigantic nature both in the State of New York and State of New Jersey have been made, each one a crowning success in itself.

Not One Instance Can be Recited or Proven Where Any Investment I Have Made Has Been Unprofitable

Everything I bought has been a money maker, and to-day you can become a partner in the most valuable end of it. — Long Island.

Kindly Permit a Few Words Worthy Of Careful Reading.

6 Per Cent. Investment,

Which is Guaranteed to be Positive, with every Probability of being Considerably More

My name needs no advertising—every one in Greater New York and within one hundred miles of New York knows me, and through the columns of the press my advertisements have reached all quarters of Europe and America, where thousands of those whose names are on my ledgers are residents.

This mammoth business began from a deskroom at $5.00 a month, in an office at No. 32 Liberty street, in 1890, with no one to assist me, until I have gradually ascended the ladder of good fortune of this great city during these twelve years, and have bought seventy-seven properties in twenty-six cities and towns around New York, selling lots and plots to more that 27,000 people, representing over $5,000,000 worth of suburban property, all sold on the monthly payment system. To-day this immense business requires a corps of 50 men in a half dozen offices to conduct this rapid-growing, profit-making business in the real estate field in the City of New York and Long Island. The great centre and gold field of investment to-day lies on Long Island, outside of greater New York, where land can be bought cheap at $50 to $300 an acre and sold quickly at immense profits. You know and every one knows, Long Island is now at the first step of the greatest era of prosperity in the history of that territory. It does not take a very wise man to understand this situation. Everything points to Long Island, and millions of money are now pouring into that section. The Pennsylvania R. R., who now control the Long Island R. R., have set aside $20,000,000, putting in new tracks, building new depots, putting on new cars, increasing the number of trains and cheapening the fares. They have already bought block after block around 7th Ave. and 34th St., New York City, for its terminal from Long Island through the tunnel now building under East River and every point within sixty miles of New York will have suburban service and commutation rates within two years. Trains that run now at forty miles an hour should be common at sixty miles an hour within two years, with through express trains to Long Island to 34th St., New York. Besides, look at the millions of money being spent by the City of New York for bridges and tunnels, all of which with the various trolley lines, reaching out on Long Island, tend to bring every acre of land and every home within sixty miles of New York on Long Island nearer to New York, making it marketable in five years' time from five to ten times its present value. This is not a fairy story, but actual cold and absolute facts, which a man of any experience foresees, and which any conservative New York man will verify.

Much more can be said than I have told you. I am expressing what I know after an experience of five years on Long Island, having invested in five thousand acres at Bay Shore and Moriches, which I have subdivided into building lots, water fronts, and acre plots which have been quickly sold and turned into 6 per cent. paying contracts, payable to me in monthly payments covering a period of four to six years. The proofs are my ledgers, which will verify every statement, which I have made here. I WILL ENUMERATE A FEW OF MY INVESTMENTS FROM MY LONG LIST OF PURCHASES, WHICH PROVE I HAVE MADE FROM 100 TO 1,000 PER CENT ON THE INVESTMENT.

AT CENTRE MORICHES

Terry Estate	225 acres	cost $2,000	sold for $30,000
Rader Estate	21 acres	cost $4,500	sold for $18,000
Linington Estate	100 acres	cost $1,400	sold for $12,000
Weeks Estate	1,100 acres	cost $11,000	sold for $50,000
Roberts Estate	150 acres	cost $1,200	sold for $10,000

AT BAY SHORE

Smith Estate	55 acres	cost $8,000	sold for $55,000
Jacob Estate	114 acres	cost $4,000	sold for $18,000
Klock Estate	6 acres	cost $2,000	sold for $12,000
Weeks Estate	9 acres	cost $2,700	sold for $12,000
Wright Estate	50 acres	cost $2,000	sold for $18,000

These are but a few of the money makers which I have bought and sold on Long Island within the last five years, WHERE MY PROFIT HAS BEEN OVER $250,000 ALONE, though operated and handled only by a limited capital, and every investment a money maker. Therefore, my reputation and record are positively known by my actual experience, not on paper or what might be, but because I possess a better knowledge of the value of real estate in the suburban property on Long Island than any man in Greater New York. I have the machinery and facilities and also the method to sell quickly, reaping large profits, and every dollar invested through this company I believe is positively sure and without question destined to bring a handsome profit to anyone who becomes a shareholder.

THE WM. H. MOFFIT REALTY COMPANY HAS ORGANIZED WITH $500,000 CAPITAL under the laws of the State of New York, with stock fully paid up, comprising one hundred thousand shares at $5 a share.

This Company will have its offices at 155-157 Broadway, New York City, and Bay Shore, L. I.—the present offices of my business now. All the investments of this Company will be in Greater New York and on Long Island, buying acreage and cutting same up into lots and plots to be sold on the instalment plan.

This Company will sell only one-fifth of the stock at par value at $5 per share, and offer

Believe me or not, this stock will positively be sold within one week. Every buyer will have an interest in $300,000 worth of real estate and $700,000 in contracts, now bearing six per cent interest. So you can see this is not a new business hoping to make money, with inexperienced and incapable men behind it, but a money-making institution already in existence, making from $60,000 to $100,000 a year, and behind all this is a man of reputation that is beyond reproach for honesty and fair dealings, known everywhere as an indulgent, ambitious and persistent home maker for the rent payer and wage earner of New York and elsewhere. Twenty-seven thousand people will verify this, who have bought through his office and have known him for twelve years as New York's greatest real estate suburban operator.

Remember, this is no Oil Scheme, Copper Scheme, Gold Scheme or Wild Cat Scheme, started on paper, offering nothing for something and promising you all kind of per cent. to get your money. You do not have to think long to know that this is the best thing ever offered for sale to the small and large investor.

Real Estate Companies have been organized in New York City for real estate only, where millions have been made in a short space of time. I quote the Central Realty & Bond Company's stock with a par value of $100, for which $675 a share has been refused; the New York Realty Corporation, par value of $100, for which $300 a share has been refused; the Alliance Realty Company, par value $100, for which $150 has been refused, and the Fuller Realty Company, par value $50, for which $115 has been refused. All of these companies are only a few years in existence.

THINK OF IT BUYING LAND AT $50 TO $300 AN ACRE AND SELLING IT FROM $500 TO $1,000 AN ACRE, WITH NO END OF BUYERS

In an inexhaustible field in this great city, where there are four millions of people to talk to, the greatest money centre on earth, the greatest manufacturing centre on earth—where there are 60,000 factories employing 500,000 people, the greater per cent. of whom are now eager to get on the outside and buy a plot of land on the easy payment plan, where you can show them quick service, cheap car fare and cheap land. This is only the beginning—there are greater profits ahead.

THE STOCK YOU CAN BUY NOW FOR $5. AFTER THE ALLOTMENT OF 20,000 SHARES ARE SOLD NOT A SHARE OF THIS STOCK, I AM CERTAIN, CAN BE BOUGHT FOR $10.00 A SHARE. A SHARE SHOULD ADVANCE TO $25 A SHARE IN THREE YEARS AND TO $50 A SHARE IN FIVE YEARS. THE COMPANY GUARANTEES TO PAY 6 PER CENT. PER ANNUM ON ALL CERTIFICATES OF STOCK PAID FOR IN CASH—3 per cent. more than the bank will pay you, and not one dollar of the stock to be assessable for anything. The dividend on the stock is to be paid the second Tuesday in January and July. All stock paid for in cash now will draw 2 per cent. dividend on January 15—which is equivalent to 8 per cent. per annum.

Mr. Davis stepped from behind the bar and upon Mrs. Nation's second refusal to vacate, he caught her by the back of the neck and one arm and threw her bodily into the street.

The Gold Lake Party to Change Their Route This Year

The Gold Lake Hunt Club, who have a commodious lodge at Gold Lake, have decided this year to go to the North Shore. The only members who are not taking in the far off hunting grounds are Messrs. Wm. Snowden and T. E. Boddy. These gentlemen will depart in a few days for Gold Lake. Mr. Snowden, who has long held the position of President of the Club, is determined not to forego the Gold Lake trip. He has called a meeting of the remainder of the club for this evening. As a matter of precaution he warned Mr. Boddy to be careful how he voted at the meeting, as he might cause a deadlock, seeing that there were only two members left.

OVER FOUR HUNDRED MILLIONS OF CHINESE

The Flowery Kingdom Contains Nearly Half a Billion of Human Beings

DENSITY OF POPULATION RAPIDLY INCREASING

Every Square Foot of Land in the Country is Required to Raise Food—The Terraced Mountain.

Pekin, Oct. 21.—The Chinese Government has made a recensus of the population of China proper, according to which the inhabitants number about 426,000,000 souls. There are reasons for believing that this figure may be approximately correct. The figures for China's population usually printed have been those of Chinese census modified by writers on China whose opinions are regarded as worth considering. Faith in the Chinese figures has fluctuated; at times they have been accepted for years and then rejected on account of the increasing number of writers who disputed their accuracy.

In recent years more credence has been given to the Chinese statistics of population. Two years ago, Mr. E. M. Kohler, a German geographer well acquainted with various parts of China, expressed the view that though the methods of the Chinese census are inexact, they are more trustworthy than the estimates of foreigners who know only a small part of the country. He gave excellent reasons for assuming that 380,000,000, the Chinese figure of 1882, was approximately accurate; and this has been generally accepted by statisticians for the population of the country twenty years ago. The present enumeration is only 13,000,000 more than the Chinese figure for 1842.

The people of the western world have little idea of the density of population produced by crowding 426,000,000 people into China proper. That region is less than half as large as the United States without Alaska; and yet, if the present figures are accepted, there are about as many people in the nineteen provinces as in the whole of Europe and nearly six times as many as there are in the United States. An idea of the density of population on the plains of China, where the people live most thickly together, may be had by stating if the whole population of the United States and 40,000,000 more were crowded into the Province of Ontario, the density of population would be about equal to that of the Yangste Valley and of the plain extending north and south between the lower and upper courses of the Yangste and the Hoang Rivers.

No wonder the Chinese are compelled to terrace and till their mountain slopes even to a height of 8,000 feet; and that every square foot of land that can be made to raise food is kept in constant service and at the highest point of fertility. In his book, "Through Hidden Shensi," Mr. Nihcols gives a graphic picture of those terraced mountains which he saw everywhere in the northern provinces west of the plains of Chihli. He found the rugged beauty of the mountains obscured by the terraces that cover them from base to summit. These terraces are kept in place by stone walls about four feet high, extending along the mountain slopes. Every inch of ground between the mountain side and the edge of the walls is under cultivation usually with wheat or some other varieto of grain.

JOHN MITCHELL FAVOURS THE SETTLEMENT

Mines to be Re-Opened at Once—No Malice Borne to Operators—Plenty of Coal in a Few Days

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 20.—At the convention of miners called by Mr. John Mitchell, it was agreed to ratify the agreement entered into regarding the coal strike. There were about seven hundred delegates from the United Mine Workers of America, in the hard coal mining districts of Pennsylvania present. The convention was called by President Mitchell, under the rules of the union, and it is to vote on the plan which he laid before it, and explained fully in a lengthy address.

Previous to the assemblage of the convention there were busy scenes at strike headquarters in the Hart Hotel, from which the miner's battle has been directed since the strike was called 162 days ago. Before eight o'clock the miner delegates, the majority of whom arrived on the early morning trains, began to gather there. President Mitchell was the center of interest, and until he left for the convention hall was always surrounded by his lieutenants and others.

Mitchell's Address.

The address of President Mitchell, was as follows:

Gentlemen,—In opening this convention for the transaction of business, I take pleasure in extending a warm greeting and welcome to the accredited representatives of the 150,000 men and boys whose heroic struggle for living wages and American conditions of employment has won the admiration of the whole civilized world. Language is inadequate to express the sense of pride I feel in you and those you represent. Your noble defence of the principle of unionism endears you to every man and every woman in our land who works for a livelihood. When the history of the struggles of toilers shall be written its pages will record no event more important, no principle more ably defended, no battle more bravely fought, than the contest which I earnestly hope is now about to be happily ended.

It is not my purpose to review the progress of the strike or even to enumerate the important events which have now passed into history. Imprinted indelibly upon the hearts of our people are the memories of the sufferings and hardships which have been and are being endured. For five long months the eyes of the nation have been centered upon your actions, and it is a pleasure to say that the great heart of the American people throbbed in Sympathy With You.

It is, of course, a source of deep regret that the millions of underpaid workmen in our great cities should be the most acute sufferers by reason of this contest between ourselves and our employers. But, strange as it may appear, hundreds upon hundreds of those who suffered most from lack of fuel sent words of commendation and encouragement to us, and in many cases, declared that they would endure any privation in order that the miners and their families might secure a sufficient wage to enable them to enjoy a little happiness and sunshine instead of the gloom and sadness which has been their lot for many years.

The debt of gratitude we owe our fellow workers in this and other lands, the debt of gratitude we owe a generous public and a friendly press, who have supported and sustained us during this memorable strike, can never be adequately repaid.

No Feeling of Malice.

For our opponents we entertain no feeling of malice. While they have maligned our characters, impugned our methods, and sought the victory by methods which we would scorn to use, yet on this day, when we secure an avenue of redress, on this day when the realization of our hopes and ambitions seems near, when the prospect of a brighter and happier future seems assured, we should hold out to them the hand of friendship and ask them to join us in providing for such business relations as shall for all time establish peace and tranquility in the coal fields.

The day is past when great organizations of capital can maintain the false position that their employee shall be denied the right to organize into compact bodies and speak through the organization of which they are members. We recognize the right of capital to consolidate, to federate, and to speak and act through its organization, but in according these rights and privileges to capital, we demand and shall assert the same privileges for those who toil. Between the combination of capital on the one hand and the organization of labor on the other there should be and need be no irreconcilable conflict; each is a factor in the economic development of business judgment and.

Plain Common Sense.

by each would enable them to work in harmony. While the interests of labor and capital are not by any means identical, they are, nevertheless, reciprocal; each is dependent upon the other, and under our form of government, one cannot prosper without the other. Abraham Lincoln truly said that "capital is the fruit of labor, and could not exist if labor had not first existed; labor, therefore, deserves the first consideration." That this fundamental principle will be recognized by the tribunal selected by the President of the United States I have no reason to doubt.

The grave question which you have been called upon to consider today, demands and must receive your most careful thought. Personally I should have preferred an adjustment of the difficulties existing in the anthracite field by conference with the anthracite mine owners and without the intervention of agencies not directly involved, but I recognize the fact that relations between ourselves and the mine operators have become so strained as to render direct negotiation at this time impossible. If the consequences of this strike affected only the interests of the operators and mine workers there would be less reason for the intervention of a third party, but the fact that a coal famine was upon the people of the eastern and seaboard States and threatened to become justifies the action of the Chief Executive of our nation in his earnest efforts to bring about an early resumption of mining.

The proposition submitted for your consideration may have objectionable features, and its details may not meet with the unanimous approval of our people, but it is immeasurably better as now presented than when originally offered by the representatives of the coal corporations. I am firm in my conviction that the prompt acceptance of this proposal will secure to the anthracite mine workers and those dependent upon them a greater measure of justice than they could attain by continuing the conflict; I believe that the prompt acceptance of the proposition will secure to the mine workers a greater degree of justice than they have enjoyed in the past.

The people of our country await with anxious expectancy the result of your action today, the eyes of the nation are centered upon you, and friends and foes alike demand the submission of issues involved in this strike to the tribunal nominated by the President of the United States. That there are discordant elements in this convention, that there are dissatisfied ones at home, I am fully aware, but, gentlemen, with all the earnestness of which I am possessed, I urge that you give your approval to the action of your executive officers, who have recommended acceptance of the proposition that the strike be declared off, and all men are then to return to work in the position and working places occupied by them prior to the inauguration of the strike, and that all questions at issue be submitted for adjustment to the tribunal selected by the President of the United States.

WOMAN'S WEALTH IS HEALTH

Paine's Celery Compound

Gives Vitality, Vigor and Strength to Debilitated and Rundown Women

It is maintained by many writers that the greatness of a nation depends much upon the physical condition of its women. The general conditions which contribute to health and long life, as those which do not imply a rapid and unequal exhaustion of those powers by which life is maintained. While we assert that the women of our land stand peerless for beauty and the virtues that make them lovable, we cannot hide the fact that there are thousands in our midst, who, owing to overwork, worry, household cares, and an unequal exhaustion of life-power, have become weak, nervous, sleepless and debilitated.

We bring to the attention of all weary, despondent, hopeless and sickly women earth's great renewer and health-builder, Paine's Celery Compound. Thousands of healthy women around us owe their present vigor, activity and robustness to Paine's Celery Compound. No other medicine has done such a work for women, and no other has ever received such strong and grateful letters of testimony. Mrs. W. B. Phelps, of Philipsville, Ont., says:

For two years I was in a miserable state of health, and so nervous that sleep went from me. In my anxious condition it was no pleasure to live. After use of Paine's Celery Compound for ten days I found myself very much improved, and I was enjoying rest and sleep. I have since taken Paine's Celery Compound from time to time, and find that it keeps me well and strong. I recommend Paine's Celery Compound at every opportunity."

MR. TARTE LIKELY TO LEAVE THE MINISTRY

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Had Two Interviews with the Minister

THEN SAW GOVERNOR GENERAL

The Cabinet Council Was Summoned to Meet This Afternoon

Ottawa, Oct. 20.—"What is Sir Wilfrid going to do with Tarte?" That is the question on everyone's lips since the Premier has returned.

No official announcement is yet forthcoming on this topic. The Minister of Public Works asked for a meeting with his leader, and has seen him twice, but neither will speak as to what transpired.

Sir Wilfrid was at his office bright and early this morning, looking much rested since his arrival Saturday. He saw your correspondent, and smilingly remarked: "You see, I an down to business already. Yes, I am feeling well and ready for duty."

He politely declined, however, to say a word for publication with regard to what course he will pursue in the Tarte matter.

Is Tarte to Go Out?

The impression is very general that the Minister of Public Works is going out, but neither of the two principals in the matter will express a sylabble as to the action to be taken. Mr. Tarte's remark to your correspondent that the Quebec Mercury, purchased for his younger son, is to be conducted as a Liberal Journal but on protectionist lines, is most significant.

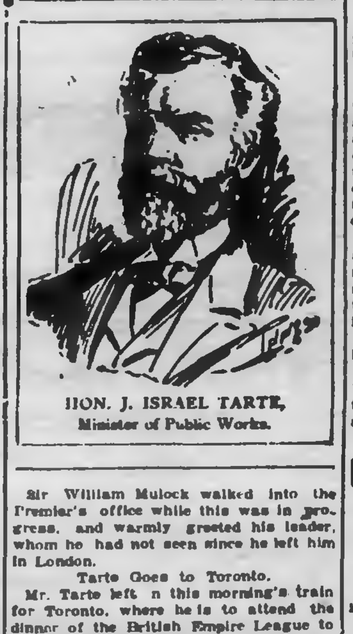
Liberals say that Mr. Tarte cannot remain in the Cabinet if he is to champion the Conservative tariff policy, that the constitutional Government must be maintained. He must either recant or withdraw.

The Premier went down to Government House shortly before noon today to see his Excellency and a Cabinet Council will be held this afternoon.

But the public must surmise for itself as to the purpose of these metings

Laurier's Meeting With Tarte.

Hon. J. I. Tarte desired an interview with his chief, Sir Wilfrid, yesterday afternoon, and was ready to go down to the Premier's residence to see him, but as there was company there, the Prime Minister instead waited upon his colleague to learn what he had to say. other interview with Sir Wilfrid this forenoon, before leaving for Toronto.



HON. J. ISRAEL TARTE,
Minister of Public Works.

Sir William Mulock walked into the Premier's office while this was in progress, and warmly greeted his leader, whom he had not seen since he left him in London.

Tarte Goes to Toronto.

Mr. Tarte left on this morning's train for Toronto, where he is to attend the dinner of the British Empire League to Col. Denison. He was seen by your correspondent before leaving, and asked if he had anything to say for publication with regard to his future plans His reply was: "No; nothing at present, more than that I will reply to a toast at the dinner in Toronto tonight to Col. Denison."

"Is it true," was asked, "that you are leaving the Administration?"

"That," he returned, "is a subject on which my lips are sealed. It is for Sir Wilfrid to say."

In a reply to a question, the Minister of Public Works confirmed the report of the purchase of the Quebec Mercury.

"You know," he added, "we are a family of newspaper men. My younger son will have charge of this property, and will control it as a Liberal paper, but on protectionist lines."

INDIAN TROOPS TO BE SENT TO SOMALILAND

London, Oct. 20—The British Government is considering the expediency of despatching Indian troops to Somaliland to deal with the Mad Mullah.

The British Vice-Consul at Berbera, Somaliland is cabling to the Foreign Office the substance of a later despatch which he received from Colonel Swayne, commander of the British force operating against the Mad Mullah referring to the Mullah being in communication with "Kal! Inger" in the direction of the Webbe River. He apparently meant "Karl Inger" the former officer of the Austrian-Hungarian army who has several times been mentioned in connection with the Mullah's movements in Somaliland. Inger is also said to have caused the British authorities trouble in the Soudan some years ago.

Gen. W. H. Manning started from London for Somaliland some days ago, in consequence of bad news from there, and will hasten the despatch of reinforcements from Berbera.

Washington, Oct. 20—Varying stories come from Venezuela about the fighting. All agree that the Government forces and the revolutionists have been engaged in a seven days' battle, and that the latter have retired.

President Castro claims a sweeping victory for the Government forces, with 3,000 dead and wounded among the revolutionists.

Other reports say the battle ended without decisive results. One revolutionist says the rebels only abandoned the fight after being convinced that La Victoria was impregnable and after President Castro had refused to come out and attack the revolutionists outside La Victoria. He adds that the rebels suffered losses, but the Government did also. President Castro's forces are reduced to 2,100 men—from 6,000,— while Gen. Matos still has 9,000—formerly 11,000—in the field. It was not a route, but a methodical retreat.

Another story says that during the last days of the fighting the temperature rose to 116 degrees, and a visitor to the scene of the engagement declares he never saw such a terrible spectacle as was presented by the battlefield The victory of the Government troops, which is said to be due to the personal courage of President Castro, who twice, with a Mauser rifle in his hand charged at the head of his soldiers, is considered a serious setback for the cause of the revolutionists.

RAILWAY BLOCKED WITH GOODS.

London, Oct. 20— A despatch to The Times from Odessa says that sidings are blocked with goods below Kieff, owing to the incompetency of the Southwestern Railway. Hundreds of tons of valuable fruit have been sold for next to nothing, and at various sidings the cattle and swine are feeding on produce intended for market. The poor peasants will in the long run have to bear a considerable share of the heavy loss.

DOUKS' CRUSADE NOT A SUCCESS

Fanatics Start Out on a March on a Proselytizing Mission

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 20—A despatch from Yorkton says: "Fanatical Doukhobors have commenced a crusade that will recall the history of the middle ages. To the number of five hundred they are marching east and south on a proselytizing mission. At present they are stirring up the less devout of their own creed in villages located in this district. That done, they intend to march on Yorkton and Winnipeg, and later on they will extend their work through all Canada and the United States.

The missionary work was commenced at Devil's Lake and was not particularly successful. Some of the worldly followers of Tolstoi threatened to throw their fanatical brethren into the lake if they persisted in hanging around the village propogating the turning loose of horses and cattle.

Some of the Doukhobors have already become so assimilated with Canadians that they are making homestead entries at the land office here.

ALGERIAN-MOROCCAN FRONTIER

London, Oct. 22—A correspondent at P says that the Algerian-Morroccan frontier question has been satisfactorily settled, the frontier having been agreed upon. The Moroccan and French Governments also promise mutual assistance in preventing smuggling and in collecting import and export duties. France gets the disputed districts she already occupies, but the Sultan refused to entertain the French proposal for preferential import and export duties at frontier posts, considering that to grant them would be contrary to existing treaties.

FRANK SLAYTON'S NEW PLAY.

London, Oct. 20—The reception given to Mr. Frank Slayton's new play, "Mrs. Willoughby's Kiss," produced by Mr. Frank Curzon at Avenue Theatre Saturday night, says the Daily Telegraph was mainly favorable. There is no hesitation in saying that "Mrs. Willoughby's kiss, crude and imperfect as it is is in many ways, contains much good material. It is at least the work of a writer with ideas, although he still lacks skill to put these in acceptable shape. But the whole think leaves one discontented and unconvinced. The pity of it all is that "Mrs. Willoughby's Kiss" comes perilously near to being a good play If it fails to satisfy, however, it affords a genuine and ample reason for believing that Mr. Slayton will yet achieve something of real value as a playwright.

Chicago, Oct. 18—An injunction was granted by Judge Abner Smith to the congregation of the Olivet Baptist Church —colored —restraining the formmer pastor, J. F. Thomas, from entering the church at Dearborn and Twenty-seventh streets, or attempting to conduct services under the name of that church.

The restraining order which is the latest development in a long series of litigations over the church, was also made to apply to certain members of the congregation who are said to have aided with Mr. Thomas' alleged attempts to remain pastor of the church in spite of the fact that he was discharged by the board of trus-

Sensational charges are made by the trustees in the petition. They accuse Thomas not only of mismanagement, which has lost to the church property worth $46,000 and placed it in debt to the amount of $25,000, but also of attempting to fleece the church and its members.

Two teachers are sent to the farm indicated as the most suitable for holding school, taking with them marquee, furniture, rations, etc. In cases where it is impossible to collect more than a dozen children, some system of pupil teachers will have to be introduced

In Their Homes

Howard K. James, of San Francisco, Secretary of the California Retail Grocers' and Merchants' Association, write as follows about delicious and healthful Malt Breakfast Food.

"The truest things in the advertisements of Malt Breakfast Food is that 'the manufacturers start the goods, and quality does the rest.'

"Little children who tire of everything in the cereal line will take up this food and cling to it with no desire for a change, much longer than any other food.

"It is a fact that my own youngster, who has passed by everything I have been able to find in the market, after a few days has put the seal of his approval on Malt Breakfast Food to the extent of insisting upon having it three times per day, and this condition has existed now for over six weeks, during which time I question if a day has gone by without his having it for breakfast, lunch and supper.

"For the old folks, I believe that Malt Breakfast Food is the most satisfactory thing on the market to-day for weak or tired stomachs, and for that jaded feeling that occasionally is ours at breakfast time."

WHAT WE GET FROM THE STATES

A bulletin has just been issued by the Department of Agriculture at Washington, which contains abundant food for reflection on the part of those who are denouncing that agitation for more adequate protection of the Canadian market against the products of a country whose tariff is so much higher than Canada's, says an Ottawa despatch. It is interesting, too, when read in connection with the cabled announcement that a movement is on foot in England to place Canadian produce on the British market in greater quantities. The bulletin, which is entitled, "The distribution of agricultural products of the United States in 1901," says: "Of the $952,000,000 worth of farm products shipped from the United States during the fiscal year 1901, more than half was disposed of in the British market. Our agricultural exports to that destination in the year mentioned had the exceptionally high value of $496,000,000. The purchase by Germany of United States farm products amounted to $146,000,000. Agricultural produce to the value of $13,637,000 were sent to British South Africa. Of Canadian trade the bulletin says: "About $36,000,000 worth of United States farm produce was marketed during 1901 in the neighboring country of Canada. Wheat, cotton, and corn were decidedly our largest exports to that destination. Another product shipped quite extensively was tobacco; horses and cattle also formed items of considerable value. Among numerous other articles those of chief importance were flaxseed, hides and skins, pork, bacon and hams, oats, oranges and wheat flour."

The report gives the average annual value of the United States agricultural products exported to Canada during the period of 1897-1901 as $36,864,304.

Mr. R. M. Wood, of Peterborough, representing Mr. G. Stevens, of Ashburnham, was present, and on motion was permitted to address the council on behalf of Mr. Stevens. Mr. Wood applied for permission to temporarily establish and operate a factory on lot 11, con. 11, in the Township of North Monaghan, for the purpose of drying and manufacturing into a commercial fertilizer the contents of privy vaults, night soil, etc.

The following accounts were presented:

It was moved by Messrs. Madill and Dobbin that the above accounts be passed and paid. This was carried.

It was moved by Mr. May and seconded by Mr. Madill that this council do not consent to the establishing of the trade or manufacture as applied for by Mr. Wood for Mr. Stevens. This was carried unanimously.

Moved by Messrs. Smith and Madill that the Clerk render an account for damages done to culverts to Mr. A. Reynolds, caused by the non-observance by him of the Act regulating the running of traction engines on public highways. This was carried.

FROM KETCHECUM LAKE

Hunting and Fishing Party Returned from the North

Messrs. J. M. Brooks, R. B. McKee, H. Le Brun, A. H. Stratton, John Crane D. Davidson and J. D. Collins returned on Friday night from Ketchecum Lake, where they spent a week trout fishing and hunting. There are two hunting clubs with cottages on this beautiful sheet of water—the Ketchecum Hunt Club and the Salmon Hunt Club. The first mentioned club christened their cottage on Thanksgiving Day, naming it "Win-Ketch,"—the first syllable after Mr. Harry Winch, the popular and jolly chief, and the last after the lake. The christening ceremonies were performed in the presence of large numbers of both clubs, Capt. Harry Winch, making a speech fully 27 feet long, after which the party partook of refreshments, during which speeches and songs were liberally indulged in. Mr. LeBrun gave the Marseillaise in his inimitable style and with several different accents. During the week's outing about 150 mountain trout were caught, and any quantity of partridges were shot.

THE FALL ASSIZES OF THE HIGH COURT

Will Open on Tuesday Before Hon. Justice Meredith

There Are Five Civil Cases and One Criminal Case the Latter Being Under the Charlton Act

The Fall Assizes of the High Court of Justice will open to-morrow at one o'clock before Hon. Justice Meredith. There are five civil cases and one criminal case, the latter being a proceeding under the Charlton Act against John Falon. Mr. Hugh O'Leary, K.C., of Lindsay, will have charge of the Crown business. The civil cases Webb vs. C. G.E. Co., Smith vs. English, Dwyer vs. Cox, Spry vs. Spry, and Jory vs. Wilson.

An abridgement of the statements of claims is given as follows;

WEBB VS. C.G.E. CO.

The plaintiff is Andrew Henry Webb and the defendant an incorporated company carrying on a manufacturing business in Peterborough. On the 11th of February last, plaintiff was engaged in the course of his employment with the company, in repairing a certain railway track upon their premises in that portion known as the Compound Building, when, without any warning, a havy car was run over the track, one wheel passing over plaintiff's arm. He claims that the accident was caused by negligence of the defendant's servants or agents in charge of the car. The plaintiff claims $3,000 damages.

In their statement of defence the defendants deny the statements contained in plaintiff's statement of claim and put the plaintiff to the proof. They state that he was not employed to work upon the railway track and had no occasion to be upon the same and was guilty of contributory negligence.

J. Green for plaintiff. Dennistoun, Peck and Stevenson for defendants.

JORY VS. WILSON.

The plaintiff is Thos. Edward Jory, a farmer residing on lot 21, concession 6, of the Township of Douro, and defendant John Wilson is also a farmer residing on the west half of lot 20, concession 5, Douro. Action is taken by plaintiff to recover $4,500 damages for the alienation of his wife's affections by plaintiff, the loss of her society and assistance; $300 for the trespass of the defendant upon the premises of the plaintiff; $200 damages for the assault complained of.

Defendant denies the allegations in plaintiff's statement.

O. A. Langley, Lakefield, for plaintiff; Stratton & Hall for defendant.

SPRY VS. SPRY.

Plaintiff, Eliza Spry, resides in Peterborough, and the defendant is Lewis Spry, who duly married plaintiff on 22nd of September, 1886, and they lived together until September 6, 1902, when, on account of the cruelty and misconduct of the defendant, the plaintiff left the defendant's house and is boarding with friends in Peterborough. One of the acts complained of occurred on or about July 12th, 1899, when defendant got in a fit of temper, brought out his rifle and threatened to shoot plaintiff.

Plaintiff claims a declaration that she is entitled to alimony from the defendant (and also to interim alimony) sufficient under the circumstances, and that the defendant may be ordered to pay the same; and that for these purposes all necessary directions be given and accounts taken.

The defendant admits that he is the husband of plaintiff, but denies that he ever assaulted, threatened or ill-treated her, and states that plaintiff left her home and continued to live apart from him of her own accord, without reasonable cause and that he has always been and is willing to support plaintiff and provide for her so long as she reside with him.

O'Connell & Kerr, for plaintiff; Dennistoun, Peck and Stevenson, for defendant.

DWYER VS. COX.

This is an action in which Addie Dwyer, an infant under the age of 21 years, is suing by her next friend, Douglas Succee, Henry Cox, a farmer who resides in the Township of Otonabee, to recover the sum of $1,000 damages, and the cost of the action. The plaintiff claims that on or about the 26th day of August, 1902, the defendant enticed the plaintiff into a conveyance, and then into an ill-lighted and unfrequented part of the town of Peterborough, where he carnally knew her, against her will, and subsequently spoke words of the said plaintiff which were injurious to her character.

The defendant in his statement of defence, denies that he had criminal intercourse with the plaintiff.

Messrs. O'Connell & Kerr, for plaintiff; E. D. Stone, for defendant.

SMITH VS. ENGLISH.

The plaintiff is Margaret Smith, a hotel keeper in the village of Hastings, and the defendant is a merchant residing in the said village. The action arises over a certain chattel mortgage that was held by the defendant upon the goods and chattels of the plaintiff's husband, Patrick Smith, who became separated from his wife. She alleges that immediately upon the said separation of her and her husband, the defendant entered into possession of the goods and chattels, and advertised and sold the same for considerably more than would pay the claim of the defendant and costs connected therewith, and also seized and took away and sold, a large quantity of household furniture, etc., not covered by the mortgage, and although an account had been demanded from the defendant none had been forthcoming. She asks that an account may be had and taken of all moneys that were received by the defendant be ordered to pay the costs of the action.

The defendant in his statement sets forth that the sale under the provisions of the chattel mortgage was conducted in a perfectly proper manner, and that on the 10th day of June, 1898, the defendant settled all matters and accounts between them, and a receipt and release were given to each other by the plaintiff and defendant, and the defendant craves leave to refer to the said receipt and release at the trial.

W. L. Payne, Colborne, for plaintiff. L. F. Clarry, Hastings, for defendant.

London, Oct. 17.—What has struck public opinion in Paris, says a correspondent in that city, is that the Boer generals seem to have decided that in their speeches they will lay claim in one way or another to affinity in blood or language with nations they are visiting. In Paris they affirmed that they had French blood in their veins. In Berlin they will probably declare that they have ties uniting them with the Germans. The people of Paris are curious to hear what ties attach generals to the British nation, or what they will discover of that sort on revisiting England.

IT IS UNQUESTIONABLY the PEER OF ALL INVESTMENTS

The Proposition is Not in the Air. Nor do You Have to Sink Holes in the Earth.

It is a Plain, Profitable, Full Fledged, Dyed-in-the-Wool Investment

To-day the readers of the public press have the pleasure of reading the greatest investment offer of the age, and those who wish to profit by it must act quickly and be in line this coming week to subscribe for the number of shares they desire to buy without any great inconvenience to their Pocketbook.

No One Will Doubt the Investment. No One Can Question the Investment.

I beg to announce to the general public a pleasant surprise—that the great and profitable business of William H. Moffitt has been organised and created into

WM. H. MOFFITT REALTY COMPANY

$500,000 CAPITAL STOCK

100,000 SHARES $5 PER SHARE

Organized under the laws of the State of New York with capital fully paid in.

The energy, pluck and perseverance of American enterprise have been well demonstrated from this office during the past twelve years. More New York people have purchased lots and plots through this office than any office in New York. Investments of gigantic nature both in the State of New York and State of New Jersey have been made, each one a crowning success in itself.

Not One Instance Can be Recited or Proven Where Any Investment I Have Made Has Been Unprofitable

Everything I bought has been a money maker, and to-day you can become a partner in the most valuable end of it. — Long Island.

Kindly Permit a Few Words Worthy Of Careful Reading.

6 Per Cent. Investment,

Which is Guaranteed to be Positive, with every Probability of being Considerably More

My name needs no advertising—every one in Greater New York and within one hundred miles of New York knows me, and through the columns of the press my advertisements have reached all quarters of Europe and America, where thousands of those whose names are on my ledgers are residents.

This mammoth business began from a deskroom at $5.00 a month, in an office at No. 32 Liberty street, in 1890, with no one to assist me, until I have gradually ascended the ladder of good fortune of this great city during these twelve years, and have bought seventy-seven properties in twenty-six cities and towns around New York, selling lots and plots to more than 27,000 people, representing over $5,000,000 worth of suburban property, all sold on the monthly payment system. To-day this immense business requires a corps of over a half dozen offices to conduct this rapid-growing, profit-making business in the real estate field in the City of New York and Long Island. The great centre and good field of investment to-day lies on Long Island, outside of greater New York, where land can be bought cheap at $50 to $300 an acre and sold quickly at immense profits. You know and every one knows, Long Island is now at the first step of the greatest era of prosperity in the history of that territory. It does not take a very wise man to understand this situation. Everything points to Long Island, and millions of money are now pouring into that section. The Pennsylvania R. R., who now control the Long Island R. R., have set aside $20,000,000, putting in new tracks, building new depots, putting on new cars, increasing the number of trains and cheapening the fares. They have already bought block after block around 7th Ave. and 34th St., New York City, for its terminal from Long Island through the tunnel now building under East River and every point within sixty miles of New York will have suburban service and commutation rates within two years. Trains that run now at forty miles an hour should be common at sixty miles an hour within two years, with through express trains to Long Island to 34th St., New York. Besides, look at the millions of money being spent by the City of New York for bridges and tunnels, all of which with the various trolley lines, reaching out on Long Island, tend to bring every acre of land and every home within sixty miles of New York on Long Island nearer to New York, making it marketable in five years' time from five to ten times its present value. This is not a fairy story, but actual cold and absolute facts, which a man of any experience foresees, and which any conservative New York man will verify.

Much more can be said than I have told you. I am expressing what I know after an experience of five years on Long Island, having invested in five thousand acres at Bay Shore and Moriches, which I have subdivided into building lots, water fronts, and acre plots which have been quickly sold and turned into 6 per cent. paying contracts, payable to me in monthly payments covering a period of four to six years. The proofs are my ledgers, which will verify every statement, which I have made here. I WILL ENUMERATE A FEW OF MY INVESTMENTS FROM MY LONG LIST OF PURCHASES, WHICH PROVE I HAVE MADE FROM 100 TO 1,000 PER CENT ON THE INVESTMENT.

I quote only ten particular bargains which my office sales book and ledgers show:

AT CENTRE MORICHES
Terry Estate	231 acres	cost $3,000	sold for $30,000
Rader Estate	21 acres	cost $4,500	sold for $18,000
Linington Estate	100 acres	cost $1,400	sold for $12,000
Weeks Estate	1,100 acres	cost $11,000	sold for $50,000
Roberts Estate	150 acres	cost $1,200	sold for $10,000
AT BAY SHORE
Smith Estate	55 acres	cost $8,000	sold for $56,000
Jacob Estate	114 acres	cost $4,000	sold for $16,000
Klock Estate	4 acres	cost $3,000	sold for $18,000
Weeks Estate	9 acres	cost $2,700	sold for $12,000
Wright Estate	60 acres	cost $2,000	sold for $18,000

These are but a few of the money makers which I have bought and sold on Long Island within the last five years, WHERE MY PROFIT HAS BEEN OVER $250,000 ALONE, though operated and handled only by a limited capital, and every investment a money maker. Therefore, my reputation and record are positively known by my actual experience, not on paper or what might be, but because I possess a better knowledge of the value of real estate in the suburban property on Long Island than any man in Greater New York. I have the machinery and facilities and also the method to sell quickly, reaping large profits, and every dollar invested through this company I believe is positively sure and without question destined to bring a handsome profit to anyone who becomes a shareholder.

THE WM. H. MOFFIT REALTY COMPANY HAS ORGANIZED WITH $500,000 CAPITAL under the laws of the State of New York, with stock fully paid up, comprising one hundred thousand shares at $5 a share.

This Company will have its offices at 155-157 Broadway, New York City, and Bay Shore, L. I.—the present offices of my business now. All the investments of this Company will be in Greater New York and on Long Island, buying acreage and cutting same up into lots and plots to be sold on the instalment plan.

This Company will sell only one-fifth of the stock at par value at $5 per share, [illegible] after

Believe me or not, this stock will positively be sold within one week. Every buyer will have an interest in $200,000 worth of real estate and $200,000 in contracts, now bearing six per cent interest. So you can see this is not a new business hoping to make money, with inexperienced and incapable men behind it, but a money-making institution already in existence, making from $60,000 to $100,000 a year, and behind all this is a man of reputation that is beyond reproach for honesty and fair dealings, known everywhere as an indulgent, ambitious and persistent home maker for the rent payer and wage earner of New York and elsewhere. Twenty-seven thousand people will verify this, who have bought through his office and have known him for twelve years as New York's greatest real estate suburban operator.

Remember, this is no Oil Scheme, Copper Scheme, Gold Scheme or Wild Cat Scheme, started on paper, offering nothing to something and promising you all kind of per cent. to get your money. You do not have to think long to know that this is the best thing ever offered for sale to the small and large investor.

Real Estate Companies have been organized in New York City for real estate only, where millions have been made in a short space of time. I quote the Central Realty & Bond Company's stock with a par value of $100, for which $675 a share has been refused; the New York Realty Corporation, par value of $100, for which $200 a share has been refused; the Alliance Realty Company, par value $100, for which $150 has been refused, and the Fuller Realty Company, par value $50, for which $115 has been refused. All of these companies are only a few years in existence.

THINK OF IT BUYING LAND AT $50 TO $300 AN ACRE AND SELLING IT FROM $500 TO $1,000 AN ACRE, WITH NO END OF BUYERS

in an inexhaustible field in this great city, where there are four millions of people to talk to, the greatest money centre on earth, the greatest manufacturing centre on earth—where there are 66,000 factories employing 900,000 people, the greater per cent. of whom are now eager to get on the outside and buy a plot of land on the easy payment plan, where you can show them quick service, cheap car fare and cheap land. This is only the beginning—there are greater profits ahead.

THE STOCK YOU CAN BUY NOW FOR $5. AFTER THE ALLOTMENT OF 20,000 SHARES ARE SOLD NOT A SHARE OF THIS STOCK, I AM CERTAIN, CAN BE BOUGHT FOR $10.00 A SHARE. A SHARE SHOULD ADVANCE TO $25 A SHARE IN THREE YEARS AND TO $50 A SHARE IN FIVE YEARS. THE COMPANY GUARANTEES TO PAY 6 PER CENT. PER ANNUM ON ALL CERTIFICATES OF STOCK PAID FOR IN CASH—3 per cent. more than the bank will pay you, and not one dollar of the stock to be assessable for anything. The dividend on the stock is to be paid the second Tuesday in January and July. All stock paid for in cash before October 30th will draw 2 per cent. dividend on January 15—which is equivalent to 8 per cent. per annum.

SIGNIFICANT STRAWS

End of the Coal Strike Lifts an Immense Burden

Operators Will Offer Miners 10 per cent Increase and Recognize Their Union

New York, Oct. 20.—One of the most significant money straws is the return flow of money from the south. An officer of one of the prominent Wall street banks stated last Friday that they were in receipt of $300,000 from a prominent southern cotton shipping point. The sender informed the bank that his personal needs as well as that of the section in which he did business had practically been filled, and from now on the flow of money from the section will be steadily towards New York. This is important, as it marks the return flow of cash from a section that has been drawing large sums from this centre. Some of the recent stringency can be laid to the hoarding of funds Since the announcement of the practical settlement of the coal strike, funds from unexpected sources have been received by several of the banks. If this is continued for only a moderate time, aside from all other plans now on foot to ease the situation, it is bound to increase materially the supply of loanable funds. The tangible and rapid hardening of values last week speak in no uncertain tones as to the present cheapness of securities. The lifting of the coal strike is the lifting of an immense burden which has been resting upon the market. The shut off of the supply of anthracite was a menace to so many industries, actually closing many down, while curtailing nearly all. This is now to cease and the consequent benefits will follow in its train. It would seem apparent that with the money factor eliminated no power on earth can hold down the trend of values. As we know that the money situation will shortly right, look upon present market values as most reasonable; there will be, however, a constant ebb and flow, so that stocks can be frequently disposed of and taken back at a concession in price. A good trader oftimes takes full ten per cent. profit out of a stock during a period when its limits of fluctuation may be only five points, through judiciously buying and selling it, as it alternately is weak and strong. Earnings continue to be most satisfactory; every road in the land seems to be enjoying all the business it can carry. This will be the case for the entire twelve months directly ahead of us.

Summary: To-day's market was inclined to be more quiet than its predecessors last week, an undertone of dogged strength however pervaded the day's transactions, though a lower range of prices were reported from London. The market opened but a shade off, then advanced rather sharply. Norfolk jumped two points. Steels were in demand and the list was excessively firm. The miners met in the morning, then adjourned until 2 p.m. We would specially call your attention to U. S. steel to-day and the allied stocks. We believe them to be a great purchase. In speaking of the former, Mr. Morgan was to-day quoted as saying it is good and cheap and safe, and will do better.

We have now ready for issuance a very special letter entitled, "The safest stock in the market to buy at present," and will be pleased to mail you a copy upon request. You will find it exceedingly interesting and full of valuable and authentic information. Money closed at 4 per cent. Sales, 637,100.

HAIGHT & FREESE Co.

SPECIAL.

Philadelphia, Oct. 20.—There is an unconfirmed rumor that the operators will present at the Miners' Convention through a union man, an offer to miners of a 10 per cent. increase and a recognition of the Miners' Union, in order to avoid the arbitrators' investigation by appointment by President Roosevelt. President Mitchell denies all knowledge of it.

ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18 inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realize the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purposes of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

We furnish the rich property—you furnish the mill. In a few months it will be in operation—almost before you expect it—and we divide the immense returns.

A SHIPPING MINE

Within three months

When this occurs Dividends will be paid and Stock will advance to par—More than likely, ten times par.

RESULTS:

Some years ago the public was offered the following stocks at nominal figures. Each one to day is in demand at a fancy price and paying a large income:

$500 invested in Gold Coin in 1897 is now worth	$11,000.00.	$500 invested in Home Mining in '99 now worth	$12,300.00
$500 invested in Lillie in 1895 is now worth.....	9,000.00	$500 invested in Vindicator in 1897 is now worth	3,100.00
$500 invested in Portland in 1896 is now worth..	8,000.00	$500 invested in Isabella in 1898 is now worth..	2,100.00
$500 invested in Elkton in 1896 is now worth....	3,420.00	$500 invested in Gold King in 1897 is now worth	5,000.00

There are thousands of instances in Colorado where investments in bona fide properties have returned many hundred-fold for every dollar invested and have made men and women independent for the balance of their lives. More fortunes are created in gold mining than in any of the other industries, and it is the only product the demand for which fails not and market quotations control not.

A small investment in this company, which is safe and sure of quick returns, may bring an enormous return at any moment. It has the possibilities of rivalling the great mines of the past

ED. McCARTHY & COMPANY, Bankers, Responsibility, $100,000
GALVESTON, TEXAS, September [illegible], 1902

This bank will receive subscriptions for the stock of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company and hold the funds in trust, subject to terms of guarantee, which are as follows:

"Subscriptions to the stock of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company sent to or deposited with Ed. McCarthy & Co., Galveston, are to be held in trust for subscribers until the Company cuts an ore shoot of smelting grade (2 oz. to 6 oz., or $40.00 to $120.00 per ton) and makes shipments. Upon the Company furnishing a certificate executed by competent parties that a tunnel has cut an ore shoot and shipments made of smelting ore, the bank will transfer all funds to the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company, and certificates of stock will be issued to subscribers upon presentation of receipt issued by this bank. Should the Company fail to accomplish this within three months' time all funds so held in trust will be returned to subscribers upon presentation of receipt issued by this bank.

The Board of Directors of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company are well known to us to be reliable and responsible, and we can recommend the Company as worthy of confidence.

Signed) D. McCARTHY & CO'Y

THIS IS A GOING, NOT A WAITING, ENTERPRISE

The property of this Company, consisting of over 100 acres, with one mile of a true fissure vein, is located in Gunnison County, Colo., in what is known as the Gunnison Gold Belt, which is in the great Gold Belt of Colorado, the "Mother" lode, or dike, which has produced 55 per cent. more gold than the total output of the Cripple Creek district.

The best machinery money can buy has been installed and paid for and with it development is being pushed night and day.

Smelting ore has been shipped from shallow workings to the Bueno Vista Smelter—value $40 to $120 per ton. The cost of mining, freight and smelters' charges amounts to $12 per ton. So, with oceans of this ore, this mine has the possibilities of rivalling the great mines of the past.

The capital stock of the Company is $100,000—par value of shares $1.00—full paid and non-assessable. A portion of the treasury stock is now offered at

25 Cents Per Share---Par Value $1.00

FULL PAID AND NON-ASSESSABLE

The proceeds are to be placed in a trust fund, so, when guarantee is complied with and shipments of ore begins, fund will be on hand for the immediate erection of mills and boarding houses, buying horses and wagons for hauling ore to the railroad, and make this not a small mine, but a great one. Order at once, as the right is reserved to advance this stock without notice and to return any subscriptions.

INVESTIGATE AT OUR EXPENSE

Any person or association of persons in any town or community desiring to buy as much or more than $600 worth of Pitkin Gold Belt mining and reduction Company's stock may deposit such money in their local bank, to be held by such bank pending a trip by one of their number to visit Pitkin, Colo., to personally inspect the gold belt and investigate the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company and its property, and upon the Company being notified by such bank of such deposit, will forward to the person selected free transportation to Pitkin, Colo., and return. If, upon thorough investigation, the representations made by us are found to be true, such investment is to be made; otherwise, all money is to be returned by such bank to the parties depositing same.

Settled Out of Court

The case of Fox vs. Davis, entered for trial, has been settled the defendant paying $400. This was an action brought under what is known as Lord Campbell's Act, by plaintiff against the proprietors of the Don Valley pressed brick works, claiming damages for the death of their son, an employee of the works, who it was alleged was killed through the negligence of the proprietors. Mr. George Edmison for Plaintiffs; Messrs. Denalstoun, Peck & Stevenson for defendant.

The Cause of Dyspeptic Pains

This results in much pain and distress, but Nerviline will relieve the distention, dispel the gas, and cure the dyspeptic pains very quickly. Polson's Nerviline is really an excellent remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Cramps, Summer Complaint and all Stomach and Bowel Troubles. No household is complete without Nerviline. The residence of Mrs. Peter Perry, 365 West Avenue, Buffalo, was the scene of a very quiet and pretty wedding on Wednesday last when Miss Winnifred Perry, of Buffalo, and Mr. Michael Coughlin, of the Coughlin Marble Works Hunter street, were united in marriage. The bride, who was prettily attired, was attended during the ceremony by her sister, Miss Emma Perry, while Mr. Frank Kearney, of Belleville, performed similar duties for the groom. Mr Coughlin was formerly a resident of Belleville, but has for some years been a resident of Peterborough. Mr. and Mrs. Coughlin will reside at 89 Gilmour street, town.

Bear Killed in Verulam

Fenelon Falls Gazette —On Saturday last Mr. Robert Junkin shot a big bear on Mr. Mulligan's farm in Verulam. The animal had been seen on each of the three previous days and on Saturday Mr. Junkin and a boy went into the woods to hunt him. Mr. Junkin had a gun loaded with powder and shot, but his companion was armed with a rifle. When they got to the woods they separated, and were some considerable distance from each other when Mr. Junkin saw the bear approaching and "let drive" at him. Fortunately the shot was fatal or Mr. Junkin might have got into trouble, as he had no other ammunition with him.

New Cement Industry

Cement will be manufactured in the vicinity of Lindsay in the course of a year or so. A number of Toronto capitalists and one or two Lindsay men have acquired Goose Lake, a boggy section of land in Cambray vicinity from Mr. Donald Jackson, of Eldon township. It has been discovered that the property—hitherto deemed worthless— contains an immense deposit of the finest marl, while nearby there is any amount of the right kind of clay needed to mix with the marl. A company will be formed in the near future to develop the industry. Mr. Jackson, who purchased the property a few years ago from Mrs. Whiteside, of the north ward, for $250, clears $10,000 by the sale to Toronto men — $4,000 in cash and $6000 in stock. He sold the cedar on the property to a Lindsay buyer for $275.

The Mayor at once notified the members of the Council to be on hand, so that all would have a say in the location of the gates.

READY, START!

An Athletic Event

You want, everybody wants, brain and muscle, wind and stamina, and can get them if fed properly. This is an athletic age. The man or woman who is weak or sickly, is not in the race; success socially or in business goes only to the strong and healthy. It is largely a matter of choice with anyone for proper living, and proper food will bring the prize.

An athlete in Chicago tells of the good results he obtained from proper food; he says: "Last spring I began to train hard to become an athlete in track events and to grow stronger; I now know that what strength and victories I have secured is due to the use of Grape-Nuts. When in training for an athletic meet, I would just live on Grape-Nuts alone for three days before the event was to come off. During this time I have won six championship races out of two athletic meets. In a 300 yard run my time was 35 seconds and in the 75 yard dash the time was 9 seconds both being a good record.

Grape-Nuts has given me a stronger mind and also bodily strength which no other food could have done in so short a time. I have gained strength in a most remarkable way since using Grape-Nuts.

Members of our foot-ball team have a training table on which may be found first of all the 'athletes favorite food, Grape-Nuts.'" Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Frequent Throbbing Headache.

There's many a cause for headache. Men are not often troubled by headaches. When they are it is generally due to biliousness or indigestion. But women have headaches which seem peculiar to their sex, frequent nervous throbbing headaches. Does it not seem as if such headaches peculiar to women must be at once related to womanly disease? Women who suffer with diseases peculiar to the sex do not realize the drain of vital strength and nerve force they undergo as a consequence of disease. It is this which causes the familiar headaches of sick women.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures such headaches by curing the cause—irregularity, weakening drains, inflammation, ulceration or female weakness. "Favorite Prescription" invigorates and tones up the entire system, encourages the appetite, quiets the nerves and gives refreshing sleep.

"I was troubled with congestion of the uterus and female weakness for five years," writes Mrs. Robt. Ketwin, of Albert, Hastings Co., Ont. "Was so weak and nervous I could hardly do any work. Had severe pain in back, also dizziness and pain in head. My heart would beat so hard and fast at times I would have to sit still till I got all right again. But after taking four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and one of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' I felt entirely well. I also used one box of 'Lotion Tablets' and one of 'Suppositories' as directed. All the symptoms of my trouble have disappeared and I am completely cured. I thank you for your kind advice and your medicine."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets clear the complexion and sweeten the breath.

A COWARDLY ACT

Mr. Allan McCarthy Struck with a Stone on Saturday

On Saturday last Mr. Allan McCarthy, the well-known house mover was severely injured by being struck with a stone, thrown by some person unknown.

The act was committed at the railway crossing on Brock street. Mr. McCarthy, who had the job of moving the two buildings from the lot on which the new skating rink is being built, was walking westward, and stood on the east side of the track in order to let a train that was approaching from the south pass, when he was struck. The rock which weighed nearly a pound, hit him on the calf of the leg, and was thrown with sufficient force to knock him down, almost in front of the train. The wound was so severe that Dr. Scott's services were required to dress it.

Mr. McCarthy is at a loss to know why he should be so viciously attacked. He has no enemies that he knows of. He has requested The Times to offer a reward of $10 for the apprehension of the guilty party.

THE REFERENDUM AND WHAT IT MEANS

Facts Concerning The Vote Soon to be Taken in This Province

THE VOTE WILL LIKELY BE A SMALL ONE

How the Last Plebiscite Failed to secure Prohibition—Provisions of The New Act

In view of the contest between the temperance workers and the liquor element of the province, considerable interest is manifested in the Ontario Liquor Act of 1902, or what is better known as the referendum.

Voting on the adoption of this law will take place on December 4th next, when the electors of the province will be called upon to see whether or not they approve of the prohibition of the liquor traffic as far as a provincial legislature has power to prohibit it. The act to be voted on is a prohibitory law of the most complete and comprehensive character that the limits of provincial jurisdiction will permit. It is not fair to compare it with the Scott Act or any other measure more local in its nature or less stringent in its provisions. This law will go onto operation provided the vote in favor of it is a majority of the votes cast upon the question and is also equal to a majority of the votes cast in the general provincial election of 1898. The number of votes polled at that election was 212,723.

TEMPERANCE VOTES

It is over four years since a vote of this kind has been taken. In 1898 the matter of prohibition, which prior to that rate was a live issue, was submitted to a plebiscite. This plebiscite was taken all over Canada and a majority placed themselves on record as approving of the measure. The majority at the time was 13,616, all the provinces giving a big majority in favor of it except Quebec, which put up over 94,000 votes against a prohibitory law. But for this there would have been a very substantial majority as the vote cast was a comparatively small one. The total votes polled in favor of prohibition in Canada in 1898 was 278,487, as against 264,571 opposed to it. In Ontario 154,498 voted for it, and 115,275 against, the majority in favor being 39,224. In Ottawa the electorate showed themselves opposed to it to the extent of 608 votes, 2,612 for and 3,210 against.

BIRTH OF ACT.

Last year, after much agitation, the prohibition element of the province succeeded in having the Ontario Legislature draft a prohibitory law. This resulted in the birth of what is now known as the Ontario Liquor Act of 1902. It was framed after the model of the Manitoba law. The law, which was passed some time prior to the framing of the Ontario measure, was the work of the most skilled and experienced professional men of the Prairie Province, who were earnest advocates of total prohibition. It has been acknowledged to be the most thorough-going legislation of its kind in existence. The government in power in Ontario at that time did not for some reason put the law they had constructed in force, but attached a proviso to it, that when the people of Ontario signified their approval of it by a given number of votes they should then proceed to take steps to fulfill their promise. Now what the temperance people in the province are after is to secure the required number of votes.

The acts aims essentially at the abolition of bar rooms. It permits the use of liquor in private residences for purposes of hospitality and private use. This is where the temperance people feel they have their strong point and it is upon this that they rely to pull a big vote. The evil of the treating habit would banish with the bars. It has been felt that the bar room which is of such easy access is the greatest menace to the youth of the day and it is against this evil that exertions are being bent.

THE PROVISIONS.

The act consists of two parts. Part one provides the machinery for taking a vote of the electors on the question of the adoption of the second part and declares that the second part shall be brought into force if it is approved by a majority of the votes cast upon the question, provided that the number of votes is 212,723. It is a curious fact that this act could be defeated even if the liquor men of the province did not turn their hand in opposition. One condition of the act requires that over 212,723 votes be polled for it and unless this number is polled the act is of no use whatever.

The main provisions of the act are:

The giving or selling or bartering or keeping for sale of intoxicating liquor is entirely prohibited except under the conditions and for the purposes herein-after set out.

To make the meaning of the law clear, a sharp distinction is made by the act between "a private dwelling house" and a place of any other kind. All sale or barter of liquor is prohibited except solely by licensed druggists for certain purposes considered necessary or the giving in a private house to an adult friend, of liquor that has not been unlawfully secured. A private house is described as a separate dwelling with a separate entrance, used exclusively as a private residence and not connected by any door or passage with any shop, factory, restaurant, hotel, boarding house or any other place of a public character. Physicians dentists and veterinary surgeons do not come under the restriction.

Liquor will be sold by wholesale and retail druggists only, who will be governed by the following resolutions;

No wholesale druggists may sell alcohol for mechanical or scientific purposes except on affidavit of applicant describing the lawful purpose for which it is required.

No wholesale druggist may sell between seven Saturday night and seven Monday morning, nor after eight any night, nor before seven any morning.

Every licensed druggist must keep a complete record of every sale made and must file every prescription, certificate and request that he receives, and these documents shall always be open for inspection by any person for at least one year.

Every licensed druggist shall send to the chief inspector every six months a sworn statement in detail of all sales that he has made.

No retail licensed druggist shall sell any liquor for medicinal purposes except on prescription of a regularly qualified physician, nor wine for sacramental purposes except on certificate of a clergyman.

The penalty for misdemeanor is very severe. For selling or giving liquor or keeping for sale contrary to the law, whether by a person not duly licensed or by a licensed druggist in unlawful places or hours, or to persons to whom it is not lawful to sell, the penalties are: For a first offence a fine of not less than $200 nor more than $1,000, and in default of immediate payment, imprisonment for not less than three or not more than six months; for a second or any subsequent offence imprisonment for not less than three or not more than six months.

Because the authority of the provincial legislature does not extend beyond the limits of the province, this act does not prohibit sales of liquor by brewers, distillers, or exporters in Ontario to persons outside the province. It does not prohibit brewers or distillers from selling to licensed druggists. It does prohibit all sale by brewers, distillers or exporters to any other persons, or in any premises connected with any private dwelling. In regard to such prohibited sale and to drinking or permitting drinking on premises, the law is the same for brewers and distillers as for other persons.

BOUNDARY LINE RELIC

City to Receive Historic International Landmark

The Ashburton Treaty of 1842 Recalled—One of the Monuments That Marked the Line Fixed by it Will Be Placed on City Hall Square

Ottawa, Oct. 21—The work of restoring the monuments which mark the boundary line between Canada and the U.S. on the New York state frontier is completed; but the task of the international commission is not yet finished. In addition to replacing the original monuments with cast-iron pillars, the commission also undertake to resurvey the boundary line, which is the 45th parallel of north altitude. A small portion of this survey remains to be done. So far as it has been carried on, however, it shows the boundary line as originally surveyed to have been determined with great exactness. This is a signal tribute to the care with which the work was done when it is remembered that fifty-six years ago much of the country was under forest. As a memento of the original survey, and the interesting international incidents preceding it Mr. W. F. King, chief astronomer of the interior department, and British commissioner, has decided to donate one of the old monuments to the city. It will be placed on City Hall square The monument is of iron, with the words, "Treaty of Washington, 1842," on two sides of it; and on the third side the inscription, "Col. J. D. B Estcourt, H. B. M. commissioner," and on the fourth, the name "Albert Smith, U. S. commissioner."

CURE FOR LEPROSY

Consul From China Has News Regarding Discovery

Victoria, B.C., Oct. 21— Robert McWade, United States Consul at Canton, who arrived here lately, carries with him to Washington documents relating to the discovery of a cure for leprosy.

Dr. Razlag, formerly of the United States Army medical corps in the Philippines, has been successful in his work to discover a leprosy cure. He has treated with success a Chinese viceroy at the request of Consul McWade, and fourteen other cases were treated with success. One, a Chinese coolie who was entirely crippled can now carry as large a load as he ever did. The consul is not at liberty to divulge the method of treatment, but it is understood that massage, baths in fresh and salt water, and medicines are used.

Dr. Razlal had been experimenting for years before success crowned his efforts at Canton, where he went from the Philippines to give his whole time to the work.

King Alexander is Irritated

London, Oct. 20—The Servia Ministerial crisis is not connected with the Balkan troubles, says a Vienna correspondent. Its immediate cause appears to be King Alexander's irritation over a fresh postponment of his visit, with Queen Draga, to the Russian Court. The correspondent says the affair is a somewhat delicate one, chiefly concerning two ladies, Czarina and Queen Draga It is therefore quite as much social as political. An unnamed Servian statesman, in explaining the situation to The Neue Freie-Presse correspondent at Belgrade, said that Russia did not want King Alexander, now that King Milan was dead. He added that the new Premier would cultivate Austrian friendship unlike M. Vuitch, who was always Russophile. Mr. Vuitch told the same newspaper man that his Ministry wished to give the King a perfectly free hand in consequence of the continued postponements of the Russian visit, and to relieve him of the necessity of reckoning with the Cabinet's Russophile policy if he considered it expedient and desirable

BRAVE RESCUE BY PARRY SOUND LAD

Paddled Old Punt, Through Rough Water, With a Piece of Board

SAVED MEN FROM DEATH

Heavily Clad, They Were Clinging to an Upturned Canoe Outside the Bay

Parry Sound, Oct. 18.— Three young men in the employ of Mr. John Moffatt, manager for the Consolidated Copper Company at Spider Lake, started from the Parry Sound dock for the mine in a small canoe. The men were Walter, Ormsby, Harrey Eccles and John Young, As soon as they reached the gap between the Bay and the Sound, the waves upset the canoe, throwing all three into the water. Ormsby had on a heavy overcoat and top boots, as well as his heavy working clothes, and the others were also heavily clad as it was quite cold. Neither Ormsby nor Young were able to swim, and the former could not have saved himself with so heavy a load, even if he had been an expert swimmer. All three were ofrtunate enough to grasp the canoe, and Eccles finding it would not sustain them all swam to the Conger pier and was able to save himself.

Willie Davis, a 17 or 18-year-old lad, was on the dock at the time and saw the accident, and rushed for a boat to go to the rescue. The only craft to be had was an old punt, with a quantity of water in it. It contained neither paddle nor oars, but the oby was notto be daunted, nor did he deem it wisdom to waste time in running off to find oars. He quickly wrenched the rear seat of the punt out, and with this board paddled toward the perilled men. In the strong headway and heavy sea his progress was necessarily slow, but the lad stuck pluckily to his self-imposed task.

Meanwhile the men on the upturned canoe were having a hard experience. The water was so cold and the wind and waves so sight that it was only with the greatest difficulty they managed indeed. Ormsby was so overcome by the weight of his heavy clothing and boots that he was almost compelled to let go, but encouraged by his comrade he exerted all his strength, seeing the rescue slowly but surely approaching. When young Davis finally reached the men it required all his strength and skill to assist them into the boat and prevent it being also capsized. After picking up Ormsby and Young, the punt was paddled to the pier, and Eccles taken on board, and all reached shore safely.

Had it not been for the pluck and coolness of young Davis, it is certain that another double drowning would have occurred, and he is entitled to the very highest praise.

THE FALL ASSIZES

OPENED YESTERDAY AT NOON BEFORE CHIEF JUSTICE MEREDITH

The Members of the Bar who were Present—The Grand Jury—One Criminal Case

The Fall Assizes of the High Court of Justice for the County of Peterborough opened at one o'clock yesterday before the Honourable Mr. Justice Meredith. The following representatives of the bar were present: W. R. Riddel, K.C. Toronto; E. B. Edwards, K.C. George Edmison, K.C., R.M. Dennistoun, R. E. Wood, D. O'Connel, F. D. Kerr, John Green, E. B. Stone, E. A. Peck, R. R Hall, G. M. Roger, E. H. D. Hall, Peterborough; Hugh O'Leary, K.C., Lindsay; L. G. Clarry, Hastings; A. O. Langley, Lakefield, and W. L. Payne, Colborne.

THE GRAND JURY.

The Grand Jury was empanelled as follows—James Andrews, farmer, Asphodel, Foreman; W. T. Buck, farmer, Asphodel; C. D. Crawford, merchant, Lakefield; Wm. Crough, farmer, Ennismore; R. Q. Dench, farmer, Douro; Jas. Fowler, farmer, Smith; John Henderson, farmer, Otonabee; Alex Leeson, farmer, Belmont; Joseph Madill, farmer, Monoghan; E. G. Patterson, superintendent, Peterborough; J. A. Sutcliffe, merchant, Peterborough; Thos. Webster, farmer, Dummer, and Robert Duff farmer, Smith.

There is only one criminal case on the list, being a charge laid under the Charlton Act against a man named Falon. The Crown prosecutor is Mr. Hugh O'Leary of Lindsay.

HIS LORDSHIP'S REMARKS.

His Lordship addressed the Grand Jury at some length, explaining the nature of their duties. Referring to the criminal case set down for hearing, he impressed upon the jurors the serious nature of the offence, and the protection that the law allows females of that age. He also reminded them of the duty they might perform in visiting the public institutions of the town, after which the Grand Jury returned to their room.

The first case proceeded with on the civil list was that of Webb vs. Canadian General Electric Company. In this action the plaintiff is Andrew Henry Webb, and the defendant an incorporated company, carrying on a manufacturing business in Peterborough. On the 11th of February last plaintiff was engaged in repairing a certain railway track upon their premises in that portion known as the Compound building, when, as he alleges, without any warning, a heavy car was run over the track, one wheel passing over plaintiff's arm. He claims that the accident was caused by negligence of the defendant's servants or agents in charge of the car. The plaintiff claims $2000 damages.

In their statement of defence the defendants deny the statements contained in plaintiff's statement of claim, and put the defendant to the proof thereof. They state that he was not employed to work upon the railway track and had no occasion to be upon the same, and was guilty of contributory negligence.

Webb vs. the Canadian General Electric Co. Nonsuit ordered by the Judge who grants a stay of proceedings for 30 days in order to allow the plaintiff to appeal, which he intends to do.

W. R. Riddle, K.C. and J. Green for plaintiff; R. M. Dennistoun and E. A. Peck for defendants.

New Cement Industry

Cement will be manufactured in the vicinity of Lindsay in the course of a year or so. A number of Toronto capitalists and one or two Lindsay men have acquired Goose Lake, a boggy section of land in Cambray vicinity from Mr. Donald Jackson, of Eldon township. It has been discovered that the property—hitherto deemed worthless— contains an immense deposit of the finest marl, while nearby there is any amount of the right kind of clay needed to mix with the marl. A company will be formed in the near future to develop the industry. Mr. Jackson, who purchased the property a few years ago from Mrs. Whiteside, of the north ward, for $150, clears $10,000 by the sale to Toronto men — $4,000 in cash and $6000 in stock. He sold the cedar on the property to a Lindsay buyer for $600.

MAY BE SERIOUS TROUBLE WITH VENEZUELA REPUBLIC

Diplomatic Relations Strained Between the Two Countries

Caracas, Venezuela, Oct. 4—Diplomatic relations are very strained between Venezeuela and Great Britain, and should the revolution not triumph, all circumstances justify a prediction of a rupture between the two countries. The Venezuelan Chancellery is very angry at the hoisting of the British flag in spite of its protestations on the island of Patosal, and President Castro's conversations with the British representative have been very far from pleasant. In an interview which President Castro granted the correspondent a short time ago, he said, referring to the commencement of the Matos revolution and the incident of the revolutionary steamer Banrigh:—

"It is now several months since the Banrigh, chartered by the Matos revolution, arrived at Trinidad, and we protested against her presence at that island. The British Minister (Mr. Haggart), immediately repaired to the Foreign Office and assured General Pacheon (the Venezuelan Minister of Foreign Affairs) that he would do all he could do to obtain from his Government that the Banrigh and all revolutionists residing at Trinidad, and the other British West Indian islands should receive orders to leave and to return to those islands, if the Venezuelan Government would agree that the surtax of 30 per cent. imposed in the customs on goods coming from the British West Indian islands on their way into Venezuela should be repealed. A Cabinet meeting was held at which General Pacheon submitted Minister Haggart's proposition. It was rejected as unworthy of consideration, and the question remained at that stage. It seems, therefore, from these facts that the British Government, through its representative here offered security against the revolutionary party in exchange for a commercial advantage."

THE BRITISH FORCE CAUGHT IN A TRAP

Were Sent, Blind, Into an Ambush, No Water and no Wells Near

London, Oct. 21.—The Second Bombay Grenadiers, stationed at Mhow, Central India, have been ordered to Somaliland Other troops will probably follow.

A letter from an officer belonging to the Somaliland expedition, received here, shows that the British force is even in a more precarious position than has been indicated in the official despatches. The writer says:—

"No one will appreciate this business until it is too late. We are ina regular trap and how we are going to get out we do not know. We have had stiffish fights and have lost many men. The worst is that our blacks are flunking and our camels have nearly all been killed or captured. We have next to no water, and we are miles from any wells. We have no supplies and nearly no ammunition. They have captured two of our maxims. I do not suppose they care at home what happens to us. It is a brutal shame to send us blind into an ambush like this. I hear fresh troops are coming up, and only hope they will come from India."

The writer refers incidentally to some brisk fight which he apparently presumes was already known of here, and adds,

"Thirty-three of us escaped. By Jove, that was a pretty affair. We whites stood out, but——Oh well, we have too many blacks."

PREDICTS MANY STRIKES

Capital and Labour Are to Fight to a Finish in England

London, Oct. 21—John A. Hobson, the London sociologist, prophesies a serious conflict soon in England between organized labor and organized capital. He says:

"In England the organization of labor from the nature of things is far less firm than capital, still the organization of labor is going on rapidly, especially where machinery is greatly used and skill is required. The trade unions object to the employment of non-union men in order to protect their organizations The employers of England are about to try to break down the labor unions and to break down the principle of collective bargaining. They have turned to the two weapons, of law, and of politics. The House of Lords has decided that unions can be sued. This will pave the way for endless litigation in which, because of weaker resources, the unions may be ruined. English workmen will turn to politics if they have the brains. In the meantime, as trade declines, we will see a series of big strikes and lockouts."

PREMIER DISMISSED DISLOYAL COLLEAGUES

Minister's Action in Dictating Policy The Ground For Removal from Office

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Told Mr. Tarte That He Had Betrayed His Leader and His Colleagues and Demanded His Resignation

Ottawa, Oct. 21—Sir Wilfrid Laurier today addressed the following letter to Hon. I. J. Tarte, which is now given to the public:

"Ottawa, October 21st, 1902 — My dear Tarte,—After having seen you on Sunday last, and having expressed to you my well-settled opinion upon the consequences of your recent attitude, my first duty was to wait upon his Excellency, the Governor-General, to inform him that I was obliged to demand the resignation of your portfolio. After having seen his Excellency, I had to acquaint my colleagues of the interview which I had with you.

"In accepting your resignation, it is well to emphasize the points of difference between us. During my absence in Europe, without any communication with me, and without any previous understanding with your colleagues, you began an active campaign in favor of an immediate revision of the tariff in the direction of high protection. I regret having been obliged to observe to you that this attitude on your part constitutes a self-evident violation of your duty towards the Government of which you were a member. I repeat to you here what I told you on Sunday. I do not wish to discuss at this moment the economic theory of which you have made yourself the champion. The question, however important it might be, is subordinate to one still more important. If you had reached the conclusion that the interest of the country demanded, without delay, an increase of the customs duties the first thing for you to have done as a member of the Government, before addressing your views to the public, would have been to place them before your colleagues, with the object of obtaining that unanimous action of the Cabinet which is the very foundation of responsible government. If you had not been able to attain from your colleagues their assent to the course which you recommended, you would have been obliged then to choose rather to accept their own views, or to sever your connection with them, and then for the first time would you have been free to place your views before the public.

"Such was the very simple course which was binding upon you, but to remain a member of the Government, and, at the same time, to advocate a policy which has not yet been adopted by the Government, was an impediment to the proper working of our constitutional system and implies a disregard for the loyalty which all those who are members of the same Administration owe to each other and have a right to expect from each other.

I thank you for the good wishes which you express for the improvement of my health, and I will make it my duty to convey to your old colleagues those that you formulate for their welfare and their happiness Believe me, yours very sincerely.

Mr. Tarte's Letter.

The following letter has been addressed by Mr. Tarte to the Premier:

Public Works Department, Minister's Office, Toronto, Ont., Oct. 20, 1902.
The Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier,
Prime Minister, Ottawa:

My dear Sir Wilfrid,—I feel it is my duty to place my resignation in your hands, and ask you to be good enough to have it accepted by his Excellency the Governor-General. In the interview which I had with you, you expressed the opinion that I should not have spoken on the tariff as I have done, that the Government had not as yet come to any difinite understanding on the fiscal policy for the future. I shall not discuss with you at the present time the question as to whether I was right or wrong in the course I have followed.

You are the leader of the Government, and your opinion, as far as my attitude is involved, must prevail.

You told me that my utterances are causing you trouble. I have no right and no desire to be a source of embarrassment to you or to the party with which I have been connected since 1893.

My views on the tariff are well known to you. I have, on several occasions, stated them publicly in your presence, and discussed them often privately with you. Entertaining the opinion that the interests of the Canadian people made it our duty to revise, without delay, the tariff of 1897, with the view of giving a more adequate protection to our industries, to our farming community, to our workingmen, I cannot possible remain silent. I prefer my freedom of action and of speech, under the circumstances, even to the great honor of being your colleague

Before severing my official relation with you, allow me to express my sincerest hope that you will soon be restored to your heath of former days. You would greatly oblige me by conveying to my colleagues my best wishes for their welfare and their happiness. My personal relations with most of them have been of a pleasant and cordial nature. I hope they will continue to be the same in the future.

Believe me, my dear Sir Wilfrid, very sincerely yours

(Signed) J. Israel Tarte.

WHO WILL SUCCEED.

Ottawa, Oct. 21 —When Sir Wilfrid Laurier landed from the Lake Erie he announced that he had little time for receptions, that pressing business called him to the capital. That business was the dismissal of Mr. Tarte. The Premier had made up his mind that the Minister of Public Works had committed a grave breach of constitutional usage in trying to stir up a public feeling in the country favoring a policy to which the Cabinet of which he was a member was entirely opposed.

Mr. Tarte in taking up the cause of the manufacturers against his colleagues, never expected that it would lead to his expulsion. He counted on the past kindness of his leader to save him. He thought he had a winning card and that in a matter of weeks he would be himself Prime Minister. To-day he is deceived. The Premier is back and in spite of all the fears that Mr. Tarte can create about his chief's health, Sir Wilfrid is ready and fit for duty.

Not His First Break.

No doubt the ordinary citizen finds it hard to make out the riddle. Who ever heard of such a thing in a constitutional governed country before as a Cabinet Minister trying to create by open and by covered appeals on the platform, and through the press, a public sentiment exactly opposite to the policy decided upon in Council? But did not Mr. Tarte do exactly the same thing in the matter of the French River improvements, too? His colleagues were not prepared to place in the estimates a sum of millions for a work that they did not consider to the public advantage. Yet Mr. Tarte went right on advocating on the public platform that same undertaking.

Liberals here say that the Minister of Public Works has come under the influence of the large corporation and the manufacturers, that he thought he could set the constitution at naught, and remain in the Cabinet, but that since he finds it impossible to advocate high protection as a Cabinet Minister, he will continue to fight the same fight in his newspapers, probably retaining the name of a Government supporter so as to make his campaign the stronger.

The Next Minister.

Who will be the next Minister of Public Works? The public will not have to wait long for an answer. Your correspondent hears two or three names mentioned. Speaker Brodeur of the Commons is a Liberal who has long been marked out for advancement. The question is, does he consider his health robust enough to warrant the assumption of a very exacting post.

"The next Minister of Public Works," said a gentleman today who will have something to say in the matter, "must be a man who is prepared to look after the affairs of the Department properly. He will not have time to administer the affairs of half his colleagues besides. It is known to most people that Mr. Tarte estimates for public works were very large, so large as to bring down upon the party the denunciations of its opponents. But how many are aware that, after having all this money voted, session after session, either the Minister himself, or his incompetent staff, had not time to spare for the planned the contracts to spend it?"

Speaker Brodeur is an able debater, well informed, and well liked. There is no tinge of Toryism in his blood. His family were Reformers as far back as 1837. He was born in the district where the Papineau agitation broke out in revolt. His father was one of the patriots who fought for what he regarded as fair government.

Premier Parent Mentioned.

"What would Premier Parent of Quebec say to the offer of this important portfolio in Sir Wilfrid's Cabinet? How would his selection balance off the loss of Joseph Israel?" said your informan. "The Provincial Premier bears the reputation of an exceptional administrator. Besides he has a following in the country, and a record behind him to win votes. Would he care to join his distinguished compatriot in the Federal arena? Other local Prime Ministers gave up office to take a portfolio in the Laurier Ministry, Mr. Blair, Mr. Fielding, Sir Oliver Mowat. They considered the exchange in the nature of an advance."

Dandurand a Possibility.

Senator Dandurand is one of the most striking figures in Parliament. He has had something to do with organization work, too. It has always seemed to the writer that he was peculiarly out of place in the restful atmosphere of the Red Chamber, where his stirring voice in the Cook enquiry, in advocacy of legislation to abolish lotteries and usury in Montreal, fell largely upon unsympathetic ears, who rather resented these evidences of life, vigor and heat in an assemblage where debate is not looked on with favor that rises much above a whisper. A seat could easily be found for him in the Commons if it were desired. Will this be done?

PETERBOROUGH, OCT. 22, 1902.

THE MUNICIPAL FIELD, ITS PROBLEMS AND REPRESENTATIVES

How many these days give more than a passing thought to the complex problems of civic government—proper sanitation, the erection and maintenance of schools, the administration of public waterworks, the construction of permanent roadways and walks, the upbuilding of market places, the creation and management of electric light and gas plants, the establishment of parks and playgrounds, the administration of laws of the country through a police force, and the control of public hospitals, these and many other things that try the endurance and test the ability of the man who seeks to serve his fellow-citizens at one or other of our municipal bodies?

Some men accept office without giving the matter much thought, entering on their duties blithely, only too soon find themselves in a veritable maelstrom, beset with difficulties, urged on by an impatient public to "do something" burdened with quarrels not of their own making, compelled to consider the wishes of the crotchety and unreasonable taxpayer as well as the citizen who makes allowance for the limitations and troubles of the representative, and generally made the targets of men who selfishly shun the opportunities and responsibilities of civic life.

The civic school is a great educative force in our public life. It should graduate our statesmen, though it is often said that if a man desires a place in the Legislature or Parliament he will abstain from participation in municipal administration, and thus avoid the complications and entangling alliances, which beget jealousies and petty enmity. Men who have been tested in the municipal field and exhibited abilities fitting them for positions of authority in our townships, villages and towns, counties and cities have that experience and training which would make them exceedingly useful in the administration of the affairs in the wider arena at Toronto or Ottawa. Having come in contact with men of many views and avocations, having worked out problems considered important by the average citizen, and imbibed a knowledge of vexed questions in a sphere in which the people daily move and labor, their advice and counsel should prove valuable in the adjustment of questions of a national or provincial character. In a sincere and honest effort to do their part well in a minor sphere they have absorbed the ideas of the home, shop and farm, and hence are qualified to instruct and advise men who, though in authority, sometimes lack that knowledge of the wants of the masses which a politician should possess in order to render justice in the halls of legislation to the varied interests of the country.

A significant and satisfactory sign of the times is the call for active, well-informed and progressive men to the service of the municipality. It is now generally conceded that the quality of a man's claims should be considered, not his popularity. The activities of civic life are so numerous and of such importance that it is dangerous to put on guard incompetent men or citizens who regard the responsibilities of office lightly.

New Cement Industry

Cement will be manufactured in the vicinity of Lindsay in the course of a year or so. A number of Toronto capitalists and one or two Lindsay men have acquired Goose Lake, a boggy section of land in Cambray vicinity from Mr. Donald Jackson, of Eldon township. It has been discovered that the property—hitherto deemed worthless—contains an immense deposit of the finest marl, while nearby there is any amount of the right kind of clay needed to mix with the marl. A company will be formed in the near future to develop the industry. Mr. Jackson, who purchased the property a few years ago from Mrs. Whiteside, of the north ward, for $750, clears $10,000 by the sale to Toronto men — $4,000 in cash and $6000 in stock. He sold the cedar on the property to a Lindsay buyer for $275.

RUBBER

THE DEMAND FAR IN EXCESS OF THE SUPPLY

Millions of New York and Chicago Capital Organized to Open up Forests in South America

Few people, while they may use rubber in many different ways during the day, have little if any idea whatever of the vast proportions this industry has attained during the past few years, or of the vast amount of capital invested, or the results attained. Any idea they may have is but vogue at the best. They may know that it comes from a tree growing in tropical climates, but of the gathering and curing, they know but comparatively very little, and it is only when they turn to the encyclopedia or dictionary, that they learn that it is an elastic, gummy substance; the thickened juice of various tropical plants growing along the Amazon and Casiquiare Rivers in South America and in Congo Free State, Africa, Central America and Mexico; that purer rubber is whitish and in thin sheets is half transparent; that it is the most elastic of all known substances; that its elasticity may be removed by stretching and keeping it in cold water, and may be restored by putting it into warm water; that cold makes it hard and stiff, but never brittle; heat makes it supple and if that arises to 248 degrees Fahr. the gum melts and vaporizes if the heat rises to 600 degrees Fahr.; and it dissolves in bisulphide of Carbon, Naptha, and in Benzol; in washed Ether, Chloroform and the oils of Cajeput, Lavender, Sassafras and Turpentine. That when treated with sulphur, as in vulcanizing, india rubber becomes black, horny and brittle, but since the discovery of 1844 of the art of vulcanizing pure rubber has been but little used.

Prior to 1830 the rubber exported into Great Britain and the United States rarely amounted to 50,000 pounds annually, but each succeeding year, owing to man's ingenuity, the exportations have increased in huge proportions until they have reached the stupendous amount of 66,000,000 pounds and valued at more than 50,000,000 of dollars. From the districts of South America alone, of which the Casiquiare and Amazon River valleys are the principal producing centres, over 75 per cent. of the total productions of the world comes from these districts with the City of Manaos as the centre of the collection and exportation.

Para, or South American rubber commands the highest price in the various markets of the world, fetching at present 77 cents per pound as against 40 cents and 45 cents from that of other countries. Vast as these amounts may seem, it does not begin to meet the demand for the crude article, and companies are being organized to obtain the rubber. Among these is the Para Rubber Plantation Company of New York City, which owns over 1,400 square miles in the Republic of Venezuela, lying on both sides of the Casiquiare River running through the valley of the same name, which is the leading district of Venezuela, for a distance of 350 miles.

This Company is now putting out two thousand men to gather their crop during the present season and this vast army of laborers will be increased to 40,000 just as rapidly as facilities can be arranged. The Company will maintain its own steamship lines for the purpose of shipping its product and supplies, and up to date advanced business methods will be used on every hand and the natural product thereby increased accordingly.

The process of gathering and curing crude rubber is a very interesting one. Armed with a Machette or knife, with an earthern jug slung over his shoulder the Indian laborer, goes forth in the woods. Cuts are then made in the bark of the tree, great care being taken not to injure it by cutting too deeply, thus causing it to over bleed and then die. Tiny cups of clay are attached to the tree to catch the drip and when the flow has stopped these cups are collected and their contents are poured into an earthen jar and carried to the camps or other places where the curing is done.

In curing, a fire is built of the nuts of Uricuri palm and the coagulation of the milk is obtained in exposing the latex by thin leaves, to the smoke that has the quality of being antiseptic and of disinfecting the stuff. The laborer dips a little paddle of wood into the milk and then slowly turns it in the smoke; this is repeated again and again until the mat of gum weighs about twenty-five pounds, when the mat is cut open and allowed to dry more thoroughly. This is then known as Fine Para and is the very best, the variety for which the highest prices are paid in the world's markets.

This superiority is due not only to the tree which produces it—the Hevea—but to the way in which it is collected, which prevents all other losses but a bit of humidity, so that the stuff never turns greasy nor spoils otherwise.

Forty years ago, and at the time when the exportation of rubber amounted to but a few thousand tons, the price was but forty cents per pound, but now with an export of over 60,000,000 pounds, the market price is seventy-seven cents per pound, and the demand in excess of the supply even at these figures.

Vast fortunes have been and are being made in this industry and as the forests are being penetrated, large groves of new and matured trees are being discovered. Particularly is this so along the Casiquiare River valley in Venezuela, to develop which, the Para Rubber Company Plantation Company was recently organized in New York City, with a capital stock of $5,000,000.

A large amount of money and months of time was spent in thoroughly inspecting and proving the property before its purchase was made by the Company, or an organization completed. So satisfied were the projectors of the Company over the reports turned in by their agents sent into the country to report, that already seven hundred men have been put to work and this number will be increased to two thousand before the present season is over, and will ultimately be increased to 40,000 just as soon as facilities for handling such a vast army of laborers can be arranged for. At the present price of rubber, about forty cents per pound net can be cleared on each pound and as the Company figures on producing five hundred tons the present season, they contemplate a profit of from 40 to 90 per cent. the first year.

These figures may seem large to one unacquainted with the rubber business but are deemed very conservative by those interested.

—Odd numbers of that interesting folio "Glimpses of South Africa in Peace and War" will be sold while they last, reduced from fifteen cents to seven cents. Sent by mail for one cent extra for postage. Times Bookstore.

—Wages in the lumber camp were never higher than at the present time, the men being paid from $26.00 to $32.00 per month. There is a demand for men which is not yet filled, and the timber output will be large.

$500,000 CAPITAL STOCK

100,000 SHARES $5 PER SHARE

Organized under the laws of the State of New York with capital fully paid in.

The energy, pluck and perseverance of American enterprise have been well demonstrated from this office during the past twelve years. More New York people have purchased lots and plots through this office than any office in New York. Investments of gigantic nature both in the State of New York and State of New Jersey have been made, each one a crowning success in itself.

Not One Instance Can be Recited or Proven Where Any Investment I Have Made Has Been Unprofitable

Everything I bought has been a money maker, and to-day you can become a partner in the most valuable end of it. — Long Island.

Kindly Permit a Few Words Worthy Of Careful Reading.

6 Per Cent. Investment,

Which is Guaranteed to be Positive, with every Probability of being Considerably More

My name needs no advertising—every one in Greater New York and within one hundred miles of New York knows me, and through the columns of the press my advertisements have reached all quarters of Europe and America, where thousands of those whose names are on my ledgers are residents.

This mammoth business began from a deskroom at $5.00 a month, in an office at No. 32 Liberty street, in 1890, with no one to assist me, until I have gradually ascended the ladder of good fortune of this great city during these twelve years, and have bought seventy-seven properties in twenty-six cities and towns around New York, selling lots and plots to more that 27,000 people, representing over $5,000,000 worth of suburban property, all sold on the monthly payment system. To-day this immense business requires a corps of 50 men in a half dozen offices to conduct this rapidly-growing, profit-making business in the real estate field in the city of New York and Long Island. The great centre and gold field of investment to-day lies on Long Island, outside of greater New York, where land can be bought cheap at $50 to $300 an acre and sold quickly at immense profits. You know and every one knows, Long Island is now at the first step of the greatest era of prosperity in the history of that territory. It does not take a very wise man to understand this situation. Everything points to Long Island, and millions of money are now pouring into that section. The Pennsylvania R. R., who now control the Long Island R. R., have set aside $20,000,000, putting in new tracks, building new depots, putting on new cars, increasing the number of trains and cheapening the fares. They have already bought block after block around 7th Ave. and 34th St., New York City, for its terminal from Long Island through the tunnel now building under East River and every point within sixty miles of New York will have suburban service and commutation rates within two years. Trains that run now at forty miles an hour should be common at sixty miles an hour within two years, with through express trains to Long Island to 34th St., New York. Besides, look at the millions of money being spent by the City of New York for bridges and tunnels, all of which with the various trolley lines, reaching out on Long Island, tend to bring every acre of land and every home within sixty miles of New York on Long Island nearer to New York, making it marketable in five years' time from five to ten times its present value. This is not a fairy story, but actual cold and absolute facts, which a man of any experience foresees, and which any conservative New York man will verify.

Much more can be said than I have told you. I am expressing what I know after an experience of five years on Long Island, having invested in five thousand acres at Bay Shore and Moriches, which I have subdivided into building lots, water fronts, and acre plots which have been quickly sold and turned into 6 per cent. paying contracts, payable to me in monthly payments covering a period of four to six years. The proofs are my ledgers, which will verify every statement, which I have made here. I WILL ENUMERATE A FEW OF MY INVESTMENTS FROM MY LONG LIST OF PURCHASES, WHICH PROVE I HAVE MADE FROM 400 TO 1,000 PER CENT ON THE INVESTMENT.

I quote only ten particular bargains which my office sales book and ledgers show:

AT CENTRE MORICHES
Terry Estate	231 acres	cost $3,000	sold for $30,000
Rader Estate	21 acres	cost $4,500	sold for $18,000
Linington Estate	100 acres	cost $1,400	sold for $12,000
Weeks Estate	1,100 acres	cost $11,000	sold for $60,000
Roberts Estate	150 acres	cost $1,200	sold for $10,000
AT BAY SHORE
Smith Estate	56 acres	cost $5,000	sold for $56,000
Jacob Estate	114 acres	cost $4,000	sold for $16,000
Klock Estate	3 acres	cost $3,000	sold for $12,000
Weeks Estate	9 acres	cost $2,700	sold for $12,000
Wright Estate	50 acres	cost $2,000	sold for $18,000

These are but a few of the money makers which I have bought and sold on Long Island within the last five years, WHERE MY PROFIT HAS BEEN OVER $250,000 ALONE, though operated and handled only by a limited capital, and every investment a money maker. Therefore, my reputation and record are positively known by my actual experience, not on paper or what might be, but because I possess a better knowledge of the value of real estate in the suburban property on Long Island than any man in Greater New York. I have the machinery and facilities and also the method to sell quickly, reaping large profits, and every dollar invested through this company I believe is positively sure and without question destined to bring a handsome profit to anyone who becomes a shareholder.

THE WM. H. MOFFITT REALTY COMPANY HAS ORGANIZED WITH $500,000 CAPITAL under the laws of the State of New York, with stock fully paid up, comprising one hundred thousand shares at $5 a share.

This Company will have its offices at 155-157 Broadway, New York City, and Bay Shore, L. I.—the present offices of my business now. All the investments of this Company will be in Greater New York and on Long Island, buying acreage and cutting same up into lots and plots to be sold on the instalment plan.

This Company will sell only one-fifth of the stock at par value at $5 per share, and o...

Believe me or not, this stock will positively be sold within one week. Every buyer will have an interest in $300,000 worth of real estate and $200,000 in contracts, now bearing six per cent interest. So you can see this is not a new business hoping to make money, with inexperienced and incapable men behind it, but a money-making institution already in existence, making from $60,000 to $100,000 a year, and behind all this is a man of reputation that is beyond reproach for honesty and fair dealings, known everywhere as an indulgent, ambitious and persistent home maker for the rent payer and wage earner of New York and elsewhere. Twenty-seven thousand people will verify this, who have bought through his office and have known him for twelve years as New York's greatest real estate suburban operator.

Remember, this is no Oil Scheme, Copper Scheme, Gold Scheme or Wild Cat Scheme, started on paper, offering nothing to something and promising you all kind of per cent. to get your money. You do not have to think long to know that this is the best thing ever offered for sale to the small and large investor.

Real Estate Companies have been organized in New York City for real estate only, where millions have been made in a short space of time. I quote the Central Realty & Bond Company's stock with a par value of $100, for which $675 a share has been refused; the New York Realty Corporation, par value of $100, for which $200 a share has been refused; the Alliance Realty Company, par value $100, for which $150 has been refused, and the Fuller Realty Company, par value 150, for which $115 has been refused. All of these companies are only a few years in existence.

THINK OF IT BUYING LAND AT $50 TO $300 AN ACRE AND SELLING IT FROM $500 TO $1,000 AN ACRE, WITH NO END OF BUYERS

In an inexhaustible field in this great city, where there are four millions of people to talk to, the greatest money centre on earth, the greatest manufacturing centre on earth—where there are 44,000 factories employing 800,000 people, the great.. or per cent. of whom are now eager to get on the outside and buy a plot of land on the easy payment plan, where you can show them quick service, cheap car fare and cheap land. This is only the beginning—there are greater profits ahead.

THE STOCK YOU CAN BUY NOW FOR $5. AFTER THE ALLOTMENT OF 20,000 SHARES ARE SOLD NOT A SHARE OF THIS STOCK, I AM CERTAIN, CAN BE BOUGHT FOR $10.00 A SHARE. A SHARE SHOULD ADVANCE TO $25 A SHARE IN THREE YEARS AND TO $50 A SHARE IN FIVE YEARS. THE COMPANY GUARANTEES TO PAY 6 PER CENT. PER ANNUM ON ALL CERTIFICATES OF STOCK PAID FOR IN CASH—3 per cent. more than the bank will pay you, and not one dollar of the stock to be assessable for anything. The dividend on the stock is to be paid the second Tuesday in January and July. All stock paid for in cash before October 28th will draw 3 per cent. dividend on January 15—which is equivalent to 8 per cent. per annum.

One Result of the Strike

New York, Oct. 21.—The strike has accomplished one thing, as to this there can be no dispute: Bituminous coal will from now on be more largely used than ever before. The ability to so burn it as to minimize the smoke nuisance, and its comparative cheapness as against anthracite, will make it used by many manufacturing interests from now on that formerly used anthracite exclusively. One large New England manufacturer, who burns about ten thousand tons of coal per month, says he believes his concern will continue to use the soft coal, as it will be a great saving for his company. There is without doubt many users of coal in the anthracite region who will not return to the use of the hard and more costly product. The roads that are going to benefit by this state of affairs, as they have been doing all through the strike period, are the bituminous roads. The rise in Norfolk and West, Ches. and Ohio, and Balt. and Ohio were largely brought about through the results of the strike; they are going to retain many of the newly forced users of their product, and it will guarantee to these concerns a greatly increased demand. From now on we believe the prices of all such shares will increase wondrously as the result of the strike. It will be some time before anthracite comes into the markets in sufficient volume to satisfy the demand, so that for some months to come the soft coal carriers will continue to be the beneficiaries. In the manufacturing way they will be permanently benefitted. There is a lot of meaning in these facts; they will have an important bearing upon the business earnings and prices for soft coal stocks in the future. Many people will be compelled to readjust their estimates of their value within the next six months. As to the hard coal stocks, the settlement now under way guarantees to them for a period of three years tranquility as far as the differences between capital and labor are concerned. They will be as busy as they possibly can be from now on re-supplying the exhausted reserves throughout the land and the urgent demand, the country at the present time facing the cold period. Coal will probably not go within a dollar and one half per ton all this winter to the prices at which it has hitherto been sold; the coal carriers will in this way make up largely for the losses incurred through the strike period.

A FURTHER REACTION.

New York, Oct. 21.—There was a further reaction in the share markets today. Our advice in last Friday's and Saturday's letter to close out long stocks so as to be in position to take them back on reaction then due was well-timed. We now suggest taking back all long stocks on a scale order to buy, and should you not have all re-secured, and the market gets stronger, buy them at market. The market now looks as if reaction had run its course. The lower prices are accompanied by dullness. Stocks do not come out on the decline. The next market change should be for the better. Money closed at 5 per cent. Sales 601,200.

ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18 inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realize the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purposes of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

We furnish the rich property—you furnish the mill. In a few months it will be in operation—almost before you expect it—and we divide the immense returns.

A very interesting and pretty wedding was solemnized in Marmora yesterday by Rev. Father Mollagh, when Miss Rose Shannon, of that place, was united in marriage to Mr. Angus McPherson, of town.

The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Francis Shannon, while Mr. Frank McPherson, brother of the groom, performed the duties of groomsman.

It was unanimously decided to purchase the ambulance, and a committee, headed by Mayor Denne was appointed to look after the necessary details.

A FORGER'S WORK

Five Cheques of $11.50 Each Which are Not Genuine

On Saturday, last, five cheques, purported to have been drawn by R. Hicks & Co., were cashed by different merchants in town. The cheques were forgeries. Messrs. Hicks & Co., knew nothing of the matter until notified by the police yesterday morning.

As far as can be learned, the man who passed the cheques was about 36 years of age. He endorsed the cheques as "George Grupe." There is not much hope, it seems, of running him down, as no one seems to be able to describe his appearance.

THE RAILWAY GATES

Mr. Edward Brown, G.T.R. Bridge Master in town

As intimated in yesterday's Times, Mr. Edward Brown, Bridge Master for the Grand Trunk Railway, arrived in town and met the Mayor and members of and Council regarding the railway gates which are to be placed at the crossings on Charlotte and Simcoe streets.

The gates are to be placed in position at once. They are now in the freight sheds and are of the usual description, wooden arms worked on steel uprights. Two men will be required to work these, one at Simcoe and the other at Charlotte streets. It will be arranged in such a manner that the man working the gate on one side of the crossing will automatically work the gate on the other side. When the arms of the gate are down it will be impossible for either pedestrians or rigs to pass across. This should make the danger from accidents considerably less than formerly and is a precaution which has been long needed in Peterborough.

Who is Grimison?

Port Hope Guide:—Yesterday morning the chief constable was called upon to exercise his authority on John Grimison of Peterborough, who was raising a disturbance on Walton street. Grimson refused to go with the chief, and in the scuffle that followed, a large crowd of men and boys stood aside and cheered for the young man, instead of helping to put him in the lock-up. At last with the assistance of Mr. Sing and Mr. Gamble, Grimison was lodged safely in the goal. Had he gone along quietly, in all probability he would have been let out in the afternoon, but instead of that he had to pay dear for it, and we hope it will be a lesson to him.

Pleasant Evening at Y. W. C. A.

A very pleasant time was spent last evening, at the rooms of the Y.W.C.A the occasion being the reception to the new members of the society.

During the evening an address very interesting and instructing was delivered by Miss Dixon, secretary of the Y.W.C.A., after which a programme of instrumental and vocal music was rendered. All then adjourned to the members parlor which was arranged in the form of an art gallery. Small slips of paper were then distributed bearing a number of short sentences or clauses, that called for an answer. The person having the largest number of correct answers winning the prize. Miss Gillespie being the lucky one having 42 correct answers out of a possible 50. The meeting was then brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

ATTACKED BY A DOG

Master Kenneth Overend is Badly Bitten by a Dog

While playing in the yard of the Cavanagh House, Kenneth, son of Mr. W. J. Overend, of the C.P.R. Hotel, was savagely attacked by a large mastiff belonging to the Cavanagh House. The brute grabbed the child by the calf of one of his legs, and was only driven off by Mr. Harry Cavanagh, who fortunately happened to be near at hand, and who had to beat the dog over the head with a stick of wood. Dr. Greer, who dressed the lad's wounds, had to put in 17 stitches.

The dog has always been a favorite with children and was never known to have bitten anyone. He was promptly killed.

We are pleased to say that the wounds are not likely to be serious.

FOR MUNICIPAL HONORS

Prospective Candidates for the Coming Year

The municipal barometer will soon begin to rise, as the time for the municipal elections is now only a few weeks off. Referring to the possible candidates, it may be stated that an effort is likely to be made to induce Mayor Denne to accept another term. He has been a success as chief magistrate, and would probably be re-elected without opposition. Mr. Geo. M Roger, is regarded as his successor should he determine to retire on his well-earned honors. In Mr. Roger the ratepayers will have a candidate who will be sure to do credit to the position, and perform the duties admirably. The names of Messrs. Aldermen Best and Shortly have also been used in connection with the mayoralty.

For the Council the only new names we have heard mentioned are Mr. R. F. McWilliams, V. Eastwood, Wm. Madill. Other names will no doubt appear as the campaign develops. We understand all the members of the present council will stand for re-election.

A SPLENDID INVESTMENT

In the New York Grass Valley Gold Mining Company

We call the special attention of Canadian investors to the advertisement in this issue of The Times of the above Company, of which Messrs. Thorne & Hayes, 26 Moffat Block, Detroit, are the Fiscal Agents.

The company is splendidly officered and those who desire a safe and profitable investment should at once make application for stock.

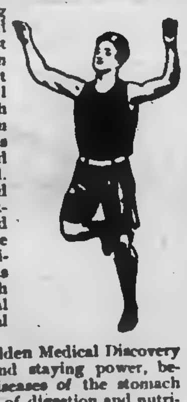
The property of the Company consists of 30 mines of 600 acres of United States patented land, has a 10-stamp mill in operation on the property, and will install 20 more stamps.

The Company expects to pay dividends about the first of the year. The capital stock is $2,000,000, divided into $1 shares, which are selling at 25c per share. It is expected that the stock will be selling above par within a year.

Mr. C. H. J. Mitchell, has been appointed fiscal agent, and will be pleased to furnish prospectuses and other information on application.

Starting and Staying.

At the start in a long race, the advantage often appears to be with an outsider. But the race is won not in starting but in staying. The quality which wins is staying power. It is so in the race of life. Staying power wins, and as a rule the best stayer is the man with the best stomach. All physical strength is derived from food which is properly digested and assimilated. When the food eaten is only partly digested and assimilated there is a loss of nutrition which means a loss of strength and the general result is physical break-down.



Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery gives strength and staying power, because it cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of the food eaten, and so strengthens the body naturally by the nutrition derived from food.

"I was troubled with indigestion for about two years," writes Wm. Bowker, Esq., of Julietta, Latah Co., Idaho. "I tried different doctors and remedies but to no avail, until I wrote to you and you told me what to do. I suffered with a pain in my stomach and left side and thought that it would kill me. Now I am glad to write this and let you know that I am all right. I can do my work now without pain and I don't have that tired feeling that I used to have. Five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' cured me."

Accept no substitute for Golden Medical Discovery. There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets are easy and pleasant to take. A most effective laxative.

ALLURING COFFEE

Nearly Killed the Nurse

When one of the family is sick Mother seems to be the only person who can tenderly nurse the patient back to health. But we forget sometimes that it is pretty hard on mother.

Mrs. Propst of Albany, Ore., says:—"About twenty-seven months ago, Father suffered with a stroke of paralysis, confining him to his bed for months, and as he wished Mother with him constantly, his care in a great measure fell to her lot. She was seventy-four years old, and through constant attendance upon my father, lost both sleep and rest, and began drinking coffee in quantities until finally she became very weak, nervous and ill herself.

By her physician's order, she began giving Father both Postum Food Coffee and Grape-Nuts, and in that way began using both herself. The effect was very noticeable. Father improved rapidly, and Mother regained her strength and health, and now both are well and strong. Mother says it is all due to the continued use of both Postum and Grape-Nuts."

MANCHURIA UNARMED RULED BY RUSSIA

In Five Years Chinese Territory Has Been Transferred to Russia

Debates on German Tariff Bill—Difficulties in the Way of a Solution are Very Great—Sale of West Indies

London, Oct. 22—A Pekin correspondent who has just completed four months' journey through Manchuria says:—"I have been an eye-witness to the marvelous energy which in five years, despite the Boxer outbreak, has transformed Manchuria virtually into a Russian province. Five years ago the traveller laboriously crossed Manchuria in a Chinese cart, now the country is traversed over a well-built and equipped railway, and one is met on every hand with friendly courtesy. I saw the Russian city of Harbin built up boldly out of the most fertile plain in the heart of Manchuria. I saw thousands of solid buildings showing signs of permanent Russian occupation along the entire length of the railway. The transformation in this region has been so marvelously rapid that the Chinaman already seems to be an intruder in Heilung Kiang, and Siberia appears to have extended southward with the railway. Hailor, which five years ago consisted of a few Mongol tents, is now a Russian town, with shops, hotels and hospitals. I counted twenty-two locomotives at the railway station. Harbin is now a Russian city, with a civil population of 9,000 throbbing with activity. The river steamers there are as [illegible] as on any American river. At other places to the Eastward, there are large Russian settlements and to the southward Russian settlements are being built alongside of all great cities. The Russian concession at Mukden around the railway station covers ten square miles. The railway guards are now significantly called frontier guards and they will number 30,000 or more if Russia thinks it fit to erect permanent guard-houses every third mile along the length of railway, and a large barracks at every important centre. Russia's assurances of re-evacuation will be faithfully carried out, because afterward by concentrating the army of occupation along the railway, which passes the gates of the most important cities, she will be more immovably installed than ever before. Evacuation simply means the removal of troops to concession settlements, which in every case are at places where the city, evacuated can be struck. Manchuria is disarmed and absolutely dominated by Russia."

MAY DAMAGE GERMAN DIGNITY.

London, Oct. 22—The Times' correspondent at Berlin says that it is pointed out in many quarters that if the tariff bill debates are prolonged for weeks and months without a prospect of legislative result, the situation will do the utmost damage to the dignity and authority of the Government in the Reichstag. The proceedings will degenerate into a mere subject of caricature. On the other hand, it is pointed out that the difficulties in the way of a solution of the problem at the present time are almost insuperable. It is difficult to see what attitude the Government can adopt at the next election toward Conservatives in the clerical centre upon which it has hitherto relied.

—A short time ago a black ground hog was captured on a farm north of our village. This certainly is a curiosity.

APSLEY

—The Beaver Lodge Hunting Club are making extensive preparations for a big hunt this fall. A business meeting to arrange matters was called for Thursday evening, Oct. 9th. All the members were present except Lena, who has gone to Minnesota. Minutes of former meeting were read and confirmed. Treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of 37c. On motion the treasurer was ordered to deposit same in First National Bank, and to get seven receipts for it. Three new members were added to the club, viz: J. W. Stewart, Albert Smith and R. Patteson. After being duly instructed in the signs and passwords and invested with the badge of the club (a beaver's tail) the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Lafayette, Jr; treasurer, General Don Clinton; secretary, Spike Fred. As none of the members would accept the office of cook it was decided to hire Roy Neil for the season, and each member to take all risks. Benny was re-elected Master of Hounds. He reported several additions to the pack, which now numbered 13, viz: 2 deer hounds, 6 bear dogs, 3 coon dogs, and 2 that are just dogs, but Benny says they will all work or he will know why. Curly will be on hand again if he can spare time from attending to the Lime Stone Fort. Spike says he will be there sure now, as a boy came to his house Oct. 9th. He is not very big, but judging from the way he runs the house already, will be able to run the whole town in two weeks time.

—Our blacksmith had the misfortune to get badly kicked by a horse last week, but is able to attend to business again.

—Apsley and Clydesdale teachers are back again from their Thanksgiving holidays.

—Threshing machines are humming in every direction now. Johnny is getting in his work with a steam thresher.

—Mr. R. A. Dutton, and Mr. Joe Yelland, from town, are here enjoying the sport of partridge shooting for a few days. They are the guests of Mr. Wm. Gallon, who inveigled them to church on Sunday. Joe did a lot of kicking, but his chum went meekly along, and took his medicine like a man. The woods in the neighborhood of the village are being splendidly "salted" just now with lead.

Irritating Pimples and Disfiguring Blotches

They place many young girls at a great disadvantage in life. The only cure is a blood purifier like Ferrozone. It cleanses the crimson flood of poisons and impurities, renews and strengthens it, and makes lots of red corpuscles that manifest their presence by a ruddy, healthy glow in the cheeks and lips. Ferrozone quickly masters all skin eruptions, builds up broken-down constitutions, and gives to weak, sickly women an abundance of spirits, vitality, energy and beauty. Try Ferrozone, it's all right. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Mr. Benjamin Dillon, of Leeds, Ont., was cured of muscular rheumatism by Polson's Nerviline, and says, I feel my duty is to proclaim Polson's Nerviline as an infallible cure for rheumatism; it cured me after 20 years suffering, and nothing I know of can equal its penetrating power. Nerviline simply has no equal in quickly relieving and curing rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and lumbago. A trial will convince anyone. Price 25c.

Wedded in Lakefield Lakefield

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. Watson, Lakefield, when his charming daughter, Miss E. C. Watson, was united in marriage to Mr. John Henderson, of the same place. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Geo. Warren, in the presence of a number of the immediate friends of the contracting parties.

Miss Dollie Montgomery assisted the bride, while Mr. Andrew Henderson, brother of the groom, performed similar duties for the groom.

The happy couple left on the 1.20 train this morning for a short honeymoon.

BANK CAN'T GET AT ITS MONEY

All Shut Up in a Vault Which Even Lock Experts Can't Open

Port Chester, Oct. 20—The safe deposit vaults and the safe of the First National Bank of Port Chester have been closed since last Saturday because a bolt slipped out of place. In the vaults are $100,000 in cash, besides bonds worth $1,000,000. In order to carry on its business, the bank has been forced to borrow funds from the Mutual Trust Company. For several days three experts have been trying to get the doors open.

BRICK PEAT FOR FUEL

If Experiments are Successful St. Louis County Can supply Entire West, It Is Said

Duluth, Oct. 21—Peat from the bogs of St. Louis county may be called into use for fuel this winter. Chemists in the laboratory of the Fayal mine, this county, have been experimenting with it, and they say that when pressed into bricks and dried it makes excellent fuel, almost as good as anthracite.

Ultimately this peat would become coal, the scientists say, and it is proposed to simply hasten the process of nature by utilizing the peat now instead of waiting.

There are peat bogs miles in area in this county, and it is said that if experiments come out properly there is enough to supply the entire west with fuel.

AMERICAN MONEY GOOD

Woman Advertises That She Will Promise Good Time at the Durbar

An English lady advertises that she is starting for India next month to attend the Durbar at Delhi, and that she would chaperon an American or British young lady.

The terms for four months' chaperonage are $2,000, and as an enticement the advertiser adds that having many invitations, she would be able to promise a very good time.

The advertisement is palpably aimed at rich Americans, in forgetfulness of the fact that it was a rich American girl who not long ago went to India chaperoned by the viceroy himself, regardless of expense.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE

CONCLUSION OF THE BUSINESS OF THE COURT YESTERDAY

Jory vs. English Postponed to Spring Assizes—True Bill Against John Fallon

The business of the High Court of Justice was concluded today.

The Grand Jury returned a true bill against John Fallon, who was charged under the Charlton Act. Having concluded their other business the jurors this afternoon returned the following presentment:

Your Grand Jurors, having completed their duties, desire to make their presentment.

Your Grand Jurors have disposed of the only criminal charge laid before them and deem it a subject of congratulation to the community that the criminal calendar is so light.

Your jurors have examined the county jail and have found everything in good order and the prisoners well cared for.

Your jurors have visited the hospitals and have to report that these institutions are well managed, and under the control of competent officials and assistants.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Dated this 22nd October, 1902.

JAMES ANDREWS,
Foreman.

After thanking the Grand Jurors for the faithful discharge of their duties, Hon. Justice Meredith dismissed them.

The case Jory vs. English was referred to the county judge.

ONE YEAR FOR FALON.

The jury returned a verdict against John Fallon about 3.30, and the Hon. Justice sentenced him to one year in the Central prison.

King Alexander is Irritated

London, Oct. 20—The Servia Ministerial crisis is not connected with the Balkan troubles, says a Vienna correspondent. Its immediate cause appears to be King Alexander's irritation over a fresh postponement of his visit, with Queen Draga, to the Russian Court. The correspondent says the affair is a somewhat delicate one, chiefly concerning two ladies, Czarina and Queen Draga. It is thereofre quite as much social as political. An unnamed Servian statesman, in explaining the situation to The Neue Freie-Presse correspondent at Belgrade, said that Russia did not want King Alexander, now that King Milan was dead. He added that the new Premier would cultivate Austrian friendship unlike M. Vuitch, who was always Russophile. Mr. Vuitch told the same newspaper man that his Ministry wished to give the King a perfectly free hand in consequence of the continued postponements of the Russian visit, and to relieve him of the necessity of reckoning with the Cabinet's Russophile policy if he considered it expedient and desirable.

—Lindsay will have a boxing school with a well known pugilist as teacher, "Shadow" Mafor, who fought with Kid McCoy and other clever boxers, was in town on Tuesday looking over the ground and received good encouragement.

Mr. Cook brought attention to the fact that a few of the dear hunters present wished to have the Board adjourne dfor three weeks and that the balance of the season's work be then sold. Mr Cook said he, of course, looked for a supply of venison from Mr. Whitton and Mr. Rollins who were mighty hunters, and made a motion in favor of adjournment. It was carried.

One of the salesmen asked if any of the buyers had the right to make such a motion.

Mr. Cook expressed the opinion that they had, and further thought that next year the buyers should be taxed the same Board fees as the salesmen. This brought forth many evidences of approval.

Bidding started with Mr. Kerr's offer of 11; Mr. Whitton raised to 11 11-16; Mr. Fitzgerald to 11 1-8; Mr. Whitton to 11 3-16. Mr. Whitton bid the highest and he called Westwood, Shearer, Ormonde, Villiers, Oak Leaf, Keene, all of whom refused. Mr. Whitton then went 11 1-4 and when he called Westwood there came from Mr. Blezard an emphatic "No!" He then called Keene and Mr. Drummond, the salesman hesitated until he discovered what was the reason for this extraordinary block in proceedings. Mr Blezard evidently had something up his sleeve, and it appeared that the other salesmen were following suit in good faith. Mr. Whitton remarked, "They don't get any more from me. Other buyers suggested that the Board be adjourned.

Mr. Cook pointed out that there was no difference in prices for white and colored cheese on the English market but there were 2,000 orders for white where there was not one for colored cheese.

Mr. Whitton stated that he had offered the price the market warranted for white and colored cheese. He would withdraw his bid of 11 1-4 and would hold by 11 3-16. He had made the higher bid on the spur of the moment he said.

Mr. Cook suggested that there be an adjournment.

Mr Whitton—"I am here to buy cheese and not to lose money. White cheese is in demand and the salesmen have had their chances nine times out of ten in regard to colored cheese. They should now give us a show." He renewed his offer of 11 3-16 and called Ormonde, Shearer, Villiers, Westwood and Oak Leaf and was refused. He finally raised to 11 1-4 and was accepted by these factories.

Everything now ran smoothly and there was a great demand for cheese.

Mr. Fitzgerald at 11 1-4 took Keene, Fraserville, Myrtle and Lakefield.

Mr. Rollins next called 11 1-4 and took Warminster, North Smith, Oakdale, Daisy D., Maple Leaf, Young's Point, North Dummer, Cedar Dale, Stony Lake, South Burleigh, Apsley, and Pine Grove.

Mr Kerr at 11 1-4 took Bensfort, Mt. Pleasant, Fleetwood, East Emily, Central Smith, Cavanville, Missing Link, Norwood, Melrose Abbey, Ballyduff, Dartford, Percy, Shamrock and Brickley.

Mr. Cook called 11 1-4 and Mr. Kerr then asked to be allowed to add Buckhorn. Mr. Cook registered a kick against any such procedure, but the chairman ruled, on the ground, of precedent in Mr. Kerr's favor.

Mr. Cook held that this was not businesslike. He called Lang, Indian River, Otonabee Union, and Peterborough.

Mr. Fitzgerald added Treewern to his selections.

Darlington Union went to Mr. Cook at 11 3-16.

Mr. Galvin called attention to the fact that next meeting would be the last of the season and hoped that dues would be promptly paid.

The Board then adjourned for three weeks.

Mainly About People.

A rash Irishman had climbed up a tree in pursuit of a small but irate wildcat. His friend, awaiting him below, heard in dismay the uproar of a fierce combat. "Pat," he shouted, "Pat, shall I come up and help you catch him?" Above the crash of breaking branches came a groan, "No, for Hivin's sake come up and help me let him go."

A Dowling avenue (Parkdale) reader sends the following: "Last washday, in our house, the washerwoman asked the domestic whether she should starch the master's pyjamas. 'Good gracious, no!' exclaimed the maid; 'master sleeps in those!' 'Now, see here,' replied the garrulous apostle of the washtub, 'I know what pyjamas is, 'cause I've washed 'em in the best houses in the city, and I tell you that your master will wear 'em when he goes a-fishin', so I guess he'll want 'em starched.'"

A gentleman visiting a minister was asked to attend Sunday school at his host's church and address a few remarks to the children. He took the familiar theme of the children who mocked Elijah on his journey to Bethel—how the youngsters taunted the poor old prophet, and how they were punished when two she-bears came out of the wood and ate forty and two of them. "And now, children," said the speaker, wishing to learn if his talk had produced any moral effect, "what does this story show?" "Please, sir," came from a little girl well down in front, "it shows how many children two she-bears can hold."

John Kendrick Bangs says that one evening he found himself on the rear platform of a crowded New York car with a policeman whom he understood to be the largest man on the force. This policeman, according to his own statement, was six feet eight inches in height, and weighed in his best condition two hundred and ninety-two pounds. Mr. Bangs fell into a pleasant conversation with the giant, in the course of which he complimented him on his great size, which he said he supposed must be a very valuable asset to a man of his profession. "Well, sor," replied the policeman, meditatively, "I ain't got no grievance against me size when I am travelin' along with a rough crowd. But when it comes to buying pants, it's h—ll."

Sir Wemyss Reid tells a good story about William Black. At a banquet of the Royal Academy at which he was present two rich gentlemen, with "self-made" written large all over them, enquired with an air of patronage what line of business he was in. On his meekly replying that he wrote novels, they expressed their surprise and pleasure at meeting a person of his class. The first gentleman said, "I like to meet littery people. I buy books. I've got a library of six hundred volumes all bound in full calf. I've got all the works of Thackeray and Dickenson, and if you'll tell me the names of yours I'll buy them too I've never read them." The second gentleman, anxious to atone for his friend's indiscretion, kicked his shins under the table and said, "Oh yes, you have, but you've forgotten them."

At a little girls' party recently a tot had been valiantly boasting of the advantages of belonging to her family, and had managed to hold her own against the vainglorious and ingenuous discourses of her companions. They had gone from clothes to personal appearances, then to interior furnishings, then to the number of tons of coal consumed in the home of each during the last winter, and finally brought up at parental dignity. The minister's little girl boasted: "Every package that comes for my pa is marked 'D. D.!'" "An' every package that comes for my pa is marked 'M. D.!'" retorted the daughter of a physician of the neighborhood. Then came a fine snort of contempt from the heroine of this anecdote. "Huh!" she exclaimed. "Every package that comes to our house is marked 'C. O. D.!' There, now!"

William Pruette, the singer, was one of a group of married men who were discussing housekeeping and servants the other evening in a Philadelphia hotel corridor. He told of a girl who served him and Mrs. Pruette well enough while they were living in a New York flat several years ago, and who one day went to Mrs. Pruette in tears and asked permission to go home for a few days—she had a telegram telling that her mother was ill. "Of course, go," said Mrs. Pruette—"only, Maggie, do not stay longer than is necessary. We need you." Maggie promised to return as soon as possible, and hurried away. A week passed without a word from her, then came a note by mail, reading: "Deer Miss Pruete I will be back nex week an plese kep my place for me, mother is dying as fast as she can. To oblidg Maggie."

In Legal Terms.

"If I were to give you an orange," said the judge, "I would simply say, 'I give you the orange,' but should the transaction be entrusted to a lawyer to put in writing he would adopt this form:

"'I hereby give, grant, and convey to you all my interest, right, title and advantage of and in said orange, together with its rind, skin, juice, pulp and pits; and all rights and advantages therein, with full power to bite, suck, or otherwise eat the same or give away with or without rind, skin, juice, pulp or pits; anything hereinbefore or in any other deed or deeds, instruments of any nature or kind whatever to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding.'"

Unflattering to the Press.

Although the power of the press can hardly be overestimated, little that is printed leaves a permanent impression. Dr. Edward Everett Hale puts it characteristically in commenting on the sensitiveness of his distinguished kinsman, Edward Everett, to what appeared about him in print. "He did not know, as I do, that of whatever is put in the newspaper half the people who see it do not read it; second, that half of those do not understand it; third, that of the half who understand it, half do not believe it; fourth, that of the half who believe it, half forget it; fifth, that the half who remember it are probably of no great account, anyway." To which Dr. Hale adds the remark, personal to himself, "This may be forgotten with the rest." Nevertheless, it has a kernel of truth worth remembering.

Mistress (to new servant)—There are two things, Mary, about which I am very particular; they are truthfulness and obedience. Mary—Yes'm; and when you tell me to say you're not in, when a person calls that you don't wish to see, which is it to be, mum—truthfulness or obedience?—The "King" (London).

ALL SOMALILAND HAS RISEN AGAINST BRITISH

The Mad Mullah Has Now Over Thirty Thousand Soldiers in the Field

BRITISH REINFORCEMENTS HURRIED FORWARD

Regiments From India Being Rushed to the Scene of Conflict—A Big War On

Special to The Times

London, October 23—The latest despatches indicate that the Mad Mullah has at least 30,000 soldiers, well drilled and armed with rifles, to fight the British.

It is stated that a man namer Karl Unger is cooperating with the Mad Mullah. Unger is an ex-officer of the Austrian Army who took service with the Madhi in the Soudan. Subsequently, in 1897, he came to Europe, where he styled himself the Special Envoy and Viceroy of Somaliland. He aimed to establish an independent kingdom in that country, and to organize trade with Europe.

He was able to equip an armed expedition, which sailed from Flume, but he could not land. The French Consul at Jubitil confiscated the army of the expedition and the members dispersed. Unger subsequently was with Osman Digna, the Lieutenant of the Madhi

It is believed that the Mad Mullah now has between thirty and forty thousand men. Col. Swayne's reinforcements do not number more than 4,000.

Alfred Pease, M.P., and other travellers, who have been in Somaliland say that it is now necessary to conquer the whole country, as the Mullah is certain to be reinforced by all the petty Sultans. The natives will even make the ports on the coast untenable unless the country is effectively occupied.

Calcutta, Oct. 23—Two Indian regiments will leave immediately for Somaliland, East Africa, to reinforce the British troops under Col. Swayne, who were recently defeated by the Mad Mullah.

Paris, Oct. 23—The Journal des Debats declares that Great Britain's object in ending the expedition against the Mad Mullah in Somaliland was to pave the way for the subsequent conquest of Abyssinia. The paper says England now discovers that she has a long and costly undertaking on her hands.

The Temps regards the defeat of Col. Swayne as another sorry exhibition of British military methods.

INTERESTING WEDDING

Nuptials of Mr. Robt. Hicks and Miss Mary Menzies

The home of Mr. Wm. Menzies, 291. Rubidge street, was the scene of a very pretty house wedding yesterday afternoon when his daughter Miss Mary was united in marriage to Mr. Robt. Hicks, manager of R. Hicks & Co., lumber and fuel dealers.

The ceremony which was performed by Rev. Dr. E. F. Torrance, assisted by Rev. J. A. Wilson, took place at 2 p.m., only the immediate friends of the contracting parties being present.

A profusion of pink and white chrysanthemums prettily combined with palms, ferns and smilax composed the tasteful floral decorations.

The bride who was most becomingly attired in a suit of navy blue chevoit with an Irish point lace collar, was given away by her father and entered the drawing room to the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," capably rendered by her cousin, Miss May Patterson.

Miss Isabel Menzies, sister of the bride, who was also charmingly attired in biscuit voile over burnt orange tafetta, with trimmings of black and linen appliqeu, performed the duty of bridesmaid. Both bride and bridesmaid carried magnificent boquets of chrysanthemums and maiden hair ferns, the former of white and the latter pink.

Mr. W. C. Ackerman ably assisted the grrom. A pretty gold wishbone set with pearls was the groom's gift to the bride. After the ceremony an elaborate wedding breakfast was served by Mr. Harry Long, caterer.

Mr. and Mrs. Hicks left on the 5.10 C.P.R. train for Toronto and Buffalo and on their return will take up their residence on the corner of Murray and Aylmer street.

The very best wishes of Peterborough and community follow this happy young couple in their new life, for a long life of unalloyed happiness and abundant prosperity.

WEATHER NOTES

Thursday—South and south-west winds mostly fair and warmer.

The weather continues fair and mild in the Northwest Territories and Manitoba. Frost occurred last night very generally in Ontario, Quebec, and the Maritime Provinces, but the tendency will now be towards higher temperature. The present indications are for unsettled weather on the great lakes, and squalls are not improbable.

American Senator Charges Missionaries With Swindling Ignorant Hawaiians

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 22.—United States Senator Burton arrived here to-night preparatory to entering the State campaign He has just returned from Hawaii, where he went as one of a Senatorial investigating committee.

"The Hawaiians are fine people," he said to-night, "but they are in hard lines just at present. Their condition is the suit of the work of Boston missionaries. A number of missionaries have been over there recently and have given many of the natives certificates guaranteed to admit them to heaven in exchange for their lands. A number of the more ignorant natives have been swindled this way. Those who have learned their mistake are naturally a trifle suspicious of all Americans.

ITEMS OF NEWS BY CABLE AND LETTER

Montreal, Oct. 23—Sir Audley Gosling who for many years was British Minister to the Republic of Chili, is a guest at the Windsor, accompanied by his son-in-law, Mr. Oliver Wetead, who is interested in some mining properties in British Columbia.

Sir Audley speaks enthusiastically of the Chilaneos, who, he says, are the most intellectual and advanced of any of the Spanish-American Republics. They are honorable and enterprising, have a fine army, and an exceptionally efficient navy. While not aggressive, they have the power to make themselves felt and have a stable and well conducted government. The boundary dispute with the Argentine Republic, in Sir Audley's opinion, will be amicably settled, and both countries will abide by the decision of King Edward, who is the sole arbitrator to settle the dispute. The mining industries of Chili are progressive, the country is prosperous, and it is not a prey to the everlasting revolutions which devastate other South American Republics. In Sir Audley's opinion the only way to secure a stable government there will be for the United States to absorb the whole of the South American continent, which, he believes, is its manifest destiny, perhaps not in this century, but eventually.

Germany's experiments of training a corps of commercial experts for duty in foreign consulates is reported by Consular Clerk Murphy at Frankfort to have been a success. These trained business men begin their work with the advantage of having at their disposal the advice of the consuls under whom they serve. The experts go out to certain districts and make a thorough canvass of the business field, which is then reported upon fully to the consul, who, in turn, submits it to the foreign office. From there the facts are distributed where the government thinks they will do the most good.

A CURE FOR LEPROSY

Although little is said about the increase of leprosy in the United States and Canada, it is well known that the ancient plague has found a foothold on this continent, and that our closer relations with the leprous countries Hawaii, the Philippines and China, are adding to the number of lepers for whom the Washington and Ottawa authority must become responsible.

Although this appalling skin disease, which takes its name from the flaking off or peeling of the body, has been known to science from earliest times, a cure for which has not been found until within recent days.

In the regions where this malady prevails the utmost savagery is manifested to its unfortunate victims except where a true Christian missionary and the volunteer Christian nurses have alleviated its pains and softened the imprisonment of the lepers.

Lepers are no worse treated by the pagan peoples now than other unfortunates used to be by Christian communities. It is scarcely a hundred years since the insane were looked upon in extensive portions of Christendom as wild beasts. They were either permitted to wander unprotected in the forests or were jailed like criminals and left to perish in filth and hunger.

Heroic science has long been engaged upon the leprosy problem. All act it appears to have secured beneficial results. Dr. Razlag of Vienna has devoted his talents and monetary resources to the study of the disease. Unaided by public or other private funds, in a prolonged isolation he has experimented with lepers until he has found not only a palliative, but, he believes, a cure.

The medical nature of the successful treatment is reserved for science, but it is not strange to find cleanliness its first therapeutic principle. Dr. Razlag has employed frequent baths, salt as well as fresh water, for lepers, and massage, with strict regulation of diet. The improvement following adherence to his rules has been convincing.

It was an officer of the United States medical corps in the Philippines that Dr. Razlag continued the experiments he began in China. Should American intervention in the archipelago result in bestowing upon humanity a cure for leprosy the sacrifices will not have been altogether in vain.

King Alexander is Irritated

London, Oct. 22—The Servia Ministerial crisis is not connected with the Balkan troubles, says a Vienna correspondent. Its immediate cause appears to be King Alexander's irritation over a fresh postponment of his visit, with Queen Draga, to the Russian Court. The correspondent says the affair is a somewhat delicate one, chiefly concerning two ladies, Czarina and Queen Draga. It is therefore quite as much social as political. An unnamed Servian statesman, in explaining the situation to The Neue Freie-Presse correspondent at Belgrade, said that Russia did not want King Alexander, now that King Milan was dead. He added that the new Premier would cultivate Austrian friendship unlike M. Vuitch, who was always Russophile. Mr. Vuitch told the same newspaper man that his Ministry wished to give the King a perfectly free hand in consequence of the continued postponements of the Russian visit, and to relieve him of the necessity of reckoning with the Cabinet's Russophile policy if he considered it expedient and desirable

Mainly About People.

"I wonder what makes my eyes so weak?" a fierce Radical once said to Disraeli. "It is because they are in a weak place," was the reply.

General Horace Porter, the United States minister to France, says that when he departed for his post five years ago, his parting words to Mark Twain, as he was about to board the steamer for the other side, were: "Mark, may the Lord be with you." "Yes," the humorist replied, with a slight cough, "and I hope He may occasionally find a leisure moment to pay some attention to you also."

Once when dining quite by chance with Dr. Creighton, the late Bishop of London, at a certain club, Lord Rosebery remarked: "Ah! my Lord Bishop, what a nuisance this dining is! Two things I absolutely dread—a long dinner and a long sermon! I think that a sermon and a dinner, however good either may be, ought never to last more than a quarter of an hour, or twenty minutes at the most." "Well, well," said Dr. Creighton, musingly, "could we not arrange matters this way, my lord? Knock, say, ten minutes off the sermon, and put it on to the dinner."

Here is the story how Mrs. Caroline Corbin became the anti-woman suffragist leader in Chicago. Mrs. Corbin went to school with Miss Susan B. Anthony, and not until years later the two women met in Washington. "What have you been doing all this while?" asked Miss Anthony. "Bringing up four boys," was the answer. "Boys!" exclaimed the outspoken Susan. "What under the sun is a woman like you doing with four boys?" "I don't know. Would you expect me to strangle them?" "Bosh!" was the reply; "you should never have had them. They will grow up to be men—nothing but men!" It was then that Mrs. Corbin became an opponent of woman suffrage.

Gilbert Parker says of his first attempt at authorship: "I went to Archibald Forbes, with whom I was acquainted, to have him give me a note to the Macmillans, as I wanted to see whether they would not bring out a book of short stories for me. He read the stories and then invited me around to dine, to give me the letter of introduction and his opinion of the stories. 'I have read your sketches,' he said after dinner, 'and I must say this of them. I have never seen such a fine collection of titles in my life.' 'There, don't say another word, Mr. Forbes,' I said; 'I understand perfectly; each title suggests a complete idea which the story fails to carry out. I understand perfectly.' Thereupon I went home and burned every one of them. Then I sat down and wrote the first of the 'Pierre' series, which was the beginning of whatever success I ever had."

Captain French E. Chadwick, U.S.N., who was commander of the flagship "New York" during the Spanish-American war, says that Rear-Admiral Sampson was deeply and unaffectedly religious, and adds: "He was a strict observer of Sunday, but the fact that once, at least, he forgot the days of the week is indicative of the intensity with which the duty in hand always seized him. Having called the captains aboard for consultation on June 4 (a Saturday), he said toward the close of the conference: 'I am going in tomorrow to attack the batteries, so have everything ready by daylight.' Captain Philip, who was most earnest in his religious convictions, at once spoke up: 'But, admiral, to-morrow is Sunday, and I don't believe in fighting on Sunday, unless the other fellow begins. I have always noticed that whoever begins a Sunday fight gets licked.' Sampson at once said: 'I am glad you mentioned that, Jack; to tell the truth, I had forgotten the days of the week. I am no more a believer in fighting on Sunday than you are. Gentlemen, we'll put it off until Monday,' and his order was obeyed."

English Humor.

Mr. Max Beerbohm, in a recent review, writes that he has codified, as it were, all the English comic papers, and finds the following list to comprise, in the order of their importance, all of the subjects discussed:

Twins.
Old maids.
Jews.
Frenchmen, Germans, Italians, niggers (not Russians or other foreigners of any denomination).

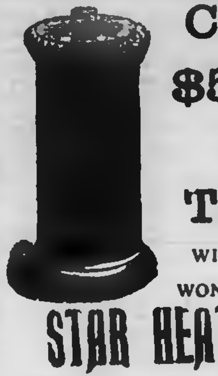
PREDICTS MANY STRIKES

Capital and Labour Are in Fight to a Finish in England

London, Oct. 21—John A. Hobson, the London sociologist, prophesies a serious conflict soon in England between organized labor and organized capital. He says:

"In England the organization of labor from the nature of things is far less firm than capital, still the organization of labor is going on rapidly, especially where machinery is greatly used and skill is required. The trade unions object to the employment of non-union men in order to protect their organizations. The employers of England are about to try to break down the labor unions and to break down the principle of collective bargaining. They have turned to the two weapons, of law, and of politics. The House of Lords has decided that unions can be sued. This will pave the way for endless litigation in which, because of weaker resources, the unions may be ruined. English workmen will turn to politics if they have the brains. In the meantime, as trade declines, we will see a series of big strikes and lockouts."



COAL $5.00 A TON WITH THE WONDERFUL STAR HEATER

The only heater that is guaranteed to give satisfaction with soft as well as hard coal. As a fuel economizer it is unequalled, producing heat on about one-third the coal used in any other heater in existence.

The Star has a tube behind for the escape of the gas. As anyone who uses soft coal knows, the gas accumulates under the fresh coal, and if there is no escape there will be explosions and puffs of smoke. In the Star this disappears in the gas escape. The Star has a sliding damper and ornamental door of mica.

After being filled, the Star will heat for 48 hours without attention. It will hold fire and give out heat longer than any other stove.

The Star is 25 per cent more economical than any other stove.

MORE THAN 5,000 ARE IN USE IN THE LOWER PROVINCES.

PRICE LIST

No.	Height	Diameter	Price
0	24 1-2 in.	9 in	$11.20
1	30 1-2 in.	9 in	$12.00
2	34 in.	10 1-2 in	$16.00
3	37 1-2 in.	12 in	$19.20
4	41 in.	15 in	$23.20

DIRECTIONS

When filling the stove always shut the draught door at the bottom.

Keep the small opening in the back pipe closed except when cleaning.

Clean the back pipe every two weeks.

COAL CONSUMERS, ATTENTION!

We are using one No. 3 Star stove in our large rooms, where formerly we had four large wood heaters, and get more heat now than before. The wood stoves cost us $4.50 every week for fuel, and the Star stove which we are now using costs us only $1.50, making a saving of $3.00 per week in the price of fuel—which would soon pay for the stove. We can recommend this stove to any person wanting a first-class heater. We would not use any other stove that is made.

ST. PETER'S T.A.S.
M. J. Serro, Chairman Trustees.

We certify that we have in use one No. 3 Star stove in our large pool and billiard room, the size of which is 45x33 ft., with 15 ft. ceiling. We have perfect heat, and the most coal we have used on the coldest day yet has been three scuttles in 24 hours. We are so well pleased with the stove that we would not use any other.

ROCAMORA & CALLAHAN.

I have been using a No. 3 Star stove in the sitting room at the City Hotel for some time past, and it has proved so satisfactory that I have ordered two more to replace two stoves in the upstairs. The Star gives more heat than the other stoves with half the amount of coal.

MARTIN CONNORS.

We have in use in our composing room a No. 3 Star coal stove, and wish to state that it is giving eminent satisfaction. The entire absence of gas by the escape provided, the increase of heat and the saving in coal are special features of the Star, and it requires a minimum of attention.

somehow, as I do without my cold plunge. But as for a fight——"

"No 'buts' until you've heard me out!" Macaire broke in. "My friends all know me for a sportsman, and I have few friends who are not sporting men. Sometimes, to amuse them, I have a show in a big vault of a room under my house, and nobody outside is the wiser. Last spring I managed a pretty good glove fight—Joe Nash, known as Joey the Kid, and a mulatto, Bill Clay. They were both first-rate men. The Kid is the champion of his county, and since he downed Clay, who had a splendid record in the prize-ring in the States——"

"I've heard of him," said Newcome.

"I thought you must have. Well, the Kid has gone swaggering about swearing there's no one who can touch him. He's getting tiresome, and I should like nothing better than to see you knock him out—at my place, with my friends and me looking on—for a purse, of, say, two thousand pounds. It would be a very sporting thing for you to accept."

Hope Newcome flushed a little, and did not hurry in answering. He saw that the millionaire looked upon him as an animal, and valued him as a man may value a new hunter which he thinks of securing. Newcome felt that there were things in him of more worth than his muscles, and he liked not the proposal made by the millionaire. But only this morning he had told himself that he would do anything for a hundred pounds, even to committing a crime. Not for his own necessities, though he wanted money badly enough, but for another use upon which he had set his heart and soul. Now, here was the chance of earning much more than the sum he had thought of—a chance which a few hours ago had seemed as far away from him as the stars in heaven. It would be madness to think of letting it slip.

But Macaire believed that he was hesitating in the hope of a larger bribe. That bribe he had meant to offer by and by; now, however, he proceeded to "spring" it at once.

"Two thousand pounds is the purse for which you would put on the gloves," he said. "But I'm rather a whimsical fellow. I like my jest with the world, which has played some hard tricks on me; and in this hour that you and I have had together an idea has come into my head concerning you. Two thousand pounds is a good enough purse, maybe, but it's not a fortune; and I hinted to you that you might make your fortune. If you knock the Kid out you get the purse, but how would you like at the same time to blossom out as a rich young man about town, with a name and enough money to buy you a place in society? A place as good as mine, for instance?"

Macaire watched the dark face, but it changed very little. There was only a slight quivering of the lips for a second, which ended in a smile—not exactly the sort of emotion that the millionaire had expected to call up. He had looked for astonishment.

"The higher the place, the better I should like it," said Newcome, laughing. "But I don't see any ladder to begin the climb on at present."

"If you fight Joey the Kid, and lick him," returned Macaire, in the vernacular of his kind, "I'll provide the ladder. After the fight's over I shall introduce you to my friends as a sporting young pal of mine who did the thing for a lark. I shall give them the tip that you have come into a pile of money, and that you want to see something of London life. I've done pretty well for myself, and I'm in just the sort of set that I like; but there are people in English society who think themselves too good for me, in spite of my money. There are others who'll say black's white if I ask them to, because I've got what they want. You shall know both kinds. You must have a good name, of course—a title would be the best thing. But an English one couldn't be managed, I'm afraid. You'd have to put up with a foreign makeshift. What would you think of—er—let me see, Baron von Zellheim?"

Now, at least, Macaire had no need for disappointment, for the young man's face was red from chin to forehead. "How did you happen to think of that for a name?" he asked, quickly.

"It came into my head," answered Macaire, "partly because there really is such a title, which has lapsed, I believe, for lack of a man with the right to bear it; partly because it's not important enough to be doubted and disputed; and partly because of an association in my mind."

"Would you object to telling me what that association is?"

"Not at all. When you recalled to me the fact that I had seen you at the Duke of Clarence's theater one night some weeks ago I remembered that I then asked my friend Anderson who you were. Said he: 'That young man was sent to me with a letter of introduction from the once famous F. E. Z.' Well, I knew F. E. Z. slightly—a long time ago, when she was very young and I not much older. If she had been a man she would have been Baron von Zellheim. You knew her personally, I suppose? Did she ever mention that to you?"

"Yes. She spoke of her antecedents."

"If she had married and had a son he would have been the Baron von Zellheim. But, as a matter of fact, I believe she never did marry. However, you may know better than I about that."

"No," remarked Newcome, coolly. "About her private life, until I had the privilege of meeting her, I knew very little." This time his expression told no more than his words.

"Well, you understand what I meant by the 'association,'" quietly explained Macaire. "Seeing you, and remembering what Anderson said, brought up the thought of the beautiful F. E. Z. So I recalled the title which is going begging—a good old German name, and nobody to dispute it, if you choose to keep your mouth shut. As the lady is your friend——"

"She is dead!" cut in the other.

So George Anderson had notified Macaire after receiving the information from Newcome. But the millionaire affected surprise and regret. He still professed certainty, however, that she would gladly have lent the family title to her young friend if it could serve him.

"Why should it serve me?" asked Newcome.

"It would offer a foundation to begin upon, which, with the money I should put at your service, would at once give you a free pass into society—real society, I mean."

"But I don't understand yet why you should put money at my service," Newcome answered.

"To amuse myself. I should like above all things to play a trick on the society which has only accepted me because of what I have. I should enjoy seeing you take everyone by storm; seeing you flattered, and run after, and made much of, on my recommendation. I tell you, if you fight the Kid for me and come out on top, you shall have six months of such life as perhaps you've never dreamt of."

The thought that flashed through Hope Newcome's head was: "Six months ought to be enough for my purpose. With such a chance as this madman offers me for some queer reason of his own, which he's hiding and doesn't want me to guess at, I could not only give the help I would sell my life to give, but I should be able to learn how to keep my oath as well."

"And at the end of the six months?" he said aloud.

"'After me, the deluge,'" smiled Macaire, grimly. "Why, at the end of the six months I should come to the kernel of my joke. Wouldn't you be willing to help me crack the shell?"

"I don't know what you mean by that. Perhaps you don't wish me to."

"I confess I'm fond of a harmless mystery," answered the man just baffled by the mystery wrapped round the vanished figure of a girl. "If I—merely to amuse myself—not out of any exaggerated whim to be generous—offer you a—er—salary, we'll call it, of a thousand pounds a month for six months, and let you do what you like without asking questions, wouldn't you grant me my mystery till the end of that phase of our partnership?"

"I've never yet taken any money I haven't earned," said Newcome.

"I mean you shall earn this. At first, with the fight (the thing's off if the Kid knocks you out); afterwards, at the end of the six months. Oh, you needn't look so suspicious, my friend. I swear I would ask nothing dishonorable. Will you take my word for that, and, trusting me for the rest, give me my way?"

Lionel Macaire, with his hideous, scarred face, and pale eyes, did not look a person to whom trust would naturally flow out; but Hope Newcome wanted money and position—position not for what it could give him of enjoyment, but for the help it would afford in the mission for which he had lived until the moment when an incentive even stronger came suddenly into his life. Money he must have for the accomplishment of both objects.

It seemed to him, holding no cue to the motif-music which sang so strange a tune in Lionel Macaire's blood, that the eccentric millionaire must be hovering on the verge of madness—a verge where it was difficult to draw a line of definition. But there was the offer, such as it was, for him, Hope Newcome, to take or leave. And after six months, why, he believed himself strong enough to face the consequences and pay the bill, whatever that might be. Besides, he might not win in that fight, supposing he went in for it. Yes, he would do it. Let all depend upon that. It must be Fate's decision, not his.

"Well?" enquired Macaire.

"How long will you give me to decide?"

"Five minutes. The fight to be twenty rounds. Queensberry rules, two-ounce gloves, a decision on points if you stick it out till the finish. Fifty pounds in your hand before you leave the room for your immediate expenses, living, and training—for you'd want a sparring partner and a lot of odds and ends. The best thing for you to do would be to go straight to town, take up your quarters in my house, and use my gymnasium. But all these points can be settled if you decide my way in five minutes."

Hope Newcome had wanted as many hours, meaning to walk by the sea in the November darkness making up his mind. But the offer of fifty pounds down and a chance to live without spending too much of it was, in the strange circumstances known only to himself, more than he could resist.

"I'll try it," he said, without waiting for even one of the five minutes to go by.

CHAPTER XXI.

A Backward Glance.

When Winifred Gray had cried out her broken prayer for help on the night of her great trial at the theater, Mrs. Purdy had honestly striven to comfort the girl.

The old woman thought that the young one made far too much of the ordeal through which she was expected to pass, and bluntly said so. "What's an extra petticoat here or there?" she had scornfully demanded. "There's many a girl just as good without as with 'em. My own daughter now is one of the best, and she plays the boy in pantomime, my dear, whenever she can get the job, and I wish she had one now. It didn't kill me, not it. Why should it your mother?"

There was a difference, but perhaps too subtle for Mrs. Purdy's comprehension. Winifred, quivering and panting still, did not attempt to go into it, but a few words which the woman had spoken made her turn wet, wistful eyes up to the common old face.

"You've a daughter of your own," she said. "For her sake, and for my mother's, help me. It isn't only this scene that is so dreadful. There is far more than that. A man—a very rich man—has persecuted and plotted against me. My playing Mazeppa and being here at all to-night is part of the trick. He would spoil my whole life if he could—I think he has nearly spoilt it now. This is to bring me into the dust under his feet; and he would be glad if the shame of it killed my mother, who is very ill, for then I should have no one on earth to care for or protect me. Think how you would feel if your daughter—your good daughter—were in such trouble and danger. Do for me what you would have my mother do for her if our places were changed. Help me to get away—to hide myself from this man."

She caught the woman's skirt with her hands, when Mrs. Purdy half turned away. Eyes, and shaking voice, and falling tears all did their part in pleading.

"Dear me, if you ain't suddenly the image of my own beautiful lady, the first and dearest I was ever dresser to!" exclaimed Mrs. Purdy. "It's your eyes—I think—and the look of your face now. I'll never forget till the day I die, seeing her cryin' because of a trouble a bit like yours. Why, if there was anything I could do for you, miss, I'd do it and be glad, for my gal's sake, and the look on you like my lady. But what could a body like me do that would be any use? In fifteen minutes you'll be on the stage, and——"

"But there are those fifteen minutes first. "Somehow, if you would, you might smuggle me out of the theater, and then, if you could tell me what to do just for the night——"

"Hist!" whispered the old dresser, holding up a finger of warning. "Someone is coming to the door."

"Winifred was hushed into instant silence, her wet eyes large and shining, her lips parted for hurried, uneven breaths.

Knuckles rapped out a summons on the door. It was then that the stage-manager had asked Mrs. Purdy how she was getting on. With a quick, meaning glance at Winifred, her answer had been that she was "getting on as well as could be expected."

Then he had been induced to go away, and the parley had begun again where it had been so abruptly broken off.

"Supposing I could get you out—I don't say I could, but supposing"—the dresser went on, "you couldn't go to your lodgings, could you? This rich man you're talkin' about, he's sure to know where you lodge, eh?"

"They have my address here at the theater. He could easily have found out."

"Then he has found out. You may bet on that, miss. The search for you would begin the minute they discovered you'd given 'em the slip. And if you was to try and get to London, even, the railway stations would be the very places they'd look for you."

"I haven't a penny. I couldn't go to London if I wanted to," said Winifred. "I'm even in debt at my lodgings—for I was counting on my salary at the end of the week."

"There it is, you see!"

"Ah, but I can earn money, somehow. Hide me at your house, and I swear I'll pay you back one day before long. Do help me. In a few minutes it will be too late."

As the girl talked she had begun unfastening the hated silken garments for Mazeppa's "great scene." But, as she would have begun hurriedly dressing herself in her own clothes, Mrs. Purdy, with a shrewd glint in her little eyes, laid a restraining hand on the girl's arm.

"If you want to get off without leaving a trace," she said, quickly, "you mustn't put on one of your own things. And look here, it isn't payment I was thinkin' of, 'twas somethin' else. My gal's got diphtheria, and I've kep' it from the doctors, so she could be nussed at home, she cried so at the thought of goin' into hospital. She's better now, but she's laid up yet. Ain't you afraid?"

"No," answered Winifred. "I'll help nurse her. I'm a good nurse—my mother says so."

"There's someone helpin' me now—a lodger. But we can make room for you somehow, only you may get the disease."

"I'd rather die than stay here," cried Winifred.

"Well, then, this is what I've been thinkin'. Lucky enough, when I come I puts in my pocket a hood I was knittin' for my gal. It's finished, all but the strings. And this worsted shawl I've got on for my rheumatics, you could have that. No one would notice I'd took it off. And I could spare you a few things. I've a petticoat on, was a dress-skirt once, only made a bit shorter. Then you could leave all your clothes as they are, and I'd make 'em think you'd gone out for your scene—that you couldn't have left the theater, whatever you did. I'd keep 'em waitin' as long as I could, too. If only you had a thick veil now, to hide your face, you could slip out of this room while Jeffrey's back was turned; I'd peep first and make sure you'd a chance. You might pass by every stage-hand about the place, and the doorkeeper, too, before anybody dreamt you weren't bein' dressed in here for your next scene. Miss Emmet—one of the ballet girls—wears a hood like this. I knitted it for her myself, and you're about her size. She leaves the theater after the first act. If you could go now, it would be about her time, and with a veil——"

"My black chiffon fichu," cried Winifred. "Doubled, it would hide my face."

In five minutes she was dressed and ready to go. Mrs. Purdy peered out, even her old heart beating fast with excitement. Jeffrey was talking to Selim's groom behind the big screen. No one was looking. "Now!" whispered the old woman. "Don't forget the way I've told you to go when you get out. Now's your one chance."

Winifred took it. Mrs. Purdy softly shut the door after her and locked it, muttering to herself. She had, while getting the girl ready for the venture, told her how she must, when she passed through the stage entrance, go to the left, take the second turning to the right, first to the left again, and so on through confusing directions until she should come to a little street called Salt street. The Purdy house was No. 12 (there were but twenty houses in the street), but the old woman feared that Winifred would never find her way. She had said that she would be certain to remember the directions, since so much depended on not forgetting; still, Mrs. Purdy doubted that the girl's confused, excited mind could possibly retain them without getting hopelessly mixed.

She had done all that she could do, however, and in the midst of her misgivings a crabbed sense of humor set her laughing at the thought of Winifred Gray's slim little feet flopping through the streets in the Purdy goloshes—for the smart patent leather shoes had been left behind with everything else that was Winifred's.

The old woman's meditations were interrupted by another call from the stage-manager; and she had gained three or four minutes' time for the fugitive by her complaints that it was difficult to dress other people who were fainting.

"In for a penny, in for a pound," was her motto; and her conscience was not of the mimosa type, which shrinks from a fib or two. In fact, she was to tell many more before the night was out, and with such innocent eyes that her prevarications would have done credit to an accomplished actress.

But she, though feeling her triumph, was desperately impatient to be at home. "What had happened there?" she continued to ask herself, under the placid mask of the commonplace, dried-apple face. Had that poor, distracted lassie ever found her way through the darkness?

PREMIER DISMISSED DISLOYAL COLLEAGUES

Minister's Action in Dictating Policy The Ground For Removal from Office

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Told Mr. Tarte That He Had Betrayed His Leader and His Colleagues and Demanded His Resignation

Ottawa, Oct. 21—Sir Wilfrid Laurier today addressed the following letter to Hon. J. I. Tarte, which is now given to the public:

"Ottawa, October 21st, 1902 — My dear Tarte,—After having seen you on Sunday last, and having expressed to you my well-settled opinion upon the consequences of your recent attitude, my first duty was to wait upon his Excellency, the Governor-General, to inform him that I was obliged to demand the resignation of your portfolio. After having seen his Excellency, I had to acquaint my colleagues of the interview which I had with you.

"In accepting your resignation, it is well to emphasize the points of difference between us. During my absence in Europe, without any communication with me, and without any previous understanding with your colleagues, you began an active campaign in favor of an immediate revision of the tariff in the direction of high protection. I regret having been obliged to observe to you that this attitude on your part constitutes a self-evident violation of your duty towards the Government of which you were a member. I repeat to you here what I told you on Sunday. I do not wish to discuss at this moment the economic theory of which you have made yourself the champion. The question, however important it might be, is subordinate to one still more important. If you had reached the conclusion that the interest of the country demanded, without delay, an increase of the customs duties the first thing for you to have done as a member of the Government, before addressing your views to the public, would have been to place them before your colleagues, with the object of obtaining that unanimous action of the Cabinet which is the very foundation of responsible government. If you had not been able to attain from your colleagues their assent to the course which you recommended, you would have been obliged then to choose rather to accept their own views, or to sever your connection with them, and then for the first time would you have been free to place your views before the public.

"Such was the very simple course which was binding upon you, but to remain a member of the Government, and, at the same time, to advocate a policy which has not yet been adopted by the Government, was an impediment to the proper working of our constitutional system and implies a disregard for the loyalty which all those who are members of the same Administration owe to each other and have a right to expect from each other.

I thank you for the good wishes which you express for the improvement of my health, and I will make it my duty to convey to your old colleagues those that you formulate for their welfare and their happiness Believe me, yours very sincerely.

Mr. Tarte's Letter.

The following letter has been addressed by Mr. Tarte to the Premier:

Public Works Department, Minister's Office, Toronto, Ont., Oct. 20, 1902.
The Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier,
Primo Minister, Ottawa:

My dear Sir Wilfrid.—I feel it is my duty to place my resignation in your hands, and ask you to be good enough to have it accepted by his Excellency the Governor-General. In the interview which I had with you, you expressed the opinion that I should not have spoken on the tariff as I have done, that the Government had not as yet come to any difinite understanding on the fiscal policy for the future. I shall not discuss with you at the present time the question as to whether I was right or wrong in the course I have followed.

You are the leader of the Government, and your opinion, as far as my attitude is involved, must prevail.

You told me that my utterances are causing you trouble. I have no right and no desire to be a source of embarrassment to you or to the party with which I have been connected since 1892.

My views on the tariff are well known to you. I have, on several occasions, stated them publicly in your presence, and discussed them often privately with you. Entertaining the opinion that the interests of the Canadian people made it our duty to revise, without delay, the tariff of 1897, with the view of giving a more adequate protection to our industries, to our farming community, to our workingmen, I cannot possibly remain silent. I prefer my freedom of action and of speech, under the circumstances, even to the great honor of being your colleague

Before severing my official relation with you, allow me to express my sincerest hope that you will soon be restored to your health of former days. You would greatly oblige me by conveying to my colleagues my best wishes for their welfare and their happiness. My personal relations with most of them have been of a pleasant and cordial nature. I hope they will continue to be the same in the future.

Believe me, my dear Sir Wilfrid, very sincerely yours

(Signed) J. Isreal Tarte.

WHO WILL SUCCEED.

Ottawa, Oct. 21 —When Sir Wilfrid Laurier landed from the Lake Erie he announced that he had little time for receptions, that pressing business called him to the capital. That business was the dismissal of Mr. Tarte. The Premier had made up his mind that the Minister of Public Works had committed a grave breach of constitutional usage in trying to stir up a public feeling in the country favoring a policy to which the Cabinet of which he was a member was entirely opposed.

Mr. Tarte in taking up the cause of the manufacturers against his colleagues, never expected that it would lead to his expulsion. He counted on the past kindness of his leader to save him. He thought he had a winning card and that in a matter of weeks he would be himself Prime Minister. To-day he is deceived. The Premier is back and in spite of all the fears that Mr. Tarte can create about his chief's health, Sir Wilfrid is ready and fit for duty.

Not His First Break.

No doubt the ordinary citizen finds it hard to make out the riddle. Who ever heard of such a thing in a constitutional governed country before as a Cabinet Minister trying to create by open and by covered appeals on the platform, and through the press, a public sentiment exactly opposite to the policy decided upon in Council? But did not Mr. Tarte do exactly the same thing in the matter of the French River improvements, too? His colleagues were not prepared to place in the estimates a sum of millions for a work that they did not consider to the public advantage. Yet Mr. Tarte went right on advocating on the public platform that same undertaking.

Liberals here say that the Minister of Public Works has come under the influence of the large corporation and the manufacturers, that he thought he could set the constitution at naught, and remain in the Cabinet, but that since he finds it impossible to advocate high protection as a Cabinet Minister, he will continue to fight the same fight in his newspapers, probably retaining the name of a Government supporter so as to make his campaign the stronger.

The Next Minister.

Who will be the next Minister of Public Works? The public will not have to wait long for an answer. Your correspondent hears two or three names mentioned. Speaker Brodeur of the Commons is a Liberal who has long been marked out for advancement. The question is, does he consider his health robust enough to warrant the assumption of a very exacting post.

"The next Minister of Public Works," said a gentleman today who will have something to say in the matter, "must be a man who is prepared to look after the affairs of the Department properly. He will not have time to administer the affairs of half his colleagues besides. It is known to most people that Mr. Tarte estimates for public works were very large, so large as to bring down upon the party the denunciations of its opponents. But how many are aware that, after having all this money voted, session after session, either the Minister himself, or his incompetent staff, had not time to spare for the plans and the contracts to spend it?"

Speaker Brodeur is an able debater, well informed, and well liked. There is no tinge of Toryism in his blood. His family were Reformers as far back as 1837. He was born in the district where the Papineau agitation broke out in revolt. His father was one of the patriots who fought for what he regarded as fair government.

Premier Parent Mentioned.

"What would Premier Parent of Quebec say to the offer of this important portfolio in Sir Wilfrid's Cabinet? How would his selection balance off the loss of Joseph Israel?" said your informan. "The Provincial Premier bears the reputation of an exceptional administrator. Besides he has a following in the country, and a record behind him to win votes. Would he care to join his distinguished compatriot in the Federal arena? Other local Prime Ministers gave up office to take a portfolio in the Laurier Ministry, Mr. Blair, Mr. Fielding. Sir Oliver Mowat, They considered the exchange in the nature of an advance."

Dandurand a Possibility.

Senator Dandurand is one of the most striking figures in Parliament. He has had something to do with organization work, too. It has always seemed to the writer that he was peculiarly out of place in the restful atmosphere of the Red Chamber, where his stirring voice in the Cook enquiry, in advocacy of legislation to abolish lotteries and usury in Montreal, fell largely upon unsympathetic ears, who rather resented these evidences of life, vigor and heat in an assemblage where debate is not looked on with favor that rises much above a whisper. A seat could easily be found for him in the Commons if it were desired. Will this be done?

Grain—THE MARKETS OF THE WORLD—Stocks

A Complete Rest.

Tipton shut down the roll-top desk in his private office with a bang, threw a last derelict envelope into the waste-basket, and turning with smiling face to the clerks who had gathered in a little group to bid him good-bye, said:

"Well, boys, I'm off. Keep your end up while I am gone, and remember this: I don't want to hear a word from you. Don't send me any mail. Don't try to reach me by wire or telephone, even if the building burns down. I'm going away for a real vacation, where I won't be disturbed."

Then he shook hands all around, and hurried off to join his wife at the railway station.

The usual excitement incident to the departure of a train was successfully lived through. As they sped out into the open country, Tipton looked at Mrs. Tipton with a fond, exultant look.

"There, my dear," he said; "we're off at last! For the first time in years I am going to do the sensible thing. I'm going to lose myself. No mail. No messages. Complete rest. I wonder why I never thought of it before?"

"I'm so glad," said Mrs. Tipton, "that you've come to your senses at last. This will do you a world of good, I know."

In the course of a few hours they alighted at their station. Then they were driven miles and miles—it seemed almost interminable—until they came in sight of the quiet little hotel—or rather inn—on the mountainside, where they were received with all the splendor of courtesy that only a rural hotel-keeper knows how to bestow.

Tipton could scarcely wait to get into his outing clothes. An hour later they were strolling down through the quiet woods to the bank of the stream that chippered away to the music of the breeze.

"Could anything," murmured Tipton, "be finer?"

He pressed his wife's hand. "This is rest. This is true solitude. When I think of that maddening city, I wonder how I could ever have lived there. I never want to go back again."

The next morning after a fine breakfast—for our friend had made sure of his place—Tipton strolled out and said good morning to the proprietor.

"Well, sir," said the proprietor, "how do you like our little view?"

"Great!" exclaimed Tipton. "It certainly is a charming spot. By the way, you don't happen to have any of the New York papers here, do you?"

"Not regularly," said the proprietor. "You see, this is a place where folks come to rest, and we don't have much call for 'em."

"Certainly not," said Tipton. "Precisely. Thought I would just like to glance over the head lines, that's all."

He joined his wife, who was walking in the near view.

"This is a great place to rest," he observed, somewhat tritely, as they walked off toward the stream. "Never was in a place quite like this. Couldn't even get a morning paper."

Mrs. Tipton looked at him suspiciously.

"Now, dear," she said, "that isn't fair. You must forget the world."

At noon Tipton sought the proprietor once more.

His face wore a shade of anxiety. He clutched his cigar nervously.

"You don't happen to have a telegraph or a long-distance telephone near here, do you?" he asked. "Fact is, I came away yesterday and forgot an important matter."

"No, sir!" said the proprietor. "We haven't such things around. This, as you know, is a place for complete rest, as advertised."

"Very well, sir," said Tipton, "you can make out my bill."

He glared fiercely around him, and walked upstairs to his room.

"My dear," he said, "would you mind if we got out of this prehistoric place on the first train?"

Mrs. Tipton gazed at him blankly for a moment, and threw her arms around his neck.

"Mind!" she exclaimed. "Why, I was only staying here for your sake. I didn't dare say how lonesome I was! I am afraid, my dear, we have never lived in the country long enough to appreciate it."

Two hours later they were in the dining car of the Long Branch express, with the remains of a feast and a cold bottle between them.

"I've wired the boys to send me the mail," said Tipton. "I will talk with the cashier over the wire as soon as we get in. I see the market opened up strong this morning. And now, if you will excuse me, I'll step into the smoking room with this bundle of papers and catch up on twenty-four hours' lost time."—Tom Masson, in "Life."

Herbert Spencer on "Americanisms."

Mr. Herbert Spencer's recent protest against what he called "Americanisms" concludes thus: "Perhaps a little might be done if in return for criticisms on Americanisms like those passed above, Americans were systematically to expose deteriorations in the language as spoken here. They might, for example, mercilessly ridicule that vulgar misuse of the word 'awfully,' which has now continued for more than a generation."

A correspondent of the London "Spectator" adds: "This reminds me of the following rather good story told to me by a friend now deceased. A certain distinguished philosopher happened to be staying at a country house in which my friend was also a guest, and one morning a youngster looking out of the window, observing a large flock of rooks alighting on the grass, cried out: 'What an awful lot of crows!' upon which the philosopher, in a tone intending to convey a gentle rebuke, enquiringly said: 'Well, my young friend, are crows really so very awful?' The boy quickly answered: 'I didn't say, "What a lot of awful crows," but "What an awful lot of crows!"' The philosopher remained silent, and the boy whispered to my friend: 'Had him that time, I think, sir!' This is a true story."

"Do you believe in heredity?" "Certainly; I know a barber who has three little shavers."—Ex.

Wild Animals I Do Not Want to Know.

In the days of the Ark, they of the animal kingdom were admitted, two by two, on sufferance. In Paradise, they sported at harmless, mythical ease, untroubled by man and his theories. But the antediluvian days passed by. The animals became as man, knowing good and evil, and having, moreover, ways of their own. It all began with the flood. Up to that time they were roughly classed as "cattle and everything after their kind." They were to be fruitful and multiply and fill the earth, and man was to rule over them. So went they into the Ark, two by two; but so, alas, came they not out. They have been fruitful; they have multiplied, and filled the earth; and to-day man, their master, is prostrate before them. He studies their ways, prowling through underbrush, on all fours, to observe them sporting on their native heath. He wriggles on his stomach. No position is too humble for him, no attitude too cramped. He is gathering material for the next new popular book on animals.

One cannot help wondering a little how it has come about. Hints of it crop out in the Old Testament—after the flood. The animals are no longer creeping things and cattle after their kind. They are found taking on names and a certain individuality. There is the ram caught by its horns to serve in place of Isaac on the altar of sacrifice, and the bears that eat up bad little children, and the Ass that speaks, and the Lions of Daniel, and the Whale of Jonah. All these are historical personages, with David and Saul and Noah—with the strange winged creature of Ezekiel, and Apocalyptical visions of beasts with heads and horns and crowns and candlesticks and Scarlet Women.

The biblical writers did not hesitate, it would seem, to draw on the animal kingdom when necessary to make clear the ways of God to man. With a fine disregard of zoology and fact, they drove home the truth. And their words live even to this day. But animal lore has changed. We are asked to give up Jonah and the whale, as being a tax on credulity. We are offered, in place of it, either "Wild Animals That I Have Known" or "The Outcasts." The bears of Elijah the prophet are replaced by "The Bears of Blue River" by the author of "When Knighthood Was in Flower." And Balaam's Ass becomes a Coyote whose favorite message is "Yip-ki-ki—Yah!"

Imagination, like Jerushun, has waxed fat and kicks.

Perhaps the Jungle Books did it. Aesop is too far away and too excellent to be held responsible for the hordes let loose on us. Like the biblical animals of old, the animals of Aesop existed for a purpose—flashlights on the heart of man. The cunning fox and the brave lion and the foolish wolf existed to point a moral and adorn a tale. This done, they disappeared once more in the brushwood of fancy whence they came. The Jungle Books too have their master-word—the Law of the Jungle. It shines through them.

But these newer animals—what shall one say of them?—the deer and the caribou and the buffalo and the horse and the bull-terrier and the fawn and the doe and the moose and the buck and the spike-horn and the fox and the wolf-dog and the canary bird. They bring neither the nutty kernel of Aesop nor the fresh, sweet smell of the Jungle. Made up in equal parts of fact and straining imagination, they have no message of beauty or of truth.

Who that has once known him will forget Kaa, the wise old serpent, or Bagheera, leaping with light paws at the time of the spring running, or Mowgli, crossing the moonlight with Gray Brothers at his heels and the skin of Shere Khan poised deftly on his swaying head? But who shall hope to remember the new ones?—Jennette Barbour Perry in "Critic."

The Sons of Poets.

The "Lancet," the well-known English medical weekly, has been enquiring into the question of the transmission of genius from father to son, and has found that the sons of great poets are generally dull dogs. Poetic fervor is evidently a spiritual flame that burns itself out in the generation wherein it is kindled. Indeed, it often seems to burn out the very aptitude for paternity; or is it that the poet is generally too poor to permit himself the delight of fatherhood? However it may be, many eminent English poets can never be accused of having "dull dogs" of sons, because they never had any sons at all. Cowley, Butler, Otway, Prior, Congreve, Gay, Philips, Savage, Thomson, Collins, Shenstone, Akenside, Goldsmith, Grey, Johnson, and Keats all died without leaving off-spring, and Pope, Swift, Watts, and Cowper were never married. Dryden's, Addison's and Parnell's descendants did not pass into the second generation, and the descendants of Shakespeare and Milton became extinct in the second and third generations. Sir Walter Scott's baronetcy expired with his son.

A Weather-Man's Invention.

Partly, no doubt, in recognition of the obduracy of climate, Professor Moore, chief of the United States Weather Bureau, has invented and patented a cold-air stove, of which the newspapers give descriptions. Being charged once a day with some sort of composition, the stove works automatically. The air inside of it getting cold, sinks and passes out through a pipe in the bottom. Warmer air runs in at the top, and so a current of air keeps running through the machine. The air comes out at a temperature of about 36 degrees. The warmer the room, the faster the machine works. It will reduce the temperature of a room to about 64 degrees. If the room is cooler than that there is no current, and the stove doesn't work. Besides cooling the air, it takes the dust out of it, and delivers it not only chilled, but clean. A stove twelve feet high turns out 123 feet of cold air a minute, which is enough to cool a hospital ward.

The inventor thinks his stove will be of great use to hospitals, which find serious difficulty in keeping sick patients comfortable in hot weather. No doubt, too, if it turns out well, it may be used in office buildings, and possibly in hotels and restaurants. It is possible that it may prove more satisfactory than the fans which are used so much, and, if so, there are commercial prospects for it.

"Yes," exclaimed the junior reporter of this g.f.j. who happened to drop along, "and next week they will be putting in the 'liver.'"

Now is the Last Chance to Buy the St. Paul & Sunset Oil

COMPANY'S STOCK AT 35 CENTS

California Oil Stocks Have Paid Millions in Dividends

KERN COUNTY (SUNSET DISTRICT) OIL COMPANIES PAID

MORGAN IN THE OIL INDUSTRY--NEW YORK FINANCIER AT THE HEAD OF A $20,000,000 COMPANY TO EXPLOIT CALIFORNIA FIELDS

Bakersfield, Cal., Sept. 27.—J. Pierpont Morgan is about to identify himself with the oil business in Californa. On October 12, or a few days later, surveyors will be put into the field, and will run lines to the ocean from Sunset, Coaling, McKittrick, Midway and Kern River fields to determine by which route it is most feasible to transport oil to tide water. The surveys will run over the coast range at a number of points, and also will go down the San Joaquin valley parallel with the line of the Standard.

A company having a capitalization of $5,000,000 has been organized for the construction of lines, pumping stations, storage tanks, and the like. Mr. Morgan and his associates have also formed a separate company, capitalized at $20,000,000, half of which will be invested in proven ground and the other half turned into a reserve fund.

It is stated that the Morgan syndicate will be prepared to handle 2,000,000 barrels the first year, and will increase that amount at the rate of 1,000,000 a year until the whole demand of the market is met.

THE ST. PAUL & SUNSET OIL COMPANY own and control a large tract of absolutely oil proven asphalt land in the very heart of the best oil producing land of Kern County, California, the district where flowing wells are situated. We have a bed of Liquid Asphalt underlying a portion of our lands. Our property is situated right at Sunset Station. A new line of railway is surveyed and will be constructed in a very short time, putting us not only in touch with Eastern cities, but in touch with tide-water. This, in addition to the railroad facilities we now have. Remember that we own our land—it is paid for and entirely free from debt.

will be developed and should prove a formidable rival for the new company.

PROFESSOR DR. RUD J. SCHIMPER, Analytical and Expert Chemist, of St. Paul, makes the following statement relative to the composition, what can be produced and the estimated profits of the Sunset Crude Oil. A copy of the original certificate can be seen at the office of the St. Paul & Sunset Oil Co., which is in substance as follows:

"This is to certify that the undersigned, Dr. Rudolph J. Schimper, Chemist expert, member of Parisian Academy, according to analysis made from the crude oil furnished me by the St. Paul & Sunset Oil Company, I find the following valuable products and with each beg to submit my estimate of its value:

1. LIQUID RUBBER—200 lbs of this crude oil (6 bbls.) will produce 1,800 lbs. of liquid rubber, value of which is from 25c. per lb. and up. (Estimated value $450.00.)
2. SOLID RUBBER—200 lbs of this crude oil (6 bbls) will produce 1,700 lbs. of solid rubber, value of which is from 50c. upwards. (Estimated value $450.00.)
3. FUEL BRIQUETTES 200 lbs. of this crude oil (6 bbls.) will produce 2,000 lbs. (1 ton) of fuel briquettes, which, according to government tests made, is equivalent to two tons of best anthracite coal. (Estimated value $22.00)
4. ASPHALTUM—2,000 lbs. of this crude oil (6 bbls.) will produce ½ ton of asphaltum, value $25 to $35 per ton. 25 gal. of lubricating oil, value 50c. per gal. and upward. 40 gal. illuminating oil, value 10c per gal. and up. 60 gal. of distilled oil, value 5c. per gal. and upward. (Estimated value $54.50.)
5. SOAP—200 lbs. (1 ton) of crude oil and filling will produce over 2,000 lbs. of soap, value 3c. per lb. and upward. (Estimated value $60.00.)

Id my opiniou many other valuable products can be obtained from the oil of that famous field.

Respectfully, DR. R. J. SCHIMPER, Chemist Expert."

THIS goes to show the immense profits that will accrue from our products when refined. We expect to commence Building Our Refinery in the very near future. The sale of the next allotment of stock will be made for that purpose. The largest flowing wells in California were brought in adjoining our property and their stock was taken off the market. We employ the best drillers who report rapid progress on our wells and we expect to bring in gushers equal, if not to excel any in the Sunset field. Our General Manager, Superintendent and Drillers, all are experienced oil men. The officers of our company are all thorough, competent and efficient men who have always made a success of their undertaking in life and who will see that the welfare of the St. Paul and Sunset Oil Company is furthered, portected and promoted to the most advantageous extent possible.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS SHOULD BE PAID STOCKHOLDERS.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS should be paid to the stockholders of the St. Paul and Sunset Oil Company when their property is fully developed, their refinery equipped and in full operation. ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS IN DIVIDENDS was paid by Kern County Oil Companies during the month of August alone.

SIX MILLION BARRELS is the consuming capacity of the Southern Pacific Railway engines, which are now equipped for burning oil. Outside of this consider other railway lines, smelters, factories, steamships, stationery engines, which are all heavy consumers of fuel oil and last but not least, hotels and private dwellings are falling in line with the procession in the use of fuel oil.

A GOOD REASON WHY YOU Should Invest in the stock of St. Paul & Sunset Oil Company. More fortunes have been made in oil than any other business. Consider the immense amount of money the Standard Oil Company has made for its fortunate stockholders, and the California oil companies have done better in proportion to their capitalization than the Standard Oil Company. Here is what $100 has accomplished for those who invested that amount in the following California companies in the beginning of their career:

Home Whittier $1,000 on an investment of $100.

Kern returned $2,200 on an investment of $100.

Peerless returned $1,800 on an investment of $100.

Dillon returned $2,500 on an investment of $100.

New York returned $30,000 on an investMent of $100.

Union returned $150,000 on an investment of $100.

Home returned $50,000 on an investment of $100.

THERE is no reason in the world why the St. Paul and Sunset Company's oil holdings and property, when developed and handled, should not bring like returns.

CONTRARY to the general supposition the earth is the repository of all mineral wealth. When it is known and demonstrated beyond a question of a doubt where its wealth reposes and you put your money up to take it out, your money is invested. Hence you are an investor, not a speculator. A proven oil producing property does not draw its profits from the people but creates new wealth. It is therefore an investment.

Wonderful Increase in Value of Oil Stocks.

THE MOLSONS BANK

THE FORTY-SEVENTH ANNUAL MEETING WAS HELD ON MONDAY

A Satisfactory Report of the Year's Workings Submitted to the Shareholders—The Retiring Directors Re-elected

The forty-seventh annual general meeting of The Molsons Bank was held in the Board Room of that institution at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The President, Mr. W. Molson Macpherson, occupied the chair, and among those present were: Messrs. S. H. Ewing, Vice-President; J. P. Cleghorn, Samuel Finley, Lieut.-Col. F. C. Henshaw, H. Markland Molson, W. M. Ramsay, David Crawford, A. G. Watson, G. W. Robinson, F. W. Molson, F. G. Payne, W. D. Lesueur, R. W. Shepherd, Alex. D. Fraser, George Durnford, Herbert Molson, S. A. Shepherd, George Filer, C. E. Spragg, James Wilson and W. R. Miller.

The President, having called the meeting to order, requested Mr. A. D. Durnford to act as secretary, and after that gentleman had read the advertisement convening the meeting, the President named Messrs. George Durnford and A. G. Watson to act as scrutineers.

REPORT OF DIRECTORS.

The General Manager, Mr. James Elliot, then read the annual report of the Directors, as follows:

The Directors have pleasure in submitting the statement of the Bank for the year ending 30th September, 1902.

The profits for the year, after providing for operating expenses and bad and doubtful debts, are $251,375.51.

Dividends in April and October, 4 1-2 per cent. each (making 9 per cent. for the year), amounting to $225,000, have been paid, and $100,000 added to Rest, raising it to $2,250,000, or 90 per cent. of the capital, and at credit of Profit and Loss Account there remains $26,905.30.

Since our last meeting, we have opened branches in Arthabaskaville, Acton and Chicoutimi, Que., and Iroquois, Ont., to avail of the growth and improved conditions of the country. At all these points we have reason to expect a safe and profitable business. At Victoria, British Columbia, we have closed our branch, as its progress did not equal our expectations.

The head office and branches have been carefully inspected as usual, and the officers of the Bank have continued to perform their duties with efficiency.

In September the President and General Manager visited several of the western branches, going as far as Calgary. They were greatly impressed by the appearance of prosperity and progress visible on every hand. The bountiful harvest then being reaped ensuring to our country a continuance of sound and healthy business there.

At Winnipeg, which seems destined to become a great city, a centrally situated premises has been purchased, which will afford us convenient quarters for occupation as soon as the lease office now occupied by our branch there expires in May, 1904.

W. MOLSON MACPHERSON,
President.

Montreal, 20th October, 1902.

STOCK MARKETS

After Reaction Purchases

New York, Oct. 22.—The latter part of last week we suggested quite strongly in these letters that points be taken in the then strong range of prices, as in our opinion a reaction was due. Monday and Tuesday witnessed a reaction, not quite as much as we would have liked to have seen, nevertheless a set back, as the market receded it became intensely due stocks failing to be freely offered at the concessions. This leads us to the belief that the recent decline lodged stocks in hands that are unwilling to dispose of them for ordinary profits as would tempt most traders? This fact causes us to revise our opinions to such an extent as leads us to the belief that reactions will not be of any great dimensions, but small in fluctuation and very frequent. In other words, market reactions will from now on more likely be in range from 1-2 per cent. to a point and one half, instead of say three to five points; but will be four to five times more frequent. If this be true, then stocks should be persistently purchased on any concessions of from 3-4 to a point. The dullness that sets in after each half to one point concessions is our principal grounds for the above belief. We feel disposed to devote a little space to cotton, paragraphically at least, though we don't intend to fringe upon the preogative of our cotton man who each week prepares a resume of the market for our house. We simply desire to call your attention to the fact that cotton is at present selling at most attractive prices, while statistics shown by the Government and other cotton experts make the strongest showing for bulls upon that staple of any given out for the past 12 years. Cotton is in our opinion at prices about as low as it will go for the balance of the year, and once it has drifted from the hands of the planter to those of the middleman they will be in line for advancing prices before the spinner comes in for his supplies. Statistics are favorable for higher prices. Cotton ought to sell well above 10 cents very shortly.

To-day's market was dull but stronger. It looks as if it would be still higher before reactions set in again. Buying demand was well distributed throughout the list. Gains, while not great, were practically unanimous. We look for higher prices before Saturday. Money closed at 5 per cent. Sales 449,300.

ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18-inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realize the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purposes of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

We furnish the rich property—you furnish the mill. In a few months it will be in operation—almost before you expect it—and we divide the immense returns.

RESULTS:

Some years ago the public was offered the following stocks at nominal figures. Each one to day is in demand at a fancy price and paying a large income:

$500 invested in Gold Coin in 1897 is now worth $11,000.00.
$500 invested in Lillie in 1895 is now worth..... 9,000.00
$500 invested in Portland in 1896 is now worth.. 8,000.00
$500 invested in Elkton in 1896 is now worth.... 3,420.00
$500 invested in Home Mining in '99 now worth $12,300.00
$500 invested in Vindicator in 1897 is now worth 3,100.00
$500 invested in Isabella in 1898 is now worth.. 2,100.00
$500 invested in Gold King in 1897 is now worth 5,000.00

There are thousands of instances in Colorado where investments in bona fide properties have returned many hundredfold for every dollar invested and have made men and women independent for the balance of their lives. More fortunes are created in gold mining than in any of the other industries, and it is the only product the demand for which fails not and market quotations control not.

A small investment in this company, which is safe, and sure of quick returns, may bring an enormous return at any moment. It has the possibilities of rivalling the great mines of the past

ED. McCARTHY & COMPANY, Bankers, Responsibility, $100,000
GALVESTON, TEXAS, September 18, 1902

This bank will receive subscriptions for the stock of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company and hold the funds in trust, subject to terms of guarantee, which are as follows:

"Subscriptions to the stock of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company sent to or deposited with Ed. McCarthy & Co., Galveston, are to be held in trust for subscribers until the Company cuts an ore shoot of smelting grade (2 oz. to 6 oz., or $40.00 to $120.00 per ton) and makes shipments. Upon the Company furnishing a certificate executed by competent parties that a tunnel has cut an ore shoot and shipments made of smelting ore, the bank will transfer all funds to the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company, and certificates of stock will be issued to subscribers upon presentation of receipt issued by this bank. Should the Company fail to accomplish this within three months' time all funds so held in trust will be returned to subscribers upon presentation of receipt issued by this bank.

The Board of Directors of the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company are well known to us to be reliable and responsible, and we can recommend the Company as worthy of confidence.

(Signed) D. McCARTHY & CO'Y

THIS IS A GOING, NOT A WAITING, ENTERPRISE

The property of this Company, consisting of over 100 acres, with one mile of a true fissure vein, is located in Gunnison County, Colo., in what is known as the Gunnison Gold Belt, which is in the great Gold Belt of Colorado, the "Mother" lode, or dike, which has produced 55 per cent. more gold than the total output of the Cripple Creek district.

The best machinery money can buy has been installed and paid for and with it development is being pushed night and day.

Smelting ore has been shipped from shallow workings to the Buena Vista Smelter—value $40 to $120 per ton. The cost of mining, freight and smelters' charges amounts to $12 per ton. So, with oceans of this ore, this mine has the possibilities of rivalling the great mines of the past.

The capital stock of the Company is $100,000—par value of shares $1.00—full paid and non-assessable. A portion of the treasury stock is now offered at

25 Cents Per Share—Par Value $1.00

FULL PAID AND NON-ASSESSABLE

The proceeds are to be placed in a trust fund, so, when guarantee is complied with and shipments of ore begins, fund will be on hand for the immediate erection of mills and boarding houses, buying horses and wagons for hauling ore to the railroad, and make this not a small mine, but a great one. Order at once, as the right is reserved to advance this stock without notice and to return any subscriptions.

INVESTIGATE AT OUR EXPENSE

Any person or association of persons in any town or community desiring to buy as much or more than $600 worth of Pitkin Gold Belt mining and reduction Company's stock may deposit such money in their local bank, to be held by such bank pending a trip by one of their number to visit Pitkin, Colo., to personally inspect the gold belt and investigate the Pitkin Gold Belt Mining and Reduction Company and its property, and upon the Company being notified by such bank of such deposit, will forward to the person selected free transportation to Pitkin, Colo., and return. If, upon thorough investigation, the representations made by us are found to be true, such investment is to be made; otherwise, all money is to be returned by such bank to the parties depositing same.

THE TRYING TIME

In a young girl's life is reached when Nature leads her uncertain steps across the line which divides girlhood from womanhood. Ignorance and neglect at this critical period are largely responsible for much of the after misery of womanhood. Not only does Nature often need help in the regular establishment of the womanly function, but there is almost always need of some safe, strengthening tonic, to overcome the languor, nervousness and weakness, commonly experienced at this time. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity. It is a strengthening tonic, soothing the nerves, encouraging the appetite and inducing restful sleep. It contains no alcohol neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

"I wish to tell you the benefit we have received from using your remedies," writes Mrs. Dan Hall, of Brodhead, Green Co., Wis. "Two years ago my daughter's health began to fail. Everything that could be thought of was done to help her but it was of no use. When she began to complain she was quite stout; weighed 170, the picture of good health, until about the age of fourteen, then in six months she was so run down her weight was but 120. She kept failing and I gave up, thinking there was no use, she must die. Friends all said, 'You will lose your daughter.' I said I fear I shall. I must say, doctor, that only for your 'Favorite Prescription' my daughter would have been in her grave to-day. When she had taken one-half bottle the natural function was established and we bought another one, making only two bottles in all, and she completely recovered. Since then she is as well as can be."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

He Found His Dog

That "everybody read The Times," is becoming more and more apparent every day. About two weeks ago Mr. J. M. Brooks lost a valuable hound dog and after a vain search for the animal the loss was advertised in The Times. One insertion was enough, the dog being recovered the afternoon following the first appearance of the ad. If you want to reach the crowd, use The Times.

A Small Blaze

During Tuesday night a blaze occurred in the basement of the Peterborough Hardware Company's premises. It was fortunately discovered by Mr. Ed. Mahan and the fire brigade summoned before any great headway was obtained. The fire seemed to have started from the furnace for the rafters and flooring above within a circle of ten feet are badly charred. The damage was comparatively slight.

"Haunts of Fish and Game."

Is the title of a handsome and illustrated folder recently issued by the Grand Trunk Passenger Department and which will be found to be of great value to those who are desirous of obtaining any information about that splendid hunting district on the line of the Grand Trunk. Hunters excursion rates in effect Oct. 24th to Nov. 1st. Single first class fare for round trip valid returning until Dec. 13th, 1902. Copies of above folder, and information to excursionists on application to W. Bunton, City Passenger and Ticket Agent, or to J. D. McDonald District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

For Smallpox Prevention

Dr. Bryce, Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, Toronto, gave it as his opinion that there should be public vaccination stations, where men could be trained to vaccinate. He admitted that the average medical practitioner, who had no special training in this work, did not know how to vaccinate a person properly. Dr. Bryce also favored the appointment of a public paid vaccinator, but would not make vaccination compulsory until children were old enough to attend school. The establishment of a Government laboratory for the manufacture of vaccine points of a uniformly high quality was also regarded as a desirable step.

POLICE COURT CASES

A Drunk and a Case Over a Five Dollar Bill

A man named Hoban faced the Magistrate yesterday on a charge of being drunk. He paid a fine on Tuesday morning on a similar offence, but evidently had not enough of it. The Magistrate remanded him for a day, to give him a chance to sober up.

A five dollar bill was picked up in a grocery by a dog belonging to Mrs. Foy, who claimed it. Mrs. Kronk was the rival claimant. After hearing what the women had to say the Magistrate gave the money to Mrs. Kronk.

WEDDING BELLS

Nuptials of Miss Violet Cowper, of Chandos and Mr. Stephen Payne, of Faraday

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Payne, of Bancroft, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday the 15th inst., when Miss Violet Cowper of this place, was united in marriage to Mr. Stephen Payne, of the township of Faraday, Hastings County. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Mr. Anderson, of the Methodist church Bancroft. The young bride looked charming in a pretty gown of brown cloth with trimmings of silk and white applique. She was attended by her friend, Miss Ena Hawkes, also of Chandos, who was attired in a pretty suit of checked cloth with white silk ribbon trimmings.

The bridal party entered the parlor at 11.30 a.m.. After the ceremony congratulations over, the guests repaired to the dining room where ample justice was done to the good things provided. The table was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

The happy couple left in the afternoon amidst a shower of rice, and drove to the home of the groom's parents, where a host of friends assembled to greet them. The evening was spent in dancing and other amusements.

The bride was the recepient of many useful and pretty presents.

NO DRUGS

Just Proper Food and Rest

The regular user of drugs to relieve pain is on the wrong track. Find the cause and remedy it by proper food and quit drugs for temporary relief or you will never get well.

A minister's wife writes :—"Three years ago, while living at Rochester, N.Y., where my husband was pastor of one of the city churches, I was greatly reduced from nervous prostration and anaemia and was compelled to go to a well-known Eastern sanitarium for my health. My stomach was in bad shape from badly selected food; I was an habitual user of Carbonate of Magnesia and my physicians made every endeavor to break up this most damaging habit, but all to no purpose.

At the sanitarium I was given Grape-Nuts and learned the value of the food. I used it continuously, eating it at nearly every meal, and my recovery was rapid. Its use enabled me to eat and digest food, and to give up the drug habit and I am now completely restored to good health.

At the present time I am able to attend to my household and family duties, pursue music, which was formerly my profession, besides reading and studying, all of which I was totally unable to do it at the time referred to." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

THE FORTY-SEVENTH ANNUAL MEETING WAS HELD ON MONDAY

A Satisfactory Report of the Year's Workings Submitted to the Shareholders—The Retiring Directors Re-elected

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President then said:

The annual statement which has been presented will, I feel sure, afford you every satisfaction, for it indicates a most successful year, and it has enabled us to add $100,000 to the rest, which now stands at 50 per cent. of the capital.

The steady growth and prosperity of nearly every branch of business in the country has caused a demand for money, healthy in itself and satisfactory to the banks. We anticipate that the available circulation of all the banks will be fully absorbed, which is now nearly the case, by the business of the country, and to move our large crops.

The deposits in the chartered banks of Canada, the savings banks and the post office savings banks have increased from $423,565,000 odd to $460,175,000, an increase of about $36,210,000.

The older provinces have had very good crops, and the export of cattle, bacon and butter has shown a continued increase, while the shipments of cheese and lumber continue satisfactory. The amount of butter shipped to England is but a very small percentage of the quantity consumed, it being only 5 per cent. of the whole; so that the butter market has a large field before it, and every exertion should be made to more amply fill the English requirements.

Manitoba and our North-Western Territories have enjoyed another bountiful harvest, establishing a stability and backbone to the country which cannot fail in giving confidence, and it is rapidly attracting settlers not only of an experimental class, but of farmers who have made a success of farming, and who are now transferring their experience, their money and cattle to a country where they feel there is a great future before them.

Accompanied by your general manager, Mr. Elliot I visited our Western Territories, and we formed a most favorable opinion of the future of that part of Canada. The farmers and all the men of business were jubilant at the success which surrounds them, and the introduction of a new railroad enterprise has established a feeling of greater confidence.

The Molsons Bank has been poorly provided with banking quarters in Winnipeg, and as an opportunity offered to acquire a suitable and central position in the city of Winnipeg, we took advantage of it, and have bought a building suited to our requirements, and one which, I am sure, will be a great acquisition to the bank.

The prosperity and growth of business throughout Canada has caused an increased demand upon the circulation of notes of our banks, as well as upon capital, for additional business. Such being the case, an increase of capital to enable the bank to keep pace with its requirements will soon be necessary, and your directors may, therefore, call a special meeting of the shareholders at an early date, to ask your approval of an application to be made to the Treasury Board for an increase of capital.

Our circulation is continually pressing against the limits (our capital $2,500,000). now $2,446,279.

Our growth of deposits is very marked largely in agricultural districts, thus showing the prosperity of our farmers.

In 1897.	In 1902.	Increase of

Our holdings of Government securities and railway bonds were: In 1897, $1,384,403, are, in 1902, $2,562,496.

Gentlemen, you have heard the annual report and the few remarks I have made, and I shall be very pleased to answer any questions you may have to ask. Undoubtedly, the requirments of the country and the requirements of the bank warrant us in calling upon you at an early date, to enable us to increase the capital of the bank.

I beg to move the adoption of the aroposo to make the increase in capi.

This was seconded by Mr. S. H. Ewing, vice-president.

THE DISCUSSION.

Mr. R. W. Shepherd—"What do you pnnual report. tal?"

The President—"The notice will be sent out calling a meeting for that purpose, and I don't think we would care to say that we would consider necessary, until we meet the Shareholders when the meeting has been convened. It is not, however, at all likely that we should ask for more than $500,000 at a time, but the total increase, we should want would be greater than that. We asked last time for $500,000, but the growth of the country is such that we require more."

Mr. S. H. Ewing—"The circulation question has been a very troublesome one for the General Manager of this Bank. With the number of agencies we have, and the circulation going up and up so near the limit, it keeps him in a sort of feverish excitement watching it, because if it went over the limit, the fines are very heavy. If we were to start with an extra capital of $500,000 now, every dollar would go out in circulation. The country would take it and it would ease us to that extent. As the President has stated, our circulation at the present time is within some $40,000 of the total limit, and this, spread over all our branches and agencies, might put us in the dilemma, perhaps, of having to pay a large fine to the Government."

The General Manager—"The fines are on the sliding scale. The penalty would be at least $1,000 a day."

Mr. S. H. Ewing—"It would take very large earnings to keep up with that. When applying for permission to increase the capital of the Bank, it would be well to name a good amount. We would never think of issuing any stock without calling the Shareholders together and having their authority to do so; and that would only be given after due consideration. I am sure that we can at present comfortably use $500,000, as the wants of the country seem to be increasing all the time."

No one else desiring to take part in the discussion, the President put the motion for the adoption of the annual report, and it was carried unanimously.

Mr. R. W. Shepherd moved: "That the thanks of the Shareholders are due and are hereby tendered to the President, Vice-President and Directors, coupled with the officers, for their efficient services during the past year." He considered that the Shareholders had every reason to be satisfied with the excellent condition in which the affairs of the Bank were. As the President had remarked, the country was prospering, and the Bank was, of course, prospering too. He thought that the President had everything in his favor in asking for an increase of capital.

Mr. James Wilson seconded the motion, and spoke of the great pleasure it afforded him to do so. The banking business, he remarked, have been very much like other businesses; it had been very successful, and Molsons Bank had had a very good share of the success.

"The Bank Directors, I know," said he, "have done their duty, because results show it, but they could not expect to have these results if they did not have the proper officers under them. The Directors are all right, but they would not make much of a show without efficient officers."

The motion was unanimously concurred in.

The General Manager, in returning thanks, on behalf of the officers and himself, said that the Bank had a very good staff of managers all over the country. They had been largely trained under the late Mr. Wolferstan Thomas, for many years, and since then, under himself (Mr. Elliot). Some things occasionally had gone a little wrong, but on the whole, the officers had done their duty.

The President also briefly returned thanks, on behalf of the Directors, for the compliment which had been paid them. They, of course, were the executive board, and they realized that the faithful services of the officers of the Bank had enabled them to place before the Shareholders the statement which had that day been submitted, and the Directors were very thankful that the statement was what it was. The country had been prosperous, the Bank's business had been most carefully attended to, and the securities of the Bank in themselves spoke of the great care which had been exercised over the Bank's business during the year. As he had previously stated, the Bank's holdings of Government securities and railway bonds had increased from $1,384,403 in 1897 to $2,562,496 this year, which must be very gratifying to the Shareholders.

The meeting then proceeded to the election of directors, and the scrutineers soon reported that the retiring Board had been re-elected, viz.:—Messrs. James P. Cleghorn, S. H. Ewing, Samuel Finley, F. C. Henshaw, H. Markland Molson, W. Molson Macpherson, W. M. Ramsay.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. W. Molson Macpherson was re-elected President, and Mr. S. H. Ewing Vice-President for the ensuing year.

THE TOWN WILL NOT BUY THOSE PINE SLABS

They Would Cost $3.00 a Cord When Delivered, Which was Considered too High

The Town Council have reconsidered their previous decision to purchase from the Dickson Company 600 cords of pine slabs at $2.00 per cord at Lakefield, and will, by permission of Mr. Shook, the Dickson Co's manager, withdraw the order.

Mayor Denne explained to the Council last night that these slabs would, after paying for freight and delivery cost the citizens $3.00 a cord, far too high a figure for this quality of wood. On submitting the question to Mr. Shook, he had telephoned him (the Mayor) that he is willing to release the Town from their contract, should they not see their way clear to satisfactorily dispose of the wood.

Ald., Roger said seeing that the coal strike has been settled he did not think it would be wise to make the purchase.

Ald. Best thought this offer of Mr. Shook's presented a first class opportunity for the Council to withdraw from an embarrassing position. He had opposed the purchase in the first place as an unwise one.

The following tenders were received for handling and delivering the wood:

From Richard Killen and Thos. Twomey, off'ering to deliver 300 or 600 cords at a cost to the citizens, all told, of $3.00 per cord. The Town would have to guarantee them, however, a car load a day, and supply orders and pay for the same.

From George McClellan, saying he would take 50 cords at $1.25 a cord, providing the slabs are dry and of good size.

This tender is somewhat ambiguous, as Council were not sure whether McClennan was tendering for the purchase of the wood outright, or for hauling it from Lakefield

Ald. Rush moved, seconded by Ald. Turner, that Mr. Shook's generous offer to cancel the order for 600 cords of slabs be accepted.—Carried.,

PRICE OF SOFT COAL.

Ald. Batten asked Council what steps he was to take toward securing coal for corporation purposes. He had received one offer from a local dealer to furnish 50 tons of soft coal at $7 a ton.

Ald. Turner thought the price of soft coal would soon drop considerably. Yesterday he bought three tons at $7.50 a ton.

Ald. Best moved, seconded by Ald. Corkery, That the Chairman of the Property Committee be empowered to purchase the coal for corporation purposes in small quantities—a ton or two at a time—until the market gets easier.—Carried.

The Town Council met in special session last night at 8.15, when there were present Mayor T. H. G. Denne, presiding, and Ald. Edgcumbe, Roger, Rush, J J. Turner, Morrison, Clinkscale, Corkery, and Best.

Sir Robert Bond in Montreal

He is on His Way Home to Consult His Colleagues About His Washington Negotiations

Montreal, Oct. 23—Sir Robert Bond, premier of Newfoundland, registered at the Windsor today from New York, on his way home to report to his Government concerning the reciprocity negotiations he has been carrying on at Washington.

"You can quite easily understand," said the premier today "that it is impossible for me to speak regarding these matters before I confer with my ministers. No, I cannot even say whether I shall return to Washington or not. Very much, indeed would I like to inform the press of the result of my mission could I do so with propriety."

There was one thing however, Sir Robert would discuss, and that was Mr. Tarte's resignation. When informed of it he said,—"You don't say so. That will prove a great loss to the Government, he is a very able and a very strong man. I am surprised. And so he has resigned today. Why, it is the first I heard of it, and I supposed that Sir Wilfrid and he would have patched matters up. It will certainly be a loss to the party."

"Things in Newfoundland," Sir Robert says, "are very prosperous at present, and the island is not contemplating any change in its political condition."

LACROSSE PLAYER DIES

Is Injured at Millbrook and Succumbs at Port Hope

Port Hope Guide:—It is with the deepest regret that we have to record the death of one of Port Hope's most promising sons, Mr. Grant McLean, who by his kind and obliging disposition had won the affection of all who knew him. One week ago Saturday he went out to Millbrook to play lacrosse, the first out of town game he ever was in, and received injuries which today proved fatal. The sickness was brought on by a very severe check in the side, which caused peritonitis. This was his first year to play the game, and the Victorias, of which team he was the favorite member can hardly believe that he is gone. Deceased was sixteen years of age, and the sixth son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McLean. He was a good living young man and a regular attendant of the Methodist Sunday school and church. He was in the third form of the High School. and was a great favorite with the teachers.

TRANSVAAL SCHOOLS

The Problem of Educating the Boer Children Is Now Being Faced—Five Schools Have Started

London, Oct. 23.—The Transvaal Education Department, says the Times' correspondent at Pretoria, has to cope with the problem of providing schools for a large number of children living on farms at a distance from towns and villages. No final plan has yet been adopted, but it has been found possible to start five farm schools in the Transvaal, groups of farms having guaranteed from twenty to thirty pupils for each school Two teachers are sent to a farm indicated as the most suitable for holding school, taking with them a marquee, furniture, rations, etc.

In cases where it is impossible to collect more than a dozen children some system of pupil teachers will have to be introduced, and at the same time efforts will be made to attract children toward schools, where they can be boarded.

The correspondent says that though the expenditure for education is not productive pecuniarily, it is to be hoped a generous policy will be pursued, as education must be regarded as a means for the ultimate pacification of the country.

GEN. DE WET'S BOOK

Fell Into Ambuscade When It Came to Writing—Australian and an Englishman Made Shrewd Contract

London, October 23.—General De Wet, while never entrapped in his military operations, fell into an ambuscade when he undertook to write. An Australian and an Englishman made a shrewd contract with him before he left South Africa, and they control the copyrights in all languages. They are now in London with the manuscript of the book, which has been completed in Dutch, but has not yet been translated into English. They have put the book on the market, and are asking high prices for English and United States copyrights. The book will contain about 125,000 words, and be a detailed account of De Wet's tactics, marches, battles, retreats and escapes during the campaign in South Africa. The Century Company has bought the United States book rights of Mr. Kruger's memoirs.

A BAD BANK FAILURE AT LAKEFIELD VILLAGE

James Linton & Company, Private Bankers Close Their Doors

ames Linton & Co., who for several years have carried on a private banking business in Lakefield, have suspended payment. It was known for some time that the Company was not financially strong, but their collapse was not looked for at present.

There will be a heavy loss sustained by the people of the village and surrounding country. Amongst the creditors are five cheese companies, the patrons of which hold the Company's cheques to the amount of probably $10,000 or $12,000.

Messrs. Linton & Co., also carried on a banking business in Orono, where the principal of the firm resided.

The Traders Bank has moved into the premises, where they will conduct a branch.

LAST ERUPTION OF SOUFRIERE DID IMMENSE DAMAGE ON ST. VINCENT

The Sand Thrown Out By the Volcano has Covered up Large Tracts of Land and Destroyed Its Value for Agricultural Purposes

Kingstown, St. Vincent, October 23.—The eruption of the Soufriere volcano on October 15 and 16, the fourth terrific outbreak since the catastrophe of May 7th, has plunged the colony into deeper distress than before existed, crippling its agricultural resources by further devastating the arrow-root fields and completely destroying wide areas of growing crops on lands which had been considered outside the volcanic zone. On these lands thousands of young cocoa, coffee and other plants were buried under a hot mass of sand, which, while hot, fell in the windward district on the morning of October 16. Even the Mesopotamia valley, an ideal garden of tropical vegetation, although twelve miles from the volcano's crater, is burdened with sand, in some places six inches deep, and the lands to the eastward bordering upon the previously devastated area are covered to a depth of nine inches.

Travel on all roads in the Windward district, the only means of communication between Georgetown and this city has been rendered extremely difficult. Large numbers of refugees and other persons left Georgetown for Kingstown, a distance of twenty miles, October 6th, and many of them fainted on the way from hunger and thirst and fatigue engendered by trudging the hot sand. A number of animals even broke down under the strain of the journey. Hundreds of poor persons were driven from their homes by the falling cinders and stones.

The situation is desperate. Comparatively no damage was done on the leeward coast by the outbreak. No lives were lost. This eruption was equal in duration and violence to that of the night of Sept. 3, but owing to the bright moonlight, the electrical discharges were less terrifying

PORTUGUESE AFRICA

England Has Not Made a Purchase or Lease Yet, But Negotiations are No Doubt in Progress

London, Oct. 23.—While premature reports of the sale or lease of Portuguese Africa to the British have been denied at Lisbon and elsewhere, there has been a general agreement among people in the diplomatic set, that the future of that section would be determined by a secret treaty between Great Britain and Germany. The inferences drawn from the journeys of the King of Portugal and the German Emperor have been elastic and it is not improbable that negotiations for the acquisition or control of the Portuguese territory are in progress. The terms of the partition, however, have been agreed upon in advance, and this carries with it the presumption that the purchase or lease will be effected as soon as the government of Lisbon is prepared to set a reasonable price and face the popular agitation which would inevitably follow the alienation of national territory.

CHINA ALARMED

Prince Ching Sees British Minister About the Recent Outrages

Pekin, Oct. 23.—Sir Ernest Satow, the British Minister, had a conference to-day with Prince Ching, head of the Foreign office, who, it is said, is alarmed by England's attitude regarding the recent murder of missionaries. He is also concerned regarding the evacuation of Shanghai by the foreign troops, he having accepted the German stipulations without consulting the British Minister. Japan is not expected to take any action in the matter until the present Anglo-German complications are settled.

The missionaries here hold that the action of the Chinese in shielding officials who are guilty of murder again demonstrates that the powers were too lenient in dealing with the authorities in 1900.

London, Oct. 23.—A despatch to the Standard from Shanghai says that four British gunboats have been ordered to proceed from that city up the Yangste Kiang to Hankow. This action is taken in consequence of the failure of the Chinese to punish the murderers of British missionaries.

PARTY OF KINGS

Four Crowned Heads Under One English Roof

London, Oct. 21—It is understood to o settled that the German Emperor will make his long anticipated visit to King Edward next month.

In fact, the English and German ambassadors have been invited to meet him here.

The Kaiser, it is said, means his visit o be quite private.

He plans to visit the king at Sandringham and probably will not be seen in London at all. He will travel to Portsmouth in his yacht and his suite will be small.

Besides the king of the Hellenes, who s expected at about the time of the kaiser's visit, it is probable that King Carlos f Portugal will also visit us late in the autumn

It is therefore possible that during the eek of the king's birthday four crowned eads will be beneath one roof at Sandringham.

Sports and Pastimes

The Houghton (Michigan) Daily Gazette in its hockey talk says—"Of the new men , Baker, of Listowel, Ontario, a the last to arrive. The other new men are Wescott, of St. Mary's Ont., and Seibert and Stephens of Berlin. All these men have great reputations and are expected to add materially to the strength of last year's champions. There is going to be an interesting contest between some of the old players and he new men to see who will make regular paces on the team,. Just now there are 13 candidates for the team, and the regulars will be chosen on the basis of form shown in preliminary practice. Just at present it is impossible to name to a certainty any regular player with the exception of Captain Gibson.

PLAYERS TO HAVE CHARGE.

According to the Herald, the players will run their own hockey team in Stratford this winter. There was a great deal of dissatifaction among the players last year as to the way the teams were run; also, on the part of the management, as to the way the team wanted to be run. So all the talk among the boys this season is that they will manage the team themselves, both in financial and other ways. It has been proposed that the players each deposit ten dollars, to meet the expenses at the first of the season, which occur before any games can be played. This money will then be returned at the end of the year to each depositor.

EMPLOYERS ORGANIZE

An important sign of the times was given on Tuesday night in Toronto, when at a largely attended meeting of employers, they organized themselves into what will be called "The Employers' Association of Toronto, Canada." This body is the first of its kind in this country, though several we believe, are in existence across the line. The objects of the association, as will have been divined, will mainly be to protect its members in their right to manage their respective businesses in such lawful manner as they may deem proper; to adopt a uniform legitimate system whereby members may ascertain who is, and who is not, worthy of employment; to make it possible for men to obtain employment without being obliged to join a labor organization, and to encourage them to resist the compulsory methods of organized labor; to adjust differences existing between members and their employees, etc. etc. The officers of the new association are as follows: President, J. P. Murray, Toronto Carpet Company; first vice-president, W. H. Carrick, Gurney Foundry Company; second vice-president, A. F. Rutter, Warwick Bros. & Rutter; treasurer, Frank Polson, Polson Iron Works; secretary, H. G. Hunt.

OUR TRADE WITH JAMAICA

The present agitation in Jamaica for either the federation or the commercial union of that colony with the Dominion of Canada, is worthy of serious consideration in this country, says the Ottawa Citizen. The Jamaica planters desire to find a free market in Canada for their sugar, lemons, oranges, bananas, coffee, ginger, spices, logwood, etc., etc., in return for which they would purchase from us oats, split peas, soda and fancy biscuits, tin and enameled ware, boots and shoes, organs, furniture, agricultural implements, ropes and cordage, paints, lumber and other building material, metallic roofing, canned goods, live stock, butter, cheese, tallow, bacon hams, flour and other food stuffs and manufactures. According to the report of the committee of the Royal Jamaica Society of Agriculture and Commerce and Merchants' Exchange; "The natural conditions of the respective colonies are all in favor of mutual trade. Each country is the natural complement of the other in natural products, and it is high time that the feeling which has so long existed in favor of improved trade relations should bear good results." Th eprincipal drawback to the interchange of commodities is the lack of rapid, up-to-date, frequent and direct steamboat service. The direct trade between the two countries has largely increased since the advent of the Canada-Jamaica line from St. John, N.B., but this new service, although a decided improvement, is but a monthly one, carried on in far from up-to-date steamers, occupying from eight to ten days between St. John and Kingston, Jamaica.

The general complaint is made that Canadian shippers neglect to cater to the wants of the market in the matter of packing the size of packages. This conservatism which ignores the local preference of outside markets has been a standing complaint for years and results in the anomaly of Canadian produce being sold in Great Britain at a figure so low that the purchasers are enabled to repack it properly and ship it to the West Indies. That this actually occurs is vouched for by a correspondent in Kingstown, Jamaica, and is a reflection on the business capabilities of Canadian shippers and producers. A little more intelligence and progressiveness in this particular would ensure much higher prices, a benefit that is reaped by outside middlemen.

American Senator Charges Missionaries With Swindling Ignorant Hawaiians

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 22.—United States Senator Burton arrived here to-night preparatory to entering the State campaign He has just returned from Hawaii, where he went as one of a Senatorial investigating committee.

"The Hawaiians are fine people," he said to-night, "but they are in hard lines just at present. Their condition is the out of the work of Boston missionaries. A number of missionaries have been over there recently and have given many of the natives certificates guaranteed to admit them to heaven in exchange for their lands. A number of the more ignorant natives have been swindled this way. Those who have learned their mistake are naturally a trifle suspicious of all Americans.

THE MOLSONS BANK

Very Satisfactory Report Presented at Annual Meeting

We congratulate the Molsons' Bank on the result of the year's operations as set forth in the financial report presented at the annual meeting recently held at the head office in Montreal. The net profits for the year, after deducting expenses of management, reservation for interest accrued on deposits, and provisions for bad and doubtful debts are shown to be $351,000. Of this sum $225,000 went into dividends and $100,000 was added to the reserve fund, which now amounts to $2,250,000. The non-interest bearing deposits amount to $2,545,000 as compared with $2,793,000 a year ago. The interest bearing deposits amount to $13,551,000; as compared with $12,458,000 a year ago. Calls and short loans on bonds and stocks amount to $2,866,000 as compared with $1,215,000 a year ago. The sum of $7,500 has been added to the officers' pension fund.

COAL $5.00 A TON

WITH THE WONDERFUL

STAR HEATER

The only heater that is guaranteed to give satisfaction with soft as well as hard coal. As a fuel economizer it is unequaled, producing heat on about one-third the coal used in any other heater in existence.

The Star has a tube behind for the escape of the gas. As anyone who uses soft coal knows, the gas accumulates under the fresh coal, and if there is no escape there will be explosions and puffs of smoke. In the Star this disappears in the gas escape. The Star has a sliding damper and ornamental door of mica.

After being filled, the Star will heat for 48 hours without attention. It will hold fire and give out heat longer than any other stove.

The Star is 25 per cent more economical than any other stove.

MORE THAN 5,000 ARE IN USE IN THE LOWER PROVINCES.

PRICE LIST

No.	Height	Diameter	Price
0	24 1-2 in.	9 in	$11.20
1	30 1-2 in.	9 in	$12.00
2	34 in.	10 1-2 in	$16.00
3	37 1-2 in.	12 in	$19.20
4	41 in.	15 in	$23.20

DIRECTIONS

When filling the stove always shut the draught door at the bottom.

Keep the small opening in the back pipe closed except when cleaning.

Clean the back pipe every two weeks.

COAL CONSUMERS, ATTENTION!

We are using one No. 3 Star stove in our large rooms, where formerly we had four large wood heaters, and get more heat now than before. The wood stoves cost us $4.50 every week for fuel, and the Star stove which we are now using costs us only $1.50, making a saving of $3.00 per week in the price of fuel—which would soon pay for the stove. We can recommend this stove to any person wanting a first-class heater. We would not use any other stove that is made.

ST. PETER'S T.A.S.

M. J. Serro, Chairman Trustees.

We certify that we have in use one No. 3 Star stove in our large pool and billiard room, the size of which is 45x32 ft., with 15 ft. ceiling. We have perfect heat, and the most coal we have used on the coldest day yet has been three scuttles in 24 hours. We are so well pleased with the stove that we would not use any other.

ROCAMORA & CALLAHAN.

I have been using a No. 3 Star stove in the sitting room at the City Hotel for some time past, and it has proved so satisfactory that I have ordered two more to replace two stoves in the upstairs. The Star gives more heat than the other stoves with half the amount of coal.

MARTIN CONNORS.

We have in use in our composing room a No. 3 Star coal stove, and wish to state that it is giving eminent satisfaction. The entire absence of gas by the escape provided, the increase of heat and the saving in coal are special features of the Star, and it requires a minimum of attention.

STOCK MARKETS

Industrials That Look Well

New York, Oct. 23.—Certain industrials have recently been showing considerable strength. On Tuesday last, when the market was exhibiting a tendency to decline, some of these shares actually advanced upon a comparatively animated business transacted in them, considering the comparative dullness of the market as far as dimensions in transactions were concerned. Some of them lost their earlier gain in sympathy with the balance of the market. Notable strength appeared for Rubber Goods, issues, Hide and Leather, Sloss Sheffield, Pressed Car, Car and Foundry and Hocking Valley. The prospects are that in the absence of outward developments some bullish activity will be seen in the future in the industrial group. One reason for this is that the industrial companies of this country have been very successful, while their securities have not participated to any great extent in the sharp rise enjoyed by the railroad shares in the past twelve months. All of them, or nearly all, are selling at moderate prices which do not necessarily require large sums of money to handle; and they of the dividend class make enormous returns upon the money invested, many of them being absolutely certain of maintaining their present rate of dividend, while several more are actually in shape not only to increase them, but will positively do so. The main obstacle to an industrial boom is the lack of confidence of the speculative public in the market movements of this class of stock; owing to the unpleasant episode which have occurred in some of them, they will nevertheless have their day. It does not take a long memory to go back to the great industrial boom of '80, in which ex-Gov. Flower was the chief engineer. Then the industrials proved to be the best speculative propositions in the market. The present era of prosperity so greatly reflected in Wall street activities will not pass away without the industrials getting their turn. We will devote some space in these letters for a few days to certain issues that are certain, and large payers, for such of our clients that are looking for outright investments which are not only safe but yield large returns.

New York, 23.—To-day's market was nondescript in character, showing extreme inertness to drift; manipulation was lacking most everywhere save in Col. F & I., where a buying movement of some aggressiveness seemed to be under way. There was no particular news all through the day having any direct influence upon prices. Facts circulated by the Wall street news agencies were negative in character. The bulk of transactions were made by the room traders, and eighth chasers; in fact there was hardly any market all all; the undertone was strong, and what little business there was transacted was generally well distributed. We look for more or less quiet market until after the election, with the general tendency in the upward direction. To-morrow's letter will be "Market caring for itself." Money closed at 4 per cent. ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18-inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realize the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purposes of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

We furnish the rich property—you furnish the mill. In a few months it will be in operation—almost before you expect it—and we divide the immense returns.

STOCK MARKETS

Industrials That Look Well

New York, Oct. 23.—Certain industrials have recently been showing considerable strength. On Tuesday last, when the market was exhibiting a tendency to decline, some of these shares actually advanced upon a comparatively animated business transacted in them, considering the comparative dullness of the market as far as dimensions in transactions were concerned. Some of them lost their earlier gain in sympathy with the balance of the market. Notable strength appeared for Rubber Goods issues, Hide and Leather, Sloss Sheffield, Pressed Car, Car and Foundry and Hocking Valley. The prospects are that in the absence of outward developments some bullish activity will be seen in the future in the industrial group. One reason for this is that the industrial companies of this country have been very successful, while their securities have not participated to any great extent in the sharp rise enjoyed by the railroad shares in the past twelve months. All of them, or nearly all, are selling at moderate prices which do not necessarily require large sums of money to handle; and they of the dividend class make enormous returns upon the money invested, many of them being absolutely certain of maintaining their present rate of dividend, while several more are actually in shape not only to increase them, but will positively do so. The main obstacle to an industrial boom is the lack of confidence of the speculative public in the market movements of this class of stock; owing to the unpleasant episode which have occurred in some of them, they will nevertheless have their day. It does not take a long memory to go back to the great industrial boom of '99, in which ex-Gov. Flower was the chief engineer. Then the industrials proved to be the best speculative propositions in the market. The present era of prosperity so greatly reflected in Wall street activities will not pass away without the industrials getting their turn. We will devote some space in these letters for a few days to certain issues that are certain, and large payers, for such of our clients that are looking for outright investments which are not only safe but yield large returns.

New York, 23.—To-day's market was nondescript in character, showing extreme inertness to drift; manipulation was lacking most everywhere save in Col. F & I., where a buying movement of some aggressiveness seemed to be under way. There was no particular news all through the day having any direct influence upon prices. Facts circulated by the Wall street news agencies were negative in character. The bulk of transactions were made by the room traders, and eighth chasers; in fact there was hardly any market at all; the undertone was strong, and what little business there was transacted was generally well distributed. We look for more or less quiet market until after the election, with the general tendency in the upward direction. To-morrow's letter will be "Market caring for itself." Money closed at 4 per cent. A Successful Affair

The annual harvest dinner and concert under the auspices of the ladies of All Saints' church, held yesterday afternoon and evening in the Forester's Hall, Simcoe street was a great success. The dinner was liberally patronized as was also the concert. The programme was a good one, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, readings, &c. A snug sum, which will be devoted to the building fund of the church, was the result of the effort.

A Newspaper Man's Troubles

The editor of a newspaper has got to be mighty careful how he reports things or he's going to get into trouble. A short time ago a scribe on the staff of this j.l.j. saw one of our citizens driving out of town and supposing his wife was with him reported Mr. and Mrs.——as going to such and such a place. The fact was Mr.——did go, but Mrs.——remained at home, and ever since that time the gentleman has kept pretty busy trying to explain who the other Mrs. was, and our junior reporter has been the victim of his wrath, in a mild way, every since the article appeared.

Wanted His Money Back

The item which appeared in the Times a few days ago regarding the action of a church-goer in changing a ten cent piece from the collection plate, has brought the following, the truth of which is vouched for by the Times' informant: In a house of worship recently a man who had evidently been asleep and was not sufficiently awake when collection time came, to be quite sure of anything, put a fifty cent piece on the plate. He discovered the awful truth when he got home and found that the penny he thought he had given to the Lord was still in hispocket, whereas a fifty-cent piece was missing. He slept but little that night and early next morning went around to the deacon, who takes charge of the collections, and offered him eight cents if he'd give him back the fifty. The deacon refused.

Must Learn Cooking Now

The Department of Education announced recently that hereafter graduates of the Normal Schools in Ontario, and that means every teacher who gets a permanent certificate, must take a course in domestic science, otherwise the certificate becomes void in three years. Although it is not so stated it is presumed that this only refers to female teachers, for the Department will hardly want to turn out men cooks. Such domestic science instruction will be given at the new Macdonald school at Guelph, or at Lillian Massey School in Toronto, which is under Government patronage or at similar institutions which may be established later. Mr. Harcourt anticipates that the compulsion will not be considered a hardship; but that the graduates of the Normal schools themselves will not be satisfied until they have taken advantage of the facilities offered.

LIEUT.-COL. MILLER.

The Gallant Major is Now Commander of the 57th Regiment

The Militia General Orders announce the retirement from the command of the 57th Regiment of Lieut.-Col. F. B. Edwards, who is placed upon the retired list of officers. Major J. W. Miller, who has been second in command for some time, has been promoted to the command and Lt.-Colonelcy of the regiment.

The promotion of Major Miller is popular with all classes, and The Times cordially joins in extending hearty congratulations to the gallant officer.

THE GEISHA.

The Famous Opera to be Produced by a Local Company

The Times is pleased to state that Mrs W. J. Morrow, has decided to present the beautiful opera entitled "The Geisha," in Peterborough at an early date. The ladies and gentlemen who desire to take part in her Choral Class are requested to leave their names at her studio, 365 Brock street, on or before Wednesday of next week.

Mrs. Morrow has been fortunate in securing the services of Mr. J. Harry Proctor as stage director. Mr. Proctor is well known, having conducted the Grecian Drills, at the Charleston, S.C., Mid Winted Exposition, as well as having staged many operas throughout the United States and Canada.

The members of local choirs, and all other trained vocalists, should and no doubt will, turn in and assist.

ON THE RANCH

Western Air and Proper Food Give Long Life

The fine bracing air of the far West is sometimes counteracted by bad food. A combination of good food and air however, is pretty hard to beat.

Out in Wood Lake, Neb., Mrs. Paul Kennicot lives on a ranch; she has to send in Omaha for most of the necessities of life and got her first supply of Postum in that way.

She writes that for nearly a year she had used Postum Coffee exclusively and many who stopped with her, as they frequently do on the ranch, could not tell it from the best brand of coffee. We quote a portion of her letter as her reason for using Postum exclusively in the household.

She says, "I know it has had a beneficial effect on my family, I hear very little complaint of dull headache as I used to when we drank coffee; as for myself, I was so troubled with palpitation and aching of my heart that I consulted a physician and was told that I had serious heart trouble which would necessitate my giving up everything but the slightest housework. But now after a busy summer's work, doing the cooking for my family, which with the hired help numbers 8 and 10 persons. I can say that I have no trouble with my heart and my general health is excellent.

I wish all coffee drinkers could realize how they are undermining their health by its use and would change to that best of all drinks, Postum Coffee. I wish to add that we use a package of Grape-Nuts a day which will attest the favor in which the food as well as the coffee is held by my family."

Mainly About People.

"What can we do with Rosslyn?" Disraeli once asked of Salisbury. "Make him master of the buckhounds, as his father was," suggested the latter. "No," replied the Premier, "he swears far too much for that. We will make him high commissioner to the Church of Scotland."

Senator Proctor of Vermont says the finest speech he ever made consisted of only four words. It was a retort to Senator Hoar's sarcastic little thrust in a speech directed at the Green Mountain senator. He said: "No man in Vermont is allowed to vote unless he has made five thousand dollars trading with Massachusetts people." Whereat Proctor said: "And we all vote."

The principal of a high school tells the following anecdote: One day at school I gave a bright boy a sum in algebra, and, although the problem was comparatively easy, he couldn't do it. I remarked, "You ought to be ashamed of yourself. At your age George Washington was a surveyor." The boy looked me straight in the eyes and replied. "Yes, sir; and at your age he was President of the United States."

A good story comes from the Davidson Theater, in Chicago, and runs to the effect that a man from up the State went in to see the opera the other night, pulling his money from his pocket before he reached the box-office window. "I want tew git a good seat," he said, loud enough to be heard all over the lobby of the theater, "and I want it right down the middle lane, and close up tew the exercises." He got it.

A hunting party of ladies and gentlemen were detained by a storm at the hut of a Virginia backwoodsman. Dinner being served, there was an embarrassing paucity of knives. The mother, wishing to impress her aristocratic guests, called in a commanding tone to her young daughter, "Fetch some more knives, Sairey; you know we've got thousands of 'em." "Law, no, ma'm; they're all thar! Thar's 'Big Butch,' and 'Little Butch,' and 'Razor-Back,' and 'Bunty.'"

David Lloyd-George, a member of Parliament from Wales, tells a good story on himself in connection with a Disestablishment meeting in which he has been taking part in Wales. A few days previous, it seems, there had been a Church Defence meeting held in the same place, at which a certain prominent dignitary of the Establishment had spoken, referring to whom Mr. Lloyd-George's chairman observed: "In my opinion that Churchman is one of the biggest liars in North Wales, but, thank goodness, we've got a match for him here to-night!"

"Chums" tells of a certain wild beast tamer who had been on bad terms for some time with one of his neighbors, and the other day, as the result of a violent quarrel, the latter, with a friend, attacked the former just before he was timed to give his performance. The tamer, unwilling to make a scene, took refuge in the lion's den. Judge of the amusement of the spectators when they beheld the two men standing in front of the cage and shouting through the bars at regular intervals: "Come out of that, you big coward; come out of that!"

Some little while ago a rather eccentric cotton manufacturer, owning large mills not a score of miles from Halifax, England, and who was familiarly known in the district round about as "Owd H——," overheard one of the lads in his employ remark to somebody: "Aw wish Aw hed 'Owd H——'s' brass, an' he wor i' th' warkhaase." Quickly retiring, "Owd H——" sent for the offender into his office, and asked him what he would do with the money, supposing his wish were to be fulfilled. The youngster was quite equal to the occasion, promptly replying: "Whoy, th' furst thing Aw'd do wod be ta fotch yo aat (out), maister." This clever reply so appeased the old gentleman that the boy was sent back to his work with half a sovereign in his pocket.

Something Wrong With the Shammy.

There is a prominent doctor in Germantown who is busy telling a little joke on himself, says the Philadelphia "Evening Telegraph." It appears that he employed an Irish servant who had just arrived from the "ould sod." Starting out one morning, he noticed his office windows were rather dirty, and calling Bridget, he instructed her to clean them before he returned. At the same time he told her that he would stop and purchase a new chamois skin and send it home, and with this she was to clean the windows. After he had gone his rounds he found them thickly streaked with grease. He called Bridget, and the following colloquy took place:

"Bridget, didn't I tell you to clean the windows?"

"Yes, sor."

"And didn't I tell you to use the new chamois?"

"Yes, sor."

"Well, did you use it?"

"Sure I did, sor."

"Let me see the chamois," said the doctor, and Bridget promptly brought it. Then for the first time he learned that his wife had left the house a half hour before he did in the morning and had sent home some tripe. The doctor declines to say what happened to the chamois skin.

A Painful Accident

Mr. James Fegg, of Kingston, formerly of Peterborough, was the victim of a very painful and serious accident. During the day, Mr. Fegg, in company with his brother-in-law, P. C. Graham, went shooting out on the Cataraqui marsh, near Kingston. Late in the afternoon while on the watch out for birds. Mr. Fegg rested the muzzle of his gun on his right foot, and while in this position the weapon went off, the contents of the same, heavy shot, entering the foot, of the unfortunate man. His companion did all he could to relieve his sufferings, and after great difficulties the injured man was gotten as far as the asylum, where his injuries were partly dressed. One of the toes hung only by a thread, and the rest were badly mangled. He was taken to the General Hospital where he is now resting as easily as can be expected.

PUNISHMENT.

Social progress has done away with a great many forms of punishment once administered under the laws of enlightened people. But nature never changes or modifies her penalties. She still has the same punishment for the man who neglects or abuses his stomach as she had in the far off days "when Adam delved and Eve span."

The physical discomfort, dullness, sluggishness, irritability, nervousness and sleeplessness which are visited upon the man who eats carelessly or irregularly have been from the beginning the evidences of disease of the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures the diseased stomach and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food, so that the sluggishness, irritability, nervousness and sleeplessness which result from innutrition are cured also.

"I was taken sick nine years ago with fever," writes Mr. M. M. Wardwell, of Linwood, Leavenworth Co., Kansas. "Had the doctor and he broke up the fever all right, but I took diarrhoea right away; he couldn't cure it and it became chronic, and then he gave up the case. I got so weak with it and had piles so badly I couldn't lie down, nor hardly sit up. Was that way two or three months; thought I would 'never be well again,' but picked up one of Dr. Pierce's Memorandum Books one day and saw your description of catarrh of the stomach. I thought it hit my case. We had a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the house that was got for mother. You recommend it for catarrh of the stomach, so I went to taking it. The one bottle nearly cured me. I got two bottles next time and took one and one-half and was well. I haven't been bothered with diarrhoea since."

THE NEW DAM

Satisfactory Progress Being Made—The Concrete Work

Splendid progress is being made by Contractor O'Toole in the construction of the Cereal Company's dam at Dickson's. The concrete work is being rushed, and will be carried on as fast as possible until the cold weather sets in. Mr. Murphy, the manager, evidently is an expert at his business, as everything moves like clockwork.

About 160 men are employed at the dam at the present time, and the contractor is laying on about 240 yards of concrete daily. There are three motors working all the time, besides a steam engine which furnishes power for the large shovel. It is likely that electric lights will be placed about the scene of operations in order that the work may be carried on during the night as well as day.

How the Cocaine Habit Starts

Generally from using catarrh snuffs and ointments containing this deadly drug. It is well to remember that the only direct scientific cure for catarrh is Catarrhozone, which cures by the inhalation of medicated air. Simply breathe Catarrhozone, and it will cure all forms of Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Lung Troubles and Deafness. Every breath from Catarrhozone Inhaler soothes, heals and relieves. Permanent cure guaranteed even though other remedies failed. Try Catarrhozone, price $1.00; small size, 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. 0

A Safe Investment

From information received from the Lima, O., Oil Fields, we are satisfied that the National Oil Co., whose ad has been running in this paper for some time, is one of the most substantial oil companies in the Buckey State. They are operating on legitimate lines and is in no sense a stock jobbing concern.

They are not connected in any way or manner with any other oil company and court the fullest investigation of their property and their standing. They have the production from the wells they now own, which they sell to the Standard Oil company, to pay the dividend guarantees on all the stock they have sold including the block of 200,000 shares they are now offering. The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used in developing leases they now hold, as they have acquired over 800 acres of additional leases in the best part of the Augiaize and Mercer county fields, since their ad. was first placed in this paper. We are informed that all stock subscribed for by the 10th of October will be entitled to a full quarterly dividend on Dec. 2d.

They have appointed Mr. Wm. Fair, of this city, their fiscal agent, and we advise any person seeking a safe investment to call upon him.

SOME MINERS STILL ON STRIKE IN HAZLETON

Two Independent Operators will not Take Them Back in a Body

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 4.—There is a slight improvement in the coal mining situation in the Wyoming and Lackawanna regions this morning, but in the Schuylkill and Leigh regions there has been little change since yesterday. All of the collieries at the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Company are being worked with an increased force of miners. The Ontario and Western Company started all of its mines this morning. The Leigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company resumed operations at two of its mines, but owing to the accumulation gas they had to be shut down again. The Delaware and Hudson Company, has more mines in operation in the Lackawanna district than yesterday, but in the Wyoming region the company could not get an additional colliery started, although steam was up in readiness for hoisting coal. The Leigh Valley Company reports that it has one more mine in operation this morning than yesterday. A general resumption is not looked for until Monday. With the mines in operation the output of coal must be somewhat curtailed, because the mines cannot be worked to their full capacity. As one mine superintendent expressed it today: "We are only feeling our way. It will take some days before any thing like the normal output will be obtained"

MANY CAN'T GET WORK.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 24—It is stated here that not fifty per cent. of the men who went out in the Lykens Valley region where the coal strike was declared will get their places back and that only a small number have started work. Others will be given employment but the coal company has refused to discharge those who took the places of men who struck. The miners are incensed at this action by the company, and there is a feeling of unrest in the Lykens Valley. The company has issued an order to the effect that only a limited number of men will be re-employed, and that it will not discharge the men who have taken the places of the strikers.

Hamilton, Pa., Oct. 24—The employes of the G. B. Markle & Company's collieries and the men working at the Drift-on mine of Coxe Bros & Co., voted last night to continue on strike until the conditions under which they are to be taken back by these firms are changed. One of the officials of Coxe Bros. & Co., said to-day:

"We insist that all the men formerly employed at our mines, who went on strike, shall apply to the respective foremen as individuals if they wish to return. If we have room for them and they committed no act of violence during the strike, they will be taken back with the understanding that the non-union men must not be molested. Every man who struck is considered by us as having left our employ, and that is why we will not resume operations by permitting the men to return to work in a body."

At Silverbrook colliery, operated by J. S. Wertz & Co., the men must also make applications as individuals before operations are resumed.

FROM THEIR DEATH BED TO PARLIAMENT

London, Oct. 23. The Copenhagen correspondent of the Daily Telegraph describes in graphic language how the sale of the Danish Islands in the West Indies to the United States was refused ratification by the Landsthing. The result was doubtful until the last moment, as one member had not taken up a definite stand on the question, and it was uncertain wherther two others, who were ill, would attend. The excitement had become intense.

These two sick members, one of whom is 97 years of age and the other 87 have been confined to their beds for many weeks at a place 150 miles away, and, indeed, are expected to die. On Tuesday, however, some of the prominent political leaders were sent to transport them to Copenhagen. They were carried into an ambulance carriage which was placed on the ferry across the channel separating their island from Jutland, and accompanied by physicians. they travelled to the capital. Here they were met by certain prominent anti-sale agitators and were driven in carriages to an hotel, where they were looked after and nursed during the night.

Wednesday morning they were taken to the Landsthing half an hour before the first meeting, and were carried in and placed in their chairs, with a prompter at their side to inform them how to vote. The names of these men are Thygeson and Raben. This story, no doubt, sounds like fiction, but it is literally true.

The result of the vote, which was by roll call, was awaited with breathless excitement, and when, on the last name that it was a tie, the spectators broke out, some in cheers and others into hisses. Pandemonium, in fact, reigned and it was impossible to suppress the popular feeling. The more violent opponents of the treaty, particularly, exhibited their joy like children

AN OLD TIME MATCH

A Great Game Played Away Back in the Sixties

PORT HOPE VS. PETERBORO

How Base Ball Became Unpopular in Peterboro and District

The Fire Fighters of the Two Towns Have an Exciting Contest on the Diamond The story of the Battle as Given The Times

"Did I ever tell you about the one occasion on which I went outside the legitimate world of sport" said an old timer to The Times yesterday.

"It was away back in the beginning of the sixties, when Messrs. J. J. Lundy, Harry Winch, Jim. English, Bertie Morrow and that crowd of our esteemed citizens were boys. In those days the leading men in sports as well as in everything else that had for its object the promotion of the well being and happiness of our citizens, were the late Messrs. Wm. Cluxton. Edmund Chamberlain. Wm. Lundy, T. Bradburn, Wm. Cumming, Samuel Dickson, Charles Perry J. F. Dennistoun and others.

"At the time I speak of," the Old Timer began, "there was to be a Fireman's tournament in Peterborough. At that time every town in the district had a volunteer fire company, and the yearly drills and exhibitions were of greater importance than the circus. The meeting often lasted a couple of days, and consisted of team races, hose squirting contests, baseball and cricket games etc.

"The rivalry between the ball teams of Port Hope and Peterborough was intense. Every one expected a closer contest than usual that year. The Port Hope Dandies were the popular favorites, but the Peterborough Roarers had a stronger team than usual and their friends were pretty confident.

"The previous year Peterborough had not entered the contest and her new team was not considered formidable by the leaders. As a matter of fact the team was not organized until a week before the contest.

"As I was the only man of affairs in the village who was not a member of the fire company, I was elected manager. The last manager had disappeared in company with the gate receipts, and the team decided to take no chances.

"Well, I advanced the necessary money ofr outfits, and the team practised every day ofr a week. They hardly took time for meals. They certainly were a fine lot, and on the last day of practice they showed up so well that the betting dropped from long odds to about 5 to 1.

"Much to the surprise of the outsiders the Peterborough boys went through the contest with an unbroken string of victories. There were just two games between them and the championship, and on the day before the close of the tournament they defeated the Lindsay Slashers by a big margin. This made people think, and the supporters of the Port Hope Dandies began to look for a chance to hedge.

"Never in the history of the tournament had such a crowd been seen as gathered to see the final struggle. The primitive grand stand was packed to the roof and the field along the base lines was a mass of excited humanity.

"At the end of the eleventh inning the score was even at two runs apiece. From the beginning it seemed as if the Dandies had the best of it.

"You see that the competing fire companies had parked their engines in the outfield and the Dandies' backers had turned on their hose on the field and soaked it. At first we thought this would hinder their fielders as much as it did ours, but those farmers kept their feet in the mud as if they were used to it, while our boys found it almost impossible to get under a fly.

"We managed, nevertheless, to shut them out in the first of the twelfth and they killed the first two men who came up in our half of the inning. It looked as if we might make a tie, but nobody dared to hope for more than that.

"Finally their pitcher got tired and gave two bases on balls. We were quick to see our chance, and yelled with delight. The next man for us was Sam Williams, the heaviest on either team.

"Our most ardent supporters were the Lindsay Hose. They had won the hose squirting contest and had bet all the prize money on our winning.

"When Sam came to bat the boys jumped up and manned their double-expansion hand engine. We did not understand just what they were up to, but we soon found out.

"When their centrefielder saw who held the stick he got sort of scared, and ran back till he was right in front of the Lindsay engine. The first ball pitched was a straight one and Sam hit it with all his strength.

"At the moment the ball left the bat the Lindsay boys began to work their engine like mad. It was a beautiful fly and the fielder judged it to perfection.

"The ball was coming down right in his hands. It seemed to take ages for that ball to drop. The suspense was awful.

"When the ball was within ten feet of the man's hands and we were about to shut our eyes a queer thing happened. The fielder was right under it and was beginning to lift his hands when a stream from the Lindsay engine hit the ball and threw it twenty feet in the air.

"When the ball came down the stream hit it again and up it went. Well, sir, you've seen those fountains in shooting galleries that keep a ball in the air for you to shoot at? Well, that's just what those cusses from Lindsay did.

"And in the meantime Sam Williams was going around the bases like a whirlwind. When he reached the plate they gave the ball a final squirt and threw it over the fielder's head.

"Of course the umpire did not live the right out and baseball has never been popular here since. We did not have a hospital here than and altogether it was almost too strenuous, but it certainly was a great game.

THE HUNTERS PREPARING

Eagle Lake Club Have Their War Paint Ready—Other Hunting Parties

—The members of the Eagle Lake Hunting Club met at the Commercial House on Thursday evening and organized for the fall hunt. Mr. Jack Cottingham was elected Captain and Mr. Charlie Westlake, Secretary-Treasurer. The following members were present: Messrs. M. Tooley, R. Sheehy, C. Gonsulus, Geo. Fitzgerald, — Tivey, C. James, T. Parker, Sam Currier, Wm. White. T. Pearson, Mark Dobson, Charlie Butcher, J. Mitchell and G. Mitchell. The total membership is 19. The hunters will leave Mr. George Fitzgerald's shop on Thursday morning next at 7.30, and will be open for business on Saturday, at Eagle Lake. They have about 20 dogs and about a ton of provisions, including a small quantity of buttermilk.

—The Blade-Rutherford-Pentland party leave on Saturday for Parry Harbour, where they will place themselves under the guidance of Mr. Charlie Gladman, who will conduct them to the shore of a lake, about 30 miles inland, where the deer are said to be so thick that you can hardly fore in the woods in any direction without hitting one.

—The Times would suggest to those who have recently been buying lead mine stocks to hang on. When Mr. Tooley and the rest of the hunters get to work lead stocks will surely take a jump upwards.

—The Winch-Morrow party will leave about the end of the week for their splendid quarters, "Win-Ketch" on Ketchecum Lake. The party have amongst their number some of the expert hunters of the district—men who have done wonderful execution on the trail as well as with the more peaceful knife and fork at meal hour. Capt. Harry Winch will lead the hunters, and this means that every man will have his quota when the season closes.

—The Gold Lake party is in a state of —disruption. Chief Snowden, and Secretary Boddy are all that is left, the other members all going to the North Shore district this year.

—Mr. J. M. Brooks, who is a member of the Ketchecum Lake party, is fixing up his artillery and getting everything in readiness. He is an enthusiastic hunter, and has become a member of the Winch party.

WRECK NEAR BELLEVILLE

Lindsay Auxiliary Crew Dispatched to the Scene

Accident Caused a Double-Header Parting—No one was Injured

Another smash-up occurred on Wednesday on the Midland division of the Grand Trunk. This time Corbyville a station a short distance west of Belleville, was the scene of the trouble. A double-header grain train, which left Lindsay yard early in the morning, broke in two at that point, and a second train following close behind smashed into the rear end of the loose section. The engine was wrecked and a number of cars were demolished, including the caboose, which caught on fire. Luckily no one was injured.

Belleville auxiliary train reached the scene at 3 o'clock, and the Lindsay crew left about an hour later. The wreckage was cleared away before 9 o'clock.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO SAVE WIFE

William Erhart Breaks Records to Get Her Away From Colorado Springs

Denver, Col., Oct. 24.—Warned by her physician that his wife could live but a few hours unless taken to a lower altitude, William Erhart, a wealthy New Yorker, last night chartered a special train over the Santa Fe road and started for Kansas City with his wife and her medical attendant from Colorado Springs.

The Santa Fe broke its record in getting the train ready and in running to Newton, Kan. The strain started an hour after Mr. Erhart telephoned for it and made the run to Newton, 550 miles, for which the limited requires 17 hours in 11 hours and 40 minutes. At Newton Mr. Erhart left the special and started for Galveston, Tex., his wife showing much improvement.

WHY NOT PETERBOROUGH

Interesting News Concerning Proposed Sugar Beet Factory

The following from the Lindsay Watchman-Warder, is of special interest to our readers, in view of the fact that the percentage of sugar in the beets grown throughout the Province as a test, was the highest in Peterborough:

"The who supposed that the beet sugar factory proposition was a dead issue in this town will be surprised to learn that as a result of quiet negotiations carried on by the secretary of the Board of Trade, Mr. J. H. Sootheran, and a few others, a letter was received this week from the Toronto solicitor of a beet sugar syndicate, saying that his clients had fixed upon Lindsay as one of four or five places in which they have decided to build factories if suitable terms can be secured. Those terms were said to be roughly: exemption from taxes for a period of years and local subscription of stock to a sum that will pay for the charter and other expenses of organization. Mr. Sootheran has asked for details of this proposition and it is expected that the whole matter will be considered by the beet sugar committee on Friday."

MOB IMPATIENT WITH JUDGE

Couldn't Wait Thirty Days to Hang Two Negroes and Did it Right Away

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 24.—The mob at Hempstead this afternoon lost patience with the Judge who conducted the legal formalities of the trials of Jim Wesley and Reddick Barton, the negroes who confessed to the murder of Mrs. Lewis; and at 4.30 p.m. invaded the county jail by hundreds. The men overpowered the officers, took the two negroes out and at 5 o'clock lynched them by hanging.

The intention to burn Wesley and Barton was abandoned and a "simple execution" by rope and a telegraph pole followed. The two negroes had waived all legal rights in the cases against them and had expressed a willingness to be hanged by the law officers at once. The trial judge thought that the convicted men should have the benefit of the thirty days provided in the Constitution.

After the two negroes had been taken to the county jail the mob was not slow to emphasize its protest by physical force. The juries that tried Wesley and Barton each had six negroes on them. These desired that the convicted men be turned over to the negro population for an immediate hanging, but the white citizens considered it their days of enough are expired and their own privilege to do the hanging.

He spoke of the necessity of having books referred to teachers for criticism, before they are authorized for use in our schools. lively discussion followed in which several took part. The general consensus of opinion was that there should be more freedom and independence allowed to teachers in the matter of text-books.

The attendance was not as large as it should have been, but the programme was much enjoyed by all present.

The Shah of Persia has four sons now in Europe receiving their education. They are mild and inoffensive, with hardly enough spirit between them to declare an opinion, such is their fear of their royal parent. The princes until recently were confined in the harem with their father's numerous wives.

Those foreigners who have maliciously blamed Great Britain for all India's woes find no comfort in the statistics of the recent census. The population of British India has increased over 7,000,000 in the last ten years, while that of the native states—less than a quarter as large—has decreased about 3,500,000. Plague and famine are familiar words in India, but the British Government has done much to combat the former and mitigate the latter.

Kingstown, St. Vincent, B.W.I., Oct. 23—The Soufriere volcano has been active since Oct. 11, keeping the people in the Windward district in a state of continuous unrest. Evidence gathered in the district proves that the eastern crater was chiefly operative during the last eruption. The devastated lands now include all the plantations on the north-eastern coast down to the Grand Sable estate on which the re-establishment of cultivation will be hopeless for years, even should La Soufriere soon become quiescent.

A deputation of distressed inhabitants had waited upon the administrator of the island for the purpose of informing the Government of the hopeless condition of the district in consequence of the last eruption of the volcano. They appealed ofr food and shelter, especially for their terrified wives and children, and begged to be moved from the northern quarter of the island to form a new settlement in another locality, where they could safely and conveniently start life afresh.

The administrator, expressed his hearty sympathy for the sufferers and promised to communicate the facts to his chief, together with certain suggestions. He said he hoped the Government would soon be able to do something to relieve the victims of the volcanic disturbances.

The report of the discovery of the timbers of the Jersey prison ship of American Revolutionary times under the made land in the Brooklyn navy yard is probably [illegible] of verification, inasmuch as the earliest map of the yard, executed in 1806, showed where she was known to lie; and it may be assumed that the timbers are indeed here.

There were six prison ships in New York harbor during the Revolution, of which the Jersey was the most notorious. Built in the first third of the eighteenth century, a 60-gun ship of the line, she had sailed the seas for thirty years, and taken part in many battles. Finally, she was condemned while in American waters, and after lying unused for years, was made a receiving vessel for American prisoners of war.

The Jersey was the worst of the six ships. Her hold leaked constantly; and the dampness added to the misery of the underfed, ill-clad, often sick and wounded prisoners confined aboard her. Her crew, at her best estate, had been composed of less than 400 officers and men, crowded together as ship's crews were crowded in those days; but 1,200 prisoners were kept on board of her constantly. "She was never cleansed and lay in that condition seven years. No fires warmed her occupants in winter, no screen sheltered them from the August sun; no physician visited the sick, no clergyman consoled the dying there. She remained throughout the contest a centre of sickness and death, always impregnated with disease, and always replenished with new victims. The bones of her dead, estimated at 11,000 lie buried on the Brooklyn shore."

At the end of the war, the Jersey was burned at her moorings.

What the Black Hole of Calcutta is in England's history, the Jersey prison ship is in America's. But the former lasted only one night; the latter endured for seven years. The timbers of the Jersey, perhaps the most interesting relics of the Revolution, will probably be removed to a place of safety, where, like the Martyrs' Monument in Trinity church yard and the Tablets in Fort Greene, they will serve to keep alive the memory of those who died in making the American Republic.

THE BOERS SURPRISED AT OUR RESOURCES

Marvelling at the Rivers, Timber, and Many Villages of Canada

Canadian Goods Could be Sold in Large Quantities in South Afric —Will Not Talk Politics

Toronto, Oct. 25—"I am surprised at Canada. Your rivers impress me, your woods impress me, and more than all, I am impressed by the friendliness of the Canadians."

This in brief is the feeling of the Boer farm delegates who are now in Toronto, the guests of the Government.

The speaker was Mr. T. H. Rood, of Ermelo, South Africa, who, with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jooste, and Mr. and Mrs. Moody Lane, of Klerksdorp arrived in Toronto this morning via the C. P. R, from Ottawa.

Their Own Immense Farms.

The visitors shatter the tradition that the recent war has conjured up about the Boers. The men are not shaggy, grugg, or uncouth. They have no whiskers that hang askew and blow to the wind. They look more like the Eastern Yankee than the residents of the former Boer Republics. They are linguists and gentlemen of refinement. Mr. Jooste owns 24,000 acres, divided into fifteen farms. Mr. Lane is also a wealthy farmer, while the father of Mrs. Rood is one of the influential men of his country. Mr. Jooste's farms were entirely devasted by the war, and they are of the opinion that it will take fully ten years before the country will be in a normal condition. Mr. Rood went through the war as aide-de-camp for Botha and twice was wounded. The other two delegates were captured at Paardeberg and went to St. Helena with Gen. Cronje.

To the Star this morning Mr. Rood said "I cannot express to you how surprised I was when we came up the St. Lawrence. You cannot imagine my feelings, for we have no rivers like you. And your trees; why, we have nothing like that where I came from. And your little villages and farms, why it was a perfect picture.

"We have visited some of your saw mills, and I am sure Canadians should be proud of their great timber supply, for that is an asset that you should carefully treasure."

"How about Canadian products in South Africa?"

"Well, since the war there should be a great opening for Canadian-made goods, for the farms will be re-stocking and in many cases it will be just like commencing house all over again. We use just about the same things as you do, and use many of the luxuries, just as the Canadians. Corn with us stands in the same relation as wheat with you, and we expect to carry back many valuable suggestions. One already that has taken me very much is the use of the silo."

Won't Talk Politics.

"Do you think the country will settle down now and become a harmonius whole, as it is wished?"

Mr. Rood wouldn't answer this question, but shrugged his shoulders and said: "I can't talk about politics and I left Africa too soon after the trouble to give you an intelligent answer."

Captain Kirkpatrick, an Imperial officer, accompanied the delegate to this country. Captain Kirkpatrick went to South Africa to shoot, but himself was shot in turn by Cupid, and married a Boer lady, who is with him. The two remained in Ottawa, and Mr. W. W. Moore, of the Agricultural Department, Ottawa, will take the delegates as far west as Vancouver, when they will go to Australia.

The delegates are loaded with kodaks, and are shooting the best things in sight. When they return they will exhibit the pictures and lecture on what they have seen. While in Toronto they will visit its various points of interest, including the Massey-Harris works. Tomorrow they will go to the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. Sunday will likely be sepnt very quietly.

NOT MORE REFINED THAN GREAT BRITAIN

Educational Atmosphere in Germany Not Superior to That in England

London, Oct. 24—With reference to Andrew Carnegie's rectorial address at St. Andrew's University, a Berlin correspondent says it is considered singular that an economic union of Europe against America should be favored by an American whose industrial and financial interests are still in the United States. Carnegie's denunciations of British training and British games are naturally echoed in Berlin, though there is no ground for asserting that the educational atmosphere is more refined in Germany than in Great Britain. Carnegie is probably not acquainted with duels among barbarous students in Germany,, while there is no comparison between the drinking customs at German universities and general abstemiousness at Oxford and Cambridge.

London, Oct. 24—A Tokio correspondent says that arrangements in connection with the proposed railway in the Upper Congo region are being actively pushed by the Brussels Administration. The Katanga district section of the line, about 500 miles long, will start from Lake Kasali, near the source of the Lualaba River, and will run south toward the Rhodesian frontier, where it will join the Cape line.

This wondrous medicine has won the hearty indorsation of medical men, and its virtues are lauded by tens of thousands rescued from agony and death. Mrs. J. Vince, Barrie, Ont., says:

"I am happy to say that I have taken Paine's Celery Compound with great results. I had sciatic rheumatism so badly that I could not turn in bed, or walk without help; and for a period of three weeks was helplessly laid up and suffered pain that at times was almost unbearable. I tried many medicines, but all in vain. I was recommended to try Paine's Celery Compound. I used six bottles and am entirely cured and enjoy good health."

HERE'S MONEY IN PEAT

The coal strike and coal famine will produce good effects. They will make the people of Canada and the United States think more of their peat beds and encourage the facilities that will be employed for the moulding of the product into form for use.

The peat beds of Canada are practically inexhaustible, and with some expenditure, and especially home patronage, (which is at the basis of all successful business) the fuel question of the future will be very different from what it is to-day.

According to one report, now receiving due attention in the American press, "In nearly fifty towns of Eastern Massachusetts, taken as a fair average of its quantity in other towns and other counties, it would follow that 80,000 acres, or 125 square miles, are covered with peat, having an average thickness of six feet. This area and depth would yield not far from 200,000,000.

There can never again be a fuel famine if the exigencies of the present produce the desired result, namely, that men of capital and genius will give their attention to peat manufacture. In Beaverton one person, with modest appliances, can make a real good article and sell it for $1.25 per ton. Extensive plant, operated by men of large monied interests, could make peat for a lower rate, and once the business were fairly established coal would become and remain cheaper.

THE JERSEY PRISON SHIP

The report of the discovery of the timbers of the Jersey prison ship of American Revolutionary times under the made land in the Brooklyn navy yard is probably capable of verification, inasmuch as the earliest map of the yard, executed in 1806, showed where she was known to lie; and it may be assumed that the timbers are indeed here.

There were six prison ships in New York harbor during the Revolution, of which the Jersey was the most notorious. Built in the first third of the eighteenth century, a 60-gun ship of the line, she had sailed the seas for thirty years, and taken part in many battles. Finally, she was condemned while in American waters, and after lying unused for years, was made a receiving vessel for American prisoners of war.

The Jersey was the worst of the six ships. Her hold leaked constantly; and the dampness added to the misery of the underfed, ill-clad, often sick and wounded prisoners confined aboard her. Her crew, at her best estate, had been composed of less than 400 officers and men, crowded together as ship's crews were crowded in those days; but 1,200 prisoners were kept on board of her constantly. "She was never cleansed and lay in that condition seven years. No fires warmed her occupants in winter, no screen sheltered them from the August sun; no physician visited the sick, no clergyman consoled the dying there. She remained throughout the contest a centre of sickness and death, always impregnated with disease, and always replenished with new victims. The bones of her dead, estimated at 11,000 lie buried on the Brooklyn shore."

At the end of the war, the Jersey was burned at her moorings.

What the Black Hole of Calcutta is in England's history, the Jersey prison ship is in America's. But the former lasted only one night; the latter endured for seven years. The timbers of the Jersey, perhaps the most interesting relics of the Revolution, will probably be removed to a place of safety, where, like the Martyrs' Monument in Trinity church yard and the Tablets in Fort Greene, they will serve to keep alive the memory of those who died in making the American Republic.

any more. If arbitration is good in preventing wars it should be made compulsory in preventing strikes.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The floor of an Omaha church gave way during church service on Sunday and there was a narrow escape from a catastrophe. There are church floors in Peterborough which are never subjected to such a strain.

A conservative estimate places the direct loss by the coal strike at $142,000,000. Probably the indirect loss would bring it up to the even $200,000,000. Incidentally there was considerable loss of life. A good-sized war would not cost

The Shah of Persia has four sons now in Europe receiving their education. They are mild and inoffensive, with hardly enough spirit between them to declare an opinion, such is their fear of their royal parent. The latter was not in favor with his father, Nasser ed Din, who was assassinated in 1896. Until his accession he was governor of a distant province. The princes until recently were confined in the harem with their father's numerous wives.

Those foreigners who have maliciously blamed Great Britain for all India's woes find no comfort in the statistics of the recent census. The population of British India has increased over 7,000,000 in the last ten years, while that of the native states—less than a quarter as large—has decreased about 3,500,000. Plague and famine are familiar words in India, but the British Government has done much to combat the former and mitigate the latter.

WHEN THE WEATHER BEGINS TO GET COOL

The following verses were handed to the Sporting Editor of this great family journal, who said he got them from the Political Editor, and were supposed to have been written by the Horse Editor, in a fit of temporary aberration of intellect, doubtless caused by the high price of coal. This g.f.j. respectfully dedicates it to the coal barons of Peterborough:

All the sorrows of life are brought home to a man
When the weather begins to get cool,
There's a hustling for stuff from Beersheba to Dan
When the weather begins to get cool,
All the summer fixings are now out of date—
From the sole of your foot to the crown of your pate
You must have a new rig or be counted a skate,
When the weather begins to get cool.

Though you're broke yourself flat for a Panama hat—
When the weather begins to get cool,
You must never be seen in such head gear as that
Or your friends will pronounce you a fool;
Though you feel you'd be willing to wear it awhile,
Though you're anxious to keep what is left of your pile,
You must hit it again for a three dollar tile
When the weather begins to get cool.

Of thick underwear you must lay in a stock
When the weather begins to get cool,
Your fall overcoat must be got out of "hock"
When the weather begins to get cool,
From your earnings "Old Prob," takes a generous toll—
The plumber comes in for a whack at your roll,
And whatever is left must be squandered for coal
When the weather begins to get cool.

'Tis time ofr reflecting on what you have spent
When the weather begins to get cool,
Your landlord hints darkly of raising your rent
When the weather begins to get cool,
'Tis the signal for all that you live on to rise,
Your monthly expense bill soars to the skies
And your wages are all that remain the same size
When the weather begins to get cool.

Must Learn Cooking Now

The Department of Education announced recently that hereafter graduates of the Normal Schools in Ontario, and that means every teacher who gets a permanent certificate, must take a course in domestic science, otherwise the certificate becomes void in three years. Although it is not so stated it is presumed that this only refers to female teachers, for the Department will hardly want to turn out men cooks. Such domestic science instruction will be given at the new Macdonald school at Guelph, or at Lillian Massey School in Toronto, which is under Government patronage or at similar institutions which may be established later. Mr. Harcourt anticipates that the compulsion will not be considered a hardship; but that the graduates of the Normal schools themselves will not be satisfied until they have taken advantage of the facilities offered.

LIEUT-COL. MILLER.

The Militia General Orders announce the retirement from the command of the 57th Regiment of Lieut.-Col. E. B. Edwards, who is placed upon the retired list of officers. Major J. W. Miller, who has been second in command for some time, has been promoted to the command and Lt.-Colonelcy of the regiment.

The promotion of Major Miller is popular with all classes, and The Times cordially joins in extending hearty congratulations to the gallant officer.

CHAPTER XXII.

A Lady in a Veil, and a Man in a Mask.

All went well with Winifred, so far as she could tell, until she was out of the theater, and had taken a few of the many turnings prescribed by her friend. She did not think that her leaving the theater had attracted any attention, as several ladies of the ballet, employed in the first act only, were departing for their homes about the same time. And she was nearly certain that, at all events, she was not being followed.

When she had gone a certain distance, however, she began to feel confused, to fear that she had taken a wrong turning, and might do so again, thus getting hopelessly lost, unless she should enquire of people whom she might meet on the way to Salt street.

But Mrs. Purdy had warned her against the risk of making enquiries, if possible to avoid it, as a search for her would certainly be instituted by the person she most wished to avoid. He would very likely employ detectives, and someone might remember having been accosted on that night at such and such an hour by a veiled woman with the voice of a lady, asking to be directed to Salt street. So a clever detective might be put upon her track, and Mrs. Purdy was as anxious to avoid such a mischance as Winifred could be; for the lies she must tell at the theater would put her in a peculiar position if they should be found out. Mrs. Purdy had been at the Thespian Theater as dresser since it had been built a few years ago, and she did not wish to lose her place.

Suddenly Winifred heard the lively music of a banjo. A man's voice was singing a darkey song. Not one of the songs known in London's music-halls as "genuine plantation ditties" warbled by shapely young ladies in broad white collars, knickerbockers, and silk stockings, attended by black-faced "pickaninnies;" but the real thing, invented by Southern darkies for darkies—senseless, tuneful, contagious of mirth. It was that quaint bit of Kentucky gibberish known as "Home-made Chicken-Pie" and the people who had crowded round the singer to listen were laughing and patting their feet, some of them joining in the chorus.

They were collected at a well-lighted street corner, and Winifred had begun to wish that she could find a quieter thoroughfare when the song came to an end.

"Give us 'Linger Longer, Loo,'" suggested someone.

"Can't, thank you. Shop's shut up for to-night," laughed the man who had been singing, with a slightly American accent, which might or might not be affected. Something in the voice caused Winifred to pause at a distance outside the radius of the nearest lamp, and try to obtain a glimpse of the speaker. He was tall, and wore a black mask, which completely hid his face; but Winifred was sure that she associated the voice with some incident which had lately happened.

She never forgot a face or a voice; and when she had thought for a moment or two the elusive memory was enticed back, and came flying swiftly, like a homing pigeon.

"It is the young man who flung that strange person off the box-seat of the cab on my last night at the Duke of Clarence's," she said to herself. And she thought it odd, indeed, that he should be singing, masked, in a Brighton street at night.

At first, in her almost morbid fear of detection, she wondered if his presence could possibly have anything to do with her; but in an instant she had decided that this was most improbable.

She crossed to the other side of the road in order to avoid the light and the crowd, and went on her way—or what she hoped was her way—not turning to look back. The music did not begin again, and, having turned a corner which she could only trust was the right one, she found herself in a dark and quiet street.

It was very long and straight, and at each junction with another road Winifred paused and peered through her thick, improvised veil, hoping to see the name of Salt street. If it were not somewhere near she was wrong in her calculations, and would have to ask the way of someone, or be hopelessly lost. She went on thus, slowly, and could see the name she looked for nowhere. It was not late, but most of the houses in this quiet street appeared to have gone to sleep for the night. There was no sound, save the dulled murmur of distant traffic, so that a footstep coming after her seemed unnaturally loud.

It began by being just audible, far away; then grew more distinct, till it rang clearly along the pavement. What if, after all, she had been followed, Winifred thought. Somebody might have watched her, waiting his chance; and now in this dark, silent street——

She could not follow the supposition further without turning to look over her shoulder. Against her will she did it, feeling as if some power other than her own forced her head round.

The dim light that shone through a yellow window-blind in a house where the inmates were still up fell upon something bright, and struck out a gleam. It was the metal frame of a banjo; and Winifred sighed with relief. Instead of being afraid she was glad that the man was near, for if she must ask anyone to direct her she felt she would rather trust him not to betray her than a stranger.

Even supposing he recognised her, instinctively she felt that for the second time he would do what he could to protect rather than injure her.

He came on rapidly with a swinging stride, as if he were in a hurry, and passed Winifred without paying the slightest attention to the slim woman's figure in its dark, inconspicuous clothing. Just as he had gone by, however, she summoned courage to speak. "I beg your pardon," she said, meekly, "but can you tell me the way to Salt street? I'm afraid I have come wrong."

He stopped abruptly, and took off his hat, not like a seaside minstrel, but like a gentleman. "I'm going to Salt street," he replied. "It isn't far from here, but there are a couple of turns still, one to the right and one to the left. If you like I could show you."

"Thank you very much," said Winifred. "I should be glad if you would, since it won't be taking you out of your way."

They walked on side by side, but at some distance apart, and neither spoke. Probably the man fancied that if she wished for conversation on the way

COAL $5.00 A TON WITH THE WONDERFUL

STAR HEATER

The only heater that is guaranteed to give satisfaction with soft as well as hard coal. As a fuel economizer it is unequalled, producing heat on about one-third the coal used in any other heater in existence.

The Star has a tube behind for the escape of the gas. As anyone who uses soft coal knows, the gas accumulates under the fresh coal, and if there is no escape there will be explosions and puffs of smoke. In the Star this disappears in the gas escape. The Star has a sliding damper and ornamental door of mica.

After being filled, the Star will heat for 48 hours without attention. It will hold fire and give out heat longer than any other stove.

The Star is 25 per cent more economical than any other stove.

MORE THAN 5,000 ARE IN USE IN THE LOWER PROVINCES.

PRICE LIST

No.	Height	Diameter	Price
0	24 1-2 in.	9 in.	$11.20
1	30 1-2 in.	9 in	$12.00
2	34 in.	10 1-2 in	$15.00
3	37 1-2 in.	12 in	$19.20
4	41 in.	15 in	$26.00

DIRECTIONS

When filling the stove always shut th draught door at the bottom.

Keep the small opening in the back pipe closed except when cleaning.

Clean the back pipe every two weeks.

COAL CONSUMERS, ATTENTION!

We are using one No. 3 Star stove in our large rooms, where formerly we had four large wood heaters, and get more heat now than before. The wood stoves cost us $4.50 every week for fuel, and the Star stove which we are now using costs us only $1.50, making a saving of $3.00 per week in the price of fuel—which would soon pay for the stove. We can recommend this stove to any person wanting a first-class heater. We would not use any other stove that is made.

ST. PETER'S T.A.S.

M. J. Serve, Chairman Trustees.

We certify that we have in use one No. 3 Star stove in our large pool and billiard room, the size of which is 45x35 ft., with 16 ft. ceiling. We have perfect heat, and the most coal we have used on the coldest day yet has been three scuttles in 24 hours. We are so well pleased with the stove that we would not use any other.

ROCAMORA & CALLAHAN.

I have been using a No. 3 Star stove in the sitting room at the City Hotel for some time past, and it has proved so satisfactory that I have ordered two more to replace two stoves in the upstairs. The Star gives more heat than the other stoves with half the amount of coal.

MARTIN CONNORS.

We have in use in our composing room a No. 3 Star coal stove, and wish to state that it is giving eminent satisfaction. The entire absence of gas by the escape provided, the increase of heat and the saving in coal are special features of the Star, and it requires a minimum of attention.

A Chicago playwright advertises that he has written and invented a melodrama in five acts, called "In Death's Shadow," "introducing the most absolutely startling and realistic scene in existence, the eruption of Mount Pelee and the destruction of St. Pierre. Perhaps we are coming to railways without rails. Several automobile owners in New York are planning to construct on Long Island fifty miles of road, to cross other roads above or below grade so that they may have a free course on which to speed their machines. From running a single motor car on such a road to attaching one or more "trailers' is a short step, and the next leads to passenger and freight service. Even if special roads are not built for their accommodation, it is probable that automobile coach lines will be run as feeders to the steam or electric lines in districts where it would not pay to lay a track.

A petition to the President and Congress of the United States asking an appropriation of $500,000,000 to assist negroes to leave the United States has been prepared by the International Immigration and Commercial Association, an organization of negroes, who were in session in Chattanooga, Tenn., a fortnight ago. The petition recites a long train of abuses to which it is asserted the negro is subjected, among which are the denial of all social and political recognition and the violation of his constitutional rights. The leading spirits in the convention are Bishop Turner of Georgia and Mr Heard, former minister to Liberia.

In spite of the opposition of his famous mother Maurice Bernhardt has applied to the state council of Paris for permission to change his name to Maurice Clairin. This is in order to conform to the usage which requires that children should bear the name of their father, not their mother. This step is said to have been taken at the instigation of Mme. Maurice Bernhardt who is about to become a mother, and does not desire to inflict the brand of illegitimacy upon her offspring. M. Clairin, whom Maurice now selects as his father, was a painter, whose infatuation for the "Divine Sarah" nearly caused a triple tragedy twenty-five years ago.

A remarkable instance of the intelligence of ants is described by Dr. Schroeder, in the "Zeitschrift fur Entomologie." Last summer a country house was so overrun by ants that the owner, after destroying a large anthill near the house and collecting the numerous pupae for poultry feed, laid sticky fly-paper before the door of the house in such a manner that the ants could not enter without crossing it. In the morning he found his poultry feed gone and the fly-paper covered with sand, dry grass and pine needles, over which the ants had passed "dry-shod." The anthill had also been rebuilt during the night. This case is well-authenticated, and a piece of the fly-paper is shown in evidence."

A well-dressed young woman entered a Boston car the other day and took a seat next to a man. Presently she leaned forward and began to tie up her shoe-lacing. It proved rather difficult to do with her gloves on, but after a while the passengers witnessing the performance saw the feat accomplished and the lady sit back calmly gazing out of the window as if "she was always tying her shoe" in electric cars. At the next stop the man beside her rose to get off, but lo! there came a struggle and then horror, mutual and general. The two were fastened, not exactly hand and foot, but shoe and shoe! So diligently had the lady tied the knots that the lacing had to be cut by a ready pocket-knife before the embarrassed couple could be separated.

Clarence Davies has bought for $200 a triangular strip of land 14 inches by 6 inches, and comprising 40 square inches, at the north-east corner of One Hundred and Forty-Ninth street and Third avenue, New York. Mr. Davis expects to derive an income of about $1,000 a year from this investment. As the parcel is a corner one, its owner has the right to occupy the sidewalk to the stoop line, which would give him a space 6 inches by 5 feet fronting in Third avenue, and 14 inches by 5 feet in One Hundred and Forty-ninth street. Mr. Davies can also get the right to build a vault under the sidewalk and the size of this vault could be 20 by 20 feet, or 400 square feet. He can use the vault as a subterranean store. The triangular plot was made by widening Third avenue and title to it has been held for some time by Samuel G. Walker as executor. It is said that a man stood on the plot for three nights some months ago, so that no one could build on it. He covered the plot almost with one foot.

A Clue That Failed.

Deductions in the manner of Sherlock Holmes do not always work out successfully. They did not in a case reported by the Washington "Post." A group of reporters were talking together, and one of them, who liked to play the amateur detective, devoted part of his time to watching a man standing some distance away.

"That man used to be in the army," he said.

"How do you know?"

"See how he puts his hand into his trousers pockets. He lifts up the side of his coat—look! he's doing it now—instead of pushing the coat back as we do. He acquired the habit from wearing a fatigue coat in the army. A fatigue coat, you know, is cut square about the body. To put the hand in the trousers pocket, one must lift up the side."

Some discussion followed, with the result that one of the reporters volunteered to lay their speculations before the stranger. He proved to be a worthy real estate dealer. After listening to the reporter's explanation, he replied, with much amusement:"

"I'll tell you why I put my hand in my pocket that way. I used to be a butcher in New York thirty years ago, and I got that habit raising my butcher's apron to make change."

Their Vacations.

The musicians will live on the Sound, and the ping-pong players will go to Table Bay, suggests New York "Life." The summer girls will naturally go to the Isle of Man, and those too old to be loved will seek the Isle of Pines. Dipsomaniacs will go to Bar Harbor, brewers to Behring Straits, while all reformed drunkards will go to Haddam. The coal men will flock to Asheville, poets will go to Attica, geometricians to Cuba, tramps to Bath, horseback riders to Canterbury, funny men to Chestnut Ridge, golf players to Bunker Hill, philanthropists to the Bounty Islands, Boston girls to Chili, and chiropodists to Cornwall.

Printers will go to Ems, aurists to Erie, pawnbrokers to Hocking Valley, spiritualists to Knoxville, burglars to Lock Haven, Pullman car porters to Palm Beach, but there is some doubt about the Filipinos going to Liberty. Those who linger too long will go to Tarrytown.

All the stuffs will go to Turkey. Prohibitionists will go to the Water Gap, and all practical jokers to Cape Cod. Some Wall Street men will go to Great Bear Lake and others to Bull Run. Folks troubled with insomnia will go to Sleepy Hollow. Roulette players will go to Wheeling, and poker players to Council Bluffs. Fat men will go to Great Neck, thin men to Littleton, and melancholy men to Sulphur Springs.

The cooks will go to Pottstown, the anarchists to Bombay, cabmen to Hoboken, vivisectionists to the Catskills, and all the shoppers to Paw Paw.

Pool players will go to the Pyramids, leather men to Morocco, magnates to the Rockies, while those whose fortunes are falling will go to Sag Harbor.

All the peach growers will go to Pittsburg, and the lace-makers will go to Old Point. The confectioners will flock to Mt. Desert, and the gossips to Pekin.

And finally, those whose thoughts are fixed on Heaven will go to St. Petersburg.

And those whose thoughts are in the other direction will go to Fire Island.

Catabolic Man.

According to a writer in the "Lancet," the male human needs more food than the female, not only on account of his larger stature, but also because he is the more catabolic of the two. The man tends to expend energy and the woman to store it up in the form of fat; he burns the faster. This sexual difference shows itself in the very blood; the man has a larger percentage of chromocytes than the woman, showing that he needs a proportionately larger quantity of oxygen in order to maintain his more active combustion—a fact which one may associate with his comparative freedom from chlorosis; moreover, weight for weight, his pulmonary capacity is greater than that of the woman, whose smaller respiratory need is further shown by the facility with which she can without discomfort diminish her breathing power by means of the corset. "The great contrast between the metabolic activity of the two sexes," continues the writer, "was forcibly brought home to me by a military display given by a troupe of dusky Amazons, with whom were also a few male warriors. The women, in spite of their daily exertions, were all rounded and plump, some very much so, no single muscle showing through the skin, and it was noticed that their movements, though full of grace, lacked energy and 'go.' The men, on the other hand, were spare, their muscles standing out plainly under the shiny skin, and they, in further contrast with the women, displayed a truly amazing agility, bounding about and whirling round in a most astounding fashion; the women, in short, were essentially anabolic and the men were catabolic. I may here draw attention to the fact that men are apt to be larger meat-eaters than women, just as they are, possibly in consequence of this very fact, more prone to drink alcohol and to smoke tobacco."

Price of a Shave.

A man walking through the suburbs of a certain large town noticed a barber's pole to which was attached a signboard with the inscription, "Shaving One Halfpenny."

His chin being rough and his funds low he promptly entered the shop, seated himself in the chair, and asked to be shaved.

The knight of the razor carefully lathered and scraped away at one side of the customer's face, sponged it, and drew the cloth away with the usual flourish.

"But you don't call this finished?" expostulated his victim, keeping his seat.

"Beg pardon, sir, do you want the other side done as well?" said the barber with a hair-oily smile.

"Cert'nly I do. Do you think I can go out in the street half-shaved?" replied the other.

And the barber proceeded to operate on the other side of his customer.

When the job was finished the man, who began to smell a rat, fumbled in his pockets and fished out a halfpenny, which he tendered to the barber.

"Another halfpenny, if you please, sir," said the latter.

"What? You've got on your board outside, 'Shaving a ha'penny.'"

"Very true. But if you will have the goodness to observe, you'll find that that inscription is on each side of the board."

"I know that."

"Very good, sir. There are two sides to my board—and two sides to your face."

"I see," replied the man, with his hand on the door-knob, "and, if you will have the goodness to observe that ha'penny, you will find there are two sides to that as well."—"Tit-Bits."

The Proper Term.

Martha, the colored washerwoman, was complaining of her husband's health to one of her patrons. "He's ve'y po'ly, ma'am, ve'y po'ly. He's got dat exclamatory rheumatism." "You mean inflammatory, Martha. Exclamatory is from exclaim, which means to cry out." "Yes, miss," answered Martha, with conviction, "dat's what it is. He hollers all de time."

A Successful Affair

The annual harvest dinner and concert under the auspices of the ladies of All Saints' church, held yesterday afternoon and evening in the Forester's Hall, Simcoe street was a great success. The dinner was liberally patronized as was also the concert. The programme was a good one, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, readings, &c. A snug sum, which will be devoted to the building fund of the church, was the result of the effort.

Farmers in Sanpete County, Utah, are having "pin-shows," only they use grasshoppers instead of pins as tickets of admission. The crops last year were ruined by the grasshoppers. This year the farmers determined to destroy the pests, so they arranged for a series of entertainments to which only those might be admitted who brought half a bushel of grasshoppers with them. Seventy-five bushels were the receipts of the first entertainment. The grasshoppers were burned at the close of the evening's amusement.

The Eastern manager of the Pennsylvania Railway has issued an order forbidding passengers to exchange kisses with their friends in the Jersey City station. They must give such greetings and farewells where they will not obstruct traffic. The Western manager says this order will not be enforced on his side of the Alleghany Mountains. And there you have it—the broad, expansive osculatory freedom of the West pitted against the exclusiveness of the East!

In London a curious experiment was recently tried by a South American named Papuss. Having wrapped around his body three hundred and fifty yards of flannel he lay down in a sort of glass coffin, which was then hermetically closed and placed at the bottom of a large tank filled with water. By means of an electric ventilator and of a tube, one end of which passed into the coffin, a constant supply of fresh air was assured, and this air was the only nourishment which Papuss received during the eight days that the experiment lasted. An eight days' fast is not an extraordinary occurrence, but what is particularly interesting about the present case is that the faster did not consume any water.

The "Lancet" has unearthed the curious fact that nearly all the important events in the life of His Majesty King Edward VII. have happened on a Tuesday. He was born, baptized, and married on a Tuesday; on a Tuesday he was appointed a member of the Privy Council; on a Tuesday it was definitely ascertained that he had contracted typhoid fever, and it was on a Tuesday he attended the public thanksgiving service for his recovery. On a Tuesday he succeeded to the throne; on a Tuesday the Royal Standard was first hoisted at Marlborough House, and on a Tuesday His Majesty underwent an operation for perityphlitis. Students of "the occult" may be able to deduce something from this dominance of the day dedicated to the god of war in the life of the King, but without any such deduction the series of coincidences is a very remarkable one.

Not only the horses but the powers of the law, says the London "Chronicle," are swift at Ascot, for the course has a special tribunal for the punishment of evildoers. No sooner is the pickpocket, welsher, or ticket-snatcher arrested than he is standing before Sir Albert de Rutzen in a little room in the royal stand, where the evidence is heard and the verdict and sentence pronounced before the offender fully realizes that he is caught. Nowhere else does punishment so swiftly follow crime as at this court, which is decreed by clause 31 of the Indictable Offences Act of 1848. This race-course tribunal arose curiously in the eighteenth century from an assault upon a royal personage. In his indignation at the impossibility of instant punishment of the assailant, he ordered that in future a magistrate should always attend the royal race meeting. This has ever since been done, and by the above-mentioned act the chief magistrate of Bow street was constituted ex officio a justice of the peace of the County of Berks, in order to enable him to hold this court at Ascot.

A Letter From Burns.

A traveler in Ottawa who recently visited an old Scotch settler obtained the privilege of examining the contents of a musty leather trunk full of papers and letters. In a bundle of receipts from tradesmen, preserved with Scottish thrift among the family papers, he found an unpublished letter from Robert Burns. The New York "Sun" gives it as follows, and justly remarks that it shows the great poet at his best, a sympathetic, kindly man at heart:

R. Burns, Dr., to G. Turnbull, for five copies of his poems at 2s 6d—12s 6d.

Dear Sir: I send you by John Glover, carrier, the above amount for Mr. Turnbull, as I suppose you have his address.

I would fain offer, my dear sir, a word of sympathy with your misfortunes, but it is a tender thing, and I know not how to touch it. It is easy to flourish a set of high-flown sentiments that would give great satisfaction to "a breast quite at ease," but as one observes who was seldom mistaken in the theory of life, "The heart knoweth its own sorrows, and a stranger intermeddleth not therewith." Among some distressful emergencies that I have experienced, I ever laid this down as my foundation of comfort, "that he who has lived the life of an honest man has by no means lived in vain."

With every wish for your welfare and future success, I am, my dear sir, sincerely yours,

ROBERT BURNS.

Ellesland, May 26, 1789.

To Mr. James Hamilton, Grocer, Trongate, Glasgow.

—A Peterborough schoolteacher visiting in a nearby town was a guest at a party the other day, and a lady to whom she had been just introduce did not catch the "Miss" and, supposing she was married, asked: "How many children did you say you have?" "Well, only forty now," was the reply that nearly staggered the questioner.

Mainly About People.

"What can we do with Rosslyn?" Disraeli once asked of Salisbury. "Make him master of the buckhounds, as his father was," suggested the latter. "No," replied the Premier, "he swears far too much for that. We will make him high commissioner to the Church of Scotland."

Senator Proctor of Vermont says the finest speech he ever made consisted of only four words. It was a retort to Senator Hoar's sarcastic little thrust in a speech directed at the Green Mountain senator. He said: "No man in Vermont is allowed to vote unless he has made five thousand dollars trading with Massachusetts people." Whereat Proctor said: "And we all vote."

The principal of a high school tells the following anecdote: One day at school I gave a bright boy a sum in algebra, and, although the problem was comparatively easy, he couldn't do it. I remarked, "You ought to be ashamed of yourself. At your age George Washington was a surveyor." The boy looked me straight in the eyes and replied, "Yes, sir; and at your age he was President of the United States."

A good story comes from the Davidson Theater, in Chicago, and runs to the effect that a man from up the State went in to see the opera the other night, pulling his money from his pocket before he reached the box-office window. "I want tew git a good seat," he said, loud enough to be heard all over the lobby of the theater, "and I want it right down the middle lane, and close up tew the exercises." He got it.

A hunting party of ladies and gentlemen were detained by a storm at the hut of a Virginia backwoodsman. Dinner being served, there was an embarrassing paucity of knives. The mother, wishing to impress her aristocratic guests, called in a commanding tone to her young daughter, "Fetch some more knives, Sairey; you know we've got thousands of 'em." "Law, no, ma'm; they're all thar! Thar's 'Big Butch,' and 'Little Butch,' and 'Razor-Back,' and 'Bunty.'"

David Lloyd-George, a member of Parliament from Wales, tells a good story on himself in connection with a Disestablishment meeting in which he has been taking part in Wales. A few days previous, it seems, there had been a Church Defence meeting held in the same place, at which a certain prominent dignitary of the Establishment had spoken, referring to whom Mr. Lloyd-George's chairman observed: "In my opinion that Churchman is one of the biggest liars in North Wales, but, thank goodness, we've got a match for him here to-night!"

"Chums" tells of a certain wild beast tamer who had been on bad terms for some time with one of his neighbors, and the other day, as the result of a violent quarrel, the latter, with a friend, attacked the former just before he was timed to give his performance. The tamer, unwilling to make a scene, took refuge in the lion's den. Judge of the amusement of the spectators when they beheld the two men standing in front of the cage and shouting through the bars at regular intervals: "Come out of that, you big coward; come out of that!"

Some little while ago a rather eccentric cotton manufacturer, owning large mills not a score of miles from Halifax, England, and who was familiarly known in the district round about as "Owd H——," overheard one of the lads in his employ remark to somebody: "Aw wish Aw hed 'Owd H——'s' brass, an' he wor i' th' warkhaase." Quickly retiring, "Owd H——" sent for the offender into his office, and asked him what he would do with the money, supposing his wish were to be fulfilled. The youngster was quite equal to the occasion, promptly replying: "Whoy, th' furst thing Aw'd do wod be ta fotch yo aat (out), maister." This clever reply so appeased the old gentleman that the boy was sent back to his work with half a sovereign in his pocket.

The other afternoon, says the New York "Tribune," when President Roosevelt reached Dupont Circle, a "seeing Washington" electric car hove in sight, and the guide continued his lecture through a megaphone in this way: "On the left we see the elegant residence of Mr. George Westinghouse, the millionaire inventor and electrician, formerly the home of the late James G. Blaine; a little to the left of front we perceive the palatial mansion of Mr. L. Z. Leiter, the Chicago millionaire, and father of the famous beauty, Miss Mary Leiter, now Lady Curzon, the wife of the Governor-General of India; in the park in front we are confronted by the statue of Admiral Dupont, and also in front we see the President of the United States on horseback." The crowd looked, and one woman said, "Whose statue is it, McKinley's?" "It's Roosevelt," the guide responded. "He ain't a statue yet."

Something Wrong With the Shammy.

There is a prominent doctor in Germantown who is busy telling a little joke on himself, says the Philadelphia "Evening Telegraph." It appears that he employed an Irish servant who had just arrived from the "ould sod." Starting out one morning, he noticed his office windows were rather dirty, and calling Bridget, he instructed her to clean them before he returned. At the same time he told her that he would stop and purchase a new chamois skin and send it home, and with this she was to clean the windows. After he had gone his rounds he found them thickly streaked with grease. He called Bridget, and the following colloquy took place:

"Bridget, didn't I tell you to clean the windows?"

"Yes, sor."

"And didn't I tell you to use the new chamois?"

"Yes, sor."

"Well, did you use it?"

"Sure I did, sor."

"Let me see the chamois," said the doctor, and Bridget promptly brought it. Then for the first time he learned that his wife had left the house a half hour before he did in the morning and had sent home some tripe. The doctor declines to say what happened to the chamois skin.

California Oil Stocks Have Paid Millions in Dividends

KERN COUNTY (SUNSET DISTRICT) OIL COMPANIES PAID

MORGAN IN THE OIL INDUSTRY--NEW YORK FINANCIER AT THE HEAD OF A $20,000,000 COMPANY TO EXPLOIT CALIFORNIA FIELDS

Bakersfield, Cal., Sept. 27.—J. Pierpont Morgan is about to identify himself with the oil business in California. On October 12, or a few days later, surveyors will be put into the field, and will run lines to the ocean from Sunset, Coaling, McKittrick, Midway and Kern River fields to determine by which route it is most feasible to transport oil to tide water. The surveys will run over the coast range at a number of points, and also will go down the San Joaquin valley parallel with the line of the Standard.

A company having a capitalization of $5,000,000 has been organized for the construction of lines, pumping stations, storage tanks, and the like. Mr. Morgan and his associates have also formed a separate company, capitalized at $20,000,000, half of which will be invested in proven ground and the other half turned into a reserve fund.

It is stated that the Morgan syndicate will be prepared to handle 2,000,000 barrels the first year, and will increase that amount at the rate of 1,000,000 a year until the whole demand of the market is met.

THE ST. PAUL & SUNSET OIL COMPANY own and control a large tract of absolutely oil proven asphalt land in the very heart of the best oil producing land of Kern County, California, the district where flowing wells are situated. We have a bed of Liquid Asphalt underlying a portion of our lands. Our property is situated right at Sunset Station. A new line of railway is surveyed and will be constructed in a very short time, putting us not only in touch with Eastern cities, but in touch with tide-water. This, in addition to the railroad facilities we now have. Remember that we own our land—it is paid for and entirely free from debt.

will be developed and should prove a formidable rival for the new company.

PROFESSOR DR. RUD J. SCHIMPER, Analytical and Expert Chemist, of St. Paul, makes the following statement relative to the composition, what can be produced and the estimated profits of the Sunset Crude Oil. A copy of the original certificate can be seen at the office of the St. Paul & Sunset Oil Co., which is in substance as follows:

"This is to certify that the undersigned, Dr. Rudolph J. Schimper, Chemist expert, member of Parisian Academy, according to analysis made from the crude oil furnished me by the St. Paul & Sunset Oil Company, I find the following valuable products and with each beg to submit my estimate of its value:

1. LIQUID RUBBER—2000 lbs of this crude oil (6 bbls.) will produce 1,800 lbs. of liquid rubber, value of which is from 25c. per lb. and up. (Estimated value $450.00.)
2. SOLID RUBBER—2000 lbs of this crude oil (6 bbls) will produce 1,700 lbs. of solid rubber, value of which is from 50c. upwards. (Estimated value $450.00.)
3. FUEL BRIQUETTES—2000 lbs. of this crude oil (6 bbls.) will produce 2,000 lbs. (1 ton) of fuel briquettes, which, according to government tests made, is equivalent to two tons of best anthracite coal. (Estimated value $22.00)
4. ASPHALTUM—2,000 lbs. of this crude oil (6 bbls.) will produce ½ ton of asphaltum, value $25 to $35 per ton. 25 gal. of lubricating oil, value 50c. per gal. and upward. 40 gal. illuminating oil, value 10c per gal. and up. 60 gal. of distilled oil, value 5c. per gal. and upward. (Estimated value $54.50.)
5. SOAP—2000 lbs. (1 ton) of crude oil and filling will produce over 2,000 lbs. of soap, value 3c. per lb. and upward. (Estimated value $60.00.)

In my opinion many other valuable products can be obtained from the oil of that famous field.

Respectfully, DR. R. J. SCHIMPER, Chemist Expert."

THIS goes to show the immense profits that will accrue from our products when refined. We expect to commence Building Our Refinery in the very near future. The sale of the next allotment of stock will be made for that purpose. The largest flowing wells in California were brought in adjoining our property and their stock was taken off the market. We employ the best drillers who report rapid progress on our wells and we expect to bring in gushers equal, if not to excel any in the Sunset field. Our General Manager, Superintendent and Drillers, all are experienced oil men. The officers of our company are all thorough, competent and efficient men who have always made a success of their undertaking in life and who will see that the welfare of the St. Paul and Sunset Oil Company is furthered, portected and promoted to the most advantageous extent possible.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS SHOULD BE PAID STOCKHOLDERS.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS should be paid to the stockholders of the St. Paul and Sunset Oil Company when their property is fully developed, their refinery equipped and in full operation. ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS IN DIVIDENDS was paid by Kern County Oil Companies during the month of August alone.

SIX MILLION BARRELS is the consuming capacity of the Southern Pacific Railway engines, which are now equipped for burning oil. Outside of this consider other railway lines, smelters, factories, steamships, stationery engines, which are all heavy consumers of fuel oil and last but not least, hotels and private dwellings are falling in line with the procession in the use of fuel oil.

A GOOD REASON WHY YOU Should invest in the stock of St. Paul & Sunset Oil Company. More fortunes have been made in oil than any other business. Consider the immense amount of money the Standard Oil Company has made for its fortunate stockholders, and the California oil companies have done better in proportion to their capitalization than the Standard Oil Company. Here is what $100 has accomplished for those who invested that amount in the following California companies in the beginning of their career:

Home Whittier $1,000 on an investment of $100.

Kern returned $2,200 on an investment of $100.

Peerless returned $1,800 on an investment of $100.

Dillon returned $2,500 on an investment of $100.

New York returned $30,000 on an investMent of $100.

Union returned $150,000 on an investment of $100.

Home returned $50,000 on an investment of $100.

THERE is no reason in the world why the St. Paul and Sunset Company's oil holdings and property, when developed and handled, should not bring like returns

CONTRARY to the general supposition the earth is the repository of all mineral wealth. When it is known and demonstrated beyond a question of a doubt where its wealth reposes and you put your money up to take it out, your money is invested. Hence you are an investor, not a speculator. A proven oil producing property does not draw its profits from the people but creates new wealth. It is therefore an investment.

Wonderful Increase in Value of Oil Stocks.

The rapid rise in the value of shares in some oil companies will be seen from the following table:	Original price per share	Present Market price

ALMOST SOLID COPPER

One 18 inch vein of 90 per cent copper (almost the solid metal) has been opened up in Copper Queen Extension Claim, one of the six constituting our Montana property, while mining a thirty-foot vein of free milling 18 per cent copper ore, carrying thirty ounces of silver to the ton.

This is so far ahead of our expectations, brilliant as our former prospects were, that we realize the IMMEDIATE building of a mill to handle this magnificent output, equalled in richness only by the Calumet and Hecla mines, is an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY. This will make OUR OWN portion of the stock, as well as THAT ACQUIRED BY THE PUBLIC, for the purposes of this immediate development, worth an immense amount of money in an exceedingly short time.

Help us build a Mill immediately by purchasing our One Dollar Shares, which are offered this week at 30 cents a Share as a Special Inducement to insure the speedy building of the Mill, and we will make your stock yield you an inordinate profit as quickly as the Mill can be put in operation.

We furnish the rich property—you furnish the mill. In a few months it will be in operation—almost before you expect it—and we divide the immense returns.

STOCK MARKETS

Market Caring for Itself

New York, Oct. 24.—To write a market letter descriptive of stock movements, when there is to all ostensible purposes no market, is a hard job. The writer is at loss for material, the reader wondering what can be said about nothing. At present writing, the market is apparently left to care for itself by the insiders, and for the past three days the traces of manipulation are exceedingly slight. This is positively the best thing to have happen at the present time. To keep speculation at a low ebb until money commences its return flow to New York is advisable, as it smothers and discourages any wild speculation which would at the time tend to aggravate the money market. To let the market drift as it does with declining volume of transactions is to hasten the bringing back of the money market to normal conditions, and will be better in the end for the market and the market price of securities. Investment demand is in evidence; offerings of stocks in most instances being exceedingly light. The pools appear to be laying on their oars, but hanging on tenaciously to their present holdings, which augurs well for the future of prices. Though indisposed to at the time, manipulate prices in the upward direction, they appear to be prepared to buy at current range whatever people see fit to sell. A considerable, if not the majority of, selling in the past two days has been for short account. Market indications at the time favor the bull side. The outlook is good for shareholders. We spoke yesterday of calling your attention to some splendid shares selected from the industrial list, that large and safe returns, and that are intrinsically cheap. In this class we to-day notate the preferred stock of the Pressed Steel Car Co. It pays 7 per cent in quarterly installments, and is in our opinion absolutely certain to maintain this rate under all conditions. The common stock receives 4 per cent.; the statement of the company shows it to be earning full 20 per cent. per annum upon the common stock. On Wednesday the directors met and declared the customary dividends upon preferred and common stock. At the meeting a statement of earnings for the quarter and for the nine months of their present fiscal year were given out. It showed the cash surplus of the company to have increased ofr three months $[illegible]. For nine months $1,[illegible]. The present surplus is over two and one quarter millions. It is a splendid and certain security to purchase for investment, as well as an excellent stock to buy speculatively.

Summary: An element of strength pervaded the day's dealings; fluctuations were within narrow limits, and bulk of business was confined to comparatively few issues, B. & O., Atch., St. Paul, Southern Pacific, and Norfolk being the principal trading favorites. The aggressive buying movement continued to day in C. F. I. shares, emanating from the Gates party. It carried the price of that stock up sharply. We called the attention strongly to these shares in these letters recently when selling below [illegible], urgently recommending their purchase for a movement some considerable dimensions. Our opinion of the stock at present time continues to favor the bull side, showing indications of advancing a point or so before declining an equal amount. We will probably see a rise of some proportions after election day.

At the meeting of the Canadian Ticket Agents' Association held this week at Washington, D.C., Mr. Wm. Bunton, the popular ticket agent of the Grand Trunk Railway Company was elected president of the executive committee.

Broke Collar Bone

A young five-year-old son of Mr. Ben Lellar, who resides on Simcoe street, fell from the top of a fence on which he had climbed and broke a collar bone. Dr. Gray was called in and set the bone. This is the second time within a year that the child broke his collar bone in exactly the same place.

The Automatic Telephone

Ottawa is going to try the automatic telephone system with two hundred services, at $15 and $30 as an experimental demonstration. The new telephones are to dispense with the hello girl. They are of most modern make. On the face are the ten unit numbers on separate buttons. A man who wishes to get, say 260, would press the number 2, then the number 6, then the number 0, and pull down a lever. This would put the phone in direct communication with 260. Should 260 be using their telephone, the lever will indicate this. Thus there is no need of a central exchange. The wires come together in a central point, but one man is enough to look after everything there. Thus the cost of maintenance is much reduced.

ANOTHER NEW BANK

The Crown Bank of Canada is to be Opened at Once

We are to have still another bank, the "Crown Bank of Canada," for which a charter was obtained at the last session of the Dominion Parliament. The provisional directors, as named in the charter, are Senator McMullen, of Mount Forest, Michael Patrick Davis, of Ottawa and Whitford Vandusen, Henry Romain Hardy, Wm. James Clarke, and Daniel A. Gordon, of Toronto. The head office of the bank will be in toronto, and the Board of Directors and other officers will be named at once, andthe bank opened within a very short time.

It is said that branches are to be opened in Ottawa, Montreal, Winnipeg, London, Hamilton, Guelph and Peterborough

Never Behind Hand

Most printing concerns have three hands: Right hand, left hand and a little behind hand. This great family journal has only two, right and left. It is never behind hand in supplying the latest and most authentic news from all parts of the world. Our jobbing department is splendidly equipped and is also run on the same lines.

A Change to be Made

The Ontario Government contemplates a change in the supervision of the 1,300 cheese factories in Ontario, by which a system of licensing will be introduced in the near future. The appointment of two cheese factory inspectors who have during the season devoted themselves to about twenty-five factories each, has resulted in the receipt of an increase of one-eight to one-quarter a cent a pound all summer on the product of these factories over the price received by others.

A Generous Act

The generous act of the Dickson Company in letting the town out oftheir contract for wood, is one that we are sure the people will fully appreciate. In the first place the Company sold the 600 cords of wood to the corporation for less money than they could have obtained elsewhere; then when the strike ended, and the demand for fuel abated, and no risk of a fuel famine existed, they cheerfully release the town from any obligation to take the wood. It was a generous act, and one that should not be forgotten.

Corporation Light

Now that Peterborough is in possession of a dam of its own, whereby power may be developed to furnish electric light, the following is of special interest: "Brockville at least, seems to have profited by municipalization of its lighting plant. Two years ago the plant was acquired by the municipality. As the year draws to a close the commissioners find that in addition to providing for the annual payment on the debenture debt, both for purchase and improvements, they can reduce the price of fuel gas from $1.25 to $1, and this in the face of coal at $8 a ton."

A Safe Investment

From information received from the Lima, O., Oil Fields, we are satisfied that the National Oil Co., whose ad has been running in this paper for some time, is one of the most substantial oil companies in the Buckey State. They are operating on legitimate lines and is in no sense a stock jobbing concern.

They are not connected in any way or manner with any other oil company and court the fullest investigation of their property and their standing. They have the production from the wells they now own, which they sell to the Standard oil company, to pay the dividend guaranteed on all the stock they have sold including the block of 300,000 shares they are now offering. The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used in developing leases they now hold, as they have acquired over 300 acres of additional leases in the best part of the Auglaize and Mercer county fields, since their ad. was first placed in this paper. We are informed that all stock subscribed for by the 10th of October will be entitled to a full quarterly dividend on Dec. 2d.

They have appointed Mr. Wm. Fair, of this city, their fiscal agent, and we advise any person seeking a safe investment to call upon him.

A LITTLE ACCIDENT

Saved a Lot of Money

Food that will safely and surely carry a man through exhausting mental work is worth knowing of.

A man in St. Louis, Mo., says:—"In my work, it is necessary to begin at seven o'clock and work straight through without lunch until two P.M. You can readily see that this is a strain on the ordinary person, and I was frequently worn out and sick with hunger and weakness. On numerous occasions when two o'clock came round, I was so utterly exhausted and unstrung as to be forced to lose the remainder of the day, and that carried with it a loss of money.

The first package of Grape-Nuts came into our house a little over a year ago by accident. There has been one by design ever since that time. Almost immediately after beginning to use Grape-Nuts, I felt its good effect in my ability to work those long hours in comfort. There was no sickness or weakness, and no loss of time from exhaustion. In my business, it is also necessary to work every Wednesday night of each week. The change from day to night work and then back again is certainly no light call on the reserve force of any one, and my invariable preparation for this task is a generous saucer of Grape-Nuts and cream, a light lunch but a most sustaining one.

An old friend was visiting me recently, and while eating the evening meal I was extolling Grape-Nuts to him. He rather doubted the deliciousness of the food. My three children, aged four, six and eight years, were at the time watching a large cream cake on the table, and enjoying in anticipation the treat. I asked the three which they would perfer for desert—cream cake or Grape-Nuts. Without hesitation they answered in chorus, 'Grape-Nuts.' My friend was convinced.

The only breakfast the children have is Grape-Nuts and rich milk, and you could not find a more healthy trio." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich."

COAL AT $4 50 PER TON

The McClellan Coal Company Supplying the Schools

We noticed in yesterday's Toronto papers that a dealer in Hamilton is selling soft coal at $7.50 per ton. This is regarded as exceedingly cheap. But it is not to be compared to the price at which the same coal is being delivered to our schools by the McClelland Coal Company, who are putting in 400 tons at $4.50 per ton. Taking the extra freight which we have to pay as compared to Hamilton into consideration (a matter of 80c. per ton) it makes a difference of $3.80. It is easy figuring up how much the ratepayers are saving.

The citizens, we are sure, appreciate what Mr. McClelland is doing in regard to cheap coal for the schools.

Fish Confiscated

Toronto Globe: "An Eastern Ontario fishery officer, journeying to Toronto yesterday, had his official senses aroused by a suspicious looking barrel which he espied on his arrival here. Prompted by the sense of smell he made an investigation, and found it contained a large quantity of maskinonge, consigned to a Front-st. merchant. It was found that the fish had been shipped from Peterborough, and that they had been netted, which is contrary to law; so he reported to the department, and the spoil was confiscated, and disposed of to deserving charitable institutions." Perhaps there is a mistake as to the locality; netting is not common in our waters.

The Morning Paper

In the morning, one feels fresh and vigorous, with body rested, and one is mentally active and energetic. You want to be up and "dong thinks." An axiom of the commercial world is to do business before the day is late. No new proposition should be placed before a tired man or woman.

This logically explains the superiority of the morning newspaper as an advertising medium. An advertisement in The Times reaches the mind when the reader's mind is active and aggressive—when to think is to act.

The great newspaper in every city is always a morning paper. Its influence is wider and prevails amongst the more thoughtful and thrifty. The evening newspaper, because of its narrow sphere of circulation, and the fact that it reaches a wearied, passive mind, can never be a power, nor yet a productive advertising medium amongst other than the poorer classes.

A Quart Baby.

Now and again there is an item in the newspapers concerning the birth of a puny baby so small that a quart cup holds it comfortably. If the article told all the facts it would probably tell also of a mother who in weakness and misery had looked forward to the baby's advent with shrinking and fear.

To have fine, healthy children the mother must be healthy, and it is the common testimony of mothers that the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription not only promotes the mother's health but also gives her strength to give to her child.

"Favorite Prescription" accomplishes these results by tranquilizing the nerves, promoting a healthy appetite, and giving refreshing sleep. It increases physical vigor and gives great muscular elasticity, so that the baby's advent is practically painless. It is the best of tonics for nursing mothers.

"I gladly recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. J. W. G. Stephens, of Mila, Northumberland County, Va. "Before my third little boy was born I took six bottles. He is the finest child and has been from birth, and I suffered very much less than I ever did before. I unhesitatingly advise expectant mothers to use the 'Favorite Prescription.'"

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" does so to gain the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing 1008 pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 50 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 31 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

One had told about a heavy rainstorm he had been in on Pigeon Lake last summer. The genial proprietor, who was present, said he saw nothing wonderful in that. "I remember once," he said, "when I was in Bobcaygeon, we had a rain that was worth telling about. A neighbor of mine rolled out into the yard an empty barrel that had both ends taken out. A storm came on and the water poured into the bunghole faster than it could run out of the ends, with the result that the barrel burst. And it was a mighty fine barrel, too." This settled it. The boys took something to keep them from fainting.

Suspicious Man Caught—King and Queen Made Their Formal Parade in the Metropolis of the Empire Saturday

London, Oct. 24.—The Sun prints an unconfirmed story of the arrest of a foreigner near a stand erected for a view of the Royal procession, with two pounds of suspicious powdery substance in his possession.

The Sun says that George Martin, a clergyman, was remanded at the Southwark Police Court to-day charged with having a pound of gunpowder in his possession with felonious intent.

London, Oct. 25, 3.42 p.m.—The Guild Hall caught fire shortly after their Majesties left the building. Fire engines are now rushing to the scene.

3.47 p.m.—It turned out that the fire was in the dome of the Guild Hall, some distance from the part of the building where the luncheon was held. The firemen easily subdued the flames.

London, Oct. 25 — King Edward and Queen Alexandra started on the Royal progress toward the city shortly after noon today, in somewhat dull weather. The rain, however, kept off, and the temperature was sufficiently mild to make the day enjoyable. Outside Buckingham Palace, which naturally was one of the greatest centers of attraction, a great crowd had been waiting for hours, watching the arrivals and departures and the forming up of the procession. The brilliancy of the latter was greatly detracted from by the fact that all the troops were cloaked. The only touch of color was from the lance pennants of the Lancers and the brass helmets of the heavy cavalry. The khaki-painted guns of the artillery, and a naval gun of the same hue, added to the general tone of soberness. The roofs of houses near the palace, and other points of vantage, giving a view of the picturesque panorama in Green Park and the historic Mall, were filled with spectators, whose cheering announced to the less privileged public the starting of the state carriage with their Majesties.

Roberts Almost Unnoticed.

The procession formed up outside the gate and had already moved off when the first carriages containing Royal personages and members of the household emerged therefrom. The veteran Duke of Cambridge, who was in a carriage with Princess Victoria, came in for considerable cheering, but Lord Roberts and his staff passed almost unnoticed.

There was a somewhat tedious interval before the appearance of their Majesties, who drew forth the first real cheers of the day as they passed through the rows of bluejackets from the first-class cruiser, Terrible lining either side of the main entrance to the palace. The King wore a Field Marshal's uniform with the cloak thrown back, showing his decorations. The Queen had on a straw-colored toque and a fur collaret and cloak. Both the King and Queen looked extremely well, and continuously bowed their acknowledgments of the warm welcome extended to them. The King's escort of Life Guards, equerries, etc., was about the only detachment of the procession not wearing cloaks, and these troopers made a brilliant display."

Boer Generals There.

Partly in consequence of the length of the route, there was nowhere a great crush of people, with the exception of open spaces like Trafalgar Square, where the London County Council presented the King with an address of welcome, and where the Boer Generals Botha, De la Rey and De Wet were prominent among the spectators, and at the City Boundary, Temple Bar, where the Lord Mayor, sheriffs, and other city officials welcomed his Majesty, and presented him with the city's sword.

At the Mansion House, most of the procession stopped, their Majesties from there being accompanied only by the Sovereign's escort, and the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught, and other princes, equerries and aids, to the Guild Hall, where they arrived without any extraordinary incidents.

Princesses Upset.

Owing to the King's carriage being the last some confusion occurred at the entrance to the Guild Hall in an endeavor to empty the carriages quickly and avoid keeping his Majesty.

Several of the Princesses were rather unceremoniously deposited on the sidewalk, where they tried to throw their wraps into carriages which were being hustled off down a narrow street, and a confused mass of Princesses, ladies-in-waiting, and such generals as has time to dismount, gathered under the canopied entrance.

When the King arrived he looked tired, and stepped heavily from his carriage. The Queen threw off the wrap which covered her simple, straw-colored dress, trimmed with gold. Her Majesty who looked marvelously youthful and well, accepted a boquet from the Lady Mayoress, and the King shook hands with her. The procession then started off, down a long, picturesque row of "beef-eaters."

In the great hall the seven hundred persons waiting about the luncheon tables cheered as the King came in. His Majesty accepted the corporation's address, and then the members of the Royal family sat down and the luncheon commenced.

His Majesty in London.

The most interesting feature of the Royal progress up to this point was the King's reply to the address of the London County Council on Trafalgar square. The Boer generals occupied prominent seats in the center of the County Council stand, immediately facing the King. His Majesty's reply was clearly audible to all in the vicinity. He said:

"It gives much pleasure, both to myself and the Queen to receive in person the loyal and dutiful address of the center of municipal authority on the occasion of our progress through the capital of the Empire, and to receive the greetings of our people on our coronation. Your confidence that my favor will be extended to every measure calculated to ameliorate the conditions of numerous important questions which come under your consideration none appeal more strongly to my interest and sympathy than those directly touching on the welfare of the poorer classes of this and other great cities. I thank you for your good wishes for myself and my house. I cordially share your aspiration that it may be granted me by the same Divine Providence which preserved my life from imminent danger to reign over my firmly established and peaceful Empire, and in the loyal hearts of my contented and prosperous people."

A Brilliant Scene.

The interior of the great hall of the Guild Hall presented a brilliant scene. It was filled with members of the Royal family and diplomats, officers and officials, all in full uniform, with their breasts blazing with orders.

The King's reply to the address in the Guild Hall was much on the same lines as his speech at Trafalgar Square.

After lunch the common crier called for a toast to his Majesty, the King, and Madame Albani, stationed in one of the galleries, sang the National Anthem, in which the whole company joined.

After other formal toasts the party left the hall, the procession re-forming and it re-started on its progress across the river.

The pageant traversed miles of streets on the Surrey side of the River Thames. There was no special incident, though the heartiness of the welcome far transcended anything heard in the more aristocratic portions of the route.

Their Majesties returned to the palace at 3.30 p.m.

Woman Aged 117, Near Exeter

Has Been a Widow 50 Years—She Still Retains Her Faculties

Exeter, Ont., Oct. 26—Mr. C. H. Sanders of the Exeter Advocate and Mr. Robert Sanders, of Exeter had the pleasure a few days ago of shaking hands and conversing with Mrs. Mary Ann Mills, of the 8th concession of Blanshard. Mrs. Mills celebrated her 117th birthday on Saturday last. She was born in County Fermanagh, Ireland, on October 18th, 1785. Mrs. Mills and her husband came to Canada in 1857, and settled in the Township of Usborne, in this county. Two years afterwards Mr. Mills died, and Mrs. Mills has been a widow for nearly half a century. They had a family of five sons and four daughters, and of these six are still living. The eldest son resides in St. Thomas and is 77 years of age.

Although physically feeble, her intellect is still unimpaired. She has been under the reign of five British sovereigns. Mrs. Mills never took as much as two bottles of medicine in her life. She made her own pills. She loved tea, and she sipped it several times a day, taking one half a cup of strong tea at each meal, with cream and sugar, but was not a coffee drinker. Liquor has been used as a medicine; she has been a moderate eater of fruit and vegetable diet; prefers milk to drink instead of water, and is fond of fruit. She never fretted, was always contented, and never nervous. It had been her delight to be out of doors, and a pleasure for her to work in the garden and in the field.

A good sleeper, Mrs. Mills occasionally retired before sunset, usually getting up in the morning before sunrise. Her church denomination is Methodist and up to 111 years of age she was strong enough in body to walk a quarter of a mile to attend services at the church of her choice. It is said of her that she was ever ready to speak in class meeting. It has been her custom to read the Bible every day. At 106 years she hemmed bookmarks on silk for each of her grandchildren, and could thread a needle without glasses. As an evidence of Mrs Mills' cheerful and active disposition, it is stated that when 106 years of age she would occasionally delight her granddaughters by showing how to step off a jig on the floor.

AGED, BUT GAME

Six Robbers Met More Than Their Match in an Old Farmer

Cleveland, O., Oct 26.—In a secluded farm house on a country road two miles from the village of Rochester, in Lorain county, last night, three aged men named Meach were attacked by six desperate robbers. As a result two of the robbers were shot to death, one probably fatally wounded and two of the Meach brothers are badly beaten. There are three of the Meach brothers, Loren, aged nearly 80 years; John, about 70, and Jarvis, aged 65. The old men are said to be rich. About eight o'clock, while in the barn, John was surrounded by three robbers and bound. Going to the house they knocked Jarvis Meach into insensibility by blows on the head. John Meach worked himself free from his bonds, however, and securing a shotgun cautiously stole upon the three burglars, who were working on the safe. He shot two of them to death and fatally wounded the third men. The three companions of the men who were watching outside the house, realizing their danger, immediately got away. The third of the brothers, Loren, is bedridden and could offer no resistance, so he was not molested. The authorities are scouring the neighborhood, and great exitment prevails. The would-be robbers secured no money. The wounded robber was taken into custody, but he refused to make any statement as to his identity and there was nothing on his person to tell who he was. The authorities believe the men are from Cleveland. The outlaws are typical tramps in appearance.

CONSTERNATION IN THE TRANSVAAL.

Order of the Government for Abolition of Town Guards in Cape Colony

London, Oct. 25—A Cape Town correspondent says that the Government order for the disbandment of the town guards throughout Cape Colony has caused strong indignation among the loyalists. The Afrikander Bond, adds the correspondent, resents the very existence of these local forces which were raised to defend the royalists throughout the country.

London, Oct. 25—The postponment of the Transvaal Loan Bill has been received with considerable consternation, says a Johannesburg correspondent. However, the correspondent adds, the best has to be made of the business. People have been waiting in the hope that extraneous circumstances would give them the first start on the road of progress. They must now make up their mind to look to themselves to make the country go ahead steadily.

London, Oct. 25—A Brussels correspondent says that the Dutch subscriptions received by the committee formed to aid the Boer war sufferers exceed $100,000. The Belgian subscriptions amount to $9,000 which is less than a penny per head for the population of Brussels.

London, Oct. 25—The Old Age Pensions Act providing pensions for indigent workmen, aged sixty-five years and over, is embarrassing the Belgian Government, says a Brussels correspondent. Many demands for pensions during the last twelve months have upset the Government's financial calculations. It appears that the local committees have been admitting the claims of large numbers of retired tradesmen and others not entitled to the bounty, which is intended for bona fide laborers only. The Government will dissolve the local committees and revive lists.

London, Oct. 25—Thanks to the vigorous initiative of the Governor, says an Odessa correspondent, everything possible is being done to stamp out the plague. The Governor's efforts are being supported financially by the corporation of the city, and the Central Government. The latter has assigned about $13,000 monthly to provide medical assistance. Considerable private subscriptions are also coming in. The deaths up to date number only fifteen. The outbreak, says the correspondent, is attributed to infection carried by rats. A big colony of these vermin has been destroyed by burning the large bazaar in the centre of the town which contained dozens of old wooden buildings. The correspondent adds that it is confidently hoped that the present measures will speedily result in ridding Odessa of the disease.

London, Oct. 25—An order has been issued, says the Athens correspondent, which has resulted in the release of M. Tatarcheff, president of the local Bulgarian Committee at Salonika, who had been imprisoned at Athens for the last six weeks, charged with the murder of a Greek. The evidence was declared insufficient to justify holding him. M. Tatarcheff's arrest caused indignation at Sofia, and his conviction would probably have led to retaliation upon the large Greek population in Eastern Rumelia. M Tatarcheff is a Turkish subject, but the Turkish Legation at Athens refrained from interfering in the case.

ANOTHER BIG SWINDLE

How a Number of Peterborough Farmers Have Been Taken In

A number of farmers residing in this district claim to have been taken in by a creamery company, and they are now trying to get out of paying for articles purchased and paid for promissory notes. The notes were discounted, and now the farmers have been called upon to settle.

Some months ago a man representing the Arctic Creamery Company called on a number of farmers and exhibited to them a new style of a milk can. It was claimed that the lining of the can was also constructed so that it was not subject to the changes in temperature. Many of the farmers purchased the can, giving their notes for $60. The representative of the company disappeared after he had delivered the cans and secured the notes.

In a short time the farmers allege they made an investigation of the packing in the cans and found only a thick layer of sawdust.

THE QUEEN OF SPAIN MAY RETURN TO DIE

Young King Invites Aged Isabella to Return to the Capital

BUT SHE STILL LOVES GAY PARIS

Though Dowager is 73 Years Old Today, She is Fond of French Gaieties

Paris, Oct. 27.—According to current report, the young King of Spain is desirous of having his parental grandmother, the former Queen Isabella II., return to Madrid and spend her declining years in the Spanish capital. It is doubtful if the invitation will be accepted, as the former queen, despite her age—she will be 73 to-morrow—is known to be extremely fond of Paris and its gayeties.

Should the invitation be accepted it would be curious indeed to see the old queen once more surrounded by many who formed her gay court in days gone by—stately, portly dames, with snow-white hair, who used to be her fair ladies in waiting, and aged courtiers who were the dashing wild youths of her time.

There are still several duchesses, marchionesses and countesses surviving the gallant court of Isabella II., and among them, though far from the land of her youth, is Eugenie, ex-empress of the French, who was then the lovely lady-in-waiting styled "The Countess of Teba."

The sons and daughters of these aged courtiers are now occupying high positions under the young king.

But it would not be among these grandees and nobles that the venerable ex-queen would receive her most affectionate welcome. It is among the people that her memory is kept green.

The present generation of workers in Spain have heard what a popular queen Isabella II. was; how her court was the gayest of the gay; how there was always plenty of work for everyone; how the queen used to go among them herself and take an interest in all their small doings, and how she freely gave to the needy, heedless of the ruined state of her treasury.

QUEEN STILL LAVISH.

With money the old lady is still generous to lavishness. The story is told that her chamberlain, in despair at her royal disregard of questions of ways and means, arranged a financial object lesson for her. He drew 5,000 francs in 5-franc pieces, fresh from the mint, and spread the bright silver coins upon a table in a room through which the queen often passed. They made a show and glitter, and when Isabella saw them she said: "Why, marquis, you tell me my coffers are empty, and here is all this money." "Madame," replied the chamberlain, "here is barely enough for the sustenance of your majesty's household three days."

The former queen lives very comfortably, but with little state in her fine Paris house in the Avenue Kleber, and since the death of her husband, Don Francisco, last April, she has been seen very little in public. Her daughters visit her by turns, but her favorite child is the Infanta Eulalia, who resembles her most.

During most of her residence in France she has spent a number of weeks out of every summer at her villa at St. Adresse, a romantic spot on the cliffs close to Havre. It used to be her favorite pastime to make excursions along the coast incognito visiting Trouville, Dieppe, Honfleur and other neighboring resorts.

ITEMS OF NEWS BY CABLE AND LETER

Toronto, Oct. 25—"I am surprised at Canada. Your rivers impress me, your woods impress me, and more than all, I am impressed by the friendliness of the Canadians."

This in brief is the feeling of the Boer farm delegates who are now in Toronto, the guests of the Government.

The speaker was Mr. T. H. Rood, of Ermelo, South Africa, who, with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jooste, and Mr. and Mrs. Moody Lane, of Klerksdorp arrived in Toronto this morning via the C. P. R. from Ottawa.

Their Own Immense Farms.

The visitors shatter the tradition that the recent war has conjured up about the Boers. The men are not shaggy, gruff, or uncouth. They have no whiskers that hang askew and blow to the wind. They look more like the Eastern Yankee than the residents of the former Boer Republics. They are linguists and gentlemen of refinement. Mr. Jooste owns 34,000 acres, divided into fifteen farms. Mr. Lane is also a wealthy farmer, while the father of Mrs. Rood is one of the influential men of his country. Mr. Jooste's farms were entirely devasted by the war, and they are of the opinion that it will take fully ten years before the country will be in a normal condition. Mr. Rood went through the war as aide-de-camp for Botha and twice was wounded. The other two delegates were captured at Paardeberg and went to St. Helena with Gen. Cronje.

To the Star this morning Mr. Rood said "I cannot express to you how surprised I was when we came up the St. Lawrence. You cannot imagine my feelings, for we have no rivers like you. And your trees; why, we have nothing like that where I came from. And your little villages and farms, why it was a perfect picture.

"We have visited some of your saw mills, and I am sure Canadians should be proud of their great timber supply, for that is an asset that you should carefully treasure."

"How about Canadian products in South Africa?"

"Well, since the war there should be a great opening for Canadian-made goods, for the farms will be re-stocking and in many cases it will be just like commencing house all over again. We use just about the same things as you do, and use many of the luxuries, just as the Canadians. Corn with us stands in the same relation as wheat with you, and we expect to carry back many valuable suggestions. One already that has taken me very much is the use of the [illegible]."

Won't Talk Politics.

"Do you think the country will settle down now and become a harmonious whole, as it is wished?"

Mr. Rood wouldn't answer this question, but shrugged his shoulders and said: "I can't talk about politics and I left Africa too soon after the trouble to give you an intelligent answer."

Captain Kirkpatrick, an Imperial officer, accompanied the delegate to this country. Captain Kirkpatrick went to South Africa to shoot, but himself was shot in turn by Cupid, and married a Boer lady, who is with him. The two remained in Ottawa, and Mr. W. W. Moore, of the Agricultural Department, Ottawa, will take the delegates as far west as Vancouver, when they will go to Australia.

The delegates are loaded with kodaks, and are shooting the best things in sight. When they return they will exhibit the pictures and lecture on what they have seen. While in Toronto they will visit its various points of interest, including the Massey-Harris works. Tomorrow they will go to the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. Sunday will likely be spent very quietly.

PORTFOLIO WILL BE VACANT FOR TWO WEEKS

Premier Says It Will Probably Take That Time to Sound His Friends as to Mr. Tarte's Successor--He Proceeded to Quebec and Afterwards Goes to Arthabaskaville

Montreal, Oct. 25—The impression in well informed circles today is that Mr. fontaine's chances of entering the Cabinet have considerably improved. The personal popularity of the ex-mayor is undoubtedly very great in this district and it is urged that in the qualifications for the office just vacated by Mr. Tarte he is away ahead of any of his competitors.

The other gentlemen named are lawyers and politicians, but are absolutely without experience in administrative affairs. Mr. Prefontaine on the other hand knows a good deal about administration and particularly in connection with engineering matters. He is not, however, persona grata, with some of the Liberal papers in this city, which during the time he was quarreling with Mr. Tarte espoused the cause of the late Minister of Public Works, and in so doing said things about Mr. Prefontaine that they find it hard to swallow now.

"As far as I can see at the present time, it will be at least two weeks before the appointment of a Minister of Public Works will be made."

This was the statement made to a press representative by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, at the close of his interviews with the leading Liberals of the district of Montreal.

Accompanied by Lady Laurier and Mr. H. G. Carroll, Solicitor-General, the Premier left for Quebec.

"It is a matter," the Premier went on to say, "that needs much consideration and what I desire to get, especially, is the views of the leading members of the Liberal party throughout the Province of Quebec. This I have done in Montreal and after spending a few days in Quebec I will go to Arthabaskaville on Monday o. Tuesday. I will return to Ottawa, after again visiting Montreal, and the appointment will likely be announced after I have had an opportunity of conferring with my colleagues.

OTTAWA IS EXPECTANT.

Ottawa, October 26—In political circles here every one is on the qui vive for the announcement of a successor to Hon. J. I. Tarte. One report which has at least semi-official countenance is current to the effect that Hon. James Sutherland will retain the portfolio of Public Works, Hon. L. P. Brodeur succeeding Mr. Sutherland at Marine and Fisheries and Mr. Raymond Prefontaine become Speaker provided that these arrangements can be in anyway be made acceptable to the party managers in Montreal. From conversation held, it is gathered that such progress has been made in this direction, that is is possible that an official announcement will be made this afternoon.

Sir Frederick Borden has returned to the city from Boston and resumed his official duties. The rumor that he is in any way disgruntled with matters connected with the Premier of the Government is authoratively denied.

DENIAL FROM QUEBEC'S PREMIER.

Quebec, Oct. 25— There is naturally much interest taken here in the succession to Mr. Tarte, especially in view of Sir Wilfrid's coming visit, which is believed to be for the purpose of consulting his friend, Mr. Parent, whose counsel he is shown to prize very highly. Mr. Parent denies that there is any question of his entry into the Cabinet at Ottawa, and Hon. F. Langlier's friends do not credit the report that a portfolio has been offered him, because it is admitted here that the vacant seat in the Cabinet belongs to Montreal.

NEW ENGLAND HAS A RECIPROCITY LEAGUE

Its Aims and Objects are Set Forth in a Circular Which Has Just Been Made Public

Boston, Mass. Oct. 26—The New English Reciprocity League, through its secretary, William B. Bringham issues the following:

"Eugene N. Foss, Republican candidate for Congress, in the eleventh district has insistently declared for Canadian reciprocity and free iron, coal and hides. Now it is possible to announce that he is the prime mover in the organization of the New England Reciprocity League.

"The object of this league is to organize the merchants and manufacturers for educational purposes with established headquarters and all the modern facilities for impressing the commercial and industrial needs of New England on the public. The theory of the League is that Pennsylvania and other great states have never been over-modest in urging their own claims upon Congress—a fact seriously emphasized by the price of hard coal at the present time—and that it is exceedingly doubtful, if it is not actually a stupid policy for New England silently allow herself to be deprived of one of the most important of her natural markets, while there is hope of retaining it without injury a to any legitimate business interest in this country.

Although the League has yet made no definite declaration of its principles the spirit in which it purposes to act is that embodied in the last address of President McKinley, and is set forth with peculiar fitness in the sentences of that statement:

"Reciprocity treaties are in harmony with the spirit of the time. Is some of our tariffs are no longer needed for revenue or to encourage our industries at home, why should they not be employed to extend and promote our markets abroad?"

It is suggested by the promoters of the league, however, that the expansion of commerce is only one of the phases of the question of better reciproval trade relations. The other more startling is discovered in many current developments and is concisely conveyed in the recent utterances of Hon. John Charlton, M.P., a leading statesman in Canada:

"This condition of affairs probably is not acceptable to Americans. If so, they may charge the responsibility to their own government, for the policy of the United States toward Canada is primarily and almost exclusively responsible for the present state of matters. Time and again has Canada sought to break the bands of repression only to be repulsed as often as the effort was made; and at last in despair she turns to imperialism and after turning its claim to the light of critical examination will probably swing over to the American policy and adopt reciprocity of tariffs and legislative strangulation of her American import trade in manufacturers, amounting to over $105,000,000 per annum."

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services.

EXCITEMENT RUNS HIGH IN CITY OF OLD LONDON

Suspicious Man Caught—King and Queen Made Their Formal Parade in the Metropolis of the Empire Saturday

London, Oct. 24.—The Sun prints an unconfirmed story of the arrest of a foreigner near a stand erected for a view of the Royal procession, with two pounds of suspicious powdery substance in his possession.

The Sun says that George Martin, a clergyman, was remanded at the Southwark Police Court to-day charged with having a pound of gunpowder in his possession with felonious intent.

London, Oct. 25, 3.43 p.m.—The Guild Hall caught fire shortly after their Majesties left the building. Fire engines are now rushing to the scene.

3.47 p.m.—It turned out that the fire was in the dome of the Guild Hall, some distance from the part of the building where the luncheon was held. The firemen easily subdued the flames.

London, Oct. 25 — King Edward and Queen Alexandra started on the Royal progress toward the city shortly after noon today, in somewhat dull weather. The rain, however, kept off, and the temperature was sufficiently mild to make the day enjoyable. Outside Buckingham Palace, which naturally was one of the greatest centers of attraction, a great crowd had been waiting for hours, watching the arrivals and departures and the forming up of the procession. The brilliancy of the latter was greatly detracted from by the fact that all the troops were cloaked. The only touch of color was from the lance pennants of the Lancers and the brass helmets of the heavy cavalry. The khaki-painted guns of the artillery, and a naval gun of the same hue, added to the general tone of soberness. The roofs of houses near the palace, and other points of vantage, giving a view of the picturesque panorama in Green Park and the historic Mall, were filled with spectators, whose cheering announced to the less privileged public the starting of the state carriage with their Majesties.

Roberts Almost Unnoticed.

The procession formed up outside the gate and had already moved off when the first carriages containing Royal personages and members of the household emerged therefrom. The veteran Duke of Cambridge, who was in a carriage with Princess Victoria, came in for considerable cheering, but Lord Roberts and his staff passed almost unnoticed.

There was a somewhat tedious interval before the appearance of their Majesties, who drew forth the first real cheers of the day as they passed through the rows of bluejackets from the first-class cruiser, Terrible lining either side of the main entrance to the palace. The King wore a Field Marshal's uniform with the cloak thrown back, showing his decorations. The Queen had on a straw-colored toque and a fur collaret and cloak. Both the King and Queen looked extremely well, and continuously bowed their acknowledgments of the warm welcome extended to them. The King's escort of Life Guards, equerries, etc., was about the only detachment of the procession not wearing cloaks, and these troopers made a brilliant display."

Boer Generals There.

Partly in consequence of the length of the route, there was nowhere a great crush of people, with the exception of open spaces like Trafalgar Square, where the London County Council presented the King with an address of welcome, and where the Boer Generals Botha, De la Rey and De Wet were prominent among the spectators, and at the City Boundary, Temple Bar, where the Lord Mayor, sheriffs, and other city officials welcomed his Majesty, and presented him with the city's sword.

At the Mansion House, most of the procession stopped, their Majesties from there being accompanied only by the Sovereign's escort, and the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught, and other princes, equerries and aids, to the Guild Hall, where they arrived without any extraordinary incidents.

Princesses Upset.

Owing to the King's carriage being the last some confusion occurred at the entrance to the Guild Hall in an endeavor to empty the carriages quickly and avoid keeping his Majesty.

Several of the Princesses were rather unceremoniously deposited on the sidewalk, where they tried to throw their wraps into carriages which were being hustled off down a narrow street, and a confused mass of Princesses, ladies-in-waiting, and such generals as has time to dismount, gathered under the canopied entrance.

When the King arrived he looked tired, and stepped heavily from his carriage. The Queen threw off the wrap which covered her simple, straw-colored dress, trimmed with gold. Her Majesty who looked marvelously youthful and well, accepted a boquet from the Lady Mayoress, and the King shook hands with her. The procession then started off, down a long, picturesque row of "beef-eaters."

In the great hall the seven hundred persons waiting about the luncheon tables cheered as the King came in. His Majesty accepted the corporation's address, and then the members of the Royal family sat down and the luncheon commenced.

His Majesty in London.

The most interesting feature of the Royal progress up to this point was the King's reply to the address of the London County Council on Trafalgar square. The Boer generals occupied prominent seats in the center of the County Council stand, immediately facing the King. His Majesty's reply was clearly audible to all in the vicinity. He said:

"It gives much pleasure, both to myself and the Queen to receive in person the loyal and dutiful address of the center of municipal authority on the occasion of our progress through the capital of the Empire, and to receive the greetings of our people on our coronation. Your confidence that my favor will be extended to every measure calculated to ameliorate the conditions of numerous important questions which come under your consideration none appeal more strongly to my interest and sympathy than those directly touching on the welfare of the poorer classes of this and other great cities. I thank you for your good wishes for myself and my house. I cordially share your aspiration that it may be granted me by the same Divine Providence which preserved my life from imminent danger to reign over my firmly established and peaceful Empire, and in the loyal hearts of my contented and prosperous people."

A Brilliant Scene.

The interior of the great hall of the Guild Hall presented a brilliant scene. It was filled with members of the Royal family and diplomats, officers and officials, all in full uniform, with their breasts blazing with orders.

The King's reply to the address in the Guild Hall was much on the same lines as his speech at Trafalgar Square.

After lunch the common crier called for a toast to his Majesty, the King, and Madame Albani, stationed in one of the galleries, sang the National Anthem, in which the whole company joined.

After other formal toasts the party left the hall, the procession re-forming and it re-started on its progress across the river.

The pageant traversed miles of streets on the Surrey side of the River Thames. There was no special incident, though the heartiness of the welcome far transcended anything heard in the more aristocratic portions of the route.

Their Majesties returned to the palace at 3.30 p.m.

Woman Aged 117, Near Exeter

Has Been a Widow 50 Years—She Still Retains Her Faculties

Exeter, Ont., Oct. 25—Mr. C. H. Sanders of the Exeter Advocate and Mr. Robert Sanders, of Exeter had the pleasure a few days ago of shaking hands and conversing with Mrs. Mary Ann Mills, of the 8th concession of Blanshard. Mrs. Mills celebrated her 117th birthday on Saturday last. She was born in County Fermanagh, Ireland, on October 18th, 1785. Mrs. Mills and her husband came to Canada in 1857, and settled in the Township of Usborne, in this county. Two years afterwards Mr. Mills died, and Mrs. Mills has been a widow for nearly half a century. They had a family of five sons and four daughters, and of these six are still living. The eldest son resides in St. Thomas and is 77 years of age.

Although physically feeble, her intellect is still unimpaired. She has been under the reign of five British sovereigns Mrs. Mills never took as much as two bottles of medicine in her life. She made her own pills. She loved tea, and she sipped it several times a day, taking one half a cup of strong tea at each meal, with cream and sugar, but was not a coffee drinker. Liquor has been used as a medicine; she has been a moderate eater of fruit and vegetable diet; prefers milk to drink instead of water, and is fond of fruit. She never fretted, was always contented, and never nervous. It had been her delight to be out of doors, and a pleasure for her to work in the garden and in the field.

A good sleeper, Mrs. Mills occasionally retired before sunset, usually getting up in the morning before sunrise. Her church denomination is Methodist and up to 111 years of age she was strong enough in body to walk a quarter of a mile to attend services at the church of her choice. It is said of her that she was ever ready to speak in class meeting. It has been her custom to read the Bible every day. At 106 years she hemmed bookmarks on silk for each of her grandchildren, and could thread a needle without glasses. As an evidence of Mrs Mills' cheerful and active disposition, it is stated that when 106 years of age she would occasionally delight her granddaughters by showing how to step off a jig on the floor.

AGED, BUT GAME

Six Robbers Met More Than Their Match in an Old Farmer

Cleveland, O., Oct 26.—In a secluded farm house on a country road two miles from the village of Rochester, in Lorain county, last night, three aged men named Meach were attacked by six desperate robbers. As a result two of the robbers were shot to death, one probably fatally wounded and two of the Meach brothers are badly beaten. There are three of the Meach brothers, Loren, aged nearly 80 years; John, about 70, and Jarvis, aged 65. The old men are said to be rich. About eight o'clock, while in the barn, John was surrounded by three robbers and bound. Going to the house they knocked Jarvis Meach into insensibility by blows on the head. John Meach worked himself free from his bonds, however, and securing a shotgun cautiously stole upon the three burglars, who were working on the safe. He shot two of them to death and fatally wounded the third man. The three companions of the men who were watching outside the house, realizing their danger, immediately got away. The third of the brothers, Loren, is bedridden and could offer no resistance, so he was not molested. The authorities are scouring the neighborhood, and great excitment prevails. The would-be robbers secured no money. The wounded robber was taken into custody, but he refused to make any statement as to his identity and there was nothing on his person to tell who he was. The authorities believe the men are from Cleveland. The outlaws are typical tramps in appearance.

CONSTERNATION IN THE TRANSVAAL.

Order of the Government for Abolition of Town Guards in Cape Colony

London, Oct. 25—A Cape Town correspondent says that the Government order for the disbandment of the town guards throughout Cape Colony has caused strong indignation among the loyalists. The Afrikander Bond, adds the correspondent, resents the very existence of these local forces which were raised to defend the royalists throughout the country.

London, Oct. 25—The postponement of the Transvaal Loan Bill has been received with considerable consternation, says a Johannesburg correspondent. However, the correspondent adds, the best has to be made of the business. People have been waiting in the hope that extraneous circumstances would give them the first start on the road of progress. They must now make up their mind to look to themselves to make the country go ahead steadily.

London, Oct. 25—A Brussels correspondent says that the Dutch subscriptions received by the committee formed to aid the Boer war sufferers exceed $165,000. The Belgian subscriptions amount to 19,009 which is less than a penny per head for the population of Brussels.

London, Oct. 25—The Old Age Pensions Act providing pensions for indigent workmen, aged sixty-five years and over, is embarrassing the Belgian Government, says a Brussels correspondent. Many demands for pensions during the last twelve months have upset the Government's financial calculations. It appears that the local committees have been admitting the claims of large numbers of retired tradesmen and others not entitled to the bounty, which is intended for bona fide laborers only. The Government will dissolve the local committees and revive lists.

London, Oct. 25—Thanks to the vigorous initiative of the Governor, says an Odessa correspondent, everything possible is being done to stamp out the plague. The Governor's efforts are being supported financially by the corporation of the city, and the Central Government. The latter has assigned about 112,000 monthly to provide medical assistance. Considerable private subscriptions are also coming in. The deaths up to date number only fifteen. The outbreak, says the correspondent, is attributed to infection carried by rats. A big colony of these vermin has been destroyed by burning the large bazaar in the centre of the town which contained dozens of old wooden buildings. The correspondent adds that it is confidently hoped that the present measures will speedily result in ridding Odessa of the disease.

London, Oct. 25—An order has been issued, says the Athens correspondent, which has resulted in the release of M. Tatarcheff, president of the local Bulgarian Committee at Salonika, who had been imprisoned at Athens for the last six weeks, charged with the murder of a Greek. The evidence was declared insufficient to justify holding him. M. Tatarcheff's arrest caused indignation at Sofia, and his conviction would probably have led to retaliation upon the large Greek population in Eastern Rumelia. M Tatarcheff is a Turkish subject, but the Turkish Legation at Athens refrained from interfering in the case.

ANOTHER BIG SWINDLE

A number of farmers residing in this district claim to have been taken in by a creamery company, and they are now trying to get out of paying for articles purchased and paid for promissory notes. The notes were discounted, and now the farmers have been called upon to settle.

Some months ago a man representing the Arctic Creamery Company called on a number of farmers and exhibited to them a new style of a milk can. It was claimed that the lining of the can was also constructed so that it was not subject to the changes in temperature. Many of the farmers purchased the can, giving their notes for $60. The representative of the company disappeared after he had delivered the cans and secured the notes.

In a short time the farmers allege they made an investigation of the packing in the cans and found only a thick layer of sawdust.

THE QUEEN OF SPAIN MAY RETURN TO DIE

Young King Invites Aged Isabella to Return to the Capital

BUT SHE STILL LOVES GAY PARIS

Though Dowager is 72 Years Old Today, She is Fond of French Gaieties

Paris, Oct. 27.—According to current report, the young King of Spain is desirous of having his parental grandmother, the former Queen Isabella II., return to Madrid and spend her declining years in the Spanish capital. It is doubtful if the invitation will be accepted, as the former queen, despite her age—she will be 72 to-morrow—is known to be extremely fond of Paris and its gayeties.

Should the invitation be accepted it would be curious indeed to see the old queen once more surrounded by many who formed her gay court in days gone by—stately, portly dames, with snow-white hair, who used to be her fair ladies in waiting, and aged courtiers who were the dashing wild youths of her time.

There are still several duchesses, marchionesses and countesses surviving the gallant court of Isabella II., and among them, though far from the land of her youth, is Eugenie, ex-empress of the French, who was then the lovely lady-in-waiting styled "The Countess of Teba."

The sons and daughters of these aged courtiers are now occupying high positions under the young king.

But it would not be among these grandees and nobles that the venerable ex-queen would receive her most affectionate welcome. It is among the people that her memory is kept green.

The present generation of workers in Spain have heard what a popular queen Isabella II. was; how her court was the gayest of the gay; how there was always plenty of work for everyone; how the queen used to go among them herself and take an interest in all their small doings, and how she freely gave to the needy, heedless of the ruined state of her treasury.

QUEEN STILL LAVISH.

With money the old lady is still generous to lavishness. The story is told that her chamberlain, in despair at her royal disregard of questions of ways and means, arranged a financial object lesson for her. He drew 5,000 francs in 5-franc pieces, fresh from the mint, and spread the bright silver coins upon a table in a room through which the queen often passed. They made a show and glitter, and when Isabella saw them she said: "Why, marquis, you tell me my coffers are empty, and here is all this money." "Madame," replied the chamberlain, "here is barely enough for the sustenance of your majesty's household three days."

The former queen lives very comfortably, but with little state in her fine Paris house in the Avenue Kleber, and since the death of her husband, Don Francisco, last April, she has been seen very little in public. Her daughters visit her by turns, but her favorite child is the Infanta Eulalia, who resembles her most.

During most of her residence in France she has spent a number of weeks out of every summer at her villa at St. Adresse, a romantic spot on the cliffs close to Havre. It used to be her favorite pastime to make excursions along the coast incognito visiting Trouville, Dieppe, Honfleur and other neighboring resorts.

No scoring was done in the first half but in the second St. John's got two unconverted tries by beautiful runs around the end by Boucher.

Mr. Ernest Gittens of Allegheny, Pa., Weds Miss A. L. Moffat, Town

The home of Mrs. Moffatt, 344 Simcoe street was the scene of a very happy event, on Thursday evening, Oct. 21st, when Miss Alma Louise Moffatt, grand daughter of the late Andrew Moffatt, was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest Gittens, of Allegheny, Pa. The Rev. George Yule, formerly assistant pastor of St. Paul's church, but now of Springville, performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was prettily attired in fawn covert cloth, trimmed with brown velvet, and vest of white corduroy, and carried a boquet of white roses, carnations and smilax, was assisted by Miss May Kelly, who wore a linen all over lace gown and carried a boquet of pink roses, carnation sand smilax. Miss Hazel Stanger very gracefully performed the duties of maid of honor. The groom was supported by Rev. J. A. Wilson.

A choice selection of gifts, both beautiful and useful bear testimony to the popularity of bride and groom. A handsome gold crescent brooch set with pearls, was the groom's gift to the bride and a gold pin set with pearls and rubies to the bridesmaid.

An elaborate dejeuner was served at the conclusion of the ceremony to the guests, who numbered about twenty-five by Mr. Harry Long, caterer.

The happy young couple left on the 7.10 train Thursday morning for Allegheny, Pa., where they are to reside.

ITEMS OF NEWS BY CABLE AND LETER

Toronto, Oct. 25—"I am surprised at Canada. Your rivers impress me, your woods impress me, and more than all, I am impressed by the friendliness of the Canadians."

This in brief is the feeling of the Boer farm delegates who are now in Toronto, the guests of the Government.

The speaker was Mr. T. H. Rood, of Ermelo, South Africa, who, with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jooste, and Mr. and Mrs. Moody Lane, of Klerksdorp arrived in Toronto this morning via the C. P. R. from Ottawa.

Their Own Immense Farms.

The visitors shatter the tradition that the recent war has conjured up about the Boers. The men are not shaggy, gruggy, or uncouth. They have no whiskers that hang askew and blow to the wind. They look more like the Eastern Yankee than the residents of the former Boer Republics. They are linguists and gentlemen of refinement. Mr. Jooste owns 24,000 acres, divided into fifteen farms. Mr. Lane is also a wealthy farmer, while the father of Mrs. Rood is one of the influential men of his country. Mr. Jooste's farms were entirely devasted by the war, and they are of the opinion that it will take fully ten years before the country will be in a normal condition. Mr. Rood went through the war as aide-de-camp for Botha and twice was wounded. The other two delegates were captured at Paardeberg and went to St. Helena with Gen. Cronje.

To the Star this morning Mr. Rood said "I cannot express to you how surprised I was when we came up the St. Lawrence. You cannot imagine my feelings, for we have no rivers like you. And your trees; why, we have nothing like that where I came from. And your little villages and farms, why it was a perfect picture.

"We have visited some of your saw mills, and I am sure Canadians should be proud of their great timber supply, for that is an asset that you should carefully treasure."

"How about Canadian products in South Africa?"

"Well, since the war there should be a great opening for Canadian-made goods, for the farms will be re-stocking and in many cases it will be just like commencing house all over again. We use just about the same things as you do, and use many of the luxuries, just as the Canadians. Corn with us stands in the same relation as wheat with you, and we expect to carry back many valuable suggestions. One already that has taken me very much is the use of the silo."

Won't Talk Politics.

"Do you think the country will settle down now and become a harmonious whole, as it is wished?"

Mr. Rood wouldn't answer this question, but shrugged his shoulders and said: "I can't talk about politics and I left Africa too soon after the trouble to give you an intelligent answer."

Captain Kirkpatrick, an Imperial officer, accompanied the delegate to this country. Captain Kirkpatrick went to South Africa to shoot, but himself was shot in turn by Cupid, and married a Boer lady, who is with him. The two remained in Ottawa, and Mr. W. W. Moore, of the Agricultural Department, Ottawa, will take the delegates as far west as Vancouver, when they will go to Australia.

The delegates are loaded with kodaks, and are shooting the best things in sight. When they return they will exhibit the pictures and lecture on what they have seen. While in Toronto they will visit its various points of interest, including the Massey-Harris works. To-morrow they will go to the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. Sunday will likely be spent very quietly.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services

PORTFOLIO WILL BE VACANT FOR TWO WEEKS

Premier Says It Will Probably Take That Time to Sound His Friends as to Mr. Tarte's Successor--He Proceeded to Quebec and Afterwards Goes to Arthabaskaville

Montreal, Oct. 25—The impression in well informed circles today is that Mr. fontaine's chances of entering the Cabinet have considerably improved. The personal popularity of the ex-mayor is undoubtedly very great in this district and it is urged that in the qualifications for the office just vacated by Mr. Tarte he is away ahead of any of his competitors.

The other gentlemen named are lawyers and politicians, but are absolutely without experience in administrative affairs. Mr. Prefontaine on the other hand knows a good deal about administration and particularly in connection with engineering matters. He is not, however, persona grata, with some of the Liberal papers in this city, which during the time he was quarrelling with Mr. Tarte espoused the cause of the late Minister of Public Works, and in so doing said things about Mr. Prefontaine that they find it hard to swallow now.

"As far as I can see at the present time, it will be at least two weeks before the appointment of a Minister of Public Works will be made."

This was the statement made to a press representative by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, at the close of his interviews with the leading Liberals of the district of Montreal.

Accompanied by Lady Laurier and Mr. H. G. Carroll, Solicitor-General, the Premier left for Quebec.

"It is a matter," the Premier went on to say, "that needs much consideration and what I desire to get, especially, is the views of the leading members of the Liberal party throughout the Province of Quebec. This I have done in Montreal and after spending a few days in Quebec I will go to Arthabaskaville on Monday or Tuesday. I will return to Ottawa, after again visiting Montreal, and the appointment will likely be announced after I have had an opportunity of conferring with my colleagues.

OTTAWA IS EXPECTANT.

Ottawa, October 26—In political circles here every one is on the qui vive for the announcement of a successor to Hon. J. I. Tarte. One report which has at least semi-official countenance is current to the effect that Hon. James Sutherland will retain the portfolio of Public Works, Hon. L. P. Brodeur succeeding Mr. Sutherland at Marine and Fisheries and Mr. Raymond Prefontaine become Speaker provided that these arrangements can be in anyway be made acceptable to the party managers in Montreal. From conversation held, it is gathered that such progress has been made in this direction, that is is possible that an official announcement will be made this afternoon.

Sir Frederick Borden has returned to the city from Boston and resumed his official duties. The rumor that he is in any way disgruntled with matters connected with the Premier of the Government is authoratively denied.

DENIAL FROM QUEBEC'S PREMIER.

Quebec, Oct. 25— There is naturally much interest taken here in the succession to Mr. Tarte, especially in view of Sir Wilfrid's coming visit, which is believed to be for the purpose of consulting his friend, Mr. Parent, whose counsel he is shown to prize very highly. Mr. Parent denies that there is any question of his entry into the Cabinet at Ottawa, and Hon. F. Langlier's friends do not credit the report that a portfolio has been offered him, because it is admitted here that the vacant seat in the Cabinet belongs to Montreal.

NEW ENGLAND HAS A RECIPROCITY LEAGUE

Its Aims and Objects are Set Forth in a Circular Which Has Just Been Made Public

Boston, Mass. Oct. 25—The New English Reciprocity League, through its secretary, William B. Bringham issues the following:

"Eugene N. Foss, Republican candidate for Congress, in the eleventh district has insistently declared for Canadian reciprocity and free iron, coal and hides. Now it is possible to announce that he is the prime mover in the organization of the New England Reciprocity League.

"The object of this league is to organize the merchants and manufacturers for educational purposes with established headquarters and all the modern facilities for impressing the commercial and industrial needs of New England on the public. The theory of the League is that Pennsylvania and other great states have never been over-modest in urging their own claims upon Congress—a fact seriously emphasized by the price of hard coal at the present time—and that it is exceedingly doubtful, if it is not actually a stupid policy for New England silently allow herself to be deprived of one of the most important of her natural markets, while there is hope of retaining it without injury a to any legitimate business interest in this country.

Although the League has yet made no definite declaration of its principles the spirit in which it purposes to act is that embodied in the last address of President McKinley, and is set forth with peculiar fitness in the sentences of that statement:

"Reciprocity treaties are in harmony with the spirit of the time. In some of our tariffs are no longer needed for revenue or to encourage our industries at home, why should they not be employed to extend and promote our markets abroad?"

It is suggested by the promoters of the league, however, that the expansion of commerce is only one of the phases of the question of better reciprocal trade relations. The other more startling is discovered in many current developments and is concisely conveyed in the recent utterances of Hon. John Charlton, M.P. a leading statesman in Canada:

"This condition of affairs probably is not acceptable to Americans. If so, they may charge the responsibility to their own government, for the policy of the United States toward Canada 'is primarily and almost exclusively responsible for the present state of matters. Time and again has Canada sought to break the bands of repression only to be repulsed as often as the effort was made; and at last in despair she turns to imperialism and after turning its claim to the light of critical examination will probably swing over to the American policy and adopt reciprocity of tariffs and legislative strangulation of her American import trade in manufacturers, amounting to over $105,000,000 per annum."
